Dumke Halts Enrollments

SACRAMENTO (AP — The Reagan administration today clamped a freeze on all state hiring and closed eight of the state's 13 service centers designed to provide advice to the poor in racially troubled areas.

Lyn Nofziger, Gov. Reagan's press secretary, told newsmen all hiring will be stopped until further notice — except for vacant jobs that must be filled to keep state departments operating.

At the same time, the Republican governor — under fire for his economy plan — prepared for a meeting with University of California President Clark Kerr and a committee of UC regents.

He also planned to meet with Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges, during a session of the governor's council.

Asked about Reagan's reaction to state college plans to suspend admission of new students for the fall pending a decision on economy plans, Nofziger said:

"If the state colleges are asked to take a cut, then it will be up to them to best utilize . . . money. They are in the situation to see where they could best cut or hold the line."

Spencer Williams, Health and Welfare Agency administrator, said that most of the social service centers to provide aid information for the poor were being closed "so that better service can be provided to the five centers that will remain in operation."

He said the remaining centers would be made a pilot study rather than a permanent program, saving $4.4 million in next year's budget.

Williams said centers will remain in South and East Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Richmond. Centers will be closed Feb. 11 in Oakland, Venice, San Bernardino, Long Beach, Fresno, Bakersfield, Stockton and Vallejo.

"I don't think it's the third act yet," Reagan said last night over questions about his financial plans.

In Los Angeles, Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said California's state colleges won't accept new students for next year "until the system's financial picture is clarified."

Following an emergency meeting with presidents of the state colleges yesterday, Dumke said a cut in the proposed state college budget would force the 18 colleges to "deny admission to about 22,300

Heifetz Cancels Courthouse Bid

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Developer Harry H. Heifetz has withdrawn his offer to purchase the courthouse property in downtown San Rafael because of changes in sales conditions authorized by county supervisors.

Two months ago, Heifetz and his silent partner—later disclosed to be cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick—offered $900,000 for the property, asking that they be allowed to retain the buildings for at least five years.

Retention of buildings was protested by the San Rafael City Council, and supervisors Monday lifted the condition. On Tuesday, again at the city's request, the board canceled the Feb. 14 bid date to give the council time to fix zoning for the block and put together its own offer for purchase, which would not have to go to bid.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who persuaded Heifetz to make the original offer, dissented on all votes to change conditions.

In a letter to the board yesterday, Heifetz declared:

"We did not mind spending a million dollars to buy the courthouse square.

"Nor did we mind exposing our position and allowing the county to 'use' us and our offer toward realizing its goal.

"But—if there is one thing we did not want to buy with a million dollars—it's a set of ulcers.

"Nor did we want to engage in fun and games with you."

Heifetz withdrew the purchase offer and the more recent offer to trade the block to the city—should he have been the successful bidder—for the city's incorporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard.

"As the younger generation would put it—'Forget it,' and no hard feelings," Heifetz concluded.

Kettenhofen had strong words for fellow board members today, saying they "really have made a very foolish move." He said that a seller of property does not change the rules of sale asked by a buyer when that buyer is the only one making an offer.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said there are others besides Heifetz interested in purchasing the property.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell today refigured the net effect of the Heifetz offer after reduction of commission and rent. It comes to $726,775. This price would mean that $153,225 would have to be raised through property taxes to close the Hall of Justice financing gap.

Bruce said that he hopes the city offer, if made, will meet or beat the $726,775 figure.

Mitchell said that without the Heifetz offer in the background, the negotiation picture was considerably changed.

"As of this moment," Mitchell said, "the City of San Rafael is in the driver's seat."

U.S. Troops Take Key Cong Complex

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division spearheading the biggest operation of the war overran a series of newly constructed bunkers that contained a command center, three mess halls and about 30 individual barracks bunkers.

The Viet Cong themselves had fled.

The Iron Triangle, a thick jungle area 30 miles northeast of Saigon, has been dominated by the Communists for more than two decades and is believed to be the main staging area for the guerrillas who have terrorized Saigon and its outlying areas.

The drive had been stalled earlier today by Communist snipers hiding in the trees and opening heavy fire on U.S. armored columns inching through the jungle. But a flight of U.S. Air Force Supersabre jets screamed in at tree top level and knocked out the snipers in some of the many missions flown in support of the operation.

A U.S. military spokesman said the operation which began Sunday—the biggest of the war—so far had killed 189 guerrillas, captured 40 and detained 256 suspects for questioning.

The two armored columns tore up dozens of heavy fortifications and swarmed across five enemy base camps laid bare by B-52 bombers which pounded the jungle Tuesday with thousands of tons of bombs barely a mile ahead of the troops in the closest support operation yet reported.

The operation, Cedar Falls, moved steadily forward after the repeated straifing attacks against the Communist snipers

As the operation moved forward the troops uncovered vast quantities of Viet Cong supplies—ammunition and rice—in the areas where the Reds had ruled unchallenged since the days of French colonialism.

These other developments were reported:

Five persons were killed in the crash of a single-engined Air America plane in Quang Ngai province 350 miles northwest of Saigon. Air America is a private company reported by some to be a Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) front.

Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said in Saigon today that the Viet Cong and North Vietnam no longer have a chance of winning the war.

South Vietnamese Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky narrowly escaped serious injury when a mortar shell misfired a few feet away from him while he was visiting Australian troops at Nui Dat.

A U.S. Marine court martial convicted two other Leathernecks in the deaths of two Vietnamese villagers shot down in a hamlet last September.

DEADLY COILS

It may look like these soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division are carrying hula hoops, but their load is a vital defensive weapon in the war against Vietnamese guerrillas. The coils are barbed wire, due to be strung as deadly entanglements for anyone trying to sneak into the GIs' base camp in the Mekong Delta. The picture was taken last week at Rach Kien, a village some 200 miles southwest of Saigon. (AP Wirephoto)

Anti-Accrual Legislation Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration submitted legislation today to eliminnated accrual accounting of the state personal income tax.

But much of the controversial plan to count expected tax dollars before they are collected would remain.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, the sponsor, said it is a technical move to wipe off the state's books assets of $100 million that can't be spent.

Otherwise, the coming budget would show assets of $100 million that wouldn't be collected until April of 1968, he said.

The previous Democratic administration had planned to use this bookkeeping asset to help balance the forthcoming budget.

The legislature added the income tax accrual provision to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's accrual accounting program last year. It allows the state to budget tax funds that are anticipated, but not yet collected.

There was discussion at the time whether the anticipated income tax could be used under the accrual system, Monagan

Three Hospitals Full Of Patients

Marin County's three general hospitals are practically full of patients and only emergency and imperative cases can be admitted.

Today there was one empty bed at Ross General Hospital, 148 occupied.

At Novato General Hospital, where yesterday there was one bed empty, today there were three available out of a total of 30.

At Marin General Hosspital, where a patient was turned back yesterday but scheduled for admittance today, there were 184 adult patients. 20 newborn babies. This represents almost a full house for Marin General, which has a bed capacity of 218 adults and 43 newborn— because the adult total of 218 beds includes the intensive care unit, coronary care beds, and maternity and pediatric wards.

"For the last two days we have not accepted elective cases," said Marin General administrator Ray Bollinger. "Elective means the patient could wait—it's not an emergency. No one has been turned away, except one yesterday who will be admitted today."

Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield has 99 beds. Today all 99 were full.

"As fast as we discharge a patient someone else comes in," said administrator Donald Barksdale. "The biggest percentage of our patients are on Medicare, but that's not the cause of the crush. It's seasonal—happens every year."

Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General Hospital, agreed. "Medicare has made some differene in that patients are more apt, or able, to seek hospitalization than before, but at this time of year we're always busy," he said.

No one has been turned away from Ross Hospital so far, said Dr. Siemens, and work is being rushed on 13 additional beds, hopefully in use within 30 days.

Novato General Hospital administrator Milton Scott was asked what would happen if four mothers went into labor today with only three beds available? "We're still not alarmed. We'd take care; no one is neglected," he said. "We're still accepting patients."

Damaged-Ballot Plan Angers County Clerk

Musser Appearance, Action Unauthorized

John F. Musser's plan to throw away all damaged ballots uncounted was repudiated today by his angry boss, County Clerk George H. Gnoss.

Musser, head of the election department in the county clerk's office, announced his plan Tuesday at a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council, as a solution to delay in counting votes caused by damaged ballots which cannot be handled by the county's computer.

The legality of that plan was a matter of concern in the county today. The proposal drew a blistering statement from Gnoss, who said:

1. Musser's appearance before the San Anselmo council was "without authorization of the county clerk."

2. Musser's plan "does not indicate the policy of this office and has no official sanction on my behalf."

Gnoss added that he was "looking into this matter thoroughly" and will decide what is to be done "from here on in" about such unauthorized suggestions. Gnoss said he found the situation "quite awkward" and added, "I knew nothing about it until I picked up the paper last night."

GATELEY'S VIEW

Albert E. Gately, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, said, "If equipment is responsible for the damage ballots, I don't see how they can legally throw them out."

Charles Michals, Marin Republican Central Committee chairman, siad he was "obviously very much concerned," but added, "I haven't had time to consider all of its implications." He said he planned to discuss the matter with his committee, which has "a very keen interest in this whole area of elections."

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said it was impossible to give a firm legal opinion without knowing the full extent and nature of Musser's plan, but that "discarding damaged ballots under some circumstances is illegal."

ELECTION CODE

The State Election Code permits voiding ballots not marked as provided by law, but bans throwing them away. Voided ballots, the code says, "shall be preserved and returned with the other ballots."

The code also declares that "at the presidential or direct primary, a ballot shall not be rejected for any technical error which does not render it impossible to determine the voter's choice."

When a ballot card is so torn, bent or otherwise defective that it cannot be counted by a machine, the code requires the clerk to duplicate the voting card in the presence of witnesses.

A key point would be whether the ballots to be discarded were tampered with, or not marked as provided for by law, ac-

Development Department End Sought

The Marin County Grand Jury today called for abolishing the county department of economic developemt.

The recommendation is contained in a report of the jury's county offices and government committee, headed by Edward Haperin, San Rafael realty broker, which was adopted by the whole grand jury last night.

It also calls for sharply limiting county handouts to promotional agencies.

The resolution recommends that the board of supervisors take the following actions:

"1 The department of economic development be eliminated entirely before it becomes entrenched as a permanent government fixture.

"2. Subsidies to the county chamber of commerce, the visitors bureau, and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce be limited, in the next budget, to 25 per cent of the total private funds raised by them during the present fiscal year.

"3. If, by the end of June 1967, the visitors bureau and the U.N. Memorial In Bay Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked today to build a memorial to the United Nations on Alcatraz Island, where prison walls that held such notorious criminals as "Machine Gun" Kelly and Al Capone threaten to crumble into San Francisco Bay.

Legislation to authorize a memorial marking the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945 was introduced in the house by Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif.

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., who headed a special commission given the task of deciding what to do with the abandoned maximum security prison.

Jury Indicts Quentin Felon; Heroin Found

Heroin smuggled into San Quentin Prison was found on a prisoner last Dec. 9, a Marin County Grand Jury indictment today revealed.

Indicted yesterday for possession of .60 of a gram of the narcotic was David W. Bremer, 32, serving five years to life for robbery.

Investigators said today the heroin, worth $150 in illegal sale, was found in Bremer's shoe during search of inmates in the lower prison yard.

They said Correctional Officer W. T. Oliver found the narcotic and 10 paper wrappings in a rubber sheath. Bremer shoved the officer and fled, according to the report, but was immediately caught.

Bremer was convicted of robbery Jan. 28, 1955, in Orange County.

A second San Quentin inmate, Drew K. Russell, 26, was indicted yesterday for possession of a 10-inch long, homemade knife last Oct. 21.

Officers said Russell had the weapon when searched upon leaving the prison maintenance shop. He is serving five years to life on a conviction June 25, 1963, in Los Angeles County for burglary.

Both Russell and Bremer are to be arraigned in Marin Superior Court at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Ex-Mayor Of Peking Is Reported Killed

HONG KONG (AP) — The South China Morning Post said today a Chinese traveler reported seeing a handbill in Canton saying Peng Chen, former mayor of Peking, was shot to death Monday.

There was no confirmation elsewhere. Peng was a member of the Politburo who was purged in the current cultural revolution sweeping China.

Development Department End Sought

The Marin County Grand Jury today called for abolishing the county department of economic developemt.

The recommendation is contained in a report of the jury's county offices and government committee, headed by Edward Haperin, San Rafael realty broker, which was adopted by the whole grand jury last night.

It also calls for sharply limiting county handouts to promotional agencies.

The resolution recommends that the board of supervisors take the following actions:

"1 The department of economic development be eliminated entirely before it becomes entrenched as a permanent government fixture.

"2. Subsidies to the county chamber of commerce, the visitors bureau, and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce be limited, in the next budget, to 25 per cent of the total private funds raised by them during the present fiscal year.

"3. If, by the end of June 1967, the visitors bureau and the

U.N. Memorial In Bay Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked today to build a memorial to the United Nations on Alcatraz Island, where prison walls that held such notorious criminals as "Machine Gun" Kelly and Al Capone threaten to crumble into San Francisco Bay.

Legislation to authorize a memorial marking the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945 was introduced in the house by Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif.

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., who headed a special commission given the task of deciding what to do with the abandoned maximum security prison.

AGAINST POWELL'S OUSTER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is clearing the track for early consideration of President Johnson's proposals for Social Security benefit increases.

But his request for a 6 per cent Vietnam war income tax surcharge has been switched to a siding, to sit perhaps until April — or, as some members frankly hoped, indefinitely.

The House Ways and Means Committee is expected to announce next week that hearings will begin in early February on the proposed 20 per cent average increase in Social Security benefits.

INCREASE IN DEBT

Committees and the House meanwhile will be acting on an increase in the $330-billion debt ceiling, against which the Treasury has been scraping, and on a special appropriation bill, mostly for Vietnam expenses, totaling probably more than $10 billion.

Johnson's announcement last year that he would propose Social Security benefit increases got a warm bipartisan reception. But the size of the increase he suggested Tuesday night in his State of the Union message produced some head shaking.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the Ways and Means committee, said such an increase would necessarily mean increasing the pay roll tax on employees and employers that finances Social Security.

"The pay roll tax already increased automatically this year, and another increase, plus possibly an income tax increase, adds up to quite a burden on the people paying for these benefits," Byrnes said.

In connection with the Social Security changes, the Ways and Means Committee also will consider limitations on state "medicaid" programs. These medical help activities, for which federal help was authorized several years ago, have in some cases been projected at levels well above what Congress contemplated.

TIGHT SCHEDULE

An April start on hearings on the tax proposal means that Congress, if it does approve it, will have to keep to a tight schedule to meet the administration request for a July 1 effective date.

On the other hand, the extra time would keep alive the chance that some now unforeseen development might ease the budgetary strain. It also would enable members to study Johnson's precise spending plans, with the possibility of reductions.

Two Banks Move Toward Easing Tight Money Lack

The first chink in the 6 per cent prime interest rate, that banks charge their favored customers for loans came yesterday when a relatively small Minnesota institution reduced its rate from 6 per cent to 5.75 per cent.

Isolated action by the National City Bank of Minneapolis surprised many bankers but it was hailed by the Treasury Department.

"The Treasury is heartened and pleased at this early movement in the direction of lower interest rates that the President advocated in the State of the Union message," the department said in response to an inquiry.

The Minneapolis bank's action, although unique, was not the only sign of an easing Wednesday.

First National City Bank, New York's largest, announced a cut in the interest rate it will pay on some long-term certificates of deposit.

Quiet Diplomacy For Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Johnson administration officials believe that more "quiet" diplomacy" and less international debate might make it easier to get Vietnam peace talks started.

They expressed the opinion that continued public exchanges between Hanoi and Washington on conditions for a settlement tend to harden both positions and make it that much more difficult to arrive at terms for negotiations.

It was also clear today that many officials here felt that U.N. Secretary General Thant, who has publicly criticized several aspects of U.S. policy, might be more effective in his role of go-between if he kept silent about his present views.

The U.S. desire to get peace efforts moving in private channels was said to have been responsible for President Johnson's single brief mention of U.S. willingness for "unconditional" discussions in his State of the Union address Tuesday night.

This was in marked contrast to previous administration efforts to hammer home the lengths Washington contends it has gone to in an effort to get Hanoi to the peace table.

Administration officials made it clear they were not happy about Thant's Tuesday news conference remarks. The secretary-general sharply disputed the official assessment of some of the basic issues in the war.

Mao Orders New Chinese Army Purge

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung yesterday ordered a complete reorganization of the Chinese army, Peking radio reported today. The anouncement apparently signalled the start of a purge of the three million member military establishment.

The Peking radio broadcast said the decision to reorganize the army was taken by Mao with approval of the Communist party central committee. The committee yesterday had called on the army and the people of China to support Mao.

The broadcast said the reorganization was being undertaken to "strengthen the guidelines of the proletarian cultural revolution with the army."

China experts said the purge of the army was apparently intended to keep opponents of Mao from using the military to plunge the country into civil war.

Until now, the army had been the great unknown factor in China's "cultural revolution," launched by Mao last summer with the help of fanatical Red Guard youths to purge the party and government of his enemies.

Peking radio said Mao had accepted the recommendation of the party's central military committee to reorganize the cultural revolution subcommittee within the peoples (Chinese Communist) liberation army.

Women Identify Their Attacker

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A 35-year-old mental patient who claims to be the Boston strangler has been identified by three women as the man who invaded their homes in suburban Boston two years ago and molested them sexually.

Albert DeSalvo, a former house painter and laborer from nearby Malden, is on trial in Middlesex County Superior Court on charges of breaking and entering, armed robbery, assault and sex offenses.

None of the charges is related to the series of stranglings which took the lives of 11 eastern Massachusetts women between June 1962 and January 1964.

One woman said yesterday she repulsed DeSalvo's attempt to attack her and three others testified he had molested them sexually.

Bircher Boss Sees Success Vs. Warren

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Robert Welch says the time is ripe to press for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Welch, president - founder of the John Birch Society, told a news conference yesterday that the House might approve impeachment by the summer of 1968.

The members of the House now, he added, "are perhaps two to one or maybe three to one against us, but that's not impossible odds."

Welch said that efforts of the John Birch Society to impeach the U. S. chief justice so far have been largely "educational." He suggested that his full staff of 80 paid "coordinators" may be thrown into the anti-Warren campaign.

"They could put real steam into our drive," Welch added.

An impeachment vote against a public official would place him on trial in the Senate.

Welch said U.S. public opinion is more conducive to an all-out attack on Warren, long the target of Welch's organization because of what it terms too-liberal decisions.

RUSSIA STALLING ON NUCLEAR BAN?

Kremlin Watchers Think Russ Don't Want Underground Halt Until Tests Completed

LONDON (UPI)—Russia has cooled toward extending the nuclear test ban to underground explosions so it can have time to perfect an anti-missile defense system, top diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said Russia, which until recently had pushed for a complete nuclear test ban, now appears to have dropped the idea—at least for the present—and is giving top priority to the move toward a nuclear non-proliferation pact with the United States and Britain.

SOVIET AIMS

Although there has been no firm official Soviet policy declaration, authoritative diplomatic quarters feel Moscow wants the test ban extension issue at least temporarily shelved because:

Russia wants to keep a free hand for testing devices connected with current efforts to develop and improve an anti-missile defense system the Kremlin is believed installing, so far primarily to protect the big population centers like Moscow and Leningrad.

Moscow apparently intends to develop nuclear devices for peaceful uses and to test them for such tasks as diverting rivers and clearing passages through mountain ranges.

The Russians until recently often reiterated their desire for an extension of the partial nuclear test ban to underground tests. The ban currently prohibits explosions on the ground, in the atmosphere and under water.

Soviet leaders had said they were ready to extend the ban to underground blasts only if the West dropped its demand for international policing.

INSPECTION ISSUE

The United States and Britain have refused to compromise their demand for some degree of international control of an underground test ban to prevent cheating.

The Russians' apparent cooling toward the extension was indicated recently when the Soviets cancelled a British-proposed meeting of scientists in Moscow to discuss detection methods.

SISTER JACQUELINE
Will give up her vows

Nun Pioneers Changeover Of Church College

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sister Jacqueline Grennan, a nationally known education leader who thrives on challenge and new ideas, has been granted permission to convert a Roman Catholic college for women into a secular institution.

At her request, she also will become "Miss Grennan." She disclosed yesterday that she had asked to be relieved of her vows as a sister of Loretto, and that a dispensation from the vows had been granted by Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

Cardinal Ritter and the Sisters of Loretto have asked her, however, to remain as president of Webster College, in suburban Webster Groves.

FIRST IN U.S.

Experts on Catholic education said the secularization of Webster College marks the first time such an action has been taken in the United States.

The nun, 40, who has not worn the habit of the Sisters of Loretto for several months, told her students and faculty members: "I have come to believe that the notion of cloister — in physical enclosure or in dress — is not valid for some of us who must live our lives as dedicated women in the public forum."

She also announced that negotiations are well underway to have the college's administration transferred from the Sisters of Loretto to a private board of incorporation.

CHANGE IN WORKS

"The request for canonical permission for the transfer of the property of the Webster College Corporation from the religious congregation to the incorporating board was formally made in early November," she said. She added that potential board members and sources of funding are in the process of negotiation.

Sister Jacqueline, a member of the religious order for 18 years, said she has been participating in discussions on the secularization of the college for more than a year. She indicated it was her desire to remain president of the institution that compelled her to seek the dispensation from her vows.

PERSONAL DECISION

"I felt compelled at this time to face the personal decision about my own role in the institution and my continuing personal role in the public sector for the rest of my life," she said. "It is my personal conviction that the very nature of higher education is opposed to juridical control by the church.

"The academic freedom which must characterize a college or university would provide continuing embarrassments for the church if her hierarchy were forced into endorsing or negating the action of the college or university."

School lunches vary in prices across the country, but on an average a typical mid-day meal cost slightly more than 50 cents, of which about 23 cents is paid by students, the remainder being covered by the government in cash and surplus foods.

Premier Ky Unscathed As Mortar Misfires

NUI DAT, South Vietnam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky narrowly escaped injury today when an Australian mortar misfired, spurting flame near him.

Ky's bodyguards pulled the premier from the mortar pit and threw themselves on top of him. He was unscathed and the malfunctioning round caused no injuries.

Ky later joked with newsmen during the visit to Australian and New Zealand units 30 miles east of Saigon.

"I didn't realize what happened," Ky said. "Then I saw everybody on the ground. Then I acted like other people."

The mishap came early in Ky's morning-long visit to Australian and New Zealand units.

Kerr Urges Cluster Type University

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Whatever ails obese, lethargic, dull and over-expanded universities, says University of California President Clark Kerr, can be cured by serious surgery.

The operation? Slice 'em up.

Kerr, in a publication released yesterday by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, joined other noted educators in this assessment of large universities:

The ills are massive size, impersonalism, undue emphasis on research, diminished teaching quality and loss of the sense of community and purpose.

The cure: "cluster colleges," smaller colleges contained within the university. Kerr explained:

"A modern university cannot be small, but it can seem small to its individual participants." Cluster colleges "will provide a more intimate group that can treat each student and faculty member as a unique individual."

Dr. Rosemary Park, president of Barnard College, added:

"We over-teach, overwork and over-examine today and . . . this is responsible to a degree for our students' disaffection. . . . Let us reduce the teaching year for the student, leaving him to work by himself, as is standard practice in other lands.

"Let us insist that it is a privilege to be a student, not a right, that the university is no welfare state open to all, but only to those who will develop an intellectual conscience."

TANK JUST TOO HEAVY FOR BRIDGE

It was just too much for the bridge across the Thi Tin River, west of Ben Cat in Vietnam, when this 60-ton tank retriever attempted to pull a 50-ton M-48 tank across the structure. The big headache occurred this week as Operation Cedar Falls began around the Iron Triangle stronghold of the Viet Cong. (AP Wirephoto)

JURY

Effect of the third recommendation would be to concentrate the county's contribution of promotional funds in the Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

James S. Goodale, grand jury foreman, reported the resolution was adopted without dissent, with two jurors absent.

Halperin's committee report traced growth of the economic development department, noting that it started a year ago with a single staff member at annual salary of approximately $15,600, and has a budget for the current fiscal year of $24,646. The latter amount, said the report, "is almost the same amount of money disbursed to all the promotional organizations or of the 1959-60 fiscal year."

The report noted that the method by which supervisors hired John M. Douglas to head the department "has already been investigated by the previous grand jury," but went on to comment that job specifications for the position called for a man who "in private industry . . . would receive a salary perhaps twice that of the entire budget of this department, as well as an unlimited expense account."

"We do not believe that Marin County taxpayers would approve such a solution," it said. "The findings of this committee are that this department has not brought in sufficient revenue to the county to warrant" its cost and "nothing has been done to insure that such results will be shown within a reasonable period of time."

As to the promotional organizations, "whose role might be construed to parallel that of the department of economic development," the report noted that the various chambers of commerce "have this past year received $18,400 while raising very little on their own."

It reproted "an unhealthy condition of jealousy among the heads of these organizations." It noted also that the board of the county chamber "is heavily dominated by the Marin County Development Assn.," which it succeeded.

As a solution, it recommended that all promotional organizations affiliate with the county chamber for "a more constructive and cooperative private effort."

Czechoslovakia Not Happy Over Gypsy Numbers

PRAGUE (AP) — There are 200,000 gypsies in Czechoslovakia, 150,000 of them in Slovakia, the news agency CTK reported recently.

CTK said 1,183 gypsy villages were registered in Slovakia and some of the families have up to 20 children.

CTK complained only 66 per cent of the gypsy children attend school and criminal activities were three times as high where gypsies lived, than in other communities.

Scientist Proposes New Space Scope

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The chief scientist for the ill-starred and all-but-forgotten Vanguard satellite project has bounced back into the limelight with a bold new space idea.

Dr. John P. Hagen wants to unfurl a huge sheet of plastic—30 feet wide and 1,000 feet long — about 5,000 miles above the earth and use it as a radio telescope to study the universe.

Hagen, now with Pennsylvania State University, calls his brainchild a "knitting needle" satellite. The plastic sheet, impregnated with wire, would fold out from a large aluminum tube. The tube would be shot into a polar orbit and stabilization devices would keep one end constantly pointed at the earth like a needle, inspiring the name.

While far from easy to build and launch successfully, the Hagen satellite could open a window on the stars that is now blacked out to ground-based telescopes. It is possible the antennae would be simpler and operate better than complicated observatories that have been sent up by the space agency only to fail.

The blackout is caused by the ionosphere — a deep band of electrically charged particles that envelops the earth starting at an altitude of 50 miles. The ionosphere acts like a mirror, reflecting away from earth low frequency radio emissions from distant stars and even the sun.

Astronomers want to record and study these low frequency emissions to learn more about the nature and the composition of stars. As matters stand now, they are able to study only high frequency bursts of galactic "noise," and they give only part of the picture.

It is conceivable that some heavenly bodies "broadcast" only at low frequency and remain to be discovered.

Hagen, who was with the Naval Research Laboratory back in 1958 when the first Vanguard finally entered orbit, says the satellite is actually a "compromise" at 1,000 feet in length. He'd like to make it four times longer.

That way it would be easier to tell the direction from which a radio signal is emitted. Low frequency radio waves, like slow moving waves on the sea, tend to stretch out from crest to crest. At a frequency of nine megacycles, for instance, the wave length is 11 feet; at one megacycle it is 1,000 feet.

The shorter the wavelength the greater the accuracy in pinpointing where it emanated from.

If Hagen succeeds in interesting the space agency in sending up his radio antenna, he intends to measure radio waves — both natural and man-made — being sent up from earth. There have been practically no studies on how much radiation is being discharged by our planet, or calculations on how far away it could be observed on someone else's radio telescope.

Hagen and other astronomers, incidentially, have been given a Christmas present of sorts. They are being told they no longer have to worry about several hundred million copper wires launched into orbit in 1963 under the controversial Project West Ford.

Most of the tiny wires have floated back to earth.

Scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Lincoln Laboratory were roundly criticized for the experiment. Astronomers claimed the wires distorted their radio telescopes. MIT was trying to find out if military radio signals could be bounced secretly off the wires after they spread out into a broad blanket in space. They apparently did.

In a windup report on the project. MIT's Irwin I. Shapiro says:

"As was observed long ago, the (alleged) evil that projects do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones. So let it be with West Ford."

He said Reagan's administration has proposed a $168.4 million allocation to the state colleges next fiscal year. The college system had asked for $214 million, Dumke said.

He said he will order a freeze on new admission. "I do not believe it would be fair to admit students today," he explained, "and then inform them in June, when we have a clear picture of our budget situation, that we have no room for them..."

Dumke said the admissions will apply mainly to freshmen and sophomores. He indicated admission preference will be given to transfer students who have graduated from public junior colleges.

He also announced a 5 per cent reduction in the hiring of new professors next year.

John Sterling, president of the College Council of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said Dumke's strategy "will sacrifice the future of the students."

cording to Godino. In that case, he said, ballots might be legally set aside.

In announcing his soluiton-by-discard for the problem of delayed vote counting, Musser said about 800 ballots — which later were duplicated by hand-punching for a machine count — were damaged outside the polls by voters in last November's election.

This was a new explanation for the damaged ballots. In November, Musser said about 900 ballots had been improperly punched in the Votomatic tables, largely because of broken styli.

His "unauthorized appearance" before the San Anselmo City Council Tuesday was to answer complaints about location of polling booths in that city.

pital to hospital. "He was refused at Terra Linda Valley Hospital, then at Ross Hospital, then taken to Marin General where he finally found room in the intensive care unit," said Maker, "but it wasn't an emergency case."

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, recently taken over by Kaiser Foundation, represents an anamoly in the overflowing county hospital situation.

Yesterday there were only 59 beds occupied of a 92-bed capacity. The problem is that normally only Kaiser plan members can be hospitalized there. However, area doctors who have staff privileges at Terra Linda Valley Hospital may, and do, get their patients admitted, said Joseph V. Criscione, Kaiser Foundation public relations representative.

Bollinger predicted the bed situation at Marin General would ease and that elective patients may be admitted "on request." None of the hospitals has yet been forced to set up beds in corridors, though all the administrators said they would be willing to do so.

said. "Now it has been determined that it's not usable."

Sales taxes and others would still be counted in advance.

"It really doesn't change the financial situation of the state at all," Monagan said. He said the income tax is not counted in the $473 million budget deficit Gov. Reagan says the state faces for the coming fiscal year, beginning July 1.

He said the $100 million was part of the surplus which the Brown administration officials said would be on hand at the end of the current fiscal year.

Monagan said he sponsored the bill at the request of Reagan's finance director, Gordon Smith, and the controller's office.

Monagan said, personally, he feels it is "a step in the right direction" toward total elimination of the accrual accounting system.

States Show Interest In Water Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many states have shown interest in regional planning to conserve and develop water and related land resources.

Their interest has been indicated to the government's cabinet-level Water Resources Council. The council announced recently the first grants to six states for water resources planning under a law that authorized such aid, amounting to $5 million annually for 10 years.

Nevada has applied for funds; California has not.

Some states are joining in regional planning commissions.

The Colorado Water Board voted to recommend an Arkansas River Valley Commission.

Four states in the Southwest — California, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico—are considering filing applications for a commission.

A federal interagency group is planning a comprehensive study of water and land resources in the arid Southwest. The study could be made under the sponsorship of a planning commission.

The deadline for filing applications is Jan. 13 for states seeking grants this fiscal year.

Fund allocations will be based on population, land area and per capita income.

The states must cite a need for planning and provide information on economic conditions.

Abnormal Blood Cells Can Kill

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Abnormal blood cells in the shape of a sickle, which cause a type of anemia that will kill some 30,000 children now living in the United States, can be like that of a diving bell or decompression chamber temporarily made normal by high pressure.

At least one case of "unsickling" of the blood cells that cause sickle cell anemia has been reported in a patient by a professor of medicine at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. It was a result of theories demonstrated under a child's microscope by a researcher at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Makio Murayama of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases told a symposium at the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here about his discovery that abnormal molecules stack up to form fibers that cause blood cells to assume the sickle shape. They can be unsickled, or made normal, under hyperbaric pressure.

Dr. Murayama gives credit to an old junior high school microscope brought up from the basement at home. with which he made the discovery about the stacking-up or interlocking of the abnormal fibers. It paved the way for later work with an electron microscope.

In his preliminary work, the researcher used the simple microscope because the 'scope's "stage" had to be removed in order to mount a sample of blood from a sickle cell anemia patient in the magnetic field for observation. This couldn't be done with the more sophisticated electronic instrument.

In the Detroit case, lacking a hyperbaric chamber, Dr. Richard J. Bing resorted to a submarine docked in the Detroit River a short time ago when he received a frantic call from the mother of a baby with a sickle cell anemia who was crying from severe pain.

"Don't ask me any questions," Dr. Bing told the sub's commanding officer, "just do as I say."

Dr. Bing carried the infant into the submarine and the crying stopped. Although the child was not permanently cured, he was spared the immediate pain and the after-effects of a crisis in which flesh is sloughed off.

TANK JUST TOO HEAVY FOR BRIDGE

It was just too much for the bridge across the Thi Tin River, west of Ben Cat in Vietnam, when this 60-ton tank retriever attempted to pull a 50-ton M-48 tank across the structure. JURY

Effect of the third recommendation would be to concentrate the county's contribution of promotional funds in the Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

James S. Goodale, grand jury foreman, reported the resolution was adopted without dissent, with two jurors absent.

Halperin's committee report traced growth of the economic development department, noting that it started a year ago with a single staff member at annual salary of approximately $15,600, and has a budget for the current fiscal year of $24,646. The latter amount, said the report, "is almost the same amount of money disbursed to all the promotional organizations or of the 1959-60 fiscal year."

The report noted that the method by which supervisors hired John M. Douglas to head the department "has already been investigated by the previous grand jury," but went on to comment that job specifications for the position called for a man who "in private industry . . . would receive a salary perhaps twice that of the entire budget of this department, as well as an unlimited expense account."

"We do not believe that Marin County taxpayers would approve such a solution," it said. "The findings of this committee are that this department has not brought in sufficient revenue to the county to warrant" its cost and "nothing has been done to insure that such results will be shown within a reasonable period of time."

As to the promotional organizations, "whose role might be construed to parallel that of the department of economic development," the report noted that the various chambers of commerce "have this past year received $18,400 while raising very little on their own."

It reproted "an unhealthy condition of jealousy among the heads of these organizations." It noted also that the board of the county chamber "is heavily dominated by the Marin County Development Assn.," which it succeeded.

As a solution, it recommended that all promotional organizations affiliate with the county chamber for "a more constructive and cooperative private effort."

Czechoslovakia Not Happy Over Gypsy Numbers

PRAGUE (AP) — There are 200,000 gypsies in Czechoslovakia, 150,000 of them in Slovakia, the news agency CTK reported recently.

CTK said 1,183 gypsy villages were registered in Slovakia and some of the families have up to 20 children.

CTK complained only 66 per cent of the gypsy children attend school and criminal activities were three times as high where gypsies lived, than in other communities.

Scientist Proposes New Space Scope

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The chief scientist for the ill-starred and all-but-forgotten Vanguard satellite project has bounced back into the limelight with a bold new space idea.

Dr. John P. Hagen wants to unfurl a huge sheet of plastic—30 feet wide and 1,000 feet long — about 5,000 miles above the earth and use it as a radio telescope to study the universe.

Hagen, now with Pennsylvania State University, calls his brainchild a "knitting needle" satellite. The plastic sheet, impregnated with wire, would fold out from a large aluminum tube. The tube would be shot into a polar orbit and stabilization devices would keep one end constantly pointed at the earth like a needle, inspiring the name.

While far from easy to build and launch successfully, the Hagen satellite could open a window on the stars that is now blacked out to ground-based telescopes. It is possible the antennae would be simpler and operate better than complicated observatories that have been sent up by the space agency only to fail.

The blackout is caused by the ionosphere — a deep band of electrically charged particles that envelops the earth starting at an altitude of 50 miles. The ionosphere acts like a mirror, reflecting away from earth low frequency radio emissions from distant stars and even the sun.

Astronomers want to record and study these low frequency emissions to learn more about the nature and the composition of stars. As matters stand now, they are able to study only high frequency bursts of galactic "noise," and they give only part of the picture.

It is conceivable that some heavenly bodies "broadcast" only at low frequency and remain to be discovered.

Hagen, who was with the Naval Research Laboratory back in 1958 when the first Vanguard finally entered orbit, says the satellite is actually a "compromise" at 1,000 feet in length. He'd like to make it four times longer.

That way it would be easier to tell the direction from which a radio signal is emitted. Low frequency radio waves, like slow moving waves on the sea, tend to stretch out from crest to crest. At a frequency of nine megacycles, for instance, the wave length is 11 feet; at one megacycle it is 1,000 feet.

The shorter the wavelength the greater the accuracy in pinpointing where it emanated from.

If Hagen succeeds in interesting the space agency in sending up his radio antenna, he intends to measure radio waves — both natural and man-made — being sent up from earth. There have been practically no studies on how much radiation is being discharged by our planet, or calculations on how far away it could be observed on someone else's radio telescope.

Hagen and other astronomers, incidentally, have been given a Christmas present of sorts. They are being told they no longer have to worry about several hundred million copper wires launched into orbit in 1963 under the controversial Project West Ford.

Most of the tiny wires have floated back to earth.

Scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Lincoln Laboratory were roundly criticized for the experiment. Astronomers claimed the wires distorted their radio telescopes. MIT was trying to find out if military radio signals could be bounced secretly off the wires after they spread out into a broad blanket in space. They apparently did.

In a windup report on the project. MIT's Irwin I. Shapiro says:

"As was observed long ago, the (alleged) evil that projects do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones. So let it be with West Ford."

He said Reagan's administration has proposed a $168.4 million allocation to the state colleges next fiscal year. The college system had asked for $214 million, Dumke said.

He said he will order a freeze on new admission. "I do not believe it would be fair to admit students today," he explained, "and then inform them in June, when we have a clear picture of our budget situation, that we have no room for them..."

Dumke said the admissions will apply mainly to freshmen and sophomores. He indicated admission preference will be given to transfer students who have graduated from public junior colleges.

He also announced a 5 per cent reduction in the hiring of new professors next year.

John Sterling, president of the College Council of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said Dumke's strategy "will sacrifice the future of the students."

cording to Godino. In that case, he said, ballots might be legally set aside.

In announcing his soluiton-by-discard for the problem of delayed vote counting, Musser said about 800 ballots — which later were duplicated by hand-punching for a machine count — were damaged outside the polls by voters in last November's election.

This was a new explanation for the damaged ballots. In November, Musser said about 900 ballots had been improperly punched in the Votomatic tables, largely because of broken styli.

His "unauthorized appearance" before the San Anselmo City Council Tuesday was to answer complaints about location of polling booths in that city.

pital to hospital. "He was refused at Terra Linda Valley Hospital, then at Ross Hospital, then taken to Marin General where he finally found room in the intensive care unit," said Maker, "but it wasn't an emergency case."

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, recently taken over by Kaiser Foundation, represents an anamoly in the overflowing county hospital situation.

Yesterday there were only 59 beds occupied of a 92-bed capacity. The problem is that normally only Kaiser plan members can be hospitalized there. However, area doctors who have staff privileges at Terra Linda Valley Hospital may, and do, get their patients admitted, said Joseph V. Criscione, Kaiser Foundation public relations representative.

Bollinger predicted the bed situation at Marin General would ease and that elective patients may be admitted "on request." None of the hospitals has yet been forced to set up beds in corridors, though all the administrators said they would be willing to do so.

said. "Now it has been determined that it's not usable."

Sales taxes and others would still be counted in advance.

"It really doesn't change the financial situation of the state at all," Monagan said. He said the income tax is not counted in the $473 million budget deficit Gov. Reagan says the state faces for the coming fiscal year, beginning July 1.

He said the $100 million was part of the surplus which the Brown administration officials said would be on hand at the end of the current fiscal year.

Monagan said he sponsored the bill at the request of Reagan's finance director, Gordon Smith, and the controller's office.

Monagan said, personally, he feels it is "a step in the right direction" toward total elimination of the accrual accounting system.

States Show Interest In Water Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many states have shown interest in regional planning to conserve and develop water and related land resources.

Their interest has been indicated to the government's cabinet-level Water Resources Council. The council announced recently the first grants to six states for water resources planning under a law that authorized such aid, amounting to $5 million annually for 10 years.

Nevada has applied for funds; California has not.

Some states are joining in regional planning commissions.

The Colorado Water Board voted to recommend an Arkansas River Valley Commission.

Four states in the Southwest — California, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico—are considering filing applications for a commission.

A federal interagency group is planning a comprehensive study of water and land resources in the arid Southwest. The study could be made under the sponsorship of a planning commission.

The deadline for filing applications is Jan. 13 for states seeking grants this fiscal year.

Fund allocations will be based on population, land area and per capita income.

The states must cite a need for planning and provide information on economic conditions.

Abnormal Blood Cells Can Kill

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Abnormal blood cells in the shape of a sickle, which cause a type of anemia that will kill some 30,000 children now living in the United States, can be like that of a diving bell or decompression chamber temporarily made normal by high pressure.

At least one case of "unsickling" of the blood cells that cause sickle cell anemia has been reported in a patient by a professor of medicine at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. It was a result of theories demonstrated under a child's microscope by a researcher at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Makio Murayama of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases told a symposium at the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here about his discovery that abnormal molecules stack up to form fibers that cause blood cells to assume the sickle shape. They can be unsickled, or made normal, under hyperbaric pressure.

Dr. Murayama gives credit to an old junior high school microscope brought up from the basement at home. with which he made the discovery about the stacking-up or interlocking of the abnormal fibers. It paved the way for later work with an electron microscope.

In his preliminary work, the researcher used the simple microscope because the 'scope's "stage" had to be removed in order to mount a sample of blood from a sickle cell anemia patient in the magnetic field for observation. This couldn't be done with the more sophisticated electronic instrument.

In the Detroit case, lacking a hyperbaric chamber, Dr. Richard J. Bing resorted to a submarine docked in the Detroit River a short time ago when he received a frantic call from the mother of a baby with a sickle cell anemia who was crying from severe pain.

"Don't ask me any questions," Dr. Bing told the sub's commanding officer, "just do as I say."

Dr. Bing carried the infant into the submarine and the crying stopped. Although the child was not permanently cured, he was spared the immediate pain and the after-effects of a crisis in which flesh is sloughed off.

Bales Offers To Help Citizens Test Closed Meetings' Legality

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Declaring himself in favor of conducting the public business in public, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales yesterday recommended legal and legislative action to put an end to closed meetings of public bodies.

Bales told the Independent-Journal he would welcome a signed complaint by any citizen charging a violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act, and would carry the citizen's fight through the courts to get a judicial interpretation of what constitutes an employee.

Bales said, "We need judicial interpretation, which can only occur on the action of an interested citizen."

The Ralph M. Brown Act allows public bodies to meet in closed session for two reasons:

1. To consider appointment, employment or dismissal of an officer or employee.

2. To hear complaints of charges against an officer or employee.

School and sanitary district boards and other public bodies have been meeting for other purposes in closed session with increasing frequency in Marin County.

At last week's meeting, Mill Valley School District trustees met behind closed doors to discuss selection of an architect for future work, although advised beforehand by an Independent-Journal reporter that this had been earlier declared an illegal purpose by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The county counsel confirmed that opinion the following day, only to reverse himself yesterday on the basis of a recent appellate court decision in San Diego.

Bales noted that Maloney's opinion, or that of any other attorney was merely "persuasive" and not the final word. Either the legislature must define "employee," or the courts must interpret the law, he said.

Bales said that "one of the hardest problems' 'in enforcing the law is the section making an illegal closed session a misdemeanor provided it is held "with knowledge of the fact" that it is a violation. He recommended that the legislature eliminate the "with knowledge" clause and return to the simple principle that "ignorance of the law is no excuse" for breaking it.

The district attorney said that in the case of the advance warning given the Mill Valley school board, there "does seem to be some evidence of knowledge." He expressed surprise that the school board continued with the meeting, rather than postponing it for confirmation of the county counsel's opinion.

While legal action after the event is difficult, Bales said, there are preventive measures that can be taken. He said that any citizen knowing in advance that a closed meeting is to take place can get an injunction and a court order to show cause why the meeting should not be open to the public.

Victims Of Robberies Identify 2 Suspects

Two Marin County milk truck drivers, victims of armed robbery in San Rafael last month, reportedly have identified the men who took their money.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday issued warrants of arrest to San Rafael police for two San Francisco men— Paul Evans, 20, and Evester Smith, 26.

Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham said the men are in San Francisco jail now, facing charges of armed robbery there.

In all, he said, the men are suspected of about 30 stickups of bread trucks, milk trucks, buses and street cars in the Bay Area. San Rafael will get them after San Francisco is through, he said.

Smith and Evans were picked out of a lineup in San Francisco by Evo Ernest Zepponi, Lucas Valley Dairy truck driver who was relieved of $50 behind United Market in San Rafael on Dec. 12, and Edwin J. Ezekiel, the Borden's Dairy Delivery driver robbed of $20 on Medway Road on Dec. 16.

At the times of their robberies, both drivers told police the thieves were Negroes armed with a revolver.

Twenty minutes after Zepponi was robbed on Dec. 12, Fred S. Buscher, delivery man for Laura Scudder Potato Chips, was robbed of $122 in the Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center by two men whose description fitted those who robbed Zepponi.

Black Muslim Split Blamed In 3 Killings

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Three persons have been killed in violence apparently stemming from an internal dispute in the Black Muslim sect.

Police said Andrew Hoffman, 33, and his wife, Christine, 28, were shot yesterday by two unidentified pistol-carrying young men as they returned to their home after buying groceries.

The body of Roy Tyson, 27, was found earlier yesterday in an abandoned canal near the Mississippi River in the Illinois section of the metropolitan area. He had been beaten to death with a brick, police said.

The two men who died were expelled Muslims.

On Monday, police said, the home of Clyde X, St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., Black Muslim leader, was set on fire by flaming gasoline-filled bottles. Police were seeking the Muslim leader for questioning in connection with the slayings.

Police said they found spent .38 caliber and .25 caliber slugs on the pavement around the bodies of the Hoffman couple.

Hoffman was charged with murder and assault with intent to kill last October after an attack on three Muslims. One, John Moore was killed in the shooting. Hoffman's brother, Timothy, and Clyde X were wounded.

Hoffman had been free on bond pending trial on the murder and assault charges.

High-Flying Jet Gets First Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A new type of high altitude flying vehicle has made its first test flight, the Air Force says.

Called a Scramjet, the vehicle was launched yesterday by a Scout rocket, an Air Force spokesman said, but carried no fuel. The purpose of the test was to determine whether the Scramjet could separate properly from the rocket which boosted it to the upper fringes of the atmosphere.

Scientists said the vehicle is a forerunner to aircraft that will carry persons at speeds of about 8,800 miles an hour at very high altitudes.

Salary Hike Proposed For Dixie Teachers

The citizens finance committee of the Dixie School District last night proposed a 5 per cent increase in teacher salaries, which would add $61,000 to the payroll next fiscal year.

Trustees took no action on the recommendation, saying they must meet with the teachers' negotiating council before taking any salary action. Dixie teachers received a 7 per cent increase in salaries last June.

The committee proposal would increase starting salary from $5,200 to $5,500 a year. Salary for a teacher with the district for 10 years and with a master's degree would go from $11,300 to $11,875 a year.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis last night recommended that the district return to an earlier plan for setting salaries for principals, making the pay 37.5 per cent above the teacher salary schedule with a $4.500 limit on the maximum difference in annual pay. Trustees deferred discussion of this proposal until next meeting.

Dixie School District trustees also:

1. Hired Judith Spencer Troy at $6.200 a year to replace Martie Moran at Miller Creek School, and Jane Radcliffe to take over a new class at Dixie School.

2. Accepted gift of six record players and four tape recorders from the Dixie School Parents Club.

Dixie School Chief Elected To State Post

Supt. Dennie B. Willis of the Dixie School District has been elected to serve for two years as chairman of section five of the California Assn. of School Administrators.

In this position, he will also serve on the policies commission of the state-wide group. Section five includes the six coastal counties from Marin to Del Norte.

Interest For Boat Harbor In Larkspur

Robert C. Bundy last night told the Larkspur Recreation Commission that private developers have shown interest in developing a small boat harbor in Larkspur.

Bundy declined to identify the developers today. The commission asked him to pursue the possibilities of private development.

The commission asked Bundy to estimate the cost of four tennis courts planned for the Larkspur Park, for possible inclusion in the next city budget, and discussed other development of the park, including a baseball diamond, marina, and golf driving range. The commissioner decided to have a backstop installed for a driving range.

A draft of an ordinance setting administrative procedures for regulating the cutting of trees in public rights-of-way was referred to City Atts. Robert W. Elliott.

Sprinkles Break Long Dry Spell

The first rain for nearly a month fell on Marin County overnight but in most places it amounted to no more than a sprinkle.

More rain is forecast for tonight but the storm clouds will pass over bringing blue skies back to the area tomorrow, says the Weather Bureau.

Overnight rainfall figures ranged from .19 of an inch at Marin County Civic Center to .11 at Terra Linda and Woodacre, .09 at San Rafael and .01 at Sausalito.

Full-Time Planner For Sausalito?

The City of Sausalito should hire a full-time professional planner, the planning commission was told last night by Paul Sedway, San Francisco planning consultant.

His statement echoed the planning commission's suggestion last year to the city council that a planner be hired "within a few years." Cost of a fulltime planner, Chairman Alan D. Bonapart said, would be offset by limiting the need for paying consultants.

"If we can get more bang for our buck," Bonapart said, "we ought to do it. The need is there."

In a two-hour study meeting, Sedway and his partner, Thomas Cook, agreed revision of the city's subdivision ordinance should be deferred until a fulltime planner is hired. Preparation of a sign ordinance, however, should not be delayed, they said. They are to propose a contract for preparing the sign ordinance.

Present sign controls are scattered through several ordinances, Bonapart said.

Commissioners Hendrik J. Keizer and Norman Murdoch were absent.

Youngster Nabbed With Car Radiator

San Rafael police cited a 17-year-old Corte Madera boy to juvenile authorities yesterday after Patrolman Kenneth R. Homen caught him walking away from the D and S Garage, 718 Fourth Street, with a radiator under his arm.

The boy said he just bought it. Men at the garage said he did not.

Architects For Schools Interviewed

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night interviewed representatives of three architectural firms which applied for the district building program.

No action was taken, said trustee Arthur E. Carpenter. Trustees will interview representatives of three or four other firms next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Bolinas School Library.

Last night's meeting was opened to the public on the basis of an opinion by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that interviewing architects in a closed meeting would not be legal, said Carpenter. The board was unaware that Maloney had yesterday reversed this opinion on the basis of an appellate court decision in a San Diego case.

Carpenter said he did not know whether next week's meeting would be open or closed.

U.S. Vietnam Losses Down

SAIGON (UPI) — American battle losses in Vietnam in the first week of 1967 dropped to their lowest point in recent weeks, figures released today showed.

Military spokesmen said 67 Americans were killed and 479 were wounded in the week ending Saturday. The previous week's figures were 128 killed and 634 wounded. Two Americans were listed as missing.

The drop was partly attributable to the fact the week ending Jan. 7 included part of the 48-hour New Year's truce.

Bales Offers To Help Citizens Test Closed Meetings' Legality

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Declaring himself in favor of conducting the public business in public, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales yesterday recommended legal and legislative action to put an end to closed meetings of public bodies.

Bales told the Independent-Journal he would welcome a signed complaint by any citizen charging a violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act, and would carry the citizen's fight through the courts to get a judicial interpretation of what constitutes an employee.

Bales said, "We need judicial interpretation, which can only occur on the action of an interested citizen."

The Ralph M. Brown Act allows public bodies to meet in closed session for two reasons:

1. To consider appointment, employment or dismissal of an officer or employee.

2. To hear complaints of charges against an officer or employee.

School and sanitary district boards and other public bodies have been meeting for other purposes in closed session with increasing frequency in Marin County.

At last week's meeting, Mill Valley School District trustees met behind closed doors to discuss selection of an architect for future work, although advised beforehand by an Independent-Journal reporter that this had been earlier declared an illegal purpose by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The county counsel confirmed that opinion the following day, only to reverse himself yesterday on the basis of a recent appellate court decision in San Diego.

Bales noted that Maloney's opinion, or that of any other attorney was merely "persuasive" and not the final word. Either the legislature must define "employee," or the courts must interpret the law, he said.

Bales said that "one of the hardest problems' 'in enforcing the law is the section making an illegal closed session a misdemeanor provided it is held "with knowledge of the fact" that it is a violation. He recommended that the legislature eliminate the "with knowledge" clause and return to the simple principle that "ignorance of the law is no excuse" for breaking it.

The district attorney said that in the case of the advance warning given the Mill Valley school board, there "does seem to be some evidence of knowledge." He expressed surprise that the school board continued with the meeting, rather than postponing it for confirmation of the county counsel's opinion.

While legal action after the event is difficult, Bales said, there are preventive measures that can be taken. He said that any citizen knowing in advance that a closed meeting is to take place can get an injunction and a court order to show cause why the meeting should not be open to the public.

Victims Of Robberies Identify 2 Suspects

Two Marin County milk truck drivers, victims of armed robbery in San Rafael last month, reportedly have identified the men who took their money.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday issued warrants of arrest to San Rafael police for two San Francisco men— Paul Evans, 20, and Evester Smith, 26.

Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham said the men are in San Francisco jail now, facing charges of armed robbery there.

In all, he said, the men are suspected of about 30 stickups of bread trucks, milk trucks, buses and street cars in the Bay Area. San Rafael will get them after San Francisco is through, he said.

Smith and Evans were picked out of a lineup in San Francisco by Evo Ernest Zepponi, Lucas Valley Dairy truck driver who was relieved of $50 behind United Market in San Rafael on Dec. 12, and Edwin J. Ezekiel, the Borden's Dairy Delivery driver robbed of $20 on Medway Road on Dec. 16.

At the times of their robberies, both drivers told police the thieves were Negroes armed with a revolver.

Twenty minutes after Zepponi was robbed on Dec. 12, Fred S. Buscher, delivery man for Laura Scudder Potato Chips, was robbed of $122 in the Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center by two men whose description fitted those who robbed Zepponi.

Black Muslim Split Blamed In 3 Killings

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Three persons have been killed in violence apparently stemming from an internal dispute in the Black Muslim sect.

Police said Andrew Hoffman, 33, and his wife, Christine, 28, were shot yesterday by two unidentified pistol-carrying young men as they returned to their home after buying groceries.

The body of Roy Tyson, 27, was found earlier yesterday in an abandoned canal near the Mississippi River in the Illinois section of the metropolitan area. He had been beaten to death with a brick, police said.

The two men who died were expelled Muslims.

On Monday, police said, the home of Clyde X, St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., Black Muslim leader, was set on fire by flaming gasoline-filled bottles. Police were seeking the Muslim leader for questioning in connection with the slayings.

Police said they found spent .38 caliber and .25 caliber slugs on the pavement around the bodies of the Hoffman couple.

Hoffman was charged with murder and assault with intent to kill last October after an attack on three Muslims. One, John Moore was killed in the shooting. Hoffman's brother, Timothy, and Clyde X were wounded.

Hoffman had been free on bond pending trial on the murder and assault charges.

High-Flying Jet Gets First Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A new type of high altitude flying vehicle has made its first test flight, the Air Force says.

Called a Scramjet, the vehicle was launched yesterday by a Scout rocket, an Air Force spokesman said, but carried no fuel. The purpose of the test was to determine whether the Scramjet could separate properly from the rocket which boosted it to the upper fringes of the atmosphere.

Scientists said the vehicle is a forerunner to aircraft that will carry persons at speeds of about 8,800 miles an hour at very high altitudes.

Salary Hike Proposed For Dixie Teachers

The citizens finance committee of the Dixie School District last night proposed a 5 per cent increase in teacher salaries, which would add $61,000 to the payroll next fiscal year.

Trustees took no action on the recommendation, saying they must meet with the teachers' negotiating council before taking any salary action. Dixie teachers received a 7 per cent increase in salaries last June.

The committee proposal would increase starting salary from $5,200 to $5,500 a year. Salary for a teacher with the district for 10 years and with a master's degree would go from $11,300 to $11,875 a year.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis last night recommended that the district return to an earlier plan for setting salaries for principals, making the pay 37.5 per cent above the teacher salary schedule with a $4.500 limit on the maximum difference in annual pay. Trustees deferred discussion of this proposal until next meeting.

Dixie School District trustees also:

1. Hired Judith Spencer Troy at $6.200 a year to replace Martie Moran at Miller Creek School, and Jane Radcliffe to take over a new class at Dixie School.

2. Accepted gift of six record players and four tape recorders from the Dixie School Parents Club.

TOO MANY BOSSES

Johnson Untangles Deep Sea Research

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — An octopus with each tentacle trying to swim in a different direction isn't confused as the federal government's oceanographic research program—if it can be called a program at all. There are so many agencies doing research on their own that President Lyndon B. Johnson has named a special commission just to untangle the knots.

The ommission on Marine Science, Engineering and Resources is long on organization men and short on scientists, simply because the problems are not oceanographic — oceanography's doing fine—they're managerial.

Chief trouble-shooter is Julius Adams Stratton, chairman of the board of the Ford Foundation and former president of another knotty organization, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Also on the 18-man commission are two lawyers and a former U.S. delegate to the United Nations, Jacob Blaustein, now director of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Presently the Departments of State, Interior, Commerce, the Treasury, the Navy and Health, Education and Welfare as well as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation, to name a few, are engaged in oceanographic research, much of it overlapping.

Getting everything straightened out "is going to be very important because last year there were some eight or nine types of structure recommended to untangle the mess," said a source at the Senate Commerce Committee, whose chairman, Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), is a member of te new commission. Sen. Magnuson was also influential in passage of the law establishing the commission and calling for the creation of a uniform national policy.

The commission will have the power to recommend absolutely any kind of plan it wants, from a single oceanographic czar to a model like that of the new Federal Transportation Department, which was formed to combat a similar jumble in that field.

Dr. Knauss was influential in the establishment of the federal sea-grant colleges program enacted last year, which offers financial support for oceanographic research.

Vice presiden of the commission is Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of the oceanography department at Texas A&M. Dr. Geyer is also a member of the Panel on Oceanwide Surveys of the National Academy of Sciences.

Rather than worrying about basic research, the commission will probably be "pretty heavily industry-oriented and applications-oriented," said an Academy official.

Whatever its findings, the commission must make a report in 18 months to the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development, which is chaired Vice President Humphrey and includes the secretaries of all the major government agencies presently engaged in oceanographic research. From the commission recommendations, the council will submit a report to President Johnson and the Congress.

Office Is Looted

McAteer And Span Board Study Moves

SACRAMENTO AP) — The battle between Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, and the Golden Gate Bridge directors has reached a lull pending two possible moves:

A proposal by McAteer to abolish the bridge board or a move by the directors to put a second deck on the bridge.

McAteer's office indicated yesterday that the senator was waiting to see whether the directors would formally propose a second deck.

LEGISLATION

Last year McAteer said he'd introduce a bill in 1967 to abolish the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and transfer jurisdiction to the California Toll Bridge Authority, which operates the four other San Francisco Bay bridges.

"The bridge district has become a bureaucratic luxury that was never intended by the conscientious men who built the Golden Gate Bridge 30 years ago," McAteer said.

In 1935 the bridge directors resolved to ask the legislature to abolish the district when the bridge's bonds were repaid in 1971. "But the majority of today's directors are apparently unwilling to let go," McAteer said last year.

NEW DEBT

"Instead, they are considering new construction of unproven value that would create new debt and perpetuate their little bureaucracy for years to come."

The directors have approved a study of plans to build a second deck on the bridge to handle increased traffic between San Francisco and Marin County.

Cities with their suburbs, airports and shopping centers are gobbling land at a rate of about a million acres a year.

Halley Advocating No Name Calling

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The man who expects to be the next Republican state chairman advocated today a "reasonable code of conduct" against name calling in any GOP primary—"right up to the presidency."

Vice Chairman James Halley, a San Francisco attorney, praised the "common sense practices of the past two years," which included an "11th commandment" banning feuding among GOP candidates.

FAVORITE SON

At the same time, Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch said Reagan should head a "favorite son" presidential delegation in 1968 to avoid the possible bitter fight of an open primary in California.

Finch said, however, he didn't think Reagan would be able to take time out from California's problems to run in other state primaries — something he said will be required to win the nomination.

Finch, in an interview on the Sacramento educational television station, appeared to envision Reagan's role in the presidential battle as a unifying force in California, rather than as a full fledged candidate.

UNITY PLANS

Halley and Finch advanced unity plans as they prepared for a State Central Committee meeting Sunday, called to pick a replacement for State Chairman Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of San Diego. He's the physician who led the party to big legislative gains in 1964 and 1966.

Halley put it this way: "Adherance to common sense practices of the past two years, including a code of conduct, should be used in the future and certainly the Republican State Central Committee should be removed from the primaries and be the catalyst for bringing party together."

The choice of party regulars, Halley anticipated no opposition to his bid for the chairmanship. But some of his supporters expressed fears that William Penn Patrick, San Rafael businessman, might oppose Halley. Patrick was badly beaten when he ran for the party's gubernatorial nomination in 1966; but wants to get back into the spotlight.

There's a battle looming for the vice chairmanship. Patrick is backing Dr. Bernard Tully of West Covina, the 1961 chairman in Orange County of the National Indignation Convention protesting military aid to communist countries.

Halley, Parkinson and other party leaders support Dennis Carpenter, chairman of the GOP Cal-Plan — the scheme by which the party cut down Democratic majorities in the legislature.

Reagan said he will oppose any challenge to Halley.

FOR TULLY

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R - Piedmont, chairman of the lower house GOP caucus, said Joseph Shell, a losing candidate in the 1962 governorship primary, was backing Tully.

"This is a Joe Shell power play and once again Joe Shell will be on the losing side," said Mulford, a Halley backer. He said Patrick was trying to win support by spending money.

Halley, predicting the Patrick-Tully combine won't get more than 200 of the 1,035 possible votes, concentrated more on party unity in his pre-meeting comments.

Play With Rifle Kills Teen-Ager

OAKLAND UPI) —Frank Vasquez, 17, was fatally shot yesterday while he and two companions were "fooling around" with a deer rifle they thought was unloaded, according to police.

Officers said Vasquez and Mike Saulovich, 17, were handling the weapon at the home of a third youth, George Maslovoski, also 17. They said Saulovich pointed the gun at Vasquez in jest but it discharged, wounding him fatally.

Union For Police Called Necessary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco policemen, charging "long standing grievances," say they may have to unionize to open "avenues of communication" with administrators.

TOO MANY BOSSES

Johnson Untangles Deep Sea Research

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — An octopus with each tentacle trying to swim in a different direction isn't confused as the federal government's oceanographic research program—if it can be called a program at all. There are so many agencies doing research on their own that President Lyndon B. Johnson has named a special commission just to untangle the knots.

The ommission on Marine Science, Engineering and Resources is long on organization men and short on scientists, simply because the problems are not oceanographic — oceanography's doing fine—they're managerial.

Chief trouble-shooter is Julius Adams Stratton, chairman of the board of the Ford Foundation and former president of another knotty organization, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Also on the 18-man commission are two lawyers and a former U.S. delegate to the United Nations, Jacob Blaustein, now director of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Presently the Departments of State, Interior, Commerce, the Treasury, the Navy and Health, Education and Welfare as well as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation, to name a few, are engaged in oceanographic research, much of it overlapping.

Getting everything straightened out "is going to be very important because last year there were some eight or nine types of structure recommended to untangle the mess," said a source at the Senate Commerce Committee, whose chairman, Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), is a member of te new commission. Sen. Magnuson was also influential in passage of the law establishing the commission and calling for the creation of a uniform national policy.

The commission will have the power to recommend absolutely any kind of plan it wants, from a single oceanographic czar to a model like that of the new Federal Transportation Department, which was formed to combat a similar jumble in that field.

Dr. Knauss was influential in the establishment of the federal sea-grant colleges program enacted last year, which offers financial support for oceanographic research.

Vice presiden of the commission is Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of the oceanography department at Texas A&M. Dr. Geyer is also a member of the Panel on Oceanwide Surveys of the National Academy of Sciences.

Rather than worrying about basic research, the commission will probably be "pretty heavily industry-oriented and applications-oriented," said an Academy official.

Whatever its findings, the commission must make a report in 18 months to the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development, which is chaired Vice President Humphrey and includes the secretaries of all the major government agencies presently engaged in oceanographic research. From the commission recommendations, the council will submit a report to President Johnson and the Congress.

Office Is Looted

Someone pried open the side door to his office at 1305 Grant Avenue, Novato, during the lunch hour Tuesday and took $30 in cash, Dr. Lloyd M. Witter, 33, of 5 Country Lane, Novato, reported yesterday to police.

McAteer And Span Board Study Moves

SACRAMENTO AP) — The battle between Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, and the Golden Gate Bridge directors has reached a lull pending two possible moves:

A proposal by McAteer to abolish the bridge board or a move by the directors to put a second deck on the bridge.

McAteer's office indicated yesterday that the senator was waiting to see whether the directors would formally propose a second deck.

LEGISLATION

Last year McAteer said he'd introduce a bill in 1967 to abolish the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and transfer jurisdiction to the California Toll Bridge Authority, which operates the four other San Francisco Bay bridges.

"The bridge district has become a bureaucratic luxury that was never intended by the conscientious men who built the Golden Gate Bridge 30 years ago," McAteer said.

In 1935 the bridge directors resolved to ask the legislature to abolish the district when the bridge's bonds were repaid in 1971. "But the majority of today's directors are apparently unwilling to let go," McAteer said last year.

NEW DEBT

"Instead, they are considering new construction of unproven value that would create new debt and perpetuate their little bureaucracy for years to come."

The directors have approved a study of plans to build a second deck on the bridge to handle increased traffic between San Francisco and Marin County.

Cities with their suburbs, airports and shopping centers are gobbling land at a rate of about a million acres a year.

Halley Advocating No Name Calling

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The man who expects to be the next Republican state chairman advocated today a "reasonable code of conduct" against name calling in any GOP primary—"right up to the presidency."

Vice Chairman James Halley, a San Francisco attorney, praised the "common sense practices of the past two years," which included an "11th commandment" banning feuding among GOP candidates.

FAVORITE SON

At the same time, Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch said Reagan should head a "favorite son" presidential delegation in 1968 to avoid the possible bitter fight of an open primary in California.

Finch said, however, he didn't think Reagan would be able to take time out from California's problems to run in other state primaries — something he said will be required to win the nomination.

Finch, in an interview on the Sacramento educational television station, appeared to envision Reagan's role in the presidential battle as a unifying force in California, rather than as a full fledged candidate.

UNITY PLANS

Halley and Finch advanced unity plans as they prepared for a State Central Committee meeting Sunday, called to pick a replacement for State Chairman Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of San Diego. He's the physician who led the party to big legislative gains in 1964 and 1966.

Halley put it this way: "Adherance to common sense practices of the past two years, including a code of conduct, should be used in the future and certainly the Republican State Central Committee should be removed from the primaries and be the catalyst for bringing party together."

The choice of party regulars, Halley anticipated no opposition to his bid for the chairmanship. But some of his supporters expressed fears that William Penn Patrick, San Rafael businessman, might oppose Halley. Patrick was badly beaten when he ran for the party's gubernatorial nomination in 1966, but wants to get back into the spotlight.

There's a battle looming for the vice chairmanship. Patrick is backing Dr. Bernard Tully of West Covina, the 1961 chairman in Orange County of the National Indignation Convention protesting military aid to communist countries.

Halley, Parkinson and other party leaders support Dennis Carpenter, chairman of the GOP Cal-Plan — the scheme by which the party cut down Democratic majorities in the legislature.

Reagan said he will oppose any challenge to Halley.

FOR TULLY

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R - Piedmont, chairman of the lower house GOP caucus, said Joseph Shell, a losing candidate in the 1962 governorship primary, was backing Tully.

"This is a Joe Shell power play and once again Joe Shell will be on the losing side," said Mulford, a Halley backer. He said Patrick was trying to win support by spending money.

Halley, predicting the Patrick-Tully combine won't get more than 200 of the 1,035 possible votes, concentrated more on party unity in his pre-meeting comments.

High School Sets Workshop Event

State Department of Education consultants will be among speakers at a workshop on "continuation education" sponsored by the San Rafael High School District next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the school administration building in San Rafael.

Taking part in a panel discussion will be secondary education consultant Herbert D. Gwinn, who will speak on "The State Department's View of Continuation Education"; Jack T. Erickson, child welfare and attendance consultant, speaking on "Attendance — Supervision and Enforcement," and David D. Various district programs and policies will be among the subjects at a seminar during the day.

Marinite Is Studying Housing Beneath Sea

The concept of housing man beneath the floor of the sea is being studied by Carl Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Austin of Larkspur.

Austin, a civilian research scientist, is working on the project at the Research Department, Naval Ordnance Test Station, China Lake, Kern County.

The story of the project's and Austin's work was featured in a recent issue of the Rocketeer, the test center newspaper.

An installation would consist of a room or series of rooms excavated within the bedrock beneath the sea floor, according to Austin.

One example, he said, is an iron mine operated off the eastern coast of Canada which has seven and a half square miles of permanent floor space beneath the sea floor. It is connected to land by a tunnel.

"An installation with several square miles of useful floor beneath 1,100 feet of rock could be a major community with full family and recreational living facilities as comfortable as those in any city building," he said.

Aside from possible use as military stations or bases for exploration, such installations could have value for commerce and industry, Austin contended.

Probe Shows New Links In Leukemia

BETHESDA, Md., (SS)—The kind of leukemia that attacks adults—a chronic type that involves bone marrow—is now shown to be related to the acute kind that kills children. Both seem linked to viruses. This brings researchers closer to solving the riddle of the cause and cure of the blood cancer disease.

Blood cells from a patient with CML, or chronic myelogenous leukemia, were grown for the first time in long-term culture by Public Health Service scientists at the National Cancer Institute, here.

Both the abnormal so-called Philadelphia chromosome that is characteristic of CML, and a type of virus particle frequently found in other human leukemia cells were found in the new culture.

Herpes-like virus particles—the same as those causing fever blisters—were found in a significant number of cells that were structurally the same as those found by other investigators in a culture of acute myelogenous leukemia cells. The particles were also found in several cultures of cells from patients with Burkitt's lymphoma, a type of cancer that occurs frequently in African children.

Spanish Class Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Legislation was introduced today to permit school districts with large numbers of Mexican-American students to offer classes in Spanish instead of English.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, introduced the bill which would repeal the present requirement that all school classes must be taught in English. The measure would leave the decision up to individual districts.

Short said children who come from Spanish-speaking homes "have a very bad time in the lower grades" because all of their classes must be taught in English.

Meter Maid Says Man Nearly Ran Her Down

A San Rafael meter maid said she was nearly run down yesterday by a young man, angry because he was about to receive a $2 parking ticket.

Barbara L. Yeager said the driver, William J. Carnaghan, 24, of 209 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, pulled out of his illegal parking space at 846 Fourth Street at high speed and she had to jump to the side to avoid being hit.

Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza, who questioned Carnaghan this morning, said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales will be sent a report of the incident and asked to decide if a charge should be filed.

Mrs. Yeager said she saw Carnaghans car parked in a red zone at about 11:30 a.m. She told a passenger in the car to get the driver and have him move.

When Carnaghan returned to the car, "I told him the next time I wouldn't do him the courtesy of asking him to move. He said 'I don't care; write it. I don't pay them anyway;" reported Mrs. Yeager.

She said she was standing in front of his car, taking out her ticket book, when Carnaghan then turned his wheels toward the street, and sped off. "I jumped out of the way," she said.

Gallaghers Sell Seashore Acreage For $1,135,000

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher of Nicasio have sold 1,567 acres of land within the Point Reyes National Seashore for $1,135,000 the National Park Service announced today.

The Gallagher tract extends from the Pacific across the peninsula to Drake's Estero, and fronts on Ten Mile Beach and on Schooner Bay and Cream Bay.

It brought the total of federally-owned land within the Seashore to 20,500 acres, or 38 per cent of the 54,000 acres inside the park's boundaries.

George B. Hartzog Jr., park service didector, said about 3,500 feet of ocean front is involved in the purchase. Sir Francis Drake Boulevard bisects the property, providing the only road from Inverness to Point Reyes Lighthouse. It will be developed for picnicking surf fishing, beachcombing and hiking, said Hartzog.

Police Probe Five Car Clout Cases

San Rafael police yesterday received reports of five cases of car clouting the previous night.

Kenneth R. Perry and Robert A. Schroth, both of 108 Professional Center Parkway, reported thefts from their autos parked in the carport there.

Schroth said someone cut through the convertible top of his car and took items worth $95. Damage to the top was $135, he said. Perry said someone entered his unlocked car and took $25 worth of shotgun shells.

Lewis Lewon of 23 Forest Lane said someone took a checkbook and keys from the glove compartment of his car, parked in the carport. George P. Roberts of 16 Forest Lane said someone took a flashlight and three credit cards from his glove compartment.

Valerie Wyles of 21 Marion Court said three hubcaps were stolen from her car, parked in the apartment house parking lot.

Constitution Aids Topless Bar

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The suspension of the liquor license of a south Los Angeles topless bar was overturned in an appeal decision announced today.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board reversed the Department of Alcoholic Beverages 90 - day license suspension against Robert M. LaRue and Kenneth B. Phillips.

The Lennox bar owners contended "the exhibition of bare breasts by a female barmaid or waitress . . . is a protectible form of expression under the First Amendment" to the U.S. Constitution.

Israel Says Syria Invites Counteraction

TIBERIAS, Israel (UPI)—Israeli military sources today accused Syria of escalating the scope of their border clashes in an effort to win control over demilitarized frontier zones.

They said Syria brought in tanks to force Israel to reply with tank fire, thereby intensifying the fighting which has erupted along the 48-mile border since year's end.

They said Israeli military officials believed yesterday's incident which brought a two-hour exchange of tank, machinegun and rifle fire between Israeli and Syrian frontier forces disclosed a more serious situation that the "seasonal" encounters described by Secretary General Thant at the United Nations in New York.

Israel, vowing eye-for-an-eye revenge against any Syrian attacks, today deployed its battle-ready troops along the frontier made uneasy by nine days of limited fighting this year.

Assembly Passes First 1967 Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — If the state sells a car belonging to a convicted narcotics peddler one half of the money would go to the local government or agency which seized the vehicle under a bill introduced today.

The state general fund currently gets all the money from sales of cars used in narcotics trade. Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, said the city or county "whose law enforcement agency was instrumental in the seizure of the motor vehicle" should get half the money.

Bay Witness Tells Of Cash To Baker

WASHINGTON (AP)— A California savings and loan leader testified today he delivered two envelopes containing $50,100 in cash to Bobby Baker in a Washington hotel room in October 1962.

The witness, Stuart Davis of San Francisco, board chairman of the Great Western Financial Corp., said the money was intended as campaign contributions for senators up for re-election.

An earlier witness, Kenneth E. Childs of Los Angeles, said Baker suggested the contributions and named eight candidates — four of them Republicans—as possible recipients.

At that time Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Baker, charged with income tax evasion, fraud and conspiracy, sat in the courtroom, listening closely on the fourth day of his trial.

Childs said that Baker named some senators where there was a "strong need" for campaign funds.

As he recalled the names, Childs gave the last names of the following: "Sens. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz; Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill.; Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah; Frank Carlson, R-Kan; J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., George A. Smathers, D-Fla., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which in 1961-62 considered legislation affecting the savings and loan industry. The four Republicans and Smathers were members of the Senate Finance Committee.

There was no indication given that the members of Congress knew that their names had been mentioned at the time. Childs said that as far as he knew no one ever received any acknowledgement from those mentioned of any contribution.

The government has said it will show that Baker kept about $80,000 of the $100,000 for his own uses.

Childs said he reported the suggestion for contributions to Howard Ahmanson, president of the board of the Home Savings & Loan Assn. in Los Angeles, the firm of which Childs was president at the time. The next day, he said, he met with Amanson and two officials of the American Saving & Loan Assn.

Population Boom

PARIS (UPI) —The population explosion has hit Paris, too. An official survey at the end of 1966 estimated the present population of 9,300,000 in Paris and its environs will increase by 900,000 by 1970.

Tower Guards Fire Shots At Two Inmates

Tower guards at San Quentin Prison fired three warning shots in the direction of two inmates they saw fighting in the prison exercise yard.

Officers broke up the argument but not before Hipolito Navarro, 31, of Sacramento County and Ignacio Flores, 32, of Kern County had both suffered slashes from a prison-made knife found near the scene.

Navarro, serving six months to 10 years for assault with a deadly weapon, suffered superficial cuts and scratches, and Flores, a life prisoner for selling narcotics, was cut about the head and right arm.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said the knife had a 12-inch blade and been made from a flat piece of steel.

Both men were treated at the prison hospital while officers started an investigation into motive for the fight.

Spanish Class Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Legislation was introduced today to permit school districts with large numbers of Mexican-American students to offer classes in Spanish instead of English.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, introduced the bill which would repeal the present requirement that all school classes must be taught in English. The measure would leave the decision up to individual districts.

Short said children who come from Spanish-speaking homes "have a very bad time in the lower grades" because all of their classes must be taught in English.

Meter Maid Says Man Nearly Ran Her Down

A San Rafael meter maid said she was nearly run down yesterday by a young man, angry because he was about to receive a $2 parking ticket.

Barbara L. Yeager said the driver, William J. Carnaghan, 24, of 209 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, pulled out of his illegal parking space at 846 Fourth Street at high speed and she had to jump to the side to avoid being hit.

Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza, who questioned Carnaghan this morning, said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales will be sent a report of the incident and asked to decide if a charge should be filed.

Mrs. Yeager said she saw Carnaghans car parked in a red zone at about 11:30 a.m. She told a passenger in the car to get the driver and have him move.

When Carnaghan returned to the car, "I told him the next time I wouldn't do him the courtesy of asking him to move. He said 'I don't care; write it. I don't pay them anyway;" reported Mrs. Yeager.

She said she was standing in front of his car, taking out her ticket book, when Carnaghan then turned his wheels toward the street, and sped off. "I jumped out of the way," she said.

Gallaghers Sell Seashore Acreage For $1,135,000

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher of Nicasio have sold 1,567 acres of land within the Point Reyes National Seashore for $1,135,000 the National Park Service announced today.

The Gallagher tract extends from the Pacific across the peninsula to Drake's Estero, and fronts on Ten Mile Beach and on Schooner Bay and Cream Bay.

It brought the total of federally-owned land within the Seashore to 20,500 acres, or 38 per cent of the 54,000 acres inside the park's boundaries.

George B. Hartzog Jr., park service didector, said about 3,500 feet of ocean front is involved in the purchase. Sir Francis Drake Boulevard bisects the property, providing the only road from Inverness to Point Reyes Lighthouse. It will be developed for picnicking surf fishing, beachcombing and hiking, said Hartzog.

GUIDE DOG PLAN

Training Center Expansion Talks

A master plan for doubling the facilities of Guide Dogs for the Blind will be disucssed at the training school's annual membership meeting Monday at the 11-acre headquarters in San Rafael.

Arhcitect Richard Olmsted, of Hooper, Olmsted and Emmons, will present the plan at the meeting which begins at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Pierpont Morgan Hamiltonp board president, presiding.

According to William F. Johns, the organization's executive secretary, the school, which trained 130 man-dog units in 1966, can expect its case load to double in the next decade.

Guide Dogs for the Blind is using five of its 11 acres on Los Ranchitos Road and buildings built in 1948, Johns said. The building program calls for phasing out structures as replacements are built on other locations on the property. No interruption of operation will take place when construction begins in March, Johns said.

These plans, Johns said, mean that the organization will probably sell 16 acres on Bugei Lane in Novato, acquired about two years ago, when it was thought the school would relocate there.

Johns said it had been decided to remain in more centrally located San Rafael, especailly as "San Rafel is the finest training town we have."

The new school will include administration building, kennels, student dormitory, an auditorium and an adjustment center for newly blinded applicants.

Guide Dogs for the Blind, supported by private contributions, provides its services without charge to the blind, including the dog, the month's stay at the training center, and follow-up service.

Judge Firm On Juvenile Names Ban

UKIAH (AP)—Superior Court Judge Robert Winslow today reaffirmed his order directing Mendocino County law enforcement officers to withhold from the public and press the names of juveniles involved in crimes.

His one concession from an order issued last summer was that: "If the police in the performance of a legitimate function and the newspaper, incidentally, obtain the name of a juvenile offender, the court would certainly not deem it a violation of the rule."

He warned, however, that police should take all necessary precautions to withhold any information concerning a juvenile involved in a crime from the view of the press.

Violation of his secrecy rule governing juveniles, he said, would be contempt of court.

The judge's ruling was in response to an appeal from Sheriff Reno Bartolomie to set aside or modify the court's original order.

GUIDE DOG PLAN

Training Center Expansion Talks

A master plan for doubling the facilities of Guide Dogs for the Blind will be disucssed at the training school's annual membership meeting Monday at the 11-acre headquarters in San Rafael.

Arhcitect Richard Olmsted, of Hooper, Olmsted and Emmons, will present the plan at the meeting which begins at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Pierpont Morgan Hamiltonp board president, presiding.

According to William F. Johns, the organization's executive secretary, the school, which trained 130 man-dog units in 1966, can expect its case load to double in the next decade.

Guide Dogs for the Blind is using five of its 11 acres on Los Ranchitos Road and buildings built in 1948, Johns said. The building program calls for phasing out structures as replacements are built on other locations on the property. No interruption of operation will take place when construction begins in March, Johns said.

These plans, Johns said, mean that the organization will probably sell 16 acres on Bugei Lane in Novato, acquired about two years ago, when it was thought the school would relocate there.

Johns said it had been decided to remain in more centrally located San Rafael, especailly as "San Rafel is the finest training town we have."

The new school will include administration building, kennels, student dormitory, an auditorium and an adjustment center for newly blinded applicants.

Guide Dogs for the Blind, supported by private contributions, provides its services without charge to the blind, including the dog, the month's stay at the training center, and follow-up service.

Judge Firm On Juvenile Names Ban

UKIAH (AP)—Superior Court Judge Robert Winslow today reaffirmed his order directing Mendocino County law enforcement officers to withhold from the public and press the names of juveniles involved in crimes.

His one concession from an order issued last summer was that; "If the police in the performance of a legitimate function and the newspaper, incidentally, obtain the name of a juvenile offender, the court would certainly not deem it a violation of the rule."

He warned, however, that police should take all necessary precautions to withhold any information concerning a juvenile involved in a crime from the view of the press.

Violation of his secrecy rule governing juveniles, he said, would be contempt of court.

The judge's ruling was in response to an appeal from Sheriff Reno Bartolomie to set aside or modify the court's original order.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

It's Foolish For School Boards Not To Trust Public They Serve

A couple of months back, the Tamalpais High School District School Boards Assn. held a meeting on "Better School-Community Communications."

Speakers were Harry G. Fosdick, public relations executive of the California Teachers Assn.; Thomas F. Mullahey of television station KRON-TV, and the writer.

All three speakers stressed that the most important thing for school boards, in building public confidence in and support for the schools, is to tell the public the truth.

ALL THREE stressed that any attempt to let the public know only the "good" things, to present a false front, to try to "manage the news" of the schools can result only in loss of public confidence and ultimate damage to the schools themselves.

As an example, Fosdick used the furore over choice of a successor to Harold Spears as superintendent of schools in San Francisco. Had the San Francisco Board of Education dealt openly with the public and let it know what qualifications were being sought in a superintendent, just how he was to be chosen, etc., there would have been none on the rampant speculation, none of the waiting upon the board by various interests, none of the suspicion and distrust that developed, he contended.

MULLAHEY EMPHASIZED that what happens to the schools and in the schools is of public interest — and the public demands to know about it, whether it is good or bad.

The writer urged the school board members to "tell the truth and keep the door open."

"It seems that far too many school board members don't trust the public. Yet they can't understand why the public doesn't trust them," he said.

Presiding at the session was Dr. William L. Clark, chairman of the Mill Valley School District Board. At its conclusion he politely thanked the three speakers.

LAST WEEK, the Mill Valley School District Board, under the chairmanship of Dr. Clark, went into closed session to:

1. Discuss selection of consultants to screen candidates for the superintendency, which is being vacated at the end of this school year by G. R. McConnell.
2. Discuss appointment of a citizen committee to promote a bond issue to build new schools in the district.
3. Discuss selection of an architect to design the schools to be built if the bond issue passes.

All three purposes appeared illegal. That, however, is beside the point.

DOES THE MILL VALLEY school board trust its public? Obviously not. It does not even trust the public enough to publicly discuss a committee to promote a school bond issue. It does not trust the public enough to want to tell it who is to select its superintendent — for the screening committee will, without interviewing them, eliminate all but a handful of applicants for the position. It does not trust the public enough to let it know what kind of proposals it is seeking from architects.

There are no degrees of illegality. An act is legal or illegal. But there are degrees of foolishness.

MOST FOOLISH of the three purposes for which the Mill Valley school board met illegally behind cosed doors woud appear to be selection of citizens for a committee to promote a bond issue.

This is a citizen job. It is one where overwhelming public support is necessary, for the bonds must have two-thirds approval of the voters before they can be issued. If even the appointment of a committee to promote the bonds must be done behind closed doors, what is the public to think?

WHAT THE PUBLIC thinks may be influenced, also, by discussion of an architect in a closed meeting. Were the architects given to understand something about the building program that would cause public outcry if it were known? Are there plans which a chosen few may know but which must be kept from the electorate because they do not jibe with the plans which have been announced publicly? If not, why the closed meeting on choosing an architect — and the secret session to decide who will manage the bond campaign?

As to the superintendent, his job is one which touches every taxpayer in Mill Valley — even those who have no children in the schools; for his management of the schools will in large measure determine both their effectiveness and their cost. Certainly the help of experts should be sought in finding the man for this job. Equally certain, the public should be allowed to know what criteria are set up for selecting the experts, and what experts are under consideration.

IN FAIRNESS, it should be mentioned that Dr. William L. Clark did not arrange the program on "Better School-Community Relations" at which he presided, nor did he invite the speakers. The program was arranged, and the speakers invited by Pieter Toal of the San Anselmo School District Board.

The Four Horsemen of the Apocolypse are Fire, Death, Famine and Pestilence.

Lynch Wants Water Plan Assurances

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch says he wants assurance the proposed Central Arizona Project won't jeopardize water supplies to the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

"I have no intention of being a hero in Phoenix, Ariz., nor do I have the intentions of being a thirsty Californian," Lynch told a meeting of the state's advisory Committee on Western States Water Planning and the Colorado River Board of California.

The advisory committee resolved to back efforts to keep California's share of Colorado River for California use.

William Gianelli, the new water resources director, said "our chief objective should be to widen support for a sound western water program, not to narrow it as some proposals seem to indicate."

Mother Must Back Funds

MARTINEZ (UPI)—A young mother of five was under court order today to repay Contra Costa County $10,000 in welfare payments she received while living with a man who had a job.

Superior Court Judge Thomas McBride yesterday also sentenced Joan Hardeman, 25, to 30 days in jail and placed on probation for three years.

As a condition of probation McBride said Mrs. Hardeman must not live with a man the next three years without the benefit of matrimony.

The woman was indicted on charges she collected welfare payments over a three-year period while she failed to report she was living with an employed man.

Kennedy, Hoover Avoid Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither Sen. Robert F. Kennedy nor FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has accepted an informal invitation to testify before a Senate subcommittee probing eavesdropping.

The New York Democrat and Hoover were embroiled late last year in a dispute over who authorized what bugging by the FBI.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., asked them through a news release Dec. 12 to appear before his subcommittee investigating invasions of privacy.

Long said yesterday neither had accepted and that he did not plan to invite them formally.

Young Carlisle, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, is joining the Naval Reserve Surface Division in San Rafael, where he will serve for one year before going on active duty for two more years.

Novatans Will Hear Talk On Abortion And The Law

Problems of abortion and California's abortion laws will be discussed by Dr. Gregory Smith, San Francisco obstetrician at a public meeting at Hill Junior High School, 720 Diablo Avenue, Novato, Monday at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Novato Branch of the American Assn. of University Women, the talk will be followed by a question period, said Mrs. D. M. Wilhelm, chairman of the branch's law and citizen committee.

Dr. Smith is a member of the California Committee on Therapeutic Abortion's speakers bureau. He is associate secretary of the International Fertility Society and past president of the Pacific Coast Fertility Society.

Ancient Egyptians worshiped dogs. Israelites abhorred them, some Chinese ate them and Lincoln jumped into a river to save one.

Clausen Against Seating Of Powell

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, Calif., voted against a motion to seat Congressman Adam Clayton Powell of New York, pending an investigation of charges against him.

Clausen voted with the majority in rejecting the motion by a 305 to 126 vote.

Newlywed Matthew Connellys Are Residing In Mississippi

Making their temporary home in Meridian, Miss. following their wedding Dec. 28 at St. John's Church in Ross are Lynne Marie Eddy and Matthew J. Connelly III. Ensign Connelly is stationed with the U.S. Navy at Meridian.

Lynne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Eddy of Ross, wore a peau de soie gown with Alencon lace trim for her nuptials, and her sister, Barbro Jean Eddy, as maid of honor wore a sage green saki cloth dress in Empire style. Other attendants, who also wore the sage green gowns, were Mrs. Robert Dal Bon of Mill Valley, Cynthia Selfridge of San Francisco and Marsha Todd of Berkeley.

Daniel P. Connelly of Walnut Creek was his brother's best man. Escorting the guests to seats were Edgerton Scott II of LaJolla, J. Max Moore of San Francisco, Thomas Alamano of Walnut Creek, James Bundschu of Voneburg and Michael O'Neil of Berkeley.

Lynne, a Redwood High School graduate, was graduated last year from the University of California, where her sorority was Alpha Phi. She is the granddaughter of Fred Olson of San Francisco.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Connelly Jr. of Walnut Creek. He is a Las Lomas High School graduate and received a degree last year from the University of California, where he was a member of Zeta Psi fraternity and Golden Bear. With his marriage he gave up membership in The Bachelors of San Francisco.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Teen-Ager Asks, Why Do Adults Hate When They Get Together?

DEAR HELEN:

You meet adults one by one, and they're okay people, but when you get them together, in a crowd, they're worse than awful.

Look how they act on New Year's Eve. I never saw juveniles act any more stupid. Look how they flock in to see "topless" waitresses. Like little 11-year-old boys, sneaking a peek in the girls' wash room. Look at the way they make fools of themselves on the dance floor. The kids unually dance pretty cool, but not the old folks.

They tell us sex is terrible until marriage, when it becomes just fine, but do they keep their wedding vows? They say liquor is deadly for teens, but it's "smart" when adults get stinko.

They say we shouldn't be pushy and loud, but does the self-effacing adult ever get anywhere in business? They tell us to be humble when we are praised, but look at the politicians who hire press agents to push them.

What really bugged me into writing this, though, was the other night. The kids here want a teen center, so the grown-ups held a meeting to vote it down.. Every time some big shot would get up and say how terrible the teens acted, and they'd ruin everything they touched, you should have heard the cheering. They mentioned Berkeley and Sunset Strip, and a few other way-out places, as if this was the normal. What really scared me was that people—it seemed like the majority—believed it was.

Why do adults hate us? Are the jealous because we're on the way in and they're on the way out? Seems like every time a speaker takes a nasty crack at kids, the audience applauds like crazy. Yet when we talk to just one adult at a time, he likes us and sticks up for us—HOW COME?

DEAR HOW COME:

I've noticed this too—adults who wouldn't think of knocking the teens they know, will join a crowd and start booing all young people when a spellbinder sets them off.

On the other hand, teens who would never think of creating a disturbance singly, will go along with some mighty wild things when caught up in a crowd.

I think there's jealousy and fear on both sides of the fence, but not as much as you would think. Adults don't hate you, though they'll remain uneasy as long as teen rioting continues.

You can prove local youth isn't like that by mature actions—perhaps more mature than some of those you saw at the meeting. Meanwhile, collect all the information you can on excellently run teen centers—Redding and Crescent City are two fine examples—and present them to your elders. I'm betting you'll win, and I'm on your side, all the way.

DEAR HELEN:

I am the father of a near-16-year-old girl and I wholeheartedly agree with "Sissys" Dad, don't approve of nylons, dresses above the knee, long hair, and slacks, and insisted on bobby socks and bed at 9:30 p.m. Perhaps I'm reading between the lines, but it seems to me your answer implied, "If you don't get your way, Sissy, go to Mom and let her argue it out with Dad. Start a fight between your parents to get your way."

This is how it ends at our house. I think perents have enough trouble keeping their kids straight in this modern world without your encouraging an argument between them to pacify a child.—ANOTHER UNMODERNIZED FATHER

DEAR FATHER:

All I said to Sissy was, "Agree with your father until he sees the light, and let your mother carry the lantern."

I could say a great deal more—like, "Fathers who insist 16-year-old daughters wear bobby socks, out-of-style clothes, and get to bed at 9:30 p. m., need wives with very big lanterns!"

Has it occurred to you that you might be wrong?—H.

Suit-Dresses New

Suits haven't gone into discard, but competing strongly against them are suit-dresses, as the fashion industry sells the new costuming. These are two-piece dresses, often with short sleeves, that try to look like suits but have no blouses. Larry Aldrich of New York is one exponent of the suit dress, showing one costume in double knit jersey, orange skirt, navy top with orange collar, and trimmed in brass buttons.

Sherryl's main service project has been a correspondence program between members of the assembly and U.S. Marines in Vietnam. The girls have also worked at the T.B. Center in San Rafael and contributed Christmas candy to the Marindale School.

Suit-Dresses New

Suits haven't gone into discard, but competing strongly against them are suit-dresses, as the fashion industry sells the new costuming. These are two-piece dresses, often with short sleeves, that try to look like suits but have no blouses. Larry Aldrich of New York is one exponent of the suit dress, showing one costume in double knit jersey, orange skirt, navy top with orange collar, and trimmed in brass buttons.

Consumers To Reap Harvest Of Dropping Food Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices have been dropping ever since Thanksgiving, and consumers may reap some of the harvest in the supermarkets this month.

Beef and pork are more plentiful than a year ago and egg prices have dropped 1 to 6 cents a dozen this week. And have you taken a look at oranges and grapefruit?

The lower prices aren't universial, however. And the higher prices paid for fresh meat at the wholesale centers this week may be passed on to consumers this weekend.

Lamb prices generally are higher this week, although they usually are lowest from January through April.

Whatever your family wants for dinner you may find it on special at some store in your area. It will pay to watch store specials.

Egg prices are down nearly everywhere.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture forecast the 1966-1967 orange crop at a record 181,300,000 boxes, up 28 per cent from last year.

There also are bountiful crops of grapefruits, tangerines, tangelos, lemons and limes, leading to lower prices.

Carrots and mixed greens are beginning to move out of Texas, and carrots may offer a good buy in many areas.

A dense cloud blanket protected the Rio Grande Valley's rich citrus fruit crop from a snow storm this week. But a snow in Mexico raised fears that the valuable coffee crop might be destroyed.

Driver of the car, William M. Buick of 7 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael, said he stopped when he saw John and the boy rode his bike into the car. Deputies said the four incidents occurred about 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Thelma Fusto of 227 Drake Avenue told officers someone threw two rocks through her sliding glass doors. George Williams of 8 Cole Drive also reported two rocks thrown through a glass door.

Mrs. Sqwynet Price of 72 Cole Drive said a front room window was shattered by a wine bottle. Angela Tidey of 27 Cole Drive reported a sliding glass door was shattered.

Snow Destroys Many Mexico City Homes

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Thousands of troops and police today brought food and clothing to victims of this capital's first snow storm in 26 years. The Weather Bureau predicted relief with rising temperatures.

Two persons died from exposure last night, bringing the national toll to 18-8 in the Mexico City and 10 in the provinces—since the storm began its southward march last Monday.

The flimsy homes of about 3,000 poor living on the outskirts of Mexico City were destroyed by snowfall yesterday, the first since March 14, 1940 and only the fifth since 1933.

Four thousand persons were rescued from mountain areas ringing Mexico City Wednesday night by the military and police.

The Mexico Weather Bureau predicted warmer temperatures in the capital's valley accompanied by light showers.

The temperature in Mexico City dropped from 43 degrees to 35 this morning although authorities had feared a freeze. Thousands of capital dwellers had drained their automobile radiators.

Dozens of schools were closed today in anticipation of colder weather and more snow, which failed to materialize.

Still Unconscious

Convictions Revealed In Viet Slayings

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)— Two more U.S. Marines have been convicted in the mutilation slaying of two South Vietnamese villagers last fall, it was learned today.

Marine Corps spokesmen identified the Marines as Cpl. Stanley J. Luczko, 20, Gardner, Mass., leader of a reconnaissance squadron allegedly involved in the shootings, and Pfc. Ronald A. Piatkowski, 20, of Trenton, N.J.

Luczko was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor on two charges of murder by a Marine court martial. Piatkowski was found guilty of mutilation and attempted murder and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A West Virginia Marine was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the same case.

The South Vietnamese villagers allegedly were shot to death last Sept. 22. At least one of the bodies was mutilated and an attempt was made to conceal both corpses, Marine sources said.

Marine Pfc. Charles W. Keenan, 20, of Nitro, W.Va., had been sentenced to life at hard labor.

His conviction drew the wrath of his father, former Marine Henry Keenan, who vowed he was "going to take steps to free my son."

Young Keenan told UPI he felt he was made a "scapegoat" and that "I don't believe, in my own eyes, that I received a fair trial."

The convictions of all three are up for review before Gen. H. Nickerson Jr., commander of the 1st Marine Division in Vietnam.

Lowering Of Vote Age Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., introduced in the Senate today a proposed constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age in federal elections from 21 to 18 years.

To become effective, the Mansfield proposal would require a two-thirds vote of approval by the Senate and House and ratification by legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Appointment Asked

The board of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District has requested county supervisors to appoint Louis J. de Ghelder to fill the term of the board of Thomas R. Tawns, who has resigned effective Jan. 25. The term runs until April, 1968.

Hub House Fire Damage $16,500

A fire that started in an attached garage caused damage estimated at $16,500 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Divita at 295 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, last night.

Divita told San Anselmo firemen that he remembered seeing sparks coming from the electric door opener on his garage yesterday morning.

Mrs. Divita was in the kitchen at 7:16 p.m. when she heard crackling. She found the garage completely in flames. When firemen arrived, the fire had also enveloped the attic and roof.

The fire was confined to the garage, house attic and roof.

Fire Chief Frank Sousa said he believes a short-circuit in the door opener set fire to a garage storage shelf, and that the fire had been burning "for some time" before it was discovered.

He estimated the structural damage at $12,000 to $15,000, and damage to contents of the garage, including a car, at $1,500.

Dock Worker Is Sniper Victim

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A shipyard employe became a sniper victim yesterday.

W. G. Leroy, 61, Compton, told sheriff's deputies that two men in a yellow, 1958 Ford sedan pulled next to him in the Dominguez area, shouted obscenities and ordered him to pull over.

When he stepped on the accelerator, one of the men pointed a "small caliber" revolver and fired once, he said.

Leroy suffered minor cuts on the face when the bullet shattered a window and sprayed fragments of glass.

Braden Attends Final Sessions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Board of Education today began examining specifications for new reading textbooks and the need for better junior college financing as it opened a two-day meeting here.

The meetings were to be the last for Board President Thomas W. Braden and Vice President William A. Norris, whose terms expire Jan. 15.

Braden, an Oceanside publisher, was appointed in 1959, while Norris, a Los Angeles attorney, began serving in 1961.

Other subjects expected to figure prominently in the meetings were the statewide testing program, economic education, and federally aided projects.

BIKE RIDE'S END

John Karl Merz, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Merz of 4 Trost Road, San Rafael, was lifted onto stretcher by United Ambulance attendants Terrance Zink and Norman Lindstrom and Patrolman Henry Ingwerson after his bicycle collided with a car at the entrance to a parking lot at 1825 Fourth Street at 3:57 p.m. yesterday. Driver of the car, William M. Buick of 7 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael, said he stopped when he saw John and the boy rode his bike into the car. John said he forgot his bike had hand brakes rather than pedal brakes. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised head.

Glass Doors, Windows Broken

A siege of smashing windows and glass doors of Marin City residences was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said the four incidents occurred about 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Thelma Fusto of 227 Drake Avenue told officers someone threw two rocks through her sliding glass doors. George Williams of 8 Cole Drive also reported two rocks thrown through a glass door.

Mrs. Sqwynet Price of 72 Cole Drive said a front room window was shattered by a wine bottle. Angela Tidey of 27 Cole Drive reported a sliding glass door was shattered.

Snow Destroys Many Mexico City Homes

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Thousands of troops and police today brought food and clothing to victims of this capital's first snow storm in 26 years. The Weather Bureau predicted relief with rising temperatures.

Two persons died from exposure last night, bringing the national toll to 18-8 in the Mexico City and 10 in the provinces—since the storm began its southward march last Monday.

The flimsy homes of about 3,000 poor living on the outskirts of Mexico City were destroyed by snowfall yesterday, the first since March 14, 1940 and only the fifth since 1933.

Four thousand persons were rescued from mountain areas ringing Mexico City Wednesday night by the military and police.

The temperature in Mexico City dropped from 43 degrees to 35 this morning although authorities had feared a freeze. Thousands of capital dwellers had drained their automobile radiators.

Dozens of schools were closed today in anticipation of colder weather and more snow, which failed to materialize.

Still Unconscious

Convictions Revealed In Viet Slayings

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)— Two more U.S. Marines have been convicted in the mutilation slaying of two South Vietnamese villagers last fall, it was learned today.

Marine Corps spokesmen identified the Marines as Cpl. Stanley J. Luczko, 20, Gardner, Mass., leader of a reconnaissance squadron allegedly involved in the shootings, and Pfc. Ronald A. Piatkowski, 20, of Trenton, N.J.

Luczko was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor on two charges of murder by a Marine court martial. Piatkowski was found guilty of mutilation and attempted murder and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A West Virginia Marine was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the same case.

The South Vietnamese villagers allegedly were shot to death last Sept. 22. At least one of the bodies was mutilated and an attempt was made to conceal both corpses, Marine sources said.

Marine Pfc. Charles W. Keenan, 20, of Nitro, W.Va., had been sentenced to life at hard labor.

His conviction drew the wrath of his father, former Marine Henry Keenan, who vowed he was "going to take steps to free my son."

Young Keenan told UPI he felt he was made a "scapegoat" and that "I don't believe, in my own eyes, that I received a fair trial."

The convictions of all three are up for review before Gen. H. Nickerson Jr., commander of the 1st Marine Division in Vietnam.

Lowering Of Vote Age Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., introduced in the Senate today a proposed constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age in federal elections from 21 to 18 years.

To become effective, the Mansfield proposal would require a two-thirds vote of approval by the Senate and House and ratification by legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Appointment Asked

The board of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District has requested county supervisors to appoint Louis J. de Ghelder to fill the term of the board of Thomas R. Tawns, who has resigned effective Jan. 25. The term runs until April, 1968.

Hub House Fire Damage $16,500

A fire that started in an attached garage caused damage estimated at $16,500 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Divita at 295 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, last night.

Divita told San Anselmo firemen that he remembered seeing sparks coming from the electric door opener on his garage yesterday morning.

Mrs. Divita was in the kitchen at 7:16 p.m. when she heard crackling. She found the garage completely in flames. When firemen arrived, the fire had also enveloped the attic and roof.

The fire was confined to the garage, house attic and roof.

Fire Chief Frank Sousa said he believes a short-circuit in the door opener set fire to a garage storage shelf, and that the fire had been burning "for some time" before it was discovered.

He estimated the structural damage at $12,000 to $15,000, and damage to contents of the garage, including a car, at $1,500.

Dock Worker Is Sniper Victim

W. G. Leroy, 61, Compton, told sheriff's deputies that two men in a yellow, 1958 Ford sedan pulled next to him in the Dominguez area, shouted obscenities and ordered him to pull over.

When he stepped on the accelerator, one of the men pointed a "small caliber" revolver and fired once, he said.

Leroy suffered minor cuts on the face when the bullet shattered a window and sprayed fragments of glass.

Braden Attends Final Sessions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Board of Education today began examining specifications for new reading textbooks and the need for better junior college financing as it opened a two-day meeting here.

The meetings were to be the last for Board President Thomas W. Braden and Vice President William A. Norris, whose terms expire Jan. 15.

Braden, an Oceanside publisher, was appointed in 1959, while Norris, a Los Angeles attorney, began serving in 1961.

Other subjects expected to figure prominently in the meetings were the statewide testing program, economic education, and federally aided projects.

New Salary Marks Change In Lawmakers' Expenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Members of the California legislature — during 1966, the last year before their salary was boosted from $6,000 to $16,000 a year — drew an average of $11,675 from the state, with one assemblyman topping the field with $17,088. He was Jack T. Casey, Democrat serving sprawling Kern and San Bernardino counties.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was seventh lowest in the Senate, with total expenses of $9,367 for the year. Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, had expenses of $12,375. Both were furnished with state cars.

Of the 19 members who drew more than $14,000 during the year, eight of them were members who either retired or were defeated, including Casey.

The senator drawing the most for the year, Vernon L. Sturgeon, R-Paso Robles, was defeated in the June primary election and joined the Reagan campaign. He drew a total of $15,264 for the year.

Until the beginning of 1967, when the salary was raised to $16,000 by Prop. 1-a and enabling legislation, the lawmakers drew $6,000 in salary, $21 per day for the time spent in Sacramento in session, $25 per day for days spent in interim committee work, and 15 cents per mile for all travel which was not in their state-leased cars.

Under the new set-up, members will be reimbursed for travel at only the rate for common carrier, if one is available. Under action of the state board of control, which sets expenses for state executives, the lawmakers will receive $25 per day living expenses for time spent in session in Sacramento.

All but about a dozen members are furnished a leased car, at a lease price up to $150 per month. Gasoline used in the leased cars is charged on a state credit card.

Members are limited to 40 days of per diem on committee work, or $1,000 a year. However, members which also serve on joint committees are permitted another 20 days of per diem, for a total of 60 or $1500.

Mill Valley Art Member Resigns

Mill Valley Art Board last night accepted the resignation of architect Donn Emmons, named to the board when it was created by Mayor Albert E. White in May. Emmons said he did not have time to serve.

Chairman Donald E. Dudley appointed board member Ann O'Hanlon to find teachers for a proposed art workshop, and Laura Devendorf and Mrs. Mathew Dillingham to study possible sites for a workshop.

The board recommended the library display rotating art shows and suggested an annual commissioners' invitational show in the gallery of the library.

Vice President Assumes Duties

The vice presidency was left vacant when Howard C. Harvey became president after Albert J. Boro resigned.

Gene K. Royal of 69 Golden Hind Passage was elected to Boro's position on the board of directors.

Lindbergh Law Held Invalid By U. S. Judge

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled unconstitutional the federal kidnaping law — the so-called Lindbergh Law — on grounds that it impairs an accused's constitutional right to jury trial under the Sixth Amendment.

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge William H. Timbers said the law is unconstitutional "as far as imposition of the death penalty is concerned."

TRUCKING CASE

He filed his decision on a defense motion in a case involving three men accused of hijacking a tractor-trailer truck Sept. 2 in Milford, Conn. The driver of the truck was taken to Alpine, N.J., and left bound to a tree.

Timbers said a person accused under the law risks the death penalty if he elects a trial by jury, but that the threat of the death penalty is removed if he pleads guilty or if he is permitted to choose trial before a judge alone.

Thus, Timbers said, an accused's right to a jury trial, as guaranteed under the Constitution, is impaired.

In Hartford, U.S. Atty. Jon O. Newman said the Department of Justice is considering an appeal to the Supreme Court of Timbers' decision which was filed late Tuesday.

LAW PROVISIONS

The Lindbergh Law says that a convicted kidnaper "shall be punished by death if the kidnaped person has not been liberated unharmed, and if the verdict of the jury so shall recommend, or by imprisonment for any term of years of for life, if the death penalty is not imposed."

Timbers halted proceedings in the hijacking case for 30 days to permit a possible appeal by the Justice Department.

Defense Firm Found Guilty Of Idea Theft

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — A Connecticut company has been found guilty of pirating from another firm data for a secret weapons system for warplanes now in use in Vietnam.

The Connecticut firm was told to continue producing the electronic weapons system for the war effort.

"It is of unquestionable value to combat pilots and crews," said State Supreme Court Justice D. Ormonde Ritchie in handing down the ruling yesterday against Technical Measurement Corp. of North Haven, Conn.

Republic Aviation Co., a division of the Fairchild Hiller Corp., had sued to stop production of the system.

Justice Ritchie said extra damages would be awarded to Republic.

LBJ Settles Labor Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today announced that the undersecretary of labor will be nominated as ambassador to New Zealand.

Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning, the department's No. 2 man, has long been at odds with Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who had sought his replacement.

Henning, 51, would succeed retired Army Gen. Herbert B. Powell who resigned as ambassador to New Zealand.

Harnessing Geyser Energy Sought Again

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., said President Johnson's criticism of his 1966 geotherma (earth heat) steam bill was unfounded.

The measure would authorize the leasing of certain federal lands to private industry for the production of electric power and minerals from geothermal wells or mines. National parks, including Yellowstone, would be excluded from such activities.

Johnson said the bill would have given too much advantage to holders of present federal mineral leases.

Bible said the veto message was "plainly wrong about the provisions of the bill."

Bible voiced belief the bill "can become law with little or no change once the facts are presented properly to the President."

Most of the nation's known geothermal steam resources, outside Yellowstone Park, are in California and Nevada.

Rusk Disagrees With U Thant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk disagrees with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant's claim that Vietnam is not strategically vital to U.S. interests.

Rusk told newsmen yesterday that "four presidents have not taken that (Thant's) view and the United States does not agree with it."

Thant made his statement Tuesday in New York.

Rusk briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday on world matters in a closed session. He is scheduled to talk to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday.

Fire Meeting Set

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge William H. Timbers said the law is unconstitutional "as far as imposition of the death penalty is concerned."

TRUCKING CASE

He filed his decision on a defense motion in a case involving three men accused of hijacking a tractor-trailer truck Sept. 2 in Milford, Conn. The driver of the truck was taken to Alpine, N.J., and left bound to a tree.

Timbers said a person accused under the law risks the death penalty if he elects a trial by jury, but that the threat of the death penalty is removed if he pleads guilty or if he is permitted to choose trial before a judge alone.

Thus, Timbers said, an accused's right to a jury trial, as guaranteed under the Constitution, is impaired.

In Hartford, U.S. Atty. Jon O. Newman said the Department of Justice is considering an appeal to the Supreme Court of Timbers' decision which was filed late Tuesday.

LAW PROVISIONS

The Lindbergh Law says that a convicted kidnaper "shall be punished by death if the kidnaped person has not been liberated unharmed, and if the verdict of the jury so shall recommend, or by imprisonment for any term of years of for life, if the death penalty is not imposed."

Timbers halted proceedings in the hijacking case for 30 days to permit a possible appeal by the Justice Department.

Defense Firm Found Guilty Of Idea Theft

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — A Connecticut company has been found guilty of pirating from another firm data for a secret weapons system for warplanes now in use in Vietnam.

The Connecticut firm was told to continue producing the electronic weapons system for the war effort.

"It is of unquestionable value to combat pilots and crews," said State Supreme Court Justice D. Ormonde Ritchie in handing down the ruling yesterday against Technical Measurement Corp. of North Haven, Conn.

Republic Aviation Co., a division of the Fairchild Hiller Corp., had sued to stop production of the system.

Justice Ritchie said extra damages would be awarded to Republic.

LBJ Settles Labor Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today announced that the undersecretary of labor will be nominated as ambassador to New Zealand.

Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning, the department's No. 2 man, has long been at odds with Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who had sought his replacement.

Henning, 51, would succeed retired Army Gen. Herbert B. Powell who resigned as ambassador to New Zealand.

Harnessing Geyser Energy Sought Again

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., said President Johnson's criticism of his 1966 geotherma (earth heat) steam bill was unfounded.

The measure would authorize the leasing of certain federal lands to private industry for the production of electric power and minerals from geothermal wells or mines. National parks, including Yellowstone, would be excluded from such activities.

Johnson said the bill would have given too much advantage to holders of present federal mineral leases.

Bible said the veto message was "plainly wrong about the provisions of the bill."

Bible voiced belief the bill "can become law with little or no change once the facts are presented properly to the President."

The measure is cosponsored by Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.

Most of the nation's known geothermal steam resources, outside Yellowstone Park, are in California and Nevada.

Rusk Disagrees With U Thant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk disagrees with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant's claim that Vietnam is not strategically vital to U.S. interests.

Rusk told newsmen yesterday that "four presidents have not taken that (Thant's) view and the United States does not agree with it."

Thant made his statement Tuesday in New York.

Rusk briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday on world matters in a closed session. He is scheduled to talk to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday.

Eight Marinites Take Oaths Of Citizenship

Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, director of College of Marin's community chorus, and seven other Marin residents participated last month in a special kind of chorus: pledging allegiance to the United States in naturalization ceremonies in San Francisco.

Citizenship for Wolff marked the end of the statutory five-year period of residence in this country—a wait endured with more patience than the maestro has been known to show off-key choristers in his search for musical perfection.

Since he and his wife, Jane, arrived in Marin from Bermuda in 1961, he has been deeply involved in the musical life of the community. In addition to teaching music at the college and directing its chorus, he is minister of music at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

Wolff is also kept busy by the Baroque Chamber Group, a chorale group accompanied by strings and tympani, which he founded 18 months ago and which has since presented frequent concerts in churches in Marin.

His musical career began in 1924 in his native England when, at the age of 8, he was appointed choral scholar at Hereford Cathedral. By the time he was 14, he was assistant organist at St. Matthew's Church in London.

He has taught music in schools in England, Canada and Bermuda, and has served as choirmaster in numerous churches. Nearly 100 of his sacred and secular choral and organ works have been published in this country.

The Wolffs, who live at 21 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael, have a married daughter, Herve Hinkle, living in Waukegan, Ill.

Other Marin residents who became citizens last month include:

CORTE MADERA—Marcus Bernhard Soliva, 23 Mohawk Drive; Mario Johannes Josef Zemann, 21 Palm Avenue.

KENTFIELD—Mrs. Karin Rentmeister, 5 Lilac Avenue.

MILL VALLEY—Trevor John Smith, 107 Columbia Avenue.

Bogus Policeman Given Probation

Richard M. Melovich, 22, was given 90 days in county jail and placed on three years' probation in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday for impersonating a police officer.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. granted a one-day stay of execution of sentence, however, on indication by Melovich's attorney, Berwyn A. Rice of San Rafael, that he will appeal the Dec. 13 court conviction.

Melovich, of 424 Pine Street, Sausalito, allegedly drove his car alongside another car parked beside Highway 101 by Edward C. Blass of San Jose on Oct. 1, then flashed a badge and told Blass he was a policeman.

He was quoted as saying, "Get out of the car. You are under arrest."

Blass, who said he didn't know Melovich, flagged a passing highway patrol car, and Melovich was arrested.

G.M. Settles Corvair Suits Out Of Court

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. announced yesterday an out-of-court settlement of 47 suits seeking $25 million damages in connection with accidents plaintiffs tied to the design of Corvair automobiles in 1960-63.

The settlement was reached with David M. Harney, a Los Angeles attorney handling the suits for the 92 plaintiffs.

No payment was made in one-third of the cases, G.M. said. A total of about $350,000 will be paid on the other cases.

G.M. said its attorneys and Harney agreed that some of the cases should be dismissed outright in exchange for waiver of costs.

Others, the firm said, would be settled "for purse nuisance value" with "nominal amounts" being paid on the remaining cases "recognizing the expenses involved in lengthy trials and the possible emotional impact on juries of some plaintiffs."

Most of the suits alleged that automobile accidents — and injuries — resulted from defects in the design of the Corvairs.

Harney brought four suits to trial, G.M. said. In two cases juries found in favor of G.M. Another found against G.M., but the judge threw the verdict out, saying it was not supported by the evidence. The fourth jury deliberated five days but failed to reach a verdict.

A fifth case resulted in another ruling favoring G.M., the firm said.

That Redwood Not As Tall As Believed

SCOTIA (AP)—That towering redwood in Dyerville Flat of Humboldt Redwoods State Park isn't quite as tall as it was thought to be.

The "Dyerville Giant," tallest tree in the flat, was measured a few months ago at 369.2 feet.

Dr. Paul Zinke of the University of California school of forestry, said today the same surveyors now figure it is a little short of 358 feet.

Dr. Zinke said the varying measurements reflect the difficulty of determining the height of a tree towering more than 350 feet in a dense forest of other giants, and particularly a round-topped tree with no well-defined tip.

This means, Zinke added, that the Howard Libbey tree, in the Arco Grove of Giants on Redwood Creek, still can be considered the tallest living accurately measured tree—367.8 feet high.

DIRECTORS DROP SWIM CLUB LEASE

Strawberry Recreation Board Take Action In Special Session To Solve Dilemma

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

Strawberry Recreation District directors decided unanimously at a special meeting last night to terminate the Strawberry Swim Club's lease of the district swimming pool.

Chairman Clarence Bush said today the action was taken as "the most equitable way to resolve the dilemma for the residents of the district, and the least expensive way, avoiding litigation or delay."

CONFIRMS SUSPICIONS

Swim club attorney Leighton Hatch said the move confirmed the club's suspicions of the district's intention to take over the pool.

Bush said the district board "extensively considered alternatives resulting from the failure of the Strawberry Swim Club to make its rental payment due Jan. 1."

A letter from the swim club to the district stated it would pay the rent on condition the district would go to arbitration, according to chairman Bush, who added that no reason or amount in dispute was given in the letter.

He said the district on Jan. 7 demanded payment of the rent, as no representative of the club attended its regular meeting of Jan. 4.

At the special meeting last night, an amended demand for arbitration was read, but Bush said no representative of the club was present.

The amended demand for arbitration was directed to the American Arbitration Assn. by Hatch, the swim club attorney, who had filed an earlier arbitration demand on Dec. 30.

ARBITRATION TALK

According to Bush, the board talked about arbitration or termination of the lease and made extensive inquiry as to the time lapse, expenses and costs of the various possibilities, before deciding to terminate the club's lease.

Hatch said the club still feels arbitration "is the only sane answer."

"They are using our good faith and insistence on arbitration as a pretext to take over the club," he declared today.

"Viet Cong-like, they have refused to negotiate our difference and thus we asked for arbitration strictly according to the lease.

"After a 'Paul Revere' presentation of forfeiture notice to our president, Don Fraser, the district in 'star chamber session' announced an intent to terminate the lease."

Hatch said he was informed of the district meeting only two hours in advance and was unable to attend.

Bill Proposes Split On Seized Car Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly passed its first bill of the 1967 session today, a technical measure regarding organization of county school district organization committees.

The Assembly suspended the rule that no bill be acted on for 30 days after its introduction.

Filing Deadline

Tomorrow is the deadline for filing applications for a vacancy on the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington, He said letters can be left at the district office, 1155 Tiburon Boulevard.

Kuchel Aids Atom Plant For Water

WASHINGTON (UPI) --Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said today he would introduce legislation to authorize an additional $57.2 million federal contribution to construction of the world's largest nuclear desalting plant.

Legislation passed by Congress last year already authorizes the Atomic Energy Commission to put up $15 million to help build the $450 million plant off the coast of Southern California.

The Kuchel bill would permit the Interior Department to contribute $557.2 million to the plant being built under a partnership venture including both private and public utilities.

California Doctor Shortage Discussed

HAYWARD (AP) — California must have 18,300 more doctors by 1970, a conference on health-manpower problems was told today. But California's medical schools are turning out only 340 doctors a year.

Paul Ward, director of the California Committee on Regional Medical Problems, said that is only one of the many problems confronting those interested in health work.

Valley Project Sets Electricity Record

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Central Valley Project produced a record of more than 5.3 billion kilowatt hours of electric power last year, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation said today.

The 1966 power production topped 1965, also a record year, said Robert J. Pafford Jr., bureau regional director.

Selective Service Overhaul Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for overhaul of a Selective Service System which he said "sends tens of thousands of young men into the Army simply because they cannot afford to go to college."

In a speech for a National Press Club luncheon, Kennedy argued that the current system "lets 75 per cent of those wealthy enough or bright enough to go on to graduate school escape military service completely."

'You Know What' Is Just Wine

MAIDSTONE, England (UPI) —It's all in the mind. A group of Young Conservatives advertised a party featuring "cheese and you know what" at nearby Leeds village hall.

Village elders feared an orgy —until the embarrassed political club explained the "you know what" referred to wine.

Couple Wins Back Right To Teach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco Superior Court judge has avoided ruling on the constitutionality of the state's loyalty oath, but nonetheless ordered that teaching certificates be returned to two former Redding school teachers, both at one time Communist Party members.

Judge Joseph Karesh ruled yesterday that the credentials which William and Rita Mack lost in 1961 should be reinstated.

He said the State Board of Education failed to prove that the Macks knew that the Communist Party advocated the overthrow of the government by force.

The couple said they were members of the party from 1953 to 1957, when they quit because of the Hungarian revolution. In 1958 they took the Levering loyalty oath, swearing they had not in five years been members of an organization urging the overthrow by violence of the goevrnment.

Judge Karesh said, "It is not necessary for me to reach the constitutionality question, but I have grave doubts as to whether the oath is constitutional." He said the U.S. Supreme Court has voided similar oaths in Arizona, Washington and Florida.

Tribunal Faced With Historic Rights Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the end of the term the Supreme Court will decide a novel question of paramount importance to civil rights marchers and administrators of justice.

It is: May judges and policemen be sued for damages under an 1871 civil rights law?

If they are ruled immune from such suits, civil rights demonstrators will be barred from using the Reconstruction statute to sue for false arrest and conviction.

But if they are not immune, the door could swing wide open for such suits — a prospect which appeared to deeply concern at least three of the nine Supreme Court justices who heard arguments on the matter yesterday.

The case at hand involves four Episcopal ministers, one of them a former son-in-law of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who were arrested in a Jackson, Miss., bus depot in September 1961.

The ministers were part of a racially mixed group of Episcopal clergymen on a civil rights "prayer pilgrimage" from New Orleans to Detroit. Three are white and the fourth Negro.

Their trip up the Mississippi Valley was cut short when they tried to eat in a coffee shop in the depot.

According to their attorney, Carl Rachlin of New York City, they entered the depot peacefully and were arrested to enforce segregation. The sign outside the depot, Rachlin said, read: "Whites only, by order of police."

But according to attorney Elizabeth Watkins Hulen Grayson of Jackson — representing the three arresting police officers and the local police justice, the ministers "broadcast the fact they came to be arrested."

Local Police Justice James L. Spencer found the four — the Rev. Robert L. Pierson, then married to Rockefeller's daughter Ann, Rev. John B. Morris, Rev. James G. Jones Jr. and Rev. James P. Breeden, a Negro, guilty of violating Mississippi's breach-of-peace law and sent them off to jail.

Later, Hinds County Court struck down Father Jones' conviction and officials decided not to press charges against the three others.

The clergymen then turned around and sued the three arresting officers and Spencer for damages under the 1871 civil rights law, seeking $11,000 each.

Nearly $40 Million Sought In Hospital Building Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Spencer Williams, administrator of the state Health and Welfare Agency, is studying the allocations of nearly $40 million of state and federal funds for hospital construction and modernization.

The State Hospital Advisory Council recommended the allocations yesterday under provisions of the Hill-Burton Federal Hospital Act.

The largest single outlay was about $8 million to be matched by about $4 million in Los Angeles County money for a new 394-bed hospital in the Watts area of Los Angeles. Two San Francisco hospitals also received large sums: Franklin Hospital $2.18 million for modernization and St. Luke's $2.12 million for its building program.

Williams said the recommendations would be examined, rather than automatically approved as in the past, to make sure that the allocations of state funds were not incompatible with Gov. Reagan's budget plans.

General hospitals received about half of the council's allocations.

(Marin County had no application for funds under this act.)

Chinese Fallout Is Hottest Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says the highest levels of radioactivity recorded after any Red Chinese nuclear test have been found in the wake of a Dec. 27 blast.

But the service said the levels are not considered to pose any health hazard.

The readings were about four times greater than the highest values measured from four earlier Chinese tests, a spokesman said.

Repeal Asked Of Banning Floor Talks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee had under consideration today a request it repeal a new rule that bans newsmen from talking to legislators on the floor of the lower house.

The Capitol Correspondents Assn. made the request yesterday. Association president Earl C. Behrens, political editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, said repeal of the rule would "remove a barrier between the members of the Assembly and the public."

Newsmen must have an opportunity to ask brief questions of lawmakers if they are to meet their deadlines, Behrens said.

Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, said the rule also prohibits legislative assistants from talking to members on the floor. He said it is needed to improve the decorum of the House.

Muir Beach's Water Costs Are Explored

Connecting Muir Beach to Marin Municipal Water District will add $1.84 to the tax rate of the community services district, residents were told last night at a meeting of district directors.

The tax hike would be to pay for a $200,000 state loan to connect to the water district's Tamalpais Valley line. Present tax rate is $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Board president Jack F. Harris said the connection probably could be completed in the spring of 1968. First, however, the board must have a feasibility study on the cost and method of connecting. After the report is adopted, an election will be held in the Muir Beach district on whether to annex to the water district.

Estimates of the tax rate required to pay for the loan were based on a 50-year payment period, Harris said. Property owners in areas annexed to the Muir Beach district after the connection would have to buy in to the district, he said, and pay connection fees.

B. G. Grant, principal engineer for the water district, told the 46 persons at the meeting in Muir Beach Tavern that an eight-inch line would be brought from Tamalpais Valley to the district.

Reagan Backers Kidnap Effigy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's effigy, instead of being hanged by his enemies, was torn limb from limb by his friends yesterday.

A group of Sacramento State College students, bent on protest of possible tuition at state colleges, were fixing to string up the dummy.

Instead, a pro-Reagan student faction swooped down and kidnaped the thing and tore it apart. Reagan's effigy was hanged last week — same issue — on the Fresno State College campus.

JAPAN HONORS FAIRFAX MAN

George Curran of 60 Madrone Road, Fairfax, vice president of the Bank of America, was presented an award by Consul General of Japan Tsutomu Wada for promoting closer economic and cultural ties between this country and Japan. Curran is in charge of the bank's Far East activities. Mrs. Curran looked on during ceremonies in the Japanese Consulate, San Francisco.

Repeal Asked Of Banning Floor Talks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee had under consideration today a request it repeal a new rule that bans newsmen from talking to legislators on the floor of the lower house.

The Capitol Correspondents Assn. made the request yesterday. Association president Earl C. Behrens, political editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, said repeal of the rule would "remove a barrier between the members of the Assembly and the public."

Newsmen must have an opportunity to ask brief questions of lawmakers if they are to meet their deadlines, Behrens said.

Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, said the rule also prohibits legislative assistants from talking to members on the floor. He said it is needed to improve the decorum of the House.

Muir Beach's Water Costs Are Explored

Connecting Muir Beach to Marin Municipal Water District will add $1.84 to the tax rate of the community services district, residents were told last night at a meeting of district directors.

The tax hike would be to pay for a $200,000 state loan to connect to the water district's Tamalpais Valley line. Present tax rate is $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Board president Jack F. Harris said the connection probably could be completed in the spring of 1968. First, however, the board must have a feasibility study on the cost and method of connecting. After the report is adopted, an election will be held in the Muir Beach district on whether to annex to the water district.

Estimates of the tax rate required to pay for the loan were based on a 50-year payment period, Harris said. Property owners in areas annexed to the Muir Beach district after the connection would have to buy into the district, he said, and pay connection fees.

B. G. Grant, principal engineer for the water district, told the 46 persons at the meeting in Muir Beach Tavern that an eight-inch line would be brought from Tamalpais Valley to the district.

Reagan Backers Kidnap Effigy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's effigy, instead of being hanged by his enemies, was torn limb from limb by his friends yesterday.

A group of Sacramento State College students, bent on protest of possible tuition at state colleges, were fixing to string up the dummy.

Instead, a pro-Reagan student faction swooped down and kidnaped the thing and tore it apart. Reagan's effigy was hanged last week — same issue — on the Fresno State College campus.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, THURSDAY, JANUARY 12, 1967

NEWSPAPER ROBOT

New Electronic Brain Speeds Up Independent-Journal Typesetting

The Independent - Journal begins the new year with finishing touches on a two-million dollar expansion program that has been more than two years in the making.

The newest automated addition to increase production is a Justape computer which takes raw" coded tape and arranges words and phrases into one-column widths with uniform margins, making each line the same width as the one above it.

If a word must be hyphenated to fit, the computer takes care of that, too. In newspaper parlance this is known as "justifying" the line of type. Ordinarily it is done manually by a Linotype operator and more recently by the tape puncher. The Justape eliminates one more manually performed detail for greater output.

TAPE IN USE

The use of punched tape to set type has been a major part of the I-J's expansion program. Already four major sources are transmitting news on tape: AP and UPI news wires, AP sports wire and UPI stock wire. I-J typesetters now are beginning to punch tape for local news, society and sports. Headlines and captions can also be produced in this manner. And later, classified ad copy will be tape-punched.

After the Justape does its work, the tape is run through Elektron Linotypes, which in turn convert the copy into "straight matter" or type. During the recent holiday season the I-J acquired two more of these Elektron line-casters for a total of six high speed machines to prepare for the high production schedule foreseen for the future.

The I-J's expansion program was conceived several years ago by its late publisher, Roy A. Brown. But it began concretely with the purchase of the adjoining City Hall property in January, 1964, and took visible form on a day during the following December when ground was broken for a new three-story plus basement addition to the existing buildings to house the latest model Hoe 80-page Colormatic press which had been bought to replace the press then in operation.

The new press, with five units capable of printing an 80-page newspaper, and two other special units to print color on 16 pages, is a giant. It stands 27 feet high (three stories) and 73 feet in length. Its huge size and weight of 250 tons required installation concurrently with construction of the building. In April, 1965, concrete footings to support it had been completed and the machinery itself and walls of the building went into place. By the following September, with 10 miles of wiring and numerous electronic control boxes and motors to operate it, the press began to roll.

SPEEDY GIANT

The Hoe Colormatic is said to be the highest-speed production press of its type, turning out 70,000 printed and folded newspapers per hour. Rolls of paper are changed automatically at high speed without stopping the press. To provide for future expansion, both building and foundations were constructed to allow three more units to be added.

With completion of the new pressroom building and with I-J circulation increasing steadily, a second phase of modernization got under way. Replaced mechanical equipment was moved out and sold. By the beginning of 1966, other areas had been redesigned and newer machinery was being placed in operation.

During the past year, improvements and additions included doubling the size of the composing room, tripling the cold type area (paste up department), expansion of the make-up department, new pneumatic tube lines to speed copy to the composing room, completely new and larger photographic dark room, enlarged and modernized Linofilm and engraving department.

Installation of a new camera in the engraving department now provides two of the very latest cameras, along with a PAKO processor that automatically processes and dries the film. New sinks, a new camera room, machine room and etching room were added.

A completely new stereotype department has been equipped with two new page-plate casting machines — one semi-automatic and one a heavy duty — and milling machine. New formers and routers were also added, and the latest 10-ton Ludwig foundry pot was installed, equipped with the latest controls.

New lighting was installed throughout the entire building. Air conditioning was provided in many additional departments.

MORE OFFICES

Remodeling the corner of Fifth Avenue and B Street quarters formerly occupied by the Dorothy Kell Furnture Shop, provided new ground floor facilities for an expanded classified advertising department, as well as new and larger telephone switchboard equipment and new bookkeeping quarters. A large mezzanine area here was used for display advertising space. Other areas expanded were the circulation department on the first floor, second and third floor storage facilities and third floor executive offices and the news library.

"The I-J now has just about the most advanced equipment obtainable and we feel we are ready to meet the growth we expect in the years just ahead," said publisher Wishard A. Brown and co-publisher Jack Craemer.

Flood Control Hearing Set

A public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project into Ross has been set for 8 p.m., Jan. 18 at Ross Town Hall, town engineer Philip B. Lygren announced today.

Lygren will recommend that the town council accept the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' plan to extend the concrete ditch into Ross to the confluence of Corte Madera and San Anselmo creeks. If the town does not accept this plan, the corps proposes a wall and collection ditch on the south side of the town.

Lygren said his recommendation includes conditions for council control of design and landscaping.

Four-Payment County Tax Test Urged

The legislative committee of the State Assn. of County Tax Collectors has proposed a test of the four-payment plan for property taxes in Los Angeles County.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez, a member of the state committee, said the proposal would make the plan optional in Los Angeles County. Tax collectors in other counties were reluctant to propose the plan because of increase cost in paper work and because there was some fear that the spreading of payments might reduce the impact, just as withhouding tax does.

Tax delinquency dates now are Dec. 10 and April 10 on first and second installments. Under the proposal, all taxes would be due on Sept. 10 with delinquency dates on four equal installments on the 10th of October, January, March and May.

Cast Selected For Musical

The cast for "Bells Are Ringing," Broadway musical which will be the spring production of the Novato Community Club, was announced today.

Ella will be played by Lois Wright; Jeff by Max Keeler; Sue by Jacqueline Hall; Sandor by Scott Wright; Carl by Donald Leaf; Carol by Claudia Bliss; Inspector Barnes by Joseph Jacob; Francis by Alex Consagra; Gwynne by Ernestine Barnwell; Dr. Kitchell by Otto Haiungs, and Larry Hastings by Roland Brown.

More people are needed for the chorus and dance routines, according to Arthur Bliss, director.

Marinites Earn Scholar Honors

Three recent Marin graduates from University of California at Berkeley have been selected for initiation into Phi Beta Kappa honor society.

Elected to the society were Conn Malachi Hallinan, bachelor of arts, anthropology, Belvedere; Victoria Hodges, bachelor of arts, English, Kentfield and Robert Eugene De Brecht, bachelor of science, engineering, Novato.

To qualify, students must be in the highest 6 per cent of the class and have a grade point average of 3.4 out of a possible 4. Initiation ceremonies will be at the Berkeley campus Alumni House Feb. 2.

Larkspur Plans Commercial Look

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, at suggestion of City Mgr. Kent Bathurst, has appointed a five-member committee to survey problems in the city's commercial area.

Aby Will Not Run Again For Mayor's Post

San Rafael residents apparently are going to continue voting for a mayor every two years, but City Councilman Charles W. Aby will not be among the candidates.

Aby announced this last night as the San Rafael City Council reviewed a proposed charter revision calling for an election of a mayor every four years.

As councilmen debated the pros and cons of a two-year mayoralty term, Aby said, "I'm not going to do it again." Aby was defeated for the mayoralty by C. Paul Bettini in 1965.

Aby did not say whether he would seek re-election to the council. His term expires in April.

Bettini backed the committee's recommendation that the mayor be elected every four years, but the majority of councilmen were opposed.

"It's time-consuming to run for election, and if you have a program, it hardly gets started in two years," Bettini said

Councilman Louis H. Baar said the council "equally tries to prepare a program as well as the mayor. I think the mayor runs the meeting, and the council along with the mayor runs the city."

"I think the public should have a chance to elect a mayor every two years," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier.

Councilman Fred E Jensen said election of a mayor every two years gives voters a chance to replace the majority of the council every two years, if they are dissatisfied.

Councilmen did not vote on the issue since the meeting wasn't an official council session, but left no doubt that the majority oppose a four-year term.

Four Released In Marin Probe Of Marijuana

Four persons booked in county jail for investigation of marijuana possession have been released pending further study of the case by the district attorney's office. No charge has been filed.

Arrested Saturday by California Highway Patrol were David Allen Ward, 21, and Catherine Margaret Ward, 19, both of 99 Srpuce Road, Fairfax; Robert Anton Nelson, 20, whose address was listed as 19 Knoll Road, Alto, and Robert Alexander Donohoe, 26, of Lincoln Hotel, San Rafael.

Officers said they stopped the quartet on Highway 101 because their car had a cracked taillight lens, but a plastic bag and a matchbox containing what appeared to be marijuana were thrown from the vehicle.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said a further report has been requested of the patrol, and the box and bag and contents have been sent to the San Francisco police narcotics laboratory for analysis.

Councilmen Argue Charter Changes

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael city councilmen clashed on several issues last night as they started review of proposed revisions to the city's 54-year-old charter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the council could take no action because it was not an official meeting, but could try to reach tentative agreements on some proposals.

Councilmen held a three-and-a-half hour joint session with the charter revision committee, which submitted 14 pages of recommendations for charter changes to be submitted to voters in the April 10 municipal election.

Mayor Bettini then set another meeting with the charter revision committee for 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at City Hall "to complete the job."

Councilmen agreed with a recommendation that the police chief, city clerk and assessor, city treasurer and tax collector be appointed rather than elected.

There was some question about switching the office of city attorney from elective to appointive.

"I think the city attorney should be elected," said Councilman Louis H. Baar.

In an election an attorney without experience in municipal law can gain office, countered Councilman Charles W. Aby. If the council appoints an attorney, it can select one trained in municipal law, he said.

On several occasions, Roy M. Michael, charter committee chairman, urged the councilmen to consider not only how the proposals strike them, but also what people may think. "Maybe you think it doesn't have merit, but the people may like it."

Michael contended that when there was some question about a proposal, the council should put it on the ballot, and give the voters a chance at it.

Apparently headed for rejection are proposals that the mayor serve a four-year instead of a two-year term, that the city have an independent audit by a management consultant firm, that an emergency reserve fund be established for times of disaster, and that there be no limit on advertising and promotion funds.

Councilmen clashed over a proposal that would make all appointive officers and department heads subordinate to the city manager, excluding the city attorney if he were appointed.

"This puts the department of public works under the city manager. What does the city manager know about streets and sewers?" demanded Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

(Public works was removed from city manager control by the city council nearly 10 years ago on motion of Jensen, to create a separate department under Norris M. Rawles, who had failed to pass an examination for a civil engineer's license so could not be retained as city engineer.)

Michael said it was a question of philosophy whether the council wanted to give the city manager authority over certain employees and wanted to delegate certain duties to him.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier, a member of the fire commission, said making the fire chief subordinate to the city manager could create a conflict with the fire commission.

Under the present system "the fire commission tells the chief what to do," he said.

"I don't think we should make the city manager all-powerful," asserted Jensen. He particularly opposed a section saying that "the council shall deal through the city manager on all matters involving administrative and personnel matters."

"I'm in favor of the entire section," countered Mayor Bettini. "We either have to delegate the city manager more authority or not."

Councilmen agreed that the municipal election date should be changed from the second Monday to the third Tuesday in April of each odd-numbered year. The charter committee had recommended the second Tuesday. City Clerk W. C. Cornwell recommended that it be the third Tuesday to coincide with the school election date in the education code. This will save taxpayers money, Cornwell said.

There was less agreement on a proposal that the advertising and promotion fund have no restriction. All agreed that the present $1,000 limitation is too low, but there was debate about permiting the council to spend as much "as the council may deem proper."

"I think there should be a limit," said Jensen.

Baar said he favored a minority report by Michael that proposed a $10,000 limit on the fund and creation of a hotel-motel tax with two-thirds of the proceeds of the tax or $10,000, whichever is greater, earmarked for advertising and promotion.

Bettini said he would not want to see any limitation set by the charter.

The method of filling board of education vacancies also brought disagreement.

The charter revision committee recommended that the council be given 30 days to fill vacancies in its own membership between elections, with a special election required if the 30 days expire without an appointment. The charter now gives the council 20 days to fill vacancies, after which the appointive power passes to the board of education.

The committee made no recommendation for changing the present provision that the council fill vacancies occurring between elections on the board of education.

Bettini said he felt the school board should not appoint to the council, nor the council to the school board, because the two bodies encompass different territories and "neither has enough knowledge about the other body."

Michael said the committee felt "that the council should have some participation in the board of education, rather than have it a separate domain, and independent unit."

In the midst of the talk about the school board, Aby said: "This is the best argument I have for becoming a general law city. We wouldn't have anything to do with the board of education."

Jensen said: "The only time we ever had abuse was when we made an appointment to the school board. I feel that if the council hadn't made an appointment, the teachers would have."

Councilmen agreed to the filing of petitions rather than individual certificates for nominations, initiative, referendum and recall. They also agreed that nomination petitions should be presented not earlier than 55 days and not later than 40 days before the election.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, counsel to the committee, suggested the council could lump all the technical changes in one ballot measure, and then have separate measures "for the matters of substance."

Councilmen started to discuss the committee's recommendation on changing the makeup of the fire commission, when Bettini decided it was time to adjourn.

NEWSPAPER ROBOT

New Electronic Brain Speeds Up Independent-Journal Typesetting

The Independent-Journal begins the new year with finishing touches on a two-million dollar expansion program that has been more than two years in the making.

The newest automated addition to increase production is a Justape computer which takes raw" coded tape and arranges words and phrases into one-column widths with uniform margins, making each line the same width as the one above it.

If a word must be hyphenated to fit, the computer takes care of that, too. In newspaper parlance this is known as "justifying" the line of type. Ordinarily it is done manually by a Linotype operator and more recently by the tape puncher. The Justape eliminates one more manually performed detail for greater output.

TAPE IN USE

The use of punched tape to set type has been a major part of the I-J's expansion program. Already four major sources are transmitting news on tape: AP and UPI news wires, AP sports wire and UPI stock wire. I-J typesetters now are beginning to punch tape for local news, society and sports. Headlines and captions can also be produced in this manner. And later, classified ad copy will be tape-punched.

After the Justape does its work, the tape is run through Elektron Linotypes, which in turn convert the copy into "straight matter" or type. During the recent holiday season the I-J acquired two more of these Elektron line-casters for a total of six high speed machines to prepare for the high production schedule foreseen for the future.

The I-J's expansion program was conceived several years ago by its late publisher, Roy A. Brown. But it began concretely with the purchase of the adjoining City Hall property in January, 1964, and took visible form on a day during the following December when ground was broken for a new three-story plus basement addition to the existing buildings to house the latest model Hoe 80-page Colormatic press which had been bought to replace the press then in operation.

The new press, with five units capable of printing an 80-page newspaper, and two other special units to print color on 16 pages, is a giant. It stands 27 feet high (three stories) and 73 feet in length. Its huge size and weight of 250 tons required installation concurrently with construction of the building. In April, 1965, concrete footings to support it had been completed and the machinery itself and walls of the building went into place. By the following September, with 10 miles of wiring and numerous electronic control boxes and motors to operate it, the press began to roll.

SPEEDY GIANT

The Hoe Colormatic is said to be the highest-speed production press of its type, turning out 70,000 printed and folded newspapers per hour. Rolls of paper are changed automatically at high speed without stopping the press. To provide for future expansion, both building and foundations were constructed to allow three more units to be added.

With completion of the new pressroom building and with I-J circulation increasing steadily, a second phase of modernization got under way. Replaced mechanical equipment was moved out and sold. By the beginning of 1966, other areas had been redesigned and newer machinery was being placed in operation.

During the past year, improvements and additions included doubling the size of the composing room, tripling the cold type area (paste up department), expansion of the make-up department, new pneumatic tube lines to speed copy to the composing room, completely new and larger photographic dark room, enlarged and modernized Linofilm and engraving department.

Installation of a new camera in the engraving department now provides two of the very latest cameras, along with a PAKO processor that automatically processes and dries the film. New sinks, a new camera room, machine room and etching room were added.

A completely new stereotype department has been equipped with two new page-plate casting machines — one semi-automatic and one a heavy duty — and milling machine. New formers and routers were also added, and the latest 10-ton Ludwig foundry pot was installed, equipped with the latest controls.

New lighting was installed throughout the entire building. Air conditioning was provided in many additional departments.

MORE OFFICES

Remodeling the corner of Fifth Avenue and B Street quarters formerly occupied by the Dorothy Kell Furnture Shop, provided new ground floor facilities for an expanded classified advertising department, as well as new and larger telephone switchboard equipment and new bookkeeping quarters. A large mezzanine area here was used for display advertising space. Other areas expanded were the circulation department on the first floor, second and third floor storage facilities and third floor executive offices and the news library.

"The I-J now has just about the most advanced equipment obtainable and we feel we are ready to meet the growth we expect in the years just ahead," said publisher Wishard A. Brown and co-publisher Jack Craemer.

Flood Control Hearing Set

A public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project into Ross has been set for 8 p.m., Jan. 18 at Ross Town Hall, town engineer Philip B. Lygren announced today.

Lygren will recommend that the town council accept the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' plan to extend the concrete ditch into Ross to the confluence of Corte Madera and San Anselmo creeks. If the town does not accept this plan, the corps proposes a wall and collection ditch on the south side of the town.

Lygren said his recommendation includes conditions for council control of design and landscaping.

Four-Payment County Tax Test Urged

The legislative committee of the State Assn. of County Tax Collectors has proposed a test of the four-payment plan for property taxes in Los Angeles County.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez, a member of the state committee, said the proposal would make the plan optional in Los Angeles County. Tax collectors in other counties were reluctant to propose the plan because of increase cost in paper work and because there was some fear that the spreading of payments might reduce the impact, just as withhouding tax does.

Tax delinquency dates now are Dec. 10 and April 10 on first and second installments. Under the proposal, all taxes would be due on Sept. 10 with delinquency dates on four equal installments on the 10th of October, January, March and May.

Aby Will Not Run Again For Mayor's Post

San Rafael residents apparently are going to continue voting for a mayor every two years, but City Councilman Charles W. Aby will not be among the candidates.

Aby announced this last night as the San Rafael City Council reviewed a proposed charter revision calling for an election of a mayor every four years.

As councilmen debated the pros and cons of a two-year mayoralty term, Aby said, "I'm not going to do it again." Aby was defeated for the mayoralty by C. Paul Bettini in 1965.

Aby did not say whether he would seek re-election to the council. His term expires in April.

Bettini backed the committee's recommendation that the mayor be elected every four years, but the majority of councilmen were opposed.

"It's time-consuming to run for election, and if you have a program, it hardly gets started in two years," Bettini said

Councilman Louis H. Baar said the council "equally tries to prepare a program as well as the mayor. I think the mayor runs the meeting, and the council along with the mayor runs the city."

"I think the public should have a chance to elect a mayor every two years," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier.

Councilman Fred E Jensen said election of a mayor every two years gives voters a chance to replace the majority of the council every two years, if they are dissatisfied.

Councilmen did not vote on the issue since the meeting wasn't an official council session, but left no doubt that the majority oppose a four-year term.

Councilmen Argue Charter Changes

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael city councilmen clashed on several issues last night as they started review of proposed revisions to the city's 54-year-old charter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the council could take no action because it was not an official meeting, but could try to reach tentative agreements on some proposals.

Councilmen held a three-and-a-half hour joint session with the charter revision committee, which submitted 14 pages of recommendations for charter changes to be submitted to voters in the April 10 municipal election.

Mayor Bettini then set another meeting with the charter revision committee for 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at City Hall "to complete the job."

Councilmen agreed with a recommendation that the police chief, city clerk and assessor, city treasurer and tax collector be appointed rather than elected.

There was some question about switching the office of city attorney from elective to appointive.

"I think the city attorney should be elected," said Councilman Louis H. Baar.

In an election an attorney without experience in municipal law can gain office, countered Councilman Charles W. Aby. If the council appoints an attorney, it can select one trained in municipal law, he said.

On several occasions, Roy M. Michael, charter committee chairman, urged the councilmen to consider not only how the proposals strike them, but also what people may think. "Maybe you think it doesn't have merit, but the people may like it."

Michael contended that when there was some question about a proposal, the council should put it on the ballot, and give the voters a chance at it.

Apparently headed for rejection are proposals that the mayor serve a four-year instead of a two-year term, that the city have an independent audit by a management consultant firm, that an emergency reserve fund be established for times of disaster, and that there be no limit on advertising and promotion funds.

Councilmen clashed over a proposal that would make all appointive officers and department heads subordinate to the city manager, excluding the city attorney if he were appointed.

"This puts the department of public works under the city manager. What does the city manager know about streets and sewers?" demanded Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

(Public works was removed from city manager control by the city council nearly 10 years ago on motion of Jensen, to create a separate department under Norris M. Rawles, who had failed to pass an examination for a civil engineer's license so could not be retained as city engineer.)

Michael said it was a question of philosophy whether the council wanted to give the city manager authority over certain employees and wanted to delegate certain duties to him.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier, a member of the fire commission, said making the fire chief subordinate to the city manager could create a conflict with the fire commission.

Under the present system "the fire commission tells the chief what to do," he said.

"I don't think we should make the city manager all-powerful," asserted Jensen. He particularly opposed a section saying that "the council shall deal through the city manager on all matters involving administrative and personnel matters."

"I'm in favor of the entire section," countered Mayor Bettini. "We either have to delegate the city manager more authority or not."

Councilmen agreed that the municipal election date should be changed from the second Monday to the third Tuesday in April of each odd-numbered year. The charter committee had recommended the second Tuesday. City Clerk W. C. Cornwell recommended that it be the third Tuesday to coincide with the school election date in the education code. This will save taxpayers money, Cornwell said.

There was less agreement on a proposal that the advertising and promotion fund have no restriction. All agreed that the present $1,000 limitation is too low, but there was debate about permiting the council to spend as much "as the council may deem proper."

"I think there should be a limit," said Jensen.

Baar said he favored a minority report by Michael that proposed a $10,000 limit on the fund and creation of a hotel-motel tax with two-thirds of the proceeds of the tax or $10,000, whichever is greater, earmarked for advertising and promotion.

Bettini said he would not want to see any limitation set by the charter.

The method of filling board of education vacancies also brought disagreement.

The charter revision committee recommended that the council be given 30 days to fill vacancies in its own membership between elections, with a special election required if the 30 days expire without an appointment. The charter now gives the council 20 days to fill vacancies, after which the appointive power passes to the board of education.

The committee made no recommendation for changing the present provision that the council fill vacancies occurring between elections on the board of education.

Bettini said he felt the school board should not appoint to the council, nor the council to the school board, because the two bodies encompass different territories and "neither has enough knowledge about the other body."

Michael said the committee felt "that the council should have some participation in the board of education, rather than have it a separate domain, and independent unit."

In the midst of the talk about the school board, Aby said: "This is the best argument I have for becoming a general law city. We wouldn't have anything to do with the board of education."

Jensen said: "The only time we ever had abuse was when we made an appointment to the school board. I feel that if the council hadn't made an appointment, the teachers would have."

Councilmen agreed to the filing of petitions rather than individual certificates for nominations, initiative, referendum and recall. They also agreed that nomination petitions should be presented not earlier than 55 days and not later than 40 days before the election.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, counsel to the committee, suggested the council could lump all the technical changes in one ballot measure, and then have separate measures "for the matters of substance."

Councilmen started to discuss the committee's recommendation on changing the makeup of the fire commission, when Bettini decided it was time to adjourn.

Four Released In Marin Probe Of Marijuana

Four persons booked in county jail for investigation of marijuana possession have been released pending further study of the case by the district attorney's office. No charge has been filed.

Arrested Saturday by California Highway Patrol were David Allen Ward, 21, and Catherine Margaret Ward, 19, both of 99 Srpuce Road, Fairfax; Robert Anton Nelson, 20, whose address was listed as 19 Knoll Road, Alto, and Robert Alexander Donohoe, 26, of Lincoln Hotel, San Rafael.

Officers said they stopped the quartet on Highway 101 because their car had a cracked taillight lens, but a plastic bag and a matchbox containing what appeared to be marijuana were thrown from the vehicle.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said a further report has been requested of the patrol, and the box and bag and contents have been sent to the San Francisco police narcotics laboratory for analysis.

Wanted: Plans Revolution

By SCIENCE SERVICE

When the sprawling federal government wants another building so that it can sprawl even further, it meticulously makes up its mind about every detail from door sizes to lighting wattages before breathing a word. Contractors then bid for the right to construct a custom-tailored building, and since the government is the client, the tailoring is conservative to say the least.

There is, however, at least one high-ranking upstart who would like nothing better than to change all that, and to change the way building designers think about buildings in the first place.

John Eberhard, director of the Institute of Applied Technology, the "real world" division of the National Bureau of Standards, believes that buildings should be built the way airplanes and spacecraft are today — in whatever way will best do the job, rather than to fit a preconceived notion that limits the manufacturer's ingenuity before he starts.

Eberhard's institute has already made a year-long study to show that military buildings such as barracks, laboratories and hospitals could be described by what they are supposed to do, rather than by physical measurements. He wants the designers to innovate—adapt what they need from the most advanced technology in materials and equipment—and design a "system" to fill the need.

A hospital, for example, would become the best possible integrated system for patient care, meal selection, emergency service routing, access to equipment, rapid diagnostic testing and a lot of other factors. Whether a hospital planned in such a way, rather than as a series of rooms with patients and equipment simply plugged into them, would bear any resemblances to the present concept of a hospital, neither Eberhard nor anyone else knows.

The DOD project, however, has never gone beyond the study stage. Unfortunately, Eberhard said, the pressures of Vietnam and "the reluctance of DOD construction people to experiment" have stopped the plan in its tracks, though it remains "a possibility in the background."

A similar study now being done for the General Services Administration, which plans the government's office buildings, is generating "considerable enthusiasm," Eberhard said.

The federal government is just about the toughest customer Eberhard could have for his idea. Almost everything it buys, down to the smallest paper clip, is procured through the bidding system, with competing merchants trying to offer the tastiest possible package without pricing themselves out of the market.

The problem is that in using a "functional specification" system to encourage manufacturers to come up with their own innovations, the government must be able to say no if it does not get what it wants. Since bids are presently made with a tight profit margin on the basis of known building methods, some businessmen might hesitate to risk a fat contract on the hope that the government would like their ideas.

FUNCTIONAL EXAMPLE—NASA's 525-foot assembly building for moon rockets at Cape Kennedy is designed strictly according to its purpose rather than along conventional lines. Federal aide John Eberhard is campaigning to have the same functional innovation applied to hospitals and other buildings. (Science Service photo)

This way of buying things is "conservative," says Eberhard with some restraint, but even in the government "the model exists" for building to function rather than form. All military aircraft, for example, are selected from a number of companies submitting their ideas of how best to meet certain performance "specs": speed, armament, navigating ability, etc. If jet fighters were built like government office buildings, all the companies would have to offer their prices for building a plane of predetermined design, regardless of what innovations and ideas might improve it.

Of all government agencies, none does more building according to function than the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Many of its centers and research installations are so specialized that they could have been constructed in no other way.

The biggest building in the world, for example, is the vertical assembly building at Cape Kennedy, where the huge Saturn V rocket that will carry men to the moon will be stacked and tested. The building stands 525 feet high, and could scarcely have been made without being tailored to its exact role.

Newest entry in the form-follows-function derby is the U.S. Navy, which for the first time in history is planning a series of ships to be built by the "contract definition" system. This is the perfect embodiment of Eberhard's idea. Instead of accepting cost bids on a set design for its Fast Deployment Logistic ship system, the Navy will ask for designs that can fill the bill for the FDL's capabilities.

The capabilities are many, including a controlled-humidity atmosphere, the ability to store heavy vehicles such as jeeps and tanks for long periods of time and amphibious landing gear. In fact, just figuring out what to ask for in the specifications is such a job that three large corporations, which began the task on July 29, will be lucky to finish the definitions alone by the end of January.

The advantages to the system in shipbuilding are numerous, says the Navy, and include lower cost and increased standardization. Most important, however, will be getting industry's voice and imagination in ship design, which at present is one of the most backward areas of American technology.

The Institute of Applied Technology will complete its GSA study in June. Though office buildings may not become radically different as a result, the over-all implications of the idea could change the entire building industry.

New Satellite's Orbit Looks Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. said today its newest spacecraft, Lani Bird 2, appears to be in a satisfactory transfer orbit.

This means that the craft's looping course once around the earth every 11 hours may place it in the proper position to be propelled into a synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the earth at the equator.

At the proper time late tomorrow or Saturday the small apogee motor aboard the spacecraft will be fired to kick Lani into a velocity matching the rotational speed of the earth.

If this and other maneuvers succeed, Lani Bird will provide a communications link between North America and the Far East.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oncoming Deafness Turns Out To Be Too Much Wax In Canal

VAN DELLEN

A friend of mine was becoming hard of hearing. He did not seem alarmed but his wife saw on his desk literature on lip reading and hearing aids. Nevertheless he stalled for more than a year before consulting an ear specialist.

On entering the office this man told the physician in a soft spoken voice that he was becoming deaf and wanted to know more about hearing aids. When the medico asked this patient if he always spoke so quietly, he replied that he was not aware of speaking in this manner.

AFTER EXAMINING the ears, the physician said, "Both ear canals are packed solid with wax." The wax was removed and within 10 minutes my friend's hearing was restored.

The soft-spoken tone was the clue to this type of deafness. It indicated that sound was not reaching the nerve of hearing because of obstruction in the canal. The same occurs with blocked eustachian tubes, perforation of an eardrum, or inflammation of the tiny bones in the middle ear. To the victim his own voice sounds so loud he is forced to tone it down.

Eating crunchy foods such as celery, radishes, and toast has a similar effect. In addition, the person hears better in a noisy environment because others have a tendency to raise the voice and speak with more intensity.

TO HEAR properly, sounds must reach the nerve that leads to the brain, where it is interpreted. If the nerve is degenerated (nerve deafness) little can be done because the line of communication is destroyed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

The long-haired singer said in Honolulu Monday that she might go to court to get "Joanie" eliminated from the strip unless she gets a retraction from Capp.

"I am interested in helping to end the confusion and social violence that hurts all of us," Miss Baez told Tokyo newsmen today. "Al Capp has contributed to this confusion and violence by introducing 'Joanie Phoanie' into his strip."

Wanted: Plans Revolution

By SCIENCE SERVICE

When the sprawling federal government wants another building so that it can sprawl even further, it meticulously makes up its mind about every detail from door sizes to lighting wattages before breathing a word. Contractors then bid for the right to construct a custom-tailored building, and since the government is the client, the tailoring is conservative to say the least.

There is, however, at least one high-ranking upstart who would like nothing better than to change all that, and to change the way building designers think about buildings in the first place.

John Eberhard, director of the Institute of Applied Technology, the "real world" division of the National Bureau of Standards, believes that buildings should be built the way airplanes and spacecraft are today — in whatever way will best do the job, rather than to fit a preconceived notion that limits the manufacturer's ingenuity before he starts.

Eberhard's institute has already made a year-long study to show that military buildings such as barracks, laboratories and hospitals could be described by what they are supposed to do, rather than by physical measurements. He wants the designers to innovate—adapt what they need from the most advanced technology in materials and equipment—and design a "system" to fill the need.

A hospital, for example, would become the best possible integrated system for patient care, meal selection, emergency service routing, access to equipment, rapid diagnostic testing and a lot of other factors. Whether a hospital planned in such a way, rather than as a series of rooms with patients and equipment simply plugged into them, would bear any resemblances to the present concept of a hospital, neither Eberhard nor anyone else knows.

The DOD project, however, has never gone beyond the study stage. Unfortunately, Eberhard said, the pressures of Vietnam and "the reluctance of DOD construction people to experiment" have stopped the plan in its tracks, though it remains "a possibility in the background."

A similar study now being done for the General Services Administration, which plans the government's office buildings, is generating "considerable enthusiasm," Eberhard said.

The federal government is just about the toughest customer Eberhard could have for his idea. Almost everything it buys, down to the smallest paper clip, is procured through the bidding system, with competing merchants trying to offer the tastiest possible package without pricing themselves out of the market.

The problem is that in using a "functional specification" system to encourage manufacturers to come up with their own innovations, the government must be able to say no if it does not get what it wants. Since bids are presently made with a tight profit margin on the basis of known building methods, some businessmen might hesitate to risk a fat contract on the hope that the government would like their ideas.

FUNCTIONAL EXAMPLE — NASA's 525-foot assembly building for moon rockets at Cape Kennedy is designed strictly according to its purpose rather than along conventional lines. Federal aide John Eberhard is campaigning to have the same functional innovation applied to hospitals and other buildings. (Science Service photo)

This way of buying things is "conservative," says Eberhard with some restraint, but even in the government "the model exists" for building to function rather than form. All military aircraft, for example, are selected from a number of companies submitting their ideas of how best to meet certain performance "specs": speed, armament, navigating ability, etc. If jet fighters were built like government office buildings, all the companies would have to offer their prices for building a plane of predetermined design, regardless of what innovations and ideas might improve it.

Of all government agencies, none does more building according to function than the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Many of its centers and research installations are so specialized that they could have been constructed in no other way.

The biggest building in the world, for example, is the vertical assembly building at Cape Kennedy, where the huge Saturn V rocket that will carry men to the moon will be stacked and tested. The building stands 525 feet high, and could scarcely have been made without being tailored to its exact role.

Newest entry in the form-follows-function derby is the U. S. Navy, which for the first time in history is planning a series of ships to be built by the "contract definition" system. This is the perfect embodiment of Eberhard's idea. Instead of accepting cost bids on a set design for its Fast Deployment Logistic ship system, the Navy will ask for designs that can fill the bill for the FDL's capabilities.

The capabilities are many, including a controlled-humidity atmosphere, the ability to store heavy vehicles such as jeeps and tanks for long periods of time and amphibious landing gear. In fact, just figuring out what to ask for in the specifications is such a job that three large corporations, which began the task on July 29, will be lucky to finish the definitions alone by the end of January.

The advantages to the system in shipbuilding are numerous, says the Navy, and include lower cost and increased standardization. Most important, however, will be getting industry's voice and imagination in ship design, which at present is one of the most backward areas of American technology.

The Institute of Applied Technology will complete its GSA study in June. Though office buildings may not become radically different as a result, the over-all implications of the idea could change the entire building industry.

New Satellite's Orbit Looks Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. said today its newest spacecraft, Lani Bird 2, appears to be in a satisfactory transfer orbit.

This means that the craft's looping course once around the earth every 11 hours may place it in the proper position to be propelled into a synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the earth at the equator.

At the proper time late tomorrow or Saturday the small apogee motor aboard the spacecraft will be fired to kick Lani into a velocity matching the rotational speed of the earth.

If this and other maneuvers succeed, Lani Bird will provide a communications link between North America and the Far East.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oncoming Deafness Turns Out To Be Too Much Wax In Canal

VAN DELLEN

A friend of mine was becoming hard of hearing. He did not seem alarmed but his wife saw on his desk literature on lip reading and hearing aids. Nevertheless he stalled for more than a year before consulting an ear specialist.

On entering the office this man told the physician in a soft spoken voice that he was becoming deaf and wanted to know more about hearing aids. When the medico asked this patient if he always spoke so quietly, he replied that he was not aware of speaking in this manner.

AFTER EXAMINING the ears, the physician said, "Both ear canals are packed solid with wax." The wax was removed and within 10 minutes my friend's hearing was restored.

The soft-spoken tone was the clue to this type of deafness. It indicated that sound was not reaching the nerve of hearing because of obstruction in the canal. The same occurs with blocked eustachian tubes, perforation of an eardrum, or inflammation of the tiny bones in the middle ear. To the victim his own voice sounds so loud he is forced to tone it down.

Eating crunchy foods such as celery, radishes, and toast has a similar effect. In addition, the person hears better in a noisy environment because others have a tendency to raise the voice and speak with more intensity.

TO HEAR properly, sounds must reach the nerve that leads to the brain, where it is interpreted. If the nerve is degenerated (nerve deafness) little can be done because the line of communication is destroyed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

PARK MEMBER ASSURED OF NO MORE RAIDS

County Parks and Recreation Commissioner Lothar Salin has changed his mind and will accept reappointment to the commission when his term expires Feb. 3.

After supervisors used park funds to make a $10,000 donation to the Gallinas Village Community Service District, Salin said he did not wish reappointment.

Yesterday he said he had talked to some supervisors and was assured there would be no further "raids on park funds."

Others whose terms expire Feb. 3 are Commissioners Herber C. Leney and Aline McClain.

Help Sought To Preserve Park Lands

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday asked that the county do all possible to preserve two small park properties on the Bolinas Bluff.

Legal status of the properties, indicated on the old Bolinas Mesa Subdivision map as park sites, is in doubt, Parks and Recreation Dir. Pierre W. Joske told the commission.

COURT ACTION

Subdivider Arthur Smadbeck has started paying taxes on the land and might go to court to establish his ownership, Joske said.

Joske said that, at request of Bolinas Beach Public Utilities District directors, he is drawing plans of how the property might be developed. He suggested trails to the beach with benches along the way.

The land is on the cliff side of Ocean Parkway, between Overlook Drive and Juniper Road.

The commission yesterday further discussed the six-year $8.8 million capital improvement proposal for park purchase and development. Joske had added $1,180,000 for a park at Keil's Cove on Tiburon Peninsula opposite Angel Island and a 10 per cent contingency factor since the commission discussion last month.

CAPITAL PROGRAMS

Capital improvement programs for all departments are being compiled by the county planning department to be forwarded to the administrator's office and then to supervisors.

"Is this just an exercise in futility?" Commissioner Lothar Salin asked. He did not see how the commission could expect such a big program to ever be implemented.

"We might come out with something less," Joske admitted.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Agreed to ask that a joint meeting with supervisors be set for some evening rather than for an hour on the morning of Feb. 7 as proposed by the supervisors. Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said the commission would only be an audience for the brief daytime session.
2. Learned that the issue of responsibility for designation of historical sites in Marin has still not been settled. Joske said he thinks the planning staff should handle the matter, but the planning commission has not been enthusiastic.
3. Agreed to schedule field trips through the year, possibly combining them with regular meetings.
4. Accepted a Governor's Design Award for the Civic Center, entered in competition in the public building category.

Commissioner Aline McClain and Howard Council were absent.

Kamai Files To Run Again

Curtis P. Kamai, president of the Larkspur School District Board yesterday filed a declaration of candidacy for another term on the board with district Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

Kamai has been on the board since 1963. He is also secretary of the Marin Assn. of School Boards.

Cohen said he would file Kamai's declaration at the county schools office tomorrow. Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone, the only other board member whose term expires in June, is also expected to file for re-election April 18, Cohen said.

Novato Firemen Get Wage Hikes

A $15 monthly increase in wages and eight paid holidays for employees of Novato Fire District were approved by the district board early today after more than four hours of discussion.

Beginning firemen will get a starting salary of $565 per month and top firemen, $660 per month, with the raise. In addition the firemen were given a $100 per year clothing allowance.

Terra Linda Petitioners Want Better Fire Service

A petition signed by 298 residents of the Terra Linda section of San Rafael seeking better fire protection was presented to the San Rafael City Council last night.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the petition would be referred to the San Rafael Fire Commission for a recommendation and then discussed at a council session.

Lt. Col. S. J. Jamerson of 843 Del Ganado Road presented the petition which stated that residents "deplore the inadequate fire protection provided by the City of San Rafael for our domiciles as illustrated by the fire at 915 Del Ganado Road," and "request immediate attention and action."

Councilman Harry A. Barbier, a fire commissioner, invited Jamerson to attend the commission meeting.

Mayor Bettini explained that the petition could not be considered last night because last night's session was not an official council meeting, but an informal joint meeting with the city's charter revision committee.

Three Lobster Fishermen Being Quizzed

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — Federal agents held three lobster fishermen for questioning today after a gun battle on the high seas over rich lobster territory off Cuba.

A crewman was killed and a captain was injured in the battle in the Atlantic yesterday.

The three men were whisked away by federal agents after a Coast Guard cutter brought them ashore.

They were identified as Raymond C. Vanyo of Key West, skipper of the Trojan, and two crewmen on th Trojan, Nevin Robert Fitz and George Broome. No charges were placed against them.

The dead crewman was identified by friends as Vernon Austin, of Marathon, the father of six.

Feuds among lobster fishermen are not uncommon in Florida -- mainly because the traps are easy prey to passing boats.

Bullock Freed Pending Further Shooting Probe

Charles Allen Bullock, 25, arrested Tuesday night for alleged obstruction of a sheriff's officer in his duties following the shooting of a 15-year-old Marin City youth, yesterday was released from county jail pending further investigation.

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ordered his release on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Bullock, of San Francisco, was jailed after sheriff's Lt William Johansen said Bullock shoved him several times at the site of a shooting by a Sausalito police officer of Stanley Curry, in Marin City.Curry was shot in the leg after a stolen car chase.

Club's Exempt Status Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh says he doesn't agree with all the Sierra Club's programs, but he supports the conservation group's state tax-exempt status.

Unruh, D - Inglewood, said "there can be little doubt that the thrust of the club's effort is in the public interest."

Unruh urged the Franchise Tax Board not to revoke the club's tax-exempt status, as has been done by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service His comments were in a letter to the board.

Plank Road Return Seen In Wet Areas

WASHINGTON (SS)—The corduroy road may return to America—not the side by side logs of frontier days, but grooved cement to carry away rain water an dgive more traction to today's highspeed automobile tires.

On the other hand, a modern development, the studded tire, has proved useless—at least in New Jersey.

These are two of the findings reported at the 46th annual meeting of the Highway Research Board in the Sheraton-Park Hotel here.

A specialist from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Walter B. Horne, suggested grooving highways crosswise to eliminate the hydroplaning of auto tires when they suddenly hit a puddle and tend to skim over its surface instead of holding the road. Similar grooves, only an eighth of an inch wide, have been cut in European airport runways and are under order for National Airport in Washington for the same reason. They not only give the tires more bite, but help drain the surface.

The New Jersey Highway Department reported that studded tires "could produce a less safe and more costly highway system for the major portion of the year for the majority of the traveling public."

In reaching this conclusion, Robert A. Page said his tests showed that most skidding accidents happened on dry pavement, where studded tires may be inferior to regluar tires in skid control; studded tire use "has been shown to cause both a dramatic decrease in pavement skid resistance" and in increased maintenance.

TV REVIEW

Daily Visions Of Creative Programming

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — To the constant televiewer, the suspicion grows that the promises of major theatrical offerings considerably outnumber the actual productions. As public relations becomes a more dominant factor in programming, the viewer is increasingly in a state of suspended expectation rather than frequent satisfaction. One begins to think in such terms as "credibility gap."

Daily the press releases arrive from the networks, and daily visions of sugar plums dance in our heads as the most wondrous sorts of promises of things to come are heaped on our desks to still the thought that television has forgotten the selective viewer.

We do indeed get the occasional major theatrical—a "Death of a Salesman" or a "Brigadoon" or "The Glass Menagerie." But all too often the promises seem to take an eternity to materialize, and then when they do materialize they frequently are more distant in the future than expected, and perhaps there are fewer productions than originally intended, and somehow one is suspended again, waiting.

There comes a point when one suddenly is loathe to give any particular attention anymore to such types of promotion, especially because the productions being promoted are mainly derivative — most of them being adaptations of established hits—since television is basically a coverage medium rather than a creative one.

Bullock Freed Pending Further Shooting Probe

Charles Allen Bullock, 25, arrested Tuesday night for alleged obstruction of a sheriff's officer in his duties following the shooting of a 15-year-old Marin City youth, yesterday was released from county jail pending further investigation.

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ordered his release on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Bullock, of San Francisco, was jailed after sheriff's Lt William Johansen said Bullock shoved him several times at the site of a shooting by a Sausalito police officer of Stanley Curry, in Marin City.Curry was shot in the leg after a stolen car chase.

Club's Exempt Status Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh says he doesn't agree with all the Sierra Club's programs, but he supports the conservation group's state tax-exempt status.

Unruh, D - Inglewood, said "there can be little doubt that the thrust of the club's effort is in the public interest."

Unruh urged the Franchise Tax Board not to revoke the club's tax-exempt status, as has been done by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service His comments were in a letter to the board.

Plank Road Return Seen In Wet Areas

WASHINGTON (SS)—The corduroy road may return to America—not the side by side logs of frontier days, but grooved cement to carry away rain water an dgive more traction to today's highspeed automobile tires.

On the other hand, a modern development, the studded tire, has proved useless—at least in New Jersey.

These are two of the findings reported at the 46th annual meeting of the Highway Research Board in the Sheraton-Park Hotel here.

A specialist from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Walter B. Horne, suggested grooving highways crosswise to eliminate the hydroplaning of auto tires when they suddenly hit a puddle and tend to skim over its surface instead of holding the road. Similiar grooves, only an eighth of an inch wide, have been cut in European airport runways and are under order for National Airport in Washington for the same reason. They not only give the tires more bite, but help drain the surface.

The New Jersey Highway Department reported that studded tires "could produce a less safe and more costly highway system for the major portion of the year for the majority of the traveling public."

In reaching this conclusion, Robert A. Page said his tests showed that most skidding accidents happened on dry pavement, where studded tires may be inferior to regluar tires in skid control; studded tire use "has been shown to cause both a dramatic decrease in pavement skid resistance" and in increased maintenance.

TV REVIEW

Daily Visions Of Creative Programming

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — To the constant televiewer, the suspicion grows that the promises of major theatrical offerings considerably outnumber the actual productions. As public relations becomes a more dominant factor in programming, the viewer is increasingly in a state of suspended expectation rather than frequent satisfaction. One begins to think in such terms as "credibility gap."

Daily the press releases arrive from the networks, and daily visions of sugar plums dance in our heads as the most wondrous sorts of promises of things to come are heaped on our desks to still the thought that television has forgotten the selective viewer.

We do indeed get the occasional major theatrical—a "Death of a Salesman" or a "Brigadoon" or "The Glass Menagerie." But all too often the promises seem to take an eternity to materialize, and then when they do materialize they frequently are more distant in the future than expected, and perhaps there are fewer productions than originally intended, and somehow one is suspended again, waiting.

There comes a point when one suddenly is loathe to give any particular attention anymore to such types of promotion, especially because the productions being promoted are mainly derivative — most of them being adaptations of established hits—since television is basically a coverage medium rather than a creative one.

Chiefs, Packers Map Super Strategy

By ALEX KAHN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—While the Kansas City Chiefs and the Green Bay Packers mulled over last-minute game strategy today, local fans were making plans of their own on how best to enjoy the Super Bowl game Sunday.

Only about 1,500 enthusiasts purchased tickets yesterday to the first-ever encounter of the American and National Football League champions at the Memorial Coliseum, dampening hopes for a sellout for the long-anticipated contest.

But many other pro grid "nuts" were readying accomodations in motels and hotels outside the Los Angeles area so as to watch the title game on television.

The contest will not be shown on local TV because of an agreement between the CBS and NBC networks and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

So the Southern California freeways are liable to be just as jammed Sunday with those fleeing the blackout as those who will be flocking to the Coliseum area.

To see the game on the tube, fans will have to go at least 75 miles.

Thus a rush is expected to such nearby points as San Diego, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield and Barstow. Some of the towns outside the blackout radius such as the desert spa of Palm Springs are offering special package deals for the "super" weekend.

Current ticket sale trends at the Coliseum showed yesterday that only about 63,000 ducats at $12, $10 and $6 will be sold by the eve of the Super Bowl.

Bill John, who is in charge of tickets, said the purchases have run constant at 1,500 a day since last Friday.

"Since we've never had a game such as this in the Coliseum," John explained, "the day-of-the-game sale is a nebulous thing and we have no answer of what to expect."

Meanwhile, sellout or no, the Chiefs and Packers practiced behind closed doors again yesterday for a game that means $15,000 each to the victors plus the prestige of being called world champions for a year.

Word from inside Coach Vince Lombardi's Packer training quarters at Santa Barbara said that Green Bay went through an hour and 35-minute drill which stressed the offense.

Lombardi also took another peek at Kansas City's game films.

"They look good in the pictures, honestly good," said the Packer mentor. "They have speed and finesse. And defensively, they overpowered the other teams."

Down at Long Beach, 25 miles to the south of here, Kansas City, rated a 12-point underdog, also went through a brief closed conditioning practice today.

Tight end Fred Arbanas, the only chief question mark, was back on the practice field Wednesday and Coach Hank Stram figures to start the 240-pounder against the NFL champs.

SANDY KOUFAX WINS 1966 HUTCH AWARD

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Los Angeles Dodger pitching great Sandy Koufax, who announced his retirement from baseball last November, is the winner of the 1966 Hutch Award.

The award is given by major league baseball writers and broadcasters in memory of the late Fred Hutchinson, major league pitcher and manager of the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

The Hutch Award goes to the major leaguer who "best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire to the late Fred Hutchinson."

Koufax led the voting with Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Vernon Law second followed by second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Dodger shortstop Maury Wills.

Marinites In Crosby Tourney; Special Guest At Super Bowl

Schute, a Stanford grad and former player-coach at Hamilton Field back in 1950-51, was one of the NFL's prize "baby-sitters" during the pro grid contract wars and was responsible for signing Cal's Craig Morton for the Dallas Cowboys. In fact he lived with Morton for two weeks while the Cal quarterback contemplated offers from the rival AFL.

Incidentally, just last week Schute negotiated a three-year contract for KNEW with the Oakland Raiders.

REAL ESTATE—Warriors coach Bill Sharman is house hunting in Marin County.

THE COACH—Former College of Marin basketball hero Bob Stout is coaching the San Francisco Eye and Ear Hospital's basketball team that usually plays preliminaries to the Warriors' home games.

Stout really puts on a sideline show, running up and down the sidelines, throwing towels, etc. In fact, his buddies call him "the poor man's Alex Hannum."

The former Fairfax resident, who for a time fought under the management of Marin restaurateurs Nick Kobseff and Lu Sabella, hopes to land a bout with Los Angeles hotshot Mando Ramos next month in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium. Now residing in San Francisco, Scanlon has a 46-12-2 won-lost-draw record after 12 years in the squared circle.

Quarry Knocks Out Jones

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was only supposed to be a warmup fight for Los Angeles heavyweight Jerry Quarry, but he nearly lost a career.

Quarry, 194, was floored twice in the third round last night by Al Jones, 193½, but came back and knocked out the Memphis, Tenn. boxer in the fifth.

There were two other scheduled 10-rounders fought at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Nate Collins, 158, of San Francisco, knocked out Mexico's Aristo Chavarin, 160½, in 1:55 of the first round. Collins had stopped former middleweight champion Joey Giardello in his previous fight.

Rollie Penaroya, 117½, a native of the Philippines now fighting out of Stockton, survived a first-round knockdown and won every other round in outpointing Mexico's Raton Perez, 116.

Quarry, now 21-1-3, was bombing Jones to the body when he dropped his left and caught a right to the chin. Quarry, who lives in the Los Angeles suburb of Paramount, got off the canvas at the count of two and took the mandatory eight.

But Jones, who had previously lost a 10-round decision to Quarry, dropped the blond bomber again with a right. Quarry nearly went through the ropes before slithering to the canvas, arising with no difficulty 25 seconds before the end of the round.

In the fifth, a body barrage dropped Jones two seconds from the end of the round. Referee Tony Bosnich continued counting after the bell under California ring rules and tolled 10. The official time was 3:08 of the fifth.

SCHMIDT TO SHAKE UP LIONS

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Schmidt, the new coach of the Detroit Lions, says he'll try to start the club back to National Football League power with a number of trades and a massive injection of pride.

"I definitely feel we have to make some trades," he said after signing yesterday. "I have a free hand. I can do anything in the line fo trades. Naturally," he added, "I won't go off half cocked. I'll confer with General Manager Russ Thomas and owner Willay Clay Ford before I do anything.

"At one time," Schmidt said, "this team had a lot of pride. I intend to reinstill that pride in this team."

Schmidt said that a team with a lot of pride plays better and pulls together better.

Schmidt, 34, was a linebacker for 13 years for the Lions. He joined them as a seventh draft choice from the University of Pittsburgh in 1953. He was named to the Pro Bowl squad 10 times during his 13 seasons, captained the Lions nine straight years, was voted to the NFL All-Pro team on eight occasions and was named the Lions' most valuable player four times.

He retired after the 1965 season and served last season as an assistant coach, working with the linebackers.

Schmidt replaces Harry Gilmer, fired last week after two losing seasons, the latest a 4-9-1 mark.

Schmidt weighed in at about 220 during his playing days and was always a leader, both as captain and as defensive signal caller.

Gilmer himself described Schmidt on one occasion last year as a very good coach. He said Schmidt had the ability to get across to the players exactly what he wanted of them.

"I don't pretend to be a pied piper," Schmidt said. "I'm certainly going to be fair and honest with the ball players and expect them to be fair and honest back.

"As a ball player for 13 years, I know a player likes to be treated fair and honest. I feel that the ball players are behind me 100 per cent," he added.

Gilmer was publicly criticized by several Lion players and had dissension troubles with the team.

"I do not think I'll have trouble with players criticizing coaches or players. I certainly hope it doesn't come up," Schmidt said.

He said he would have rules and anyone that flouted them would be disciplined.

"I'm going up against guys like Vince Lombardi and Blanton Collier. But I feel it's a great challenge.

"I'll do everything in my power to bring a winning team into Detroit."

Schmidt signed a five-year contract yesterday, reportedly for something in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year.

He said he will take his time about picking assistants and will seek the best possible. He said some nf Gilmer's staff would be considered.

"We are very happy that Joe has been able to work out private business matters and has accepted our offer," Ford said.

Ford said the Lions are in a rebuilding cycle and that five years was a reasonable time to get the job done.

Referee Ejects L.A.'s Hawkins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, who won an official's decision in the fight at Los Angeles but lost the game, return to action tonight against the New York Knicks at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, who had not lost to Los Angeles in five previous meetings, thought they got a break when defensive specialist Tom Hawkins was thrown out of the game in the first quarter for hitting San Francisco star Rick Barry.

But Laker rookie Jerry Chambers replaced Hawkins and hit seven of his first nine field goal attempts as Los Angeles rolled 141-126 over the Warriors in the National Basketball Assn. game.

The respective coaches—Fred Schaus of Los Angeles and Bill Sharman of San Francisco — agreed that Hawkins' first-period fight was a turning point.

Said Schaus: "The incident of having Hawkins thrown out helped us. The team seemed to pick up and really pull together. We played as good a defensive game as we have in years as far as picking up loose balls and getting easy shots."

Said Sharman: "Hawkins getting thrown out riled up their team...and their fans. The way the Lakers were shooting it was hard to stop them."

Hawkins said Barry hit him with a left, so the Laker forward went after his Warrior counterpart. "At the last minute I opened my hand and actually just gave him a shove in the shoulder," said Hawkins. "It was the first time I was ever thrown out of a game."

However, referee Norm Drucker said Hawkins hit Barry with a fist, calling for automatic expulsion.

Anyway, once the furor subsided, the Lakers were off and running as Jerry West totaled 44 points, Elgin Baylor added 29, and rookies Jerry Chambers and Archie Clark scored 24 and 17, respectively.

BEST GAME

"Chambers probably played his best game as a pro—at both ends of the court," said Schaus. "He really did a job for us."

Barry led the Warriors with 32 points—19 in the third period, but the second scorer was ex-Laker Jim King with just 16.

The Lakers led 38-28 at the end of the first quarter and 74-56 at the half before coasting home with a large margin throughout the second half.

Los Angeles is now tied with Detroit for third place in the NBA Western Division, 2½ games behind second-place St. Louis and 10 in back of the first-place Warriors.

"This is the kind of performance we have to have if we're going to make a move in the Western Division," Schaus said.

And again Sharman agreed: "The Lakers are a good club, and they look now like they're beginning to make a move."

A $10,000 Pay Hike For Perry

Right-hander Gaylord Perry, a 21-8 performer with the San Francisco Giants in 1966 with his best season, has signed a 1967 contract at an estimated $40,000.

Perry, the first pitcher to win 20 games last season, earned a raise of about $10,000. The Giants boosted his pay last season when he posted his 20th victory Aug. 20.

Only three major league hurlers won more games in 1966 than Gaylord, lanky 28-year-old North Carolinian who winters at Williamston. They were Sandy Koufax with 27, and the Giants' Juan Marichal and the Minnesota Twins' Jim Kaat with 25 each.

Perry's big year was highlighted by his victory over the American Leaguers in the All-star game at St. Louis. He also set a San Francisco club strikeout record by fanning 15 Phillies at Candlestick Park July 22.

Perry's strikeout mark was the best for a Giant pitcher since Christy Mathewson fanned 16 on Oct. 3, 1904.

Perry was on the disabled list with a badly sprained left ankle from May 24 to June 13. He was bothered also by calcium deposits in his right instep. These were removed after the season ended.

ACADEMIC MINIMUM

East Objects To New NCAA Rules

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The new president of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. said today he felt the NCAA and Eastern objectors to the 1.6 minimum academic rule could reach an understanding.

The large collegiate body rebuffed Eastern college efforts yesterday to eliminate the one-year-old rule which requires a student-athlete to maintain at least a 1.6 minimum on a 4.0 grading scale to be eligible for athletic participation. A 1.6 is the equivalent to a D-plus average.

Dr. Marcus L. Plant of the University of Michigan said after his election as president of the 582-member organization that the NCAA is strong internally and with "no deep fissures."

"We are not without our problems," he said. "We never have been and we never will be."

Although the Eastern College Athletic Conference, comprising 146 NCAA members, got late convention support from the Southwest Conference and the Atlantic Coast Conference, it was unsuccessful in securing approval of any of six amendments designed to alter the present 1.6 regulation.

STUDENT-ATHLETES

The objecting schools contend the rule violates institutional autonomy and is not applicable in their case because they do not have student-athletes.

John Wilkin of Colby College, in presenting the ECAC case, said the academic rule "tries to equate factors that are not equatable." At the request of a delegate to have a public statement on how the NCAA Council stood on the 1.6 issue, Everett D. Barnes of Colgate University, retiring NCAA president, said it was for retention of the present rule.

"The general conviction on the part of the majority is to give the 1.6 rule a chance to function another year," Plant said. He added that coming from the Big Ten Conference, which has a higher minimum standard, he favors it.

Plant said that by letting the rule go unchanged for another year the NCAA can "get a full appraisal of how it is working."

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said he saw no revolt on the part of the ECAC membership.

"Whether institutions conform or don't conform will be up to the individual," he said. "Our only recourse now is to work for a change in the rules next year."

The 1968 convention will be in New York City Jan. 8-10.

Walter J. Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said 520 of the organization's 582 members are in conformity with the 1.6 rule.

He said 11 institutions indicated no intention of complying, including only three members of the eight-school Ivy League—Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

Byers identified the other eight institutions as Williams, Thiel, Tufts, Swarthmore, Rochester, Oberlin, Johns Hopkins and Muhlenberg.

NO STIGMA

"There is no stigma on a team for non-compliance with NCAA regulations," Byers said. It means only they cannot compete in an NCAA championship event or post-season bowl game sanctioned by the collegiate body.

Plant, 55, a law school professor, said, "I have no major policy changes on my mind" during his year in office.

Rejected a proposal to permit freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball.

Paul Breachler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, sponsor of the amendment, said a student today is "much better prepared to handle university life" and has "far more athletic background. When an athlete is in competition his grades are better."

Approved exempting benefits under the GI Bill of Rights from grants-in-aid to student-athletes.

Voted down a move to limit scholarships to one or two years, with renewals. Grants-in-aid now may be given for four years.

Tabled a motion to extend the period of pre-season football practice.

NBA Player Rebellion Story Denied

CHICAGO (AP) — Oscar Robertson, president of the Players Assn. of the National Basketball Assn., denied last night that there was any strike threat by players at a meeting prior to Tuesday night's All-Star game in San Francisco.

The Cincinnati Royals' star, contrary to reports elsewhere, said no strike vote was taken.

"We talked about improvement in the pension fund," said Robertson before the game against the Chicago Bulls.

"The pension fund was fine when it was first adopted but we feel it can and should be improved. We're not making any specific demands of the owners now.

"One thing we don't want is any more games," said Robertson. "If the league expands, we want to make sure we don't play more games. Eighty-one is enough.

"Traveling has always been a problem, but there's not much that can be done about that and we have to live with it."

Robertson said there was nothing unusual about holding the players' meeting. "We always have one at the time of the All-Star game.

"Our big aim is to improve the pension fund, we can't all become coaches when we are no longer able to play," said Robertson.

Clay Calls Terrell A One-Armed Bandit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says his title bout with Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome Feb. 6 is the "battle of the champ and the so-called champ."

"Terrell is a one-handed fighter," Clay said. "Everybody knows that. All he's got is a left jab. Since he stole half of my title, I call him "the one-armed bandit.'"

Clay began training for the fight yesterday by going two rounds each at the Astrodome with sparring partners Mel Turnbow and Jimmy Ellis.

The fight will be Clay's second in the Astrodome. He successfully defended his title by stopping Cleveland Williams last Nov. 14 in the dome structure's first boxing match.

"What we have to do is stop him (Terrell) from grabbing and clutching and the best way to do that is hit him in the belly until his hands come down...and then nail him," Dundee said.

"What we're doing right now is working on strength because this fellow (Terrell) is a strong heavyweight for seven rounds.

"We've got to nullify his jab. We've got to beat him to it, surround him and get around it, get inside and outside of the jab and let shots go from either direction."

Clay listed potential future opponents if he gets by Terrell as Zora Folley, Thad Spencer and "that young fellow (Joe) Frazier."

"This is not the real me up here," Clay told an estimated 450 fans. "Pay no attention to how I look in the gym. I'm just getting into shape. On the night of Feb. 6 all hell's going to break loose."

Cal Keglers Steal Western Open Show

SAN JOSE (AP) — Bob Knipple of Long Beach, and Ev Collins of San Mateo, shared the spotlight after two rounds in the Professional Bowlers Assn. $40,000 Western Open at San Jose.

Knipple, a 20-year-old sophomore pro, led after 12 games with a 2,863 total. Collins, a 33-year-old veteran, shot a perfect 300 game and moved into the 17th position.

Knipple hit the biggest six-game block of the tournament in the second round with a 1,461 set. The boyish looking pro topped a 1,402 series in his first outing. Knipple's 2,863 for 12 games was 31 pins better than the total of second place Ed Bourdase of Fresno, Calif., the first round leader.

Collins, who shot 1,282 in his first six-gamer, came back with a 1,395 in his second round to total 2,677 for 12 games.

Masters Tournament To Limit Galleries

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Fewer spectators and higher prices will be the rule for the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament in 1967.

The Augusta National Golf Club says the number of admission credentials will be cut sharply and that series badges, good for the four rounds in the 72-hole event on April 6-9, will be limited to patrons — persons on the club's mailing list.

Chairman Clifford Roberts of the Masters Tournament Committee said the price of series badges will be raised from $15 to $20. He said the badges will not cover practice rounds.

No tickets will be available to the general public for the tournament, the club said, unless patrons fail to fill the spectator quota, which was not disclosed.

The possibility that patrons will fail to exhaust the supply is unlikely. Augusta National reported that 90 per cent of the patrons requested series badges last year and closed out the supply a month before the tournament began.

Roberts said if the quota is not filled a certain number of daily admission tickets will be sold to the general public.

Roberts said practice rounds for the Masters will be open to the public at $3 a person daily.

The tournament, considered one of the world's great golfing events, annually draws the top national and international amateurs and professionals on an invitation basis.

Officials said overtaxed accommodations in Augusta during recent tournaments led to the decision to sell fewer admissions.

The tournament began in 1934 under the direction of golfing great Bobby Jones of Atlanta, who remains Augusta National president.

Just Two Yachts Will Challenge

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australian contenders as challenger for the America's Cup yachting classic almost certainly will remain at two — Gretel and Dame Pattie.

Naval architect Warwick Hood, who designed Dame Pattie, denied a report published earlier this week that he might build another 12-meter yacht as potential challenger to the United States in September.

Dame Pattie defeated Gretel in their first two tune-up trails. Later the two boats will sail in a series of races to determine which one will challenge.

Chiefs, Packers Map Super Strategy

By ALEX KAHN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—While the Kansas City Chiefs and the Green Bay Packers mulled over last-minute game strategy today, local fans were making plans of their own on how best to enjoy the Super Bowl game Sunday.

Only about 1,500 enthusiasts purchased tickets yesterday to the first-ever encounter of the American and National Football League champions at the Memorial Coliseum, dampening hopes for a sellout for the long-anticipated contest.

But many other pro grid "nuts" were readying accomodations in motels and hotels outside the Los Angeles area so as to watch the title game on television.

The contest will not be shown on local TV because of an agreement between the CBS and NBC networks and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

So the Southern California freeways are liable to be just as jammed Sunday with those fleeing the blackout as those who will be flocking to the Coliseum area.

To see the game on the tube, fans will have to go at least 75 miles.

Thus a rush is expected to such nearby points as San Diego, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield and Barstow. Some of the towns outside the blackout radius such as the desert spa of Palm Springs are offering special package deals for the "super" weekend.

Current ticket sale trends at the Coliseum showed yesterday that only about 63,000 ducats at $12, $10 and $6 will be sold by the eve of the Super Bowl.

Bill John, who is in charge of tickets, said the purchases have run constant at 1,500 a day since last Friday.

"Since we've never had a game such as this in the Coliseum," John explained, "the day-of-the-game sale is a nebulous thing and we have no answer of what to expect."

Meanwhile, sellout or no, the Chiefs and Packers practiced behind closed doors again yesterday for a game that means $15,000 each to the victors plus the prestige of being called world champions for a year.

Word from inside Coach Vince Lombardi's Packer training quarters at Santa Barbara said that Green Bay went through an hour and 35-minute drill which stressed the offense.

Lombardi also took another peek at Kansas City's game films.

"They look good in the pictures, honestly good," said the Packer mentor. "They have speed and finesse. And defensively, they overpowered the other teams."

Down at Long Beach, 25 miles to the south of here, Kansas City, rated a 12-point underdog, also went through a brief closed conditioning practice today.

Tight end Fred Arbanas, the only chief question mark, was back on the practice field Wednesday and Coach Hank Stram figures to start the 240-pounder against the NFL champs.

SANDY KOUFAX WINS 1966 HUTCH AWARD

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Los Angeles Dodger pitching great Sandy Koufax, who announced his retirement from baseball last November, is the winner of the 1966 Hutch Award.

The award is given by major league baseball writers and broadcasters in memory of the late Fred Hutchinson, major league pitcher and manager of the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

The Hutch Award goes to the major leaguer who "best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire to the late Fred Hutchinson."

Koufax led the voting with Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Vernon Law second followed by second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Dodger shortstop Maury Wills.

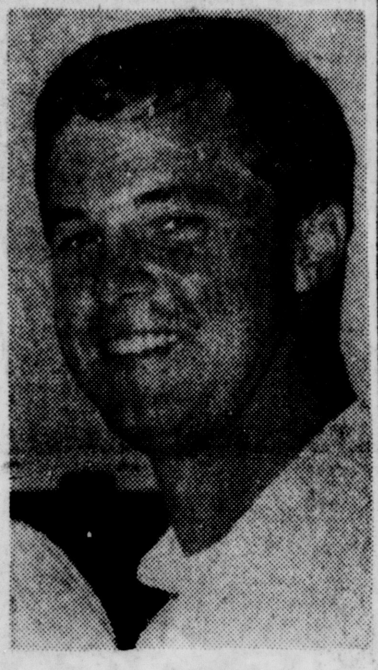
Marinites In Crosby Tourney; Special Guest At Super Bowl

TEE TWOSOMES—Ron Cerrudo, San Rafael's great amateur golfer, has been teamed with pro Don Massengale for the Jan. 19-22 Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Tournament at Pebble Beach. Massengale is the defending champion.

Other pairings of local interest: Tiburoner Ernie Nevers will team up with pro Mac Hunter, ex-Marinite Paul Spengler Jr. of Honolulu will play with Hawaiian champion Ted Makalena and Father Leonard Scannell, former Air Force chaplain at Hamilton Field, will team with Dale Douglas.



RON CERRUDO

SPECIAL GUEST — Dick Schute of Sausalito, the sales manager for Radio KNEW, will see Sunday's Super-Bowl game in Los Angeles as special guest of National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Schute, a Stanford grad and former player-coach at Hamilton Field back in 1950-51, was one of the NFL's prize "baby-sitters" during the pro grid contract wars and was responsible for signing Cal's Craig Morton for the Dallas Cowboys. In fact he lived with Morton for two weeks while the Cal quarterback contemplated offers from the rival AFL.

Incidentally, just last week Schute negotiated a three-year contract for KNEW with the Oakland Raiders.

REAL ESTATE—Warriors coach Bill Sharman is house hunting in Marin County.

THE COACH—Former College of Marin basketball hero Bob Stout is coaching the San Francisco Eye and Ear Hospital's basketball team that usually plays preliminaries to the Warriors' home games.

Stout really puts on a sideline show, running up and down the sidelines, throwing towels, etc. In fact, his buddies call him "the poor man's Alex Hannum."

The former Fairfax resident, who for a time fought under the management of Marin restaurateurs Nick Kobseff and Lu Sabella, hopes to land a bout with Los Angeles hotshot Mando Ramos next month in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium. Now residing in San Francisco, Scanlon has a 46-12-2 won-lost-draw record after 12 years in the squared circle.

Quarry Knocks Out Jones

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was only supposed to be a warmup fight for Los Angeles heavyweight Jerry Quarry, but he nearly lost a career.

Quarry, 194, was floored twice in the third round last night by Al Jones, 193½, but came back and knocked out the Memphis, Tenn. boxer in the fifth.

There were two other scheduled 10-rounders fought at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Nate Collins, 158, of San Francisco, knocked out Mexico's Aristo Chavarin, 160½, in 1:55 of the first round. Collins had stopped former middleweight champion Joey Giardello in his previous fight.

Rollie Penaroya, 117½, a native of the Philippines now fighting out of Stockton, survived a first-round knockdown and won every other round in outpointing Mexico's Raton Perez, 116.

Quarry, now 21-1-3, was bombing Jones to the body when he dropped his left and caught a right to the chin. Quarry, who lives in the Los Angeles suburb of Paramount, got off the canvas at the count of two and took the mandatory eight.

But Jones, who had previously lost a 10-round decision to Quarry, dropped the blond bomber again with a right. Quarry nearly went through the ropes before slithering to the canvas, arising with no difficulty 25 seconds before the end of the round.

In the fifth, a body barrage dropped Jones two seconds from the end of the round. Referee Tony Bosnich continued counting after the bell under California ring rules and tolled 10. The official time was 3:08 of the fifth.

SCHMIDT TO SHAKE UP LIONS

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Schmidt, the new coach of the Detroit Lions, says he'll try to start the club back to National Football League power with a number of trades and a massive injection of pride.

"I definitely feel we have to make some trades," he said after signing yesterday. "I have a free hand. I can do anything in the line fo trades. Naturally," he added, "I won't go off half cocked. I'll confer with General Manager Russ Thomas and owner Willay Clay Ford before I do anything.

"At one time," Schmidt said, "this team had a lot of pride. I intend to reinstill that pride in this team."

Schmidt said that a team with a lot of pride plays better and pulls together better.

Schmidt, 34, was a linebacker for 13 years for the Lions. He joined them as a seventh draft choice from the University of Pittsburgh in 1953. He was named to the Pro Bowl squad 10 times during his 13 seasons, captained the Lions nine straight years, was voted to the NFL All-Pro team on eight occasions and was named the Lions' most valuable player four times.

He retired after the 1965 season and served last season as an assistant coach, working with the linebackers.

Schmidt replaces Harry Gilmer, fired last week after two losing seasons, the latest a 4-9-1 mark.

Schmidt weighed in at about 220 during his playing days and was always a leader, both as captain and as defensive signal caller.

Gilmer himself described Schmidt on one occasion last year as a very good coach. He said Schmidt had the ability to get across to the players exactly what he wanted of them.

"I don't pretend to be a pied piper," Schmidt said. "I'm certainly going to be fair and honest with the ball players and expect them to be fair and honest back.

"As a ball player for 13 years, I know a player likes to be treated fair and honest. I feel that the ball players are behind me 100 per cent," he added.

Gilmer was publicly criticized by several Lion players and had dissension troubles with the team.

"I do not think I'll have trouble with players criticizing coaches or players. I certainly hope it doesn't come up," Schmidt said.

He said he would have rules and anyone that flouted them would be disciplined.

"I'm going up against guys like Vince Lombardi and Blanton Collier. But I feel it's a great challenge.

Schmidt signed a five-year contract yesterday, reportedly for something in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year.

He said he will take his time about picking assistants and will seek the best possible. He said some nf Gilmer's staff would be considered.

"We are very happy that Joe has been able to work out private business matters and has accepted our offer," Ford said.

Ford said the Lions are in a rebuilding cycle and that five years was a reasonable time to get the job done.

Referee Ejects L.A.'s Hawkins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, who won an official's decision in the fight at Los Angeles but lost the game, return to action tonight against the New York Knicks at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, who had not lost to Los Angeles in five previous meetings, thought they got a break when defensive specialist Tom Hawkins was thrown out of the game in the first quarter for hitting San Francisco star Rick Barry.

But Laker rookie Jerry Chambers replaced Hawkins and hit seven of his first nine field goal attempts as Los Angeles rolled 141-126 over the Warriors in the National Basketball Assn. game.

The respective coaches—Fred Schaus of Los Angeles and Bill Sharman of San Francisco — agreed that Hawkins' first - period fight was a turning point.

Said Schaus: "The incident of having Hawkins thrown out helped us. The team seemed to pick up and really pull together. We played as good a defensive game as we have in years as far as picking up loose balls and getting easy shots."

Said Sharman: "Hawkins getting thrown out riled up their team...and their fans. The way the Lakers were shooting it was hard to stop them."

Hawkins said Barry hit him with a left, so the Laker forward went after his Warrior counterpart. "At the last minute I opened my hand and actually just gave him a shove in the shoulder," said Hawkins. "It was the first time I was ever thrown out of a game."

However, referee Norm Drucker said Hawkins hit Barry with a fist, calling for automatic expulsion.

Anyway, once the furor subsided, the Lakers were off and running as Jerry West totaled 44 points, Elgin Baylor added 29, and rookies Jerry Chambers and Archie Clark scored 24 and 17, respectively.

BEST GAME

"Chambers probably played his best game as a pro—at both ends of the court," said Schaus. "He really did a job for us."

Barry led the Warriors with 32 points—19 in the third period, but the second scorer was ex-Laker Jim King with just 16.

The Lakers led 38-28 at the end of the first quarter and 74-56 at the half before coasting home with a large margin throughout the second half.

Los Angeles is now tied with Detroit for third place in the NBA Western Division, 2½ games behind second-place St. Louis and 10 in back of the first-place Warriors.

"This is the kind of performance we have to have if we're going to make a move in the Western Division," Schaus said.

And again Sharman agreed: "The Lakers are a good club, and they look now like they're beginning to make a move."

A $10,000 Pay Hike For Perry

Right-hander Gaylord Perry, a 21-8 performer with the San Francisco Giants in 1966 with his best season, has signed a 1967 contract at an estimated $40,000.

Perry, the first pitcher to win 20 games last season, earned a raise of about $10,000. The Giants boosted his pay last season when he posted his 20th victory Aug. 20.

Only three major league hurlers won more games in 1966 than Gaylord, lanky 28-year-old North Carolinian who winters at Williamston. They were Sandy Koufax with 27, and the Giants' Juan Marichal and the Minnesota Twins' Jim Kaat with 25 each.

Perry's big year was highlighted by his victory over the American Leaguers in the All-star game at St. Louis. He also set a San Francisco club strikeout record by fanning 15 Phillies at Candlestick Park July 22.

Perry's strikeout mark was the best for a Giant pitcher since Christy Mathewson fanned 16 on Oct. 3, 1904.

Perry was on the disabled list with a badly sprained left ankle from May 24 to June 13. He was bothered also by calcium deposits in his right instep. These were removed after the season ended.

Sturgeon Fishing Reports Still Outnumbering Striper Reports

STEVENS

Reports of sturgeon fishing still exceed reports of stripers. The difference may be because, as one reporter defined it, the majority of fishermen are too anxious to lug home an armoured denizen of the bay and delta regions to fish hard for bass.

It isn't a case of no bass around, that's for sure. Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina reported Mits Ikada

AND Nish Yamamoto taking limits of fresh-run stripers to 20 pounds on Sunday—on bullhead baits. Carl also mentioned Jerry Watson and Jerry Teves limiting with bass to 22 pounds in the Buoy 5 sector.

"SATURDAY WAS fair," said Bennett," and Sunday was still better. Fish, bass and sturgeon, were taken near buoys 8 and 10 as well as near buoys 7 and 5. The boat Sturgeon boated 12 of the big fellows to 55 pounds for 13 rods and netted two medium sized bass; the boat, Pet unloaded six limits of sturgeon and two stripers on Saturday, The Sunfish took eight sturgeon, one of which weighed in at 90 pounds caught by William Hodges, and a 70-pounder landed by Ruddy Dito. Harry Ushijima caught a nice trio of bass."

PERHAPS WE need a good, well attended bass derby to bring the bullhead and sardine baiters out of their warm houses and get 'em busy catching striped bass. And—if that is what is needed here is an announcement: The aggressive agregation of angling addicts calling themselves the Fishing Fools are staging a bass derby for this weekend, Saturday and Sunday. Want to buy a ticket and win some dough? I believe you can purchase a ticket at Bennett's Rodeo Marina. All bass caught in the derby must be weighed in at the Rodeo Marina.

By the way—Johnny Marino, President of the Fishing Fools bass club, asked that I tell my readers that the club is now open for new members.

IF YOU ARE anxious to test your skill as a fisherman, and whould like a chance to hook a steelhead in one of the coastal streams, you must be a good "hoper." And use your strongest silent hope for a good old-fashioned rain. Not a deluge, but a few nice showers to bring the waters to a normal condition.

If you like driving and have the necessary time, the lower Smith and the upper Klamath are yielding some fair to good results and ditto the Sacramento River from around Grimes to Red Bluff.

SCATTER-GUNNERS are reminded that there is a special open season for white geese this weekend and the following weekend. So you still have a chance to collect a nice, plump, white goose, and your limit of white geese may include one Ross's goose.

Boating Classes To Start

A free 13-week course in piloting and small boat handling, by the Marin Power Squadron, will start Thursday night, Jan. 26, at Redwood High School's student center in Larkspur.

The course, given twice a year, drew more than 100 persons last year. Each class runs two hours, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

The course covers such subjects as compass reading, chart reading, outboard seamanship, rules and government regulations. It will be of interest to sailboat operators as well as power boat pilots, according to Marin Power Squadron Commander Jim Corbett.

Class chairman will be Ed Masonic, assisted by Joe Lydon. The course is open to the public, said Corbett, and added that persons do not have to own boats to participate.

ACADEMIC MINIMUM

East Objects To New NCAA Rules

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The new president of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. said today he felt the NCAA and Eastern objectors to the 1.6 minimum academic rule could reach an understanding.

The large collegiate body rebuffed Eastern college efforts yesterday to eliminate the one-year-old rule which requires a student-athlete to maintain at least a 1.6 minimum on a 4.0 grading scale to be eligible for athletic participation. A 1.6 is the equivalent to a D-plus average.

Dr. Marcus L. Plant of the University of Michigan said after his election as president of the 582-member organization that the NCAA is strong internally and with "no deep fissures."

"We are not without our problems," he said. "We never have been and we never will be."

Although the Eastern College Athletic Conference, comprising 146 NCAA members, got late convention support from the Southwest Conference and the Atlantic Coast Conference, it was unsuccessful in securing approval of any of six amendments designed to alter the present 1.6 regulation.

STUDENT-ATHLETES

The objecting schools contend the rule violates institutional autonomy and is not applicable in their case because they do not have student-athletes.

John Wilkin of Colby College, in presenting the ECAC case, said the academic rule "tries to equate factors that are not equatable." At the request of a delegate to have a public statement on how the NCAA Council stood on the 1.6 issue, Everett D. Barnes of Colgate University, retiring NCAA president, said it was for retention of the present rule.

"The general conviction on the part of the majority is to give the 1.6 rule a chance to function another year," Plant said. He added that coming from the Big Ten Conference, which has a higher minimum standard, he favors it.

Plant said that by letting the rule go unchanged for another year the NCAA can "get a full appraisal of how it is working."

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said he saw no revolt on the part of the ECAC membership.

"Whether institutions conform or don't conform will be up to the individual," he said. "Our only recourse now is to work for a change in the rules next year."

The 1968 convention will be in New York City Jan. 8-10.

Walter J. Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said 520 of the organization's 582 members are in conformity with the 1.6 rule.

He said 11 institutions indicated no intention of complying, including only three members of the eight-school Ivy League—Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

Byers identified the other eight institutions as Williams, Thiel, Tufts, Swarthmore, Rochester, Oberlin, Johns Hopkins and Muhlenberg.

NO STIGMA

"There is no stigma on a team for non-compliance with NCAA regulations," Byers said. It means only they cannot compete in an NCAA championship event or post-season bowl game sanctioned by the collegiate body.

Plant, 55, a law school professor, said, "I have no major policy changes on my mind" during his year in office.

Rejected a proposal to permit freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball.

Paul Breachler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, sponsor of the amendment, said a student today is "much better prepared to handle university life" and has "far more athletic background. When an athlete is in competition his grades are better."

Approved exempting benefits under the GI Bill of Rights from grants-in-aid to student-athletes.

Voted down a move to limit scholarships to one or two years, with renewals. Grants-in-aid now may be given for four years.

Tabled a motion to extend the period of pre-season football practice.

East Gets Warren

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Warren, Miami Dolphins defensive back, was added to the East roster yesterday for the American Football League All-Star game in Oakland, Jan. 21. Jan. 21.

NBA Player Rebellion Story Denied

CHICAGO (AP) — Oscar Robertson, president of the Players Assn. of the National Basketball Assn., denied last night that there was any strike threat by players at a meeting prior to Tuesday night's All-Star game in San Francisco.

The Cincinnati Royals' star, contrary to reports elsewhere, said no strike vote was taken.

"We talked about improvement in the pension fund," said Robertson before the game against the Chicago Bulls.

"The pension fund was fine when it was first adopted but we feel it can and should be improved. We're not making any specific demands of the owners now.

"One thing we don't want is any more games," said Robertson. "If the league expands, we want to make sure we don't play more games. Eighty-one is enough.

"Traveling has always been a problem, but there's not much that can be done about that and w e have to live with it."

Robertson said there was nothing unusual about holding the players' meeting. "We always have one at the time of the All-Star game.

"Our big aim is to improve the pension fund, we can't all become coaches when we are no longer able to play," said Robertson.

Clay Calls Terrell A One-Armed Bandit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says his title bout with Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome Feb. 6 is the "battle of the champ and the so-called champ."

"Terrell is a one-handed fighter," Clay said. "Everybody knows that. All he's got is a left jab. Since he stole half of my title, I call him "the one-armed bandit.'"

Clay began training for the fight yesterday by going two rounds each at the Astrodome with sparring partners Mel Turnbow and Jimmy Ellis.

The fight will be Clay's second in the Astrodome. He successfully defended his title by stopping Cleveland Williams last Nov. 14 in the dome structure's first boxing match.

"What we have to do is stop him (Terrell) from grabbing and clutching and the best way to do that is hit him in the belly until his hands come down...and then nail him," Dundee said.

"What we're doing right now is working on strength because this fellow (Terrell) is a strong heavyweight for seven rounds.

"We've got to nullify his jab. We've got to beat him to it, surround him and get around it, get inside and outside of the jab and let shots go from either direction."

Clay listed potential future opponents if he gets by Terrell as Zora Folley, Thad Spencer and "that young fellow (Joe) Frazier."

"This is not the real me up here," Clay told an estimated 450 fans. "Pay no attention to how I look in the gym. I'm just getting into shape. On the night of Feb. 6 all hell's going to break loose."

Masters Tournament To Limit Galleries

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Fewer spectators and higher prices will be the rule for the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament in 1967.

The Augusta National Golf Club says the number of admission credentials will be cut sharply and that series badges, good for the four rounds in the 72-hole event on April 6-9, will be limited to patrons — persons on the club's mailing list.

Chairman Clifford Roberts of the Masters Tournament Committee said the price of series badges will be raised from $15 to $20. He said the badges will not cover practice rounds.

No tickets will be available to the general public for the tournament, the club said, unless patrons fail to fill the spectator quota, which was not disclosed.

The possibility that patrons will fail to exhaust the supply is unlikely. Augusta National reported that 90 per cent of the patrons requested series badges last year and closed out the supply a month before the tournament began.

Roberts said if the quota is not filled a certain number of daily admission tickets will be sold to the general public.

Roberts said practice rounds for the Masters will be open to the public at $3 a person daily.

The tournament, considered one of the world's great golfing events, annually draws the top national and international amateurs and professionals on an invitation basis.

Officials said overtaxed accommodations in Augusta during recent tournaments led to the decision to sell fewer admissions.

The tournament began in 1934 under the direction of golfing great Bobby Jones of Atlanta, who remains Augusta National president.

Just Two Yachts Will Challenge

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australian contenders as challenger for the America's Cup yachting classic almost certainly will remain at two — Gretel and Dame Pattie.

Naval architect Warwick Hood, who designed Dame Pattie, denied a report published earlier this week that he might build another 12-meter yacht as potential challenger to the United States in September.

Dame Pattie defeated Gretel in their first two tune-up trails. Later the two boats will sail in a series of races to determine which one will challenge.

"Would you believe footprints on the CEILING?"

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1967 with 353 to follow.

The moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter, the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American revolutionary leader and signer of declaration of independence John Hancock was born on this day in 1737.

On this day in history:

In 1932, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of an Arkansas congressman, became the first woman ever elected to the U.S. Senate. She served until 1945.

In 1943, the Office of Price Administration ordered frankfurters to be replaced by "victory sausage" of some meat and soybean meal as part of the war effort.

In 1964, communist rebels overthrew the government of the East African Island of Zanzibar.

A thought for they day—Scottish historian and essayist Thomas Carlyle said: "True humor springs not more from the head then from the heart; it is not contempt, its essence is love."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Draw Trumps Before Completing Other Chores

In an easy hand you can afford to draw trumps before you do anything else.

In a difficult hand you need a trump or two in dummy and must therefore put off drawing trumps until you have finished with your other chores.

The difference is shown in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♡ J

South played a low heart from dummy at the first trick, and East likewise played low.

South won with the king of hearts and led his low trump to dummy's eight.

SAFE PLAY

This was safe enough, but Southe could not afford to lead a second trump at this time.

Not seeing the danger, South returned a trump from dummy. West won and led a third trump, thus taking the last trump out of the dummy.

When East got in with the ace of clubs he took the ace of hearts and then defeated the contract by leading another heart to West's ten.

CORRECT CHORE

Now the defenders cannot afford to take the ace of clubs and clear the trumps out of dummy since South would discard his losers on dummy's good clubs.

East adopts a different defense, but it doesn't work if South plays the hand properly.

East refuses the first club, takes the second and leads a third club in the hope of promoting a trump trick for his partner.

South ruffs high and leads a second trump.

West takes the ace of trumps and puts his partner in with the ace of hearts for another round of clubs.

Once more South must ruff high.

Now South ruffs his last heart in dummy, returns to his hand with the king of diamonds and at last can afford to draw West's last trump. Dummy gets rid of the losing diamond on this trick, and dummy wins the last two tricks with the ace of diamonds and the last club.

The FISHIN' FOOL

Sturgeon Fishing Reports Still Outnumbering Striper Reports

STEVENS

Reports of sturgeon fishing still exceed reports of stripers. The difference may be because, as one reporter defined it, the majority of fishermen are too anxious to lug home an armoured denizen of the bay and delta regions to fish hard for bass.

It isn't a case of no bass around, that's for sure. Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina reported Mits Ikada

AND Nish Yamamoto taking limits of fresh-run stripers to 20 pounds on Sunday—on bullhead baits. Carl also mentioned Jerry Watson and Jerry Teves limiting with bass to 22 pounds in the Buoy 5 sector.

"SATURDAY WAS fair," said Bennett," and Sunday was still better. Fish, bass and sturgeon, were taken near buoys 8 and 10 as well as near buoys 7 and 5. The boat Sturgeon boated 12 of the big fellows to 55 pounds for 13 rods and netted two medium sized bass; the boat, Pet unloaded six limits of sturgeon and two stripers on Saturday, The Sunfish took eight sturgeon, one of which weighed in at 90 pounds caught by William Hodges, and a 70-pounder landed by Ruddy Dito. Harry Ushijima caught a nice trio of bass."

PERHAPS WE need a good, well attended bass derby to bring the bullhead and sardine baiters out of their warm houses and get 'em busy catching striped bass. And—if that is what is needed here is an announcement: The aggressive agregation of angling addicts calling themselves the Fishing Fools are staging a bass derby for this weekend, Saturday and Sunday. Want to buy a ticket and win some dough? I believe you can purchase a ticket at Bennett's Rodeo Marina. All bass caught in the derby must be weighed in at the Rodeo Marina.

By the way—Johnny Marino, President of the Fishing Fools bass club, asked that I tell my readers that the club is now open for new members.

IF YOU ARE anxious to test your skill as a fisherman, and whould like a chance to hook a steelhead in one of the coastal streams, you must be a good "hoper." And use your strongest silent hope for a good old-fashioned rain. Not a deluge, but a few nice showers to bring the waters to a normal condition.

If you like driving and have the necessary time, the lower Smith and the upper Klamath are yielding some fair to good results and ditto the Sacramento River from around Grimes to Red Bluff.

SCATTER-GUNNERS are reminded that there is a special open season for white geese this weekend and the following weekend. So you still have a chance to collect a nice, plump, white goose, and your limit of white geese may include one Ross's goose.

Air Business So Good New Jobs Created

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airlines had so much business last year they had to create 30,000 new jobs, Joseph L. O'Brien, vice president of personnel relations for the Air Transport Assn., said today.

And during 1967, he said, they will need 6,800 more mechanics and 4,300 more pilots.

O'Brien said the airlines have added more new jobs in the past two years than in the preceding seven.

O'Brien said the U.S. airline industry at the end of the year had 236,000 employees, with an annual average salary of $7,910. Payrolls increased during the year from $1,686,280,000 to $1,865,228,000.

O'Brien said the airlines need more stewardesses, reservations workers and sales personnel as well as mechanics and pilots.

Market Shuts Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today for the eighth straight session. Trading was heavy.

The market advanced from the start, weathered some profit taking, began a new upward drive late in the afternoon and then ran into additional selling in the final minutes.

It was an across-the-board advance like Wednesday's.

Volume for the day was estimated at 12.5 million shares compared with 13.24 million yesterday.

The first-hour volume was another record at 4.27 million shares. Trading slackened from the tumultuous early pace but remained very active.

Fairchild Camera gained about 5, Polaroid and Schering 2 or more. Gains of a point or so were made by General Motors, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Zenith, Kennecott, American Smelting, Standard Oil of Indiana, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines and Collins Radio.

Down about 2 each were Ling-Temco-Vought and Superior Oil. Union Oil of California, up a fraction, looked like the volume leader.

California Financial, up a fraction, was the most active of the resurgent savings-and-loan holding companies. Great Western Financial was off a fraction on profit taking. Imperial Corp. of America edged higher in heavy trading. First Charter Financial sank a point.

Prices remained generally higher in the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavq.

Kaiser Names New Vice President

OAKLAND — William J. Bird, former western vice president of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., has been elected a vice president of Kaiser Industries Corp., it was announced by E. E. Trefthen Jr., Kaiser executive vice president.

Bird will be assigned to special projects, reporting to Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries, parent firm of the world-wide Kaiser Affiliated Companies, and Trefethen.

Steam Power Companies Join Geysers Lands

LOS ANGELES — Three producers of geothermal steam used to generate electric power — Earth Energy, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Union Oil Co. of California, Magma Power Co. and Thermal Power Co. — have signed a letter of intent under the terms of which the companies will pool their Northern California lands.

The combined holdings will exceed 14,000 acres, located in the Geysers area, about 85 airline miles north of San Francisco.

Steam from Magma and Thermal wells is currently being supplied to the Pacific Gas and Electric generating plants at the geysers. Earth Energy discovered geothermal production on its properties in June 1966.

At present, Magma and Thermal are producing enough steam from their wells to provide 25,000 kilowatts of electric power. This is sufficient to serve a city of 40,000.

An additional 27,500 kilowatt plant is completed and steam wells capable of generating another 125,000 kilowatts of power have been completed.

There Is No Sure Answer To The Bigness Of Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone has just reported total revenue for the three months ending with November of nearly $3.1 billion, which is a lot more revenue than a state the size of Texas collects in a year.

Comparisons such as this constantly reopen or keep alive that old, old discussion of how big is too big, a question to which there is perhaps no sure answer.

American business is big. About 60 American corporations have annual income of a billion dollars or more, and when the measuring stick is dropped to $500 million we can count about 150 companies. Is this too big?

There are some obvious examples in American history of laws broken through monopoly power, of companies who used their size to corner a market, or manipulate rates, or dictate wage or marketing conditions.

These, however, were relatively easy to discern because specific antitrust regulations were violated.

How do you make a determination when laws are not clearly broken? For critical purposes, bigness is relative. What is small now would have been large 50 years ago. What is big in one industry is not in another.

General Motors, for example, is the largest manufacturing corporation in the world, with assets of more than $12 billion and income in the area of $2 billion a year.

Without a doubt a company of this size would dominate the textile or shoe industries. But the automotive industry is a business of big companies, perhaps a requirement of volume production. Ford, Chrysler and General Motors are among the top five companies in sales. Standard Oil of New Jersey and General Electric are the others.

Chase Manhattan Bank reviewed recent literature and distilled these are the prevalent —not necessarily proven— charges against big business:

It decides which products to make and then forces them on the public.

It dominates education by forcing schools to teach subjects that meet job requirements.

It governs the labor market, forcing individuals to adapt skills and educations to its needs.

It magnifies unemployment problems by refusing to hike the unskilled and by failing to move into depressed areas.

Even if these accusations are accepted, could the truth of them be established in regard to a specific company? Would it take a long, long investigation with inconclusive answers?

A long, long investigation is now under way of AT&T, which dominates its industry as perhaps no other company in America dominates an area of enterprise.

AT&T is the world's largest corporation, owning and operating 85 per cent of the nation's telephones. It has assets well over $30 billion, employs 800,000 workers—despite automation—and has nearly three million shareholders.

AT&T is unique. It rules its industry but with far less freedom than can a manufacturing enterprise. It is regulated by the Federal Communications Commission and state utilities commissions. And, because of its unique role, must also accept considerable social responsibilities.

The FCC now is studying the entire cost, price and profit structure of AT&T, which feels it needs an 8 per cent return on its capital in order to fulfill it obligations to customers and stockholder.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Prosaic Stock List Is Unsuited For Rise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Early this year I invested two-thirds of my savings on the advice of a customers' man. I bought Munsingwear, Grand Union, General Steel, Narco and Harnischfeger. If there is a possibility of getting my money out in full?" B. B

A. You bought a list of relatively sound but rather prosaic. Munsingwear's growth has slowed; Grand Union is in the supermarket group which has fallen out of investor favor; General Steel and Harnischfeger are cyclical; and Narco faces increased competition.

I would not hold these stocks. If you can stay with them, I believe they will ultimately come back to your cost price. If they do, I would switch them into stronger growth issues.

Q. "Bases upon a plant and book inspection of McGowen Glass Fibers, I bought several thousand shares. The company has grown considerably but the stock remains unchanged. Why?" R. D.

A. For the simple reason that no stock is worth more than someone will pay you for it. Your company has a small capitalization and is realtively unknown to the investing public. Moody's Industrial Manual, probably the most comprehensive publication in its field, devotes only one line to your company. No matter how good a situation is, it must become known and gain a following before the price is likely to rise.

"Would you believe footprints on the CEILING?"

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1967 with 353 to follow.

The moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter, the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American revolutionary leader and signer of declaration of independence John Hancock was born on this day in 1737.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Confederate President Jefferson Davis met with an emissary of President Lincoln at Richmond, Va., to discuss Civil War peace negotiations.

In 1932, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of an Arkansas congressman, became the first woman ever elected to the U.S. Senate. She served until 1945.

In 1943, the Office of Price Administration ordered frankfurters to be replaced by "victory sausage" of some meat and soybean meal as part of the war effort.

In 1964, communist rebels overthrew the government of the East African Island of Zanzibar.

A thought for they day—Scottish historian and essayist Thomas Carlyle said: "True humor springs not more from the head then from the heart; it is not contempt, its essence is love."

HOW TO PLAY
WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Draw Trumps Before Completing Other Chores

In an easy hand you can afford to draw trumps before you do anything else.

In a difficult hand you need a trump or two in dummy and must therefore put off drawing trumps until you have finished with your other chores.

The difference is shown in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♡ J

South played a low heart from dummy at the first trick, and East likewise played low.

South won with the king of hearts and led his low trump to dummy's eight.

SAFE PLAY

This was safe enough, but Southe could not afford to lead a second trump at this time.

Not seeing the danger, South returned a trump from dummy. West won and led a third trump, thus taking the last trump out of the dummy.

When East got in with the ace of clubs he took the ace of hearts and then defeated the contract by leading another heart to West's ten.

CORRECT CHORE

Now the defenders cannot afford to take the ace of clubs and clear the trumps out of dummy since South would discard his losers on dummy's good clubs.

East adopts a different defense, but it doesn't work if South plays the hand properly.

East refuses the first club, takes the second and leads a third club in the hope of promoting a trump trick for his partner.

South ruffs high and leads a second trump.

West takes the ace of trumps and puts his partner in with the ace of hearts for another round of clubs.

Once more South must ruff high.

Now South ruffs his last heart in dummy, returns to his hand with the king of diamonds and at last can afford to draw West's last trump. Dummy gets rid of the losing diamond on this trick, and dummy wins the last two tricks with the ace of diamonds and the last club.

BABY HIPPO DOING BETTER

Young hippos have surprisingly tender skins, but normally start life in nice, soft mudholes. This youngster in the Jimmy Morgan Zoo, Birmingham, Ala., suffered cuts and bruises from his pool's concrete lining for the first three weeks, but his hide is getting tougher, officials report. Tiburon Firemen Rescue Couple In Hilarita Blaze

The fire began in the Hilarita Housing apartment of two men who jumped to safety from a second-floor window at the height of the 2:30 a.m. blaze.

Rescued by firemen were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hayes, who had to climb down fire ladders from the second story window.

Tiburon Fire Capt. Edward J. Parnell, first to arrive on the scene, said the whole upper story was in flames.

Firemen could see fire breaking through the Hayes apartment door, across the hall from the apartment occupied by John N. Schaffer and Dwight E. Tate, both 28.

Both men jumped from the burning building and were taken to Marin General Hospital by a neighbor, Mrs. Deanna Mancebo.

Schaffer was reported in fair condition with a fractured left heel. Tate refused treatment.

Using their own water tank from the truck, Parnell said, firemen stopped the flames at the Hayes door while the couple were helped down the ladder. The captain said Hayes assisted by being "very sharp and calm" in the situation.

The firefighters had to chop holes in the burning roof to allow some heat to ventilate out so they could enter from the front, said Parnell.

The fire was under control in 15 minutes, he said. Cause of the blaze was under investigation today.

Phillip Drath Plans North Vietnam Trip

Phillip Drath, San Rafael contractor, peace advocate and unsuccessful aspirant for Congress, will be a crewman on a 50-foot boat which will leave Tokyo next month to carry medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The Society of Friends (Quakers) Action Committee announced the plan in Philadelphia today. The boat, the Phoenix, will be piloted by its owner, Earle Reynolds, a visiting professor of anthropology at Hiroshima Women's College, the Associated Press reported.

Abrams Gets Vacancy On State Board

Ross attorney Sol A. Abrams, 64, a Republican has succeeded a San Francisco man for $25,000 per year post on the state Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board.

Abrams' appointment was one of the last made by Gov. Edmund G. Brown before he left office. There was no public announcement of the appointment, which is subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Abrams took over the unexpired term of Harry W. Low, who was named to the San Francisco Municipal Court bench. The term runs until Jan. 15, 1970.

RECEIVES WORD

Appeals board Chairmen Willima Kaplan said he received word of Abrams' appointment from Gov. Brown on Dec. 30. Kaplan said he does not know whether Gov. Ronald Reagan can withdraw the last-minute appointment by Brown.

Abrams lives at 6 Sylvan Lane in Ross. He was assistant United States attorney for Northern California from 1929 to 1934.

GOP LEADER

He was former secretary of the San Francisco Republican County Central Committee, former secretary of the Northern California Republican State Committee, and a member of the California Republican Assembly.

Abrams is one of seven members of the appeals board, who sit in San Francisco to hear appeals from decisions dealing exclusively with work-connected injuries. The Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board was called the Industrial Accident Commission until last year.

Terms of two other members of the appeals board expire this month those of Julius Middler and John A. O'Connell, both Democrats.

No Clues Discovered In San Rafael Beating

Sheriff's inspectors today said they have no motive, no weapon, and no identification of the assailant who early yesterday severely injured a San Rafael man.

The victim, Leonard N. Atwood, 50, of 861 Point San Pedro Road, just outside the city limits, was in fair but improved condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Atwood, purchasing agent for U.S. Steel Co. in San Francisco, suffered five deep head lacerations and a right wrist injury in the assault about 12:30 a.m. on the steps of his front porch.

Inspector A. V. Menjou said today he talked briefly with Atwood at the hospital yesterday afternoon, and Atwood declared he knew of no enemy and was unable to see his attacker.

Atwood, who is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs about 240 pounds, said he had a late dinner in San Francisco with a male friend, then drove home. He said he saw no car following him, and has received no threats, Menjou reported.

Atwood also declared that his work does not involve him in labor squabbles.

He was struck from behind after leaving his parked car. Lightbulbs on the front porch and garage, usually left burning until Atwood's return, had been removed, apparently by the assailant.

The victim's wristwatch was smashed in the assault, and his right wrist injured when he attempted to ward off the blows. A 21-inch long pipe was found in bushes near the house, but officers said it has not been determined if it was the weapon used.

Mrs. Atwood told officers she heard muffled sounds on the front porch, but did not know of the attack until her injured husband rang the front door bell. Two grandchildren staying with the Atwoods were not awakened by the attack.

Sausalito Police Officer Held Justified In Shooting

The Sausalito police officer who Tuesday night shot a fleeing 15-year-old Marin City youth in the leg, was justified in the shooting, Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said today.

Shaw said he and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales have studied the Sausalito police report of the incident. "Based on what it contained," he said, "We feel that the conduct of the officer, (Patrolman Michael Keilman) was certainly appropriate under the circumstances."

He said no further action in the matter is planned by his office.

The youth, Stanley Curry, of 147 Drake Avenue, was struck in the right leg below the knee after abandoning an allegedly stolen pickup truck near the Marin City underpass at Highway 101.

Patrolman Keilman, who gave chase after the truck was taken from the Ebbtide apartments, 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, said he fired three warning shots and ordered Curry to halt before shooting at the youth.

Curry, a freshman at Tamalpais High School, remained in Marin General Hospital in fair condition today. He has been charged in Juvenile Court with auto theft. Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner this morning held a detention hearing. He ordered that the youth be detained at the hospital, and at juvenile hall following his release from the hospital, pending a hearing on the charge in juvenile court Jan. 30.

Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins said today he has received fewer than six telephone calls about the shooting. Some were in support of the shooting by the officer, and others questioned the action, he said. No threat of retaliation for the shooting has been made.

A large crowd gathered at the scene, but no violence occurred.

Police said the bandits might have escaped by boat.

Air Business So Good New Jobs Created

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airlines had so much business last year they had to create 30,000 new jobs, Joseph L. O'Brien, vice president of personnel relations for the Air Transport Assn., said today.

And during 1967, he said, they will need 6,800 more mechanics and 4,300 more pilots.

O'Brien said the airlines have added more new jobs in the past two years than in the preceding seven.

O'Brien said the U.S. airline industry at the end of the year had 236,000 employees, with an annual average salary of $7,910. Payrolls increased during the year from $1,686,280,000 to $1,865,228,000.

O'Brien said the airlines need more stewardesses, reservations workers and sales personnel as well as mechanics and pilots.

Record Truck Sales In Ford Division

DEARBORN, Mich. — Ford division capped its fifth consecutive record truck sales year in 1966 with the highest December sales mark in the industry, M. S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford division assistant general manager, has reported.

McLaughlin said record December sales of 43,705 trucks were up almost 14 per cent over the previous December high of 38,452 posted in 1965, and boosted the division's total for 1966 to a record 536,472 units.

Market Shuts Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today for the eighth straight session. Trading was heavy.

The market advanced from the start, weathered some profit taking, began a new upward drive late in the afternoon and then ran into additional selling in the final minutes.

It was an across-the-board advance like Wednesday's.

Volume for the day was estimated at 12.5 million shares compared with 13.24 million yesterday.

The first-hour volume was another record at 4.27 million shares. Trading slackened from the tumultuous early pace but remained very active.

Fairchild Camera gained about 5, Polaroid and Schering 2 or more. Gains of a point or so were made by General Motors, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Zenith, Kennecott, American Smelting, Standard Oil of Indiana, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines and Collins Radio.

Down about 2 each were Ling-Temco-Vought and Superior Oil. Union Oil of California, up a fraction, looked like the volume leader.

California Financial, up a fraction, was the most active of the resurgent savings-and-loan holding companies. Great Western Financial was off a fraction on profit taking. Imperial Corp. of America edged higher in heavy trading. First Charter Financial sank a point.

Prices remained generally higher in the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavq.

Kaiser Names New Vice President

OAKLAND — William J. Bird, former western vice president of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., has been elected a vice president of Kaiser Industries Corp., it was announced by E. E. Trefthen Jr., Kaiser executive vice president.

Bird will be assigned to special projects, reporting to Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries, parent firm of the world-wide Kaiser Affiliated Companies, and Trefethen.

Steam Power Companies Join Geysers Lands

LOS ANGELES — Three producers of geothermal steam used to generate electric power — Earth Energy, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Union Oil Co. of California, Magma Power Co. and Thermal Power Co. — have signed a letter of intent under the terms of which the companies will pool their Northern California lands.

The combined holdings will exceed 14,000 acres, located in the Geysers area, about 85 airline miles north of San Francisco.

Steam from Magma and Thermal wells is currently being supplied to the Pacific Gas and Electric generating plants at the geysers. Earth Energy discovered geothermal production on its properties in June 1966.

At present, Magma and Thermal are producing enough steam from their wells to provide 25,000 kilowatts of electric power. This is sufficient to serve a city of 40,000.

An additional 27,500 kilowatt plant is completed and steam wells capable of generating another 125,000 kilowatts of power have been completed.

There Is No Sure Answer To The Bigness Of Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone has just reported total revenue for the three months ending with November of nearly $3.1 billion, which is a lot more revenue than a state the size of Texas collects in a year.

Comparisons such as this constantly reopen or keep alive that old, old discussion of how big is too big, a question to which there is perhaps no sure answer.

American business is big. About 60 American corporations have annual income of a billion dollars or more, and when the measuring stick is dropped to $500 million we can count about 150 companies. Is this too big?

There are some obvious examples in American history of laws broken through monopoly power, of companies who used their size to corner a market, or manipulate rates, or dictate wage or marketing conditions.

These, however, were relatively easy to discern because specific antitrust regulations were violated,

How do you make a determination when laws are not clearly broken? For critical purposes, bigness is relative. What is small now would have been large 50 years ago. What is big in one industry is not in another.

General Motors, for example, is the largest manufacturing corporation in the world, with assets of more than $12 billion and income in the area of $2 billion a year.

Without a doubt a company of this size would dominate the textile or shoe industries. But the automotive industry is a business of big companies, perhaps a requirement of volume production. Ford, Chrysler and General Motors are among the top five companies in sales. Standard Oil of New Jersey and General Electric are the others.

Chase Manhattan Bank reviewed recent literature and distilled these are the prevalent—not necessarily proven—charges against big business:

It decides which products to make and then forces them on the public.

It dominates education by forcing schools to teach subjects that meet job requirements.

It governs the labor market, forcing individuals to adapt skills and educations to its needs.

It magnifies unemployment problems by refusing to hike the unskilled and by failing to move into depressed areas.

Even if these accusations are accepted, could the truth of them be established in regard to a specific company? Would it take a long, long investigation with inconclusive answers?

A long, long investigation is now under way of AT&T, which dominates its industry as perhaps no other company in America dominates an area of enterprise.

AT&T is the world's largest corporation, owning and operating 85 per cent of the nation's telephones. It has assets well over $30 billion, employs 800,000 workers—despite automation—and has nearly three million shareholders.

AT&T is unique. It rules its industry but with far less freedom than can a manufacturing enterprise. It is regulated by the Federal Communications Commission and state utilities commissions. And, because of its unique role, must also accept considerable social responsibilities.

The FCC now is studying the entire cost, price and profit structure of AT&T, which feels it needs an 8 per cent return on its capital in order to fulfill it obligations to customers and stockholder.

Prosaic Stock List Is Unsuited For Rise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Early this year I invested two-thirds of my savings on the advice of a customers' man. I bought Munsingwear, Grand Union, General Steel, Narco and Harnischfeger. If there is a possibility of getting my money out in full?"B. B

A. You bought a list of relatively sound but rather prosaic. Munsingwear's growth has slowed; Grand Union is in the supermarket group which has fallen out of investor favor; General Steel and Harnischfeger are cyclical; and Narco faces increased competition.

I would not hold these stocks. If you can stay with them, I believe they will ultimately come back to your cost price. If they do, I would switch them into stronger growth issues.

Q. "Bases upon a plant and book inspection of McGowen Glass Fibers, I bought several thousand shares. The company has grown considerably but the stock remains unchanged. Why?" R. D.

A. For the simple reason that no stock is worth more than someone will pay you for it. Your company has a small capitalization and is realtively unknown to the investing public. Moody's Industrial Manual, probably the most comprehensive publication in its field, devotes only one line to your company. No matter how good a situation is, it must become known and gain a following before the price is likely to rise.

Stephen Ward, I-J carrier of Fairfax, receives the trophy from Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, Superior Court, Marin County. Allan G. Howells, I-J circulation manager, looks justifiably proud.

To young Steve Ward, I-J carrier…

the highest newspaperboy award in the state of California*

Meet Stephen Ward, I-J carrier, shown receiving the state's Outstanding Newspaper Boy Award from Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of the Superior Court of Marin County. Young Steve, 13, of Fairfax, was chosen from all newspaperboys in California for performing the most outstanding act of community service in 1966. While on his paper route he helped save the life of one of his customers through quick thinking and responsible action.

Only one newspaperboy in the state can win this award. Yet all boys who deliver the news to you win personal rewards which seem to go with the job. Serving a real need of the community, they develop a sense of responsibility, both to others and to their work. They learn to manage their time, their money–and above all, themselves.

We're happy for Steve. And we're proud of our afternoon army of 800 carriers. They deliver!

800 I-J newspaperboys get a headstart

Service is no idle slogan but the working watchword for I-J newspaperboys. A complete training program helps equip each boy to manage his route and serve his customers in a courteous and businesslike manner. Special incentives, unusual holiday trips, honor awards and prizes are offered for genuine achievement. With such a background, it's little wonder that so many newspaperboys go on to major achievements in adult life.

BABY HIPPO DOING BETTER

Young hippos have surprisingly tender skins, but normally start life in nice, soft mudholes. This youngster in the Jimmy Morgan Zoo, Birmingham, Ala., suffered cuts and bruises from his pool's concrete lining for the first three weeks, but his hide is getting tougher, officials report. Tiburon Firemen Rescue Couple In Hilarita Blaze

The fire began in the Hilarita Housing apartment of two men who jumped to safety from a second-floor window at the height of the 2:30 a.m. blaze.

Rescued by firemen were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hayes, who had to climb down fire ladders from the second story window.

Tiburon Fire Capt. Edward J. Parnell, first to arrive on the scene, said the whole upper story was in flames.

Firemen could see fire breaking through the Hayes apartment door, across the hall from the apartment occupied by John N. Schaffer and Dwight E. Tate, both 28.

Both men jumped from the burning building and were taken to Marin General Hospital by a neighbor, Mrs. Deanna Mancebo.

Schaffer was reported in fair condition with a fractured left heel. Tate refused treatment.

Using their own water tank from the truck, Parnell said, firemen stopped the flames at the Hayes door while the couple were helped down the ladder. The captain said Hayes assisted by being "very sharp and calm" in the situation.

The firefighters had to chop holes in the burning roof to allow some heat to ventilate out so they could enter from the front, said Parnell.

The fire was under control in 15 minutes, he said. Cause of the blaze was under investigation today.

Phillip Drath Plans North Vietnam Trip

Phillip Drath, San Rafael contractor, peace advocate and unsuccessful aspirant for Congress, will be a crewman on a 50-foot boat which will leave Tokyo next month to carry medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The Society of Friends (Quakers) Action Committee announced the plan in Philadelphia today. The boat, the Phoenix, will be piloted by its owner, Earle Reynolds, a visiting professor of anthropology at Hiroshima Women's College, the Associated Press reported.

No Clues Discovered In San Rafael Beating

Sheriff's inspectors today said they have no motive, no weapon, and no identification of the assailant who early yesterday severely injured a San Rafael man.

The victim, Leonard N. Atwood, 50, of 861 Point San Pedro Road, just outside the city limits, was in fair but improved condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Atwood, purchasing agent for U.S. Steel Co. in San Francisco, suffered five deep head lacerations and a right wrist injury in the assault about 12:30 a.m. on the steps of his front porch.

Inspector A. V. Menjou said today he talked briefly with Atwood at the hospital yesterday afternoon, and Atwood declared he knew of no enemy and was unable to see his attacker.

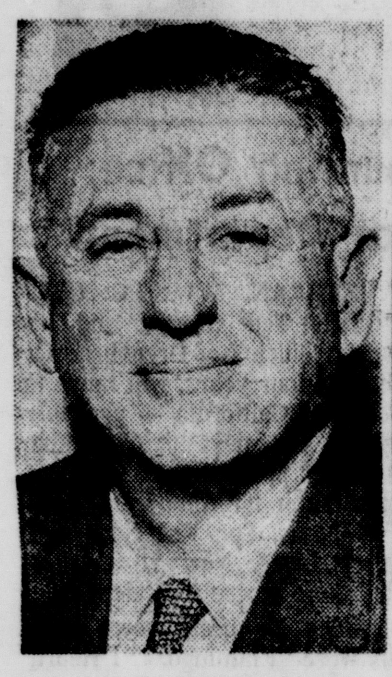
Atwood, who is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs about 240 pounds, said he had a late dinner in San Francisco with a male friend, then drove home. He said he saw no car following him, and has received no threats, Menjou reported.

Atwood also declared that his work does not involve him in labor squabbles.

He was struck from behind after leaving his parked car. Lightbulbs on the front porch and garage, usually left burning until Atwood's return, had been removed, apparently by the assailant.

The victim's wristwatch was smashed in the assault, and his right wrist injured when he attempted to ward off the blows. A 21-inch long pipe was found in bushes near the house, but officers said it has not been determined if it was the weapon used.

Mrs. Atwood told officers she heard muffled sounds on the front porch, but did not know of the attack until her injured husband rang the front door bell. Two grandchildren staying with the Atwoods were not awakened by the attack.



SOL ABRAMS
Last-minute appointee

Abrams Gets Vacancy On State Board

Ross attorney Sol A. Abrams, 64, a Republican has succeeded a San Francisco man for $25,000 per year post on the state Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board.

Abrams' appointment was one of the last made by Gov. Edmund G. Brown before he left office. There was no public announcement of the appointment, which is subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Abrams took over the unexpired term of Harry W. Low, who was named to the San Francisco Municipal Court bench. The term runs until Jan. 15, 1970.

RECEIVES WORD

Appeals board Chairmen Willima Kaplan said he received word of Abrams' appointment from Gov. Brown on Dec. 30. Kaplan said he does not know whether Gov. Ronald Reagan can withdraw the last-minute appointment by Brown.

Abrams lives at 6 Sylvan Lane in Ross. He was assistant United States attorney for Northern California from 1929 to 1934.

GOP LEADER

He was former secretary of the San Francisco Republican County Central Committee, former secretary of the Northern California Republican State Committee, and a member of the California Republican Assembly.

Abrams is one of seven members of the appeals board, who sit in San Francisco to hear appeals from decisions dealing exclusively with work-connected injuries. The Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board was called the Industrial Accident Commission until last year.

Terms of two other members of the appeals board expire this month those of Julius Middler and John A. O'Connell, both Democrats.

Sausalito Police Officer Held Justified In Shooting

The Sausalito police officer who Tuesday night shot a fleeing 15-year-old Marin City youth in the leg, was justified in the shooting, Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said today.

Shaw said he and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales have studied the Sausalito police report of the incident. "Based on what it contained," he said, "We feel that the conduct of the officer, (Patrolman Michael Keilman) was certainly appropriate under the circumstances."

He said no further action in the matter is planned by his office.

The youth, Stanley Curry, of 147 Drake Avenue, was struck in the right leg below the knee after abandoning an allegedly stolen pickup truck near the Marin City underpass at Highway 101.

Patrolman Keilman, who gave chase after the truck was taken from the Ebbtide apartments, 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, said he fired three warning shots and ordered Curry to halt before shooting at the youth.

Curry, a freshman at Tamalpais High School, remained in Marin General Hospital in fair condition today. He has been charged in Juvenile Court with auto theft. Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner this morning held a detention hearing. He ordered that the youth be detained at the hospital, and at juvenile hall following his release from the hospital, pending a hearing on the charge in juvenile court Jan. 30.

Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins said today he has received fewer than six telephone calls about the shooting. Some were in support of the shooting by the officer, and others questioned the action, he said. No threat of retaliation for the shooting has been made.

A large crowd gathered at the scene, but no violence occurred.

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Three masked gunmen used a butler today in a ruse to get into the bedroom of the wife of rent-a-car king Walter Jacobs and robbed her of more than $100,000 in jewels.

Police said the bandits might have escaped by boat.

Another Contribution From Redwoods League

The Save-the-Redwoods League has once again demonstrated that it puts its money where its mouth is.

Instead of merely giving lip service to conservation and preservation of the redwoods in California, the League quietly digs up the funds and acts.

It recently contributed $700,000 toward a land exchange which adds 815 acres of virgin forest land to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park near Crescent City in Del Norte County.

The State of California negotiated with the Simpson Timber Co. to exchange scattered state-owned timberlands away from the park for the vitally necessary redwood forest to be incorporated into the park. To make up for a difference in appraised value, the Save-the-Redwoods League doled out $700,000 in cash, with the state paying an additional $50,000 from park funds.

The new park lands extend along U.S. 199, the Redwood Highway, including two miles of frontage along the picturesque Smith River.

The League's participation was financed from contributions, from a Ford Foundation matching grant and from an eastern foundation's generous grant, according to Newton B. Drury, secretary of the League.

Some far-out conservationists rant and rave about conservation and succeed only in creating dissension and damaging the public image of the conservation movement.

Meanwhile, the constructive Save-the-Redwoods League, headed by its grand old leader Newton Drury, continues to plug away as it has been doing now for almost half a century (it was founded in 1918) to acquire and preserve redwoods for public use.

Through quiet negotiation and fund raising, the League continues to add to the state park system, opening up new areas for public enjoyment.

The League's latest contribution to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park involved cooperative bargaining with the loggers and lumber interests for the benefit of the public; instead of a battle to the standstill where nobody gains.

The Save-the-Redwoods League deserves public gratitude and support for the effective manner in which it is serving the cause of conservation.

TEEN-AGED SUICIDES LINKED TO FAMILY PROBLEMS

Suicide is the fifth largest cause of teen-age deaths, according to a study made for the American Public Health Association.

Suicidal youngsters usually go through a period of long-standing problems, then an escalation stage, and finally the suicide attempt.

Among the basic problems are parents who had tried suicide, low family income, extreme conflict in the family and broken homes.

Symptoms of the escalation stage are rebellion, withdrawal into self and physical withdrawal.

It is significant that the underlying problems in teen-age suicides are in one way or another related to the family.

Children who enjoy parental affection from their earliest years ordinarily have the inner resources to cope with conflicts later in life.

This family, which was established by God as the basic unit of society, deepens and radiates its beneficial influence when nourished by enduring and generous love.

"Let Your steadfast love and Your faithfulness ever preserve me!" (Psalm 40:11)

Let me grow in awareness of the needs of other persons, O Jesus, especially my own family.

California Citizens Must Say How Much Education Will Cost

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Apparently, the question of tuition fees for attendance at the University of California, and California's state colleges, will be one of the major issues before the state legislature this year.

The question boils down to a decision on whether or not the people of California can continue to offer higher education to its young people, free of tuition charges, or whether they can maintain the high standards of the university and the state colleges by imposing fees for instruction.

ANY DEVIATION from a practiced policy brings with it a multitude of arguments, and the subject of tuition is no exception.

One argument against tuition voiced by some legislators is that imposition of tuition fees would "be a threat to the state's higher education system." The same legislators also maintain that the high standards of education would be in jeopardy if reduction of 10 per cent in the university and colleges budgets were effected.

The fallacies of such arguments are immediately apparent. High standards in education are not dependent on the number of students attending a university or college. Many of the nation's private, tuition-charging universities are higher in educational standards, or at least equal, to California's public university and state colleges.

LIKEWISE, a 10 per cent reduction in appropriations normally could be absorbed without reduction in standards. This no doubt would require more emphasis on essentials in higher education, and less attention to some of the items students could do without.

The truth is the university doesn't want to curtail expenditures in those fields where it can without damage to its standards. Obviously, it's easier to run a university or a business with plenty of money to spend, but much harder to do when the purse strings are tight.

Also, legislators are raising the cry that tuition would be a greater burden on low income families. Actually, any family, no matter in what income tax bracket, would have to make some sacrifices to assist young people in obtaining college educations.

ON THE OTHER hand, it might be observed that if an education is worth having, it's worth paying for, and making some sacrifices for. Any family, no matter what its income status, which has assisted a young person through four years of college, knows what the word sacrifice means.

Ultimately, the public will have to make a decision as to just how much in education it owes to the young people of the state.

If it considers it owes all youngsters a college education, then it will have to raise more taxes to finance the process of continuing to give such education.

HOWEVER, if it considers that higher education is a desirable adjunct to the art of living, and should be earned to be appreciated, then it can turn to the tuition fee to assist in financing the universities and colleges.

Marin Stadium Idea Brings Loud Cheers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I just finished reading Jim Gilmartin's article in your Saturday (Jan. 7) issue, "What This County Needs is a New Multi-Purpose Stadium," and I must say this is the answer to the ever present question, What Is Wrong with Marin?

There is nothing wrong with Marin. Only a few things could be added for sure. This stadium which includes almost every conceivable sport, queen contest, autorama and such mentioned could also be used for outdoor musicals, band competitions for teenagers, and so many enjoyable entertainment fetes that require the much needed seating capacity.

I sincerely hope Dr. Hollis and people that carry a much londer voice than myself push this wonderful "idea" to the limit. If there is any question in their minds, look what a stadium idea accomplished in Oakland!

Marinwood Blaze Worries Resident

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Erect a lean-to against one's quarters and the building inspector zeros in with the speed of a missile. However, the department could not have been in office when these units were created in this patch of ground called Goofland.

Laws, like rules, are meant to be broken when there are extenuating circumstances.

Two devastating fires in six months should indicate that one blast from Terra Linda will have all hoses manned from any area in three minutes. Apparently human lives are not considered and the choice of shepherd leaves the sheep cold. As mutton in these pastures, our cries are as futile as Chloe from her swamp.

The only ovation I can hand out in this location for our exorbitant taxes is that we do get police protection. I know. I received a parking ticket in front of my home.

The clinching argument is that our nests are a formidable fire trap . . . and unless immediate action takes place, the "For Sale" signs will appear like the pox.

Holiday Kindness Gets Public Thanks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that the holidays are over, I wish to write a "thank you letter" to the Ministerial Assn. of Novato.

I prefer this manner of publicly thanking all those wonderful people who helped provide us with a very generous gift of food, because I have no way of thanking each individual properly.

The boxes of food were quite unexpected; and, since they were badly needed, extremely welcome. They certainly helped to make our holidays brighter, and gave us reason to be extra thankful for the generosity of people extending a helping hand to those less fortunate.

Thank you so much, to all connected with the Ministerial Assn.

If We Can Miniaturize Machines, Why Not Breed Smaller People?

There is an easy way to solve the crowded feeling that has resulted from the human population explosion. The answer is to breed miniature people.

The first step, as a matter of fact, already has been taken.

Babies in most civilized countries today, as a result of medical advice to mothers, weigh at birth at least a pound less on the average than they did a generation or two ago.

A MOTHER in 1900 somehow felt she had cheated her husband if she delivered a baby that didn't bump the scales beyond the 8-pound mark. Today her doctor praises a mother if she keeps her infant down to seven pounds.

The trouble is what happens thereafter. The smaller babies of today, thanks to vitamins and better nutrition generally, grow up to be taller and heavier than their fathers and their grandfathers. That's why they crowd the world.

THE GROWING problem is how to use available space more efficiently. Scientists are well aware of this fact. Through the miniaturization of parts they have been able to make smaller machines that have more output than larger machines formerly did.

As man tends more and more to ape the machines he creates, that probably will turn out to be the human answer to overcrowding, too. Since the earth itself can hardly be enlarged, what better solution to the population problem can there be than the miniaturization of people?

For some time the secret ideal of most men has been to be six feet tall and weigh somewhere between 180 and 200 pounds. Such a man would have a brain weighing about three pounds.

This ideal must be destroyed. It is out of date.

I WOULD SAY the ideal man of the future should have a five-pound brain, stand three feet tall, and weigh about 75 pounds.

Since women by then will still be insisting on being even more equal than men, I would say the ideal woman of the future should have a four-pound brain —more than ample for her everyday needs —stand 3 feet 6 inches, weigh 100 pounds, and be broad enough so that the ideal man would hide safely behind her skirts in case of sudden attack.

Don't think this is all a dream. If science could miniaturize machines, who can say it won't be able to midgetize man?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A BRASH YOUNG teen-ager took a sudden shine to a girl in one of his classes, and on Friday at dinner with his folks, announced that he proposed to phone her and ask her to go to the movies with him that evening. "That's rather insulting," advised his mother. "You shouldn't ask a girl out at the last moment. A girl likes to be asked for a date a week ahead of time." "A week?" exclaimed the boy. "Well," relented the mother, "not later than Monday before your weekend date." "Monday?" scoffed the boy. "Monday was IMPOSSIBLE, mom. I didn't even KISS her 'til Wednesday!"

THE LATE financier, Bernard Baruch, once became convinced that his subconscious mind was producing sensational ideas while he was sleeping, and set out to train himself to write them down on a pad he placed at his bedside. He awoke one morning in a pleasant glow, convinced that he had jotted down something interesting while he was in dreamland. He was right. Scrawled across the page were these three inspiring words: "Ride 'em, cowboy!"

FRANK RHOADES was complaining about the size of a room assigned to him in a commercial hotel. "I got arrested for smoking a cigarette in bed," he reported, "but the case was dismissed. The lighted was in the bathroom."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Admiration For LBJ Is Offset By Annoyance With Big Brother

WASHINGTON—As the new Congress convenes this week, there are two developments which are more likely to influence its actions than anything else.

1. President Johnson is today the "most admired man" in public or private life in the United States.

2. Public distaste for big government has more than tripled during the past seven years and is today viewed as the biggest domestic threat to the country.

These facts emerge from opinion surveys by the Gallup Poll and it seems to me they are very pertinent to nearly all the matters which will be before Congress during the coming months.

It is my judgement that anyone in Congress who thinks he can treat LBJ as a "lame duck" President will be making a great miscalculation. Talk about Mr. Johnson's having to retire or intending to retire in 1968, talk about his being sidetracked for renomination or fearing to confront the voters in the next election—that's just so much poppycock.

BUT WHAT will the President and Congress do about this mounting public dissatisfaction with the ever-growing size of the federal government and its massive reach into local matters? There is no doubt in my mind that this issue contributed tremendously to the Republican upsurge.

The Gallup Polls show how significantly public opinion has shifted on this issue. Twice, once near the end of the Eisenhower second term in 1959 and again last month —Gallup asked a cross-section of Americans this question:

"In your opinion, which of the following do you think will be the biggest threat to the country in the future—big business, big labor, or big government?"

Here are the comparative results:

	1959	Today
Big business	15 per cent	14 per cent
Big labor	41 per cent	21 per cent
Big government	14 per cent	49 per cent
Don't know	30 per cent	16 per cent

There's the heart of the shift of opinion: Seven years ago big labor was the public's greatest concern and today big government is the public's greatest concern.

THERE ARE good reasons for this. Federal involvement in dealing with state and local problems has expanded almost compulsively under the Johnson administration. There has seemed to be almost a built-in procreation by which programs beget more federal programs until the bureaucratic maze required the city of Chicago, for example, to deal with 70 different programs on urban renewal.

This tendency has gone so far that the National Committee for an Effective Congress, no enemy of the Administration, concludes: "The honeysuckle vines of the Great Society are apparently choking municipal responsibility and initiative. The federal role and its impact on the individual's life may well become the fundamental issue of the 90th Congress."

Here, then, is the dilemma which the nation now faces:

The states simply haven't the money resources to deal effectively with problems which used to be called local-education, slum ghettos, mass transportation, air and water pollution, etc.

The federal government has the money to hlep with these problems, but the more the national administration helps the more unpopular it becomes.

IT'S NO GOOD just throwing up our hands .These critical problems are not going to go away, will not be solved by blaming the federal government. Why not try what we have so far not tried: More federal money for the states with fewer federal strings?

Red China Warships Shoot At U.S. Fliers

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—U.S. planes are being fired on by Red Chinese warships in Haiphong harbor.

Navy pilots returning from low-level bombing attacks on fuel storage tanks and other targets in the Haiphong area have reported they were fired on by Chinese destroyers operating in the waters of the main North Vietnam port.

MORE THAN a dozen such incidents have occurred.

Although no U.S. planes have been lost as a result of these Red Chinese attacks, several aircraft have been damaged.

Under ironclad White House orders, U.S. pilots have not returned the fire from the Communists' ships.

These restrictions prohibit attacks against vessels other than those flying the North Vietnam flag.

Several Navy pilots, after spotting Chinese flags on the attacking warships, radioed for permission to retaliate with rockets. The officer in the operational control plane curtly ordered the pilots to "avoid further contact with Chincoms. Do not return fire. Orders are based on presidential directive."

NEITHER Washington nor Peking has said anything about these repeated incidents.

Reason for the silence from usually-voluble and truculent Peking is not known. Pentagon insiders attribute the administration's failure to say anything to fear that disclosure would arouse powerful congressional demands for vigorous counter-action.

President Johnson is adamantly adhering to a policy of doing nothing that might lead to Red Chinese involvement in the Vietnam conflict.

INSTEAD intelligence authorities have been directed to ascertain the reason for these attacks.

The Chinese warships, three destroyers and some six ocean-going patrol vessels, have been operating in North Vietnam waters for some time. The destroyers put in frequently in Haiphong harbor.

In recent weeks the Chinese warships have been observed escorting Polish freighters bringing supplies to Haiphong.

Peking's increased naval activity was the main reason for the Navy's recent decision to reinforce its combat strength in Vietnam waters.

Task Force No. 1 — made up of the Navy's three nuclear-powered warships — was shifted in December from the Mediterranean and Atlantic to the Tonkin Gulf.

This task force includes the 35,000-ton aircraft carrier Enterprise, the cruiser Long Beach and frigate Bainbridge.

WHILE THE NAVY has plans all set and ready for sealing off all Vietnam ports, there has been no indication the President has any intention of taking this step.

There are no known Soviet warships in the Gulf of Tonkin, but on the average, eight to ten Soviet ships are in Haiphong harbor or its river entrance awaiting their turn to unload cargo.

U.S. naval vessels have detected the presence of several "unidentified" submarines in these waters. They are believed to be Russian nuclear-powered subs.

the highest newspaperboy award in the state of California*

Meet Stephen Ward, I-J carrier, shown receiving the state's Outstanding Newspaper Boy Award from Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of the Superior Court of Marin County. Young Steve, 13, of Fairfax, was chosen from all newspaperboys in California for performing the most outstanding act of community service in 1966. While on his paper route he helped save the life of one of his customers through quick thinking and responsible action.

Only one newspaperboy in the state can win this award. Yet all boys who deliver the news to you win personal rewards which seem to go with the job. Serving a real need of the community, they develop a sense of responsibility, both to others and to their work. They learn to manage their time, their money—and above all, themselves.

We're happy for Steve. And we're proud of our afternoon army of 800 carriers. They deliver!

800 I-J newspaperboys get a headstart

Service is no idle slogan but the working watchword for I-J newspaperboys. A complete training program helps equip each boy to manage his route and serve his customers in a courteous and businesslike manner. Special incentives, unusual holiday trips, honor awards and prizes are offered for genuine achievement. With such a background, it's little wonder that so many newspaperboys go on to major achievements in adult life.

This Could Be San Rafael's Answer To Disneyland's Lure

Every other person you meet seems to have his own idea of what should be done with the county courthouse property in downtown San Rafael.

There are those who have visions of high-rise buildings and extensive commercial development, and others who would like to see the old building preserved.

AT THE RISK of antagonizing all hands, we contend that the courthouse can be retained just as it is and still be a going commercial venture.

My proposal, backed by no money at all, is that the courthouse be converted into a civic amusement center.

A person who has yearned to be a judge could sit on the bench for $1 an hour and have his picture taken for another $1.

FRUSTRATED would - be lawyers could get together and conduct mock trials. They would have to pay $5 an hour for this privilege because legal fees are high.

All the young bucks who want to be sheriff's deputies could rent uniforms ($1 an hour) and man the jail, booking desk or identification section, or act as a bailiff.

Those with dreams of glory could be sheriff for a day, at a flat rate of $50 a day; $75 if you want a sheriff's posse.

MOTORISTS who have been peeved for years about shelling out money for parking tickets could be allowed to run wild in the traffic division of the Municipal Court office, tearing up the pink slips. The charge would be 5 cents an hour plus the cost of the slips.

Owners of postage stamp-sized lots could go into the county recorder's office and record vast land holdings under their names.

Anyone with a weird sense of humor could play county clerk for a day and fill out crazy marriage licenses and divorces.

THOSE WHO didn't like the way the last election turned out, could become supervisor of elections and compile their own returns.

There could even be special events like Saturday night jail breaks. Staid citizens, who have a yearning for adventure, could act as prisoners and make their getaway. The charge would be $1 an hour to play prisoner, $2 if you participate in an escape, and $3 if the escape is successful.

SUCH AN operation would provide an outlet for a lot of frustrations, and give residents a chance to show what they would do if they were in office.

Columnist White Adds Barry Goldwater To His Honor Roll

WILLIAM S. WHITE is a columnist whose personal philosophy embraces the left-of-center views of President Johnson, views which seem delusive and self-defeating to those of us right-of-center. And yet I know of no commentator —on either side of the aisle—whose sense of fair play is more respected by conservatives.

He can argue his case with vigor, but without the poison of character-assassination. He is never guilty of the common liberal assumptions—regarded as axiomatic by so many of his colleagues—that all opponents of the Great Society are, ipso facto, emissaries of His Satanic Majesty.

THUS, IN HIS honor roll for the year recently ended, he quite naturally named LBJ, Roy Wilkins and Dean Rusk. But he also included the names of Eisenhower, Nixon and Goldwater—all anathema to the average professional liberal.

His reasons for putting Barry on the list are worth repeating: "For taking his 1964 defeat like a man and for consistently expressing his honest disagreement with nearly the whole domestic course of this country with a fairness which, however wrong-headed, has had the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

Compare that with some of the vicious aspersions, the incredible innuendoes and the downright falsehoods used against Barry during the campaign—and still repeated. And I do not refer to the to-be-expected maledictions of the Communist press and the Minute Men and such who found Barry's Jewish ancestry intolerable. I speak of the phrases fashioned by the so-called respectables who claim to constitute our mainstream. If so, they have pollluted it more than all our detergents and insecticides put together.

THERE WAS Walter Lippmann, who termed Barry "a radical reactionary" whose philosophy was that of "the newly rich on the make" and who"would turn the party of Lincoln into the party of white supremacists."

There was that New Hampshire columnist, a moderate if I ever read one, who called Barry "a miserable racist . . . with the instincts of a hyena and the principles of a small-town Hitler . . . who would crawl under a snake's belly in an open sewer to salvage one misbegotten vote."

There was Jackie Robinson on Goldwater's nomination: "Now I know what it feels like to be a Jew under Hitler." And Pat Brown said, "I smell fascism in the air" after San Francisco.

THERE WERE THE ministers and rabbis who profaned their pulpits by turning them into soap-boxes and bearing false witness by echoing these charges and proclaining it would be a mortal sin to vote for Goldwater. I hope they have kept the other nine Commandents more faithfully.

There was that Yale professor—or was he from Harvard? —who went abroad for the State Department and boasted on his return that he had the college students of India praying for Barry's defeat.

There was that viperous cartoon on the cover of "Ramparts;" there was even a book which linked Barry with the gambling underworld; there was the report of some 1300 psychiatrists who found Barry a dangerous psychotic. These objective findings appeared in a magazine whose editor is now serving a prison term for publishing obscenity. Obscenity of another sort, that is.

AND THERE WAS Steve Allen, who constantly exhorts the right to get rid of its extremists so that we may have a more meaningful dialogue. The last time I turned in on an Allen show was in 1964, when he had on his program a foreign actor who said, "The difference between Hitler and Goldwater is that Goldwater knows what he's doing." (Applause and laughter from the audience—and never a word of demurral from Steve.)

Now from Lippman to Allen, I'm certain these men sleep well of nights. For they are all, all honorable men. And so, beyond doubt, are the Republican Bautuses — Rocky, Romney, Javits and Kuchel—who entered into the conspiracy of character—assassination against Barry.

BUT AS FOR ME—and some 27 million others—I'll take William S. White. Even though we sometimes think him wrong-headed, we find in him "the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

'Personality Puzzle'

Dr. David Fisher, associate director of the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito, will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Cherish Inn, Mill Valley. His topic will be "The Puzzle of Personality."

Anti-Poverty Tutors Need More Money

Directors of an anti-poverty tutoring program in southern Marin sought today to rescue it from elimination because of Great Society budget cuts.

Mrs. John Binckley, chairman of the advisory committee to the Marin Study Center, said tutorial services to nearly 300 children will cease Feb. 1 unless money can be raised to continue.

She said about $14,000 would be needed to run the center until the end of the school year. An appeal for donations has gone out.

The committee was notified last month by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity that the center would not be granted new funds, apparently in connection with Johnson Administration policy to divert anti-poverty money to finance the Vietnam war.

"The loss of funds does not imply any criticism or lack of commendation of our program," Mrs. Binckley said.

TO ASK BOARD

Seeking aid, the committee plans to go before the Tamalpais High School District Board at 8 p.m. Monday to gain re-affirmation of the board's recent pledge of $6,000 to the project. Mrs. Binckley said the committee hoped the board had not changed its mind as a result of the OEO cutback.

An appearance before the county board of supervisors has been scheduled for Tuesday. A committee meeting will be held at 3 p.m., Jan. 22, in St. Andres Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Binckley reported that the group has appealed for contributions from individuals and organizations who helped start the center with financial aid four years ago. One donation has been received in response to letters sent out last week, she said.

Since its inception, the center has grown from 96 students and 50 volunteers to 300 and 250, respectively, according to Mrs. Binckley. Both high school and elementary students come to center lessons in Central School and Richardson Bay School, Sausalito, from Marin City, Sausalito and Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite. Bus service is provided.

ELEVEN MEMBERS

Eleven members of the center staff are salaried, including Mrs. Iniece Bailey of Mill Valley, center coordinator, who receives $600 monthly for part-time work. The advisory committee is volunteer.

Churches, Parent-Teacher Associations and community relations groups have donated their time to the center, Mrs. Binckley said.

"More children and adults of different races have established strong personal relationships with each other," she said. "The result has been a positive step toward improved racial relations, and it is our hope that Marin County will help us arrive at a solution to the needed financing."

Mill Valley's Federal Fund Permit Denied

The federal government has denied the City of Mill Valley's application for sewer construction and repair funds, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer disclosed yesterday.

In a letter dated Dec. 12, the Department of Housing and Urban Renewal advised Balmer that although the city's application for matching funds met legal requirements, requests for funds were 20 times greater than appropriations.

The letter was held up inadvertently at city hall for almost a month, Balmer said, while he was recuperating at home from a hernia operation.

Effect of the denial, will be to require sale of the entire $500,000 in bonds proposed by the city if voters authorize the issue. The city applied for matching funds to permit sale of only $250,000 in bonds, Balmer said, to provide a reserve for future sewer construction.

The bond measure was defeated in November by a narrow margin. Petitions to consolidate a second bond election with the April 18 school board election are being circulated. The petitions, which must be signed by at least 750 voters, must be filed by 5 p.m., Jan. 23 to qualify the measure for the ballot.

Another Contribution From Redwoods League

The Save-the-Redwoods League has once again demonstrated that it puts its money where its mouth is.

Instead of merely giving lip service to conservation and preservation of the redwoods in California, the League quietly digs up the funds and acts.

It recently contributed $700,000 toward a land exchange which adds 815 acres of virgin forest land to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park near Crescent City in Del Norte County.

The State of California negotiated with the Simpson Timber Co. to exchange scattered state-owned timberlands away from the park for the vitally necessary redwood forest to be incorporated into the park. To make up for a difference in appraised value, the Save-the-Redwoods League doled out $700,000 in cash, with the state paying an additional $50,000 from park funds.

The new park lands extend along U.S. 199, the Redwood Highway, including two miles of frontage along the picturesque Smith River.

The League's participation was financed from contributions, from a Ford Foundation matching grant and from an eastern foundation's generous grant, according to Newton B. Drury, secretary of the League.

Some far-out conservationists rant and rave about conservation and succeed only in creating dissension and damaging the public image of the conservation movement.

Meanwhile, the constructive Save-the-Redwoods League, headed by its grand old leader Newton Drury, continues to plug away as it has been doing now for almost half a century (it was founded in 1918) to acquire and preserve redwoods for public use.

Through quiet negotiation and fund raising, the League continues to add to the state park system, opening up new areas for public enjoyment.

The League's latest contribution to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park involved cooperative bargaining with the loggers and lumber interests for the benefit of the public; instead of a battle to the standstill where nobody gains.

The Save-the-Redwoods League deserves public gratitude and support for the effective manner in which it is serving the cause of conservation.

TEEN-AGED SUICIDES LINKED TO FAMILY PROBLEMS

Suicide is the fifth largest cause of teen-age deaths, according to a study made for the American Public Health Association.

Suicidal youngsters usually go through a period of long-standing problems, then an escalation stage, and finally the suicide attempt.

Among the basic problems are parents who had tried suicide, low family income, extreme conflict in the family and broken homes.

Symptoms of the escalation stage are rebellion, withdrawal into self and physical withdrawal.

It is significant that the underlying problems in teen-age suicides are in one way or another related to the family.

Children who enjoy parental affection from their earliest years ordinarily have the inner resources to cope with conflicts later in life.

This family, which was established by God as the basic unit of society, deepens and radiates its beneficial influence when nourished by enduring and generous love.

"Let Your steadfast love and Your faithfulness ever preserve me!" (Psalm 40:11)

Let me grow in awareness of the needs of other persons, O Jesus, especially my own family.

California Citizens Must Say How Much Education Will Cost

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Apparently, the question of tuition fees for attendance at the University of California, and California's state colleges, will be one of the major issues before the state legislature this year.

The question boils down to a decision on whether or not the people of California can continue to offer higher education to its young people, free of tuition charges, or whether they can maintain the high standards of the university and the state colleges by imposing fees for instruction.

ANY DEVIATION from a practiced policy brings with it a multitude of arguments, and the subject of tuition is no exception.

One argument against tuition voiced by some legislators is that imposition of tuition fees would "be a threat to the state's higher education system." The same legislators also maintain that the high standards of education would be in jeopardy if reduction of 10 per cent in the university and colleges budgets were effected.

The fallacies of such arguments are immediately apparent. High standards in education are not dependent on the number of students attending a university or college. Many of the nation's private, tuition-charging universities are higher in educational standards, or at least equal, to California's public university and state colleges.

LIKEWISE, a 10 per cent reduction in appropriations normally could be absorbed without reduction in standards. This no doubt would require more emphasis on essentials in higher education, and less attention to some of the items students could do without.

The truth is the university doesn't want to curtail expenditures in those fields where it can without damage to its standards. Obviously, it's easier to run a university or a business with plenty of money to spend, but much harder to do when the purse strings are tight.

Also, legislators are raising the cry that tuition would be a greater burden on low income families. Actually, any family, no matter in what income tax bracket, would have to make some sacrifices to assist young people in obtaining college educations.

ON THE OTHER hand, it might be observed that if an education is worth having, it's worth paying for, and making some sacrifices for. Any family, no matter what its income status, which has assisted a young person through four years of college, knows what the word sacrifice means.

Ultimately, the public will have to make a decision as to just how much in education it owes to the young people of the state.

If it considers it owes all youngsters a college education, then it will have to raise more taxes to finance the process of continuing to give such education.

HOWEVER, if it considers that higher education is a desirable adjunct to the art of living, and should be earned to be appreciated, then it can turn to the tuition fee to assist in financing the universities and colleges.

Marin Stadium Idea Brings Loud Cheers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I just finished reading Jim Gilmartin's article in your Saturday (Jan. 7) issue, "What This County Needs is a New Multi-Purpose Stadium," and I must say this is the answer to the ever present question, What Is Wrong with Marin?

There is nothing wrong with Marin. Only a few things could be added for sure. This stadium which includes almost every conceivable sport, queen contest, autorama and such mentioned could also be used for outdoor musicals, band competitions for teenagers, and so many enjoyable entertainment fetes that require the much needed seating capacity.

I sincerely hope Dr. Hollis and people that carry a much londer voice than myself push this wonderful "idea" to the limit. If there is any question in their minds, look what a stadium idea accomplished in Oakland!

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Erect a lean-to against one's quarters and the building inspector zeros in with the speed of a missile. However, the department could not have been in office when these units were created in this patch of ground called Goofland.

Laws, like rules, are meant to be broken when there are extenuating circumstances.

Two devastating fires in six months should indicate that one blast from Terra Linda will have all hoses manned from any area in three minutes. Apparently human lives are not considered and the choice of shepherd leaves the sheep cold. As mutton in these pastures, our cries are as futile as Chloe from her swamp.

The only ovation I can hand out in this location for our exorbitant taxes is that we do get police protection. I know. I received a parking ticket in front of my home.

The clinching argument is that our nests are a formidable fire trap . . . and unless immediate action takes place, the "For Sale" signs will appear like the pox.

Holiday Kindness Gets Public Thanks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that the holidays are over, I wish to write a "thank you letter" to the Ministerial Assn. of Novato.

I prefer this manner of publicly thanking all those wonderful people who helped provide us with a very generous gift of food, because I have no way of thanking each individual properly.

The boxes of food were quite unexpected; and, since they were badly needed, extremely welcome. They certainly helped to make our holidays brighter, and gave us reason to be extra thankful for the generosity of people extending a helping hand to those less fortunate.

Thank you so much, to all connected with the Ministerial Assn.

If We Can Miniaturize Machines, Why Not Breed Smaller People?

There is an easy way to solve the crowded feeling that has resulted from the human population explosion. The answer is to breed miniature people.

The first step, as a matter of fact, already has been taken.

Babies in most civilized countries today, as a result of medical advice to mothers, weigh at birth at least a pound less on the average than they did a generation or two ago.

A MOTHER in 1900 somehow felt she had cheated her husband if she delivered a baby that didn't bump the scales beyond the 8-pound mark. Today her doctor praises a mother if she keeps her infant down to seven pounds.

The trouble is what happens thereafter. The smaller babies of today, thanks to vitamins and better nutrition generally, grow up to be taller and heavier than their fathers and their grandfathers. That's why they crowd the world.

THE GROWING problem is how to use available space more efficiently. Scientists are well aware of this fact. Through the miniaturization of parts they have been able to make smaller machines that have more output than larger machines formerly did.

As man tends more and more to ape the machines he creates, that probably will turn out to be the human answer to overcrowding, too. Since the earth itself can hardly be enlarged, what better solution to the population problem can there be than the miniaturization of people?

For some time the secret ideal of most men has been to be six feet tall and weigh somewhere between 180 and 200 pounds. Such a man would have a brain weighing about three pounds.

This ideal must be destroyed. It is out of date.

I WOULD SAY the ideal man of the future should have a five-pound brain, stand three feet tall, and weigh about 75 pounds.

Since women by then will still be insisting on being even more equal than men, I would say the ideal woman of the future should have a four-pound brain —more than ample for her everyday needs —stand 3 feet 6 inches, weigh 100 pounds, and be broad enough so that the ideal man would hide safely behind her skirts in case of sudden attack.

Don't think this is all a dream. If science could miniaturize machines, who can say it won't be able to midgetize man?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A BRASH YOUNG teen-ager took a sudden shine to a girl in one of his classes, and on Friday at dinner with his folks, announced that he proposed to phone her and ask her to go to the movies with him that evening. "That's rather insulting," advised his mother. "You shouldn't ask a girl out at the last moment. A girl likes to be asked for a date a week ahead of time." "A week?" exclaimed the boy. "Well," relented the mother, "not later than Monday before your weekend date." "Monday?" scoffed the boy. "Monday was IMPOSSIBLE, mom. I didn't even KISS her 'til Wednesday!"

THE LATE financier, Bernard Baruch, once became convinced that his subconscious mind was producing sensational ideas while he was sleeping, and set out to train himself to write them down on a pad he placed at his bedside. He awoke one morning in a pleasant glow, convinced that he had jotted down something interesting while he was in dreamland. He was right. Scrawled across the page were these three inspiring words: "Ride 'em, cowboy!"

FRANK RHOADES was complaining about the size of a room assigned to him in a commercial hotel. "I got arrested for smoking a cigarette in bed," he reported, "but the case was dismissed. The lighted was in the bathroom."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Admiration For LBJ Is Offset By Annoyance With Big Brother

WASHINGTON—As the new Congress convenes this week, there are two developments which are more likely to influence its actions than anything else.

1. President Johnson is today the "most admired man" in public or private life in the United States.

2. Public distaste for big government has more than tripled during the past seven years and is today viewed as the biggest domestic threat to the country.

These facts emerge from opinion surveys by the Gallup Poll and it seems to me they are very pertinent to nearly all the matters which will be before Congress during the coming months.

It is my judgement that anyone in Congress who thinks he can treat LBJ as a "lame duck" President will be making a great miscalculation. Talk about Mr. Johnson's having to retire or intending to retire in 1968, talk about his being sidetracked for renomination or fearing to confront the voters in the next election—that's just so much poppycock.

BUT WHAT will the President and Congress do about this mounting public dissatisfaction with the ever-growing size of the federal government and its massive reach into local matters? There is no doubt in my mind that this issue contributed tremendously to the Republican upsurge.

The Gallup Polls show how significantly public opinion has shifted on this issue. Twice, once near the end of the Eisenhower second term in 1959 and again last month —Gallup asked a cross-section of Americans this question:

"In your opinion, which of the following do you think will be the biggest threat to the country in the future—big business, big labor, or big government?"

Here are the comparative results:

	1959	Today
Big business	15 per cent	14 per cent
Big labor	41 per cent	21 per cent
Big government	14 per cent	49 per cent
Don't know	30 per cent	16 per cent

There's the heart of the shift of opinion: Seven years ago big labor was the public's greatest concern and today big government is the public's greatest concern.

THERE ARE good reasons for this. Federal involvement in dealing with state and local problems has expanded almost compulsively under the Johnson administration. There has seemed to be almost a built-in procreation by which programs beget more federal programs until the bureaucratic maze required the city of Chicago, for example, to deal with 70 different programs on urban renewal.

This tendency has gone so far that the National Committee for an Effective Congress, no enemy of the Administration, concludes: "The honeysuckle vines of the Great Society are apparently choking municipal responsibility and initiative. The federal role and its impact on the individual's life may well become the fundamental issue of the 90th Congress."

Here, then, is the dilemma which the nation now faces:

The states simply haven't the money resources to deal effectively with problems which used to be called local-education, slum ghettos, mass transportation, air and water pollution, etc.

The federal government has the money to hlep with these problems, but the more the national administration helps the more unpopular it becomes.

IT'S NO GOOD just throwing up our hands .These critical problems are not going to go away, will not be solved by blaming the federal government. Why not try what we have so far not tried: More federal money for the states with fewer federal strings?

Red China Warships Shoot At U.S. Fliers

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—U.S. planes are being fired on by Red Chinese warships in Haiphong harbor.

Navy pilots returning from low-level bombing attacks on fuel storage tanks and other targets in the Haiphong area have reported they were fired on by Chinese destroyers operating in the waters of the main North Vietnam port.

MORE THAN a dozen such incidents have occurred.

Although no U.S. planes have been lost as a result of these Red Chinese attacks, several aircraft have been damaged.

Under ironclad White House orders, U.S. pilots have not returned the fire from the Communists' ships.

These restrictions prohibit attacks against vessels other than those flying the North Vietnam flag.

Several Navy pilots, after spotting Chinese flags on the attacking warships, radioed for permission to retaliate with rockets. The officer in the operational control plane curtly ordered the pilots to "avoid further contact with Chincoms. Do not return fire. Orders are based on presidential directive."

NEITHER Washington nor Peking has said anything about these repeated incidents.

Reason for the silence from usually-voluble and truculent Peking is not known. Pentagon insiders attribute the administration's failure to say anything to fear that disclosure would arouse powerful congressional demands for vigorous counter-action.

President Johnson is adamantly adhering to a policy of doing nothing that might lead to Red Chinese involvement in the Vietnam conflict.

INSTEAD intelligence authorities have been directed to ascertain the reason for these attacks.

The Chinese warships, three destroyers and some six ocean-going patrol vessels, have been operating in North Vietnam waters for some time. The destroyers put in frequently in Haiphong harbor.

In recent weeks the Chinese warships have been observed escorting Polish freighters bringing supplies to Haiphong.

Peking's increased naval activity was the main reason for the Navy's recent decision to reinforce its combat strength in Vietnam waters.

Task Force No. 1 — made up of the Navy's three nuclear-powered warships — was shifted in December from the Mediterranean and Atlantic to the Tonkin Gulf.

This task force includes the 35,000-ton aircraft carrier Enterprise, the cruiser Long Beach and frigate Bainbridge.

WHILE THE NAVY has plans all set and ready for sealing off all Vietnam ports, there has been no indication the President has any intention of taking this step.

There are no known Soviet warships in the Gulf of Tonkin, but on the average, eight to ten Soviet ships are in Haiphong harbor or its river entrance awaiting their turn to unload cargo.

U.S. naval vessels have detected the presence of several "unidentified" submarines in these waters. They are believed to be Russian nuclear-powered subs.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By FRANK FARRARA

This Could Be San Rafael's Answer To Disneyland's Lure

Every other person you meet seems to have his own idea of what should be done with the county courthouse property in downtown San Rafael.

There are those who have visions of high-rise buildings and extensive commercial development, and others who would like to see the old building preserved.

AT THE RISK of antagonizing all hands, we contend that the courthouse can be retained just as it is and still be a going commercial venture.

My proposal, backed by no money at all, is that the courthouse be converted into a civic amusement center.

A person who has yearned to be a judge could sit on the bench for $1 an hour and have his picture taken for another $1.

FRUSTRATED would - be lawyers could get together and conduct mock trials. They would have to pay $5 an hour for this privilege because legal fees are high.

All the young bucks who want to be sheriff's deputies could rent uniforms ($1 an hour) and man the jail, booking desk or identification section, or act as a bailiff.

Those with dreams of glory could be sheriff for a day, at a flat rate of $50 a day; $75 if you want a sheriff's posse.

MOTORISTS who have been peeved for years about shelling out money for parking tickets could be allowed to run wild in the traffic division of the Municipal Court office, tearing up the pink slips. The charge would be 5 cents an hour plus the cost of the slips.

Owners of postage stamp-sized lots could go into the county recorder's office and record vast land holdings under their names.

Anyone with a weird sense of humor could play county clerk for a day and fill out crazy marriage licenses and divorces.

THOSE WHO didn't like the way the last election turned out, could become supervisor of elections and compile their own returns.

There could even be special events like Saturday night jail breaks. Staid citizens, who have a yearning for adventure, could act as prisoners and make their getaway. The charge would be $1 an hour to play prisoner, $2 if you participate in an escape, and $3 if the escape is successful.

SUCH AN operation would provide an outlet for a lot of frustrations, and give residents a chance to show what they would do if they were in office.

Columnist White Adds Barry Goldwater To His Honor Roll

WILLIAM S. WHITE is a columnist whose personal philosophy embraces the left-of-center views of President Johnson, views which seem delusive and self-defeating to those of us right-of-center. And yet I know of no commentator —on either side of the aisle—whose sense of fair play is more respected by conservatives.

He can argue his case with vigor, but without the poison of character-assassination. He is never guilty of the common liberal assumptions—regarded as axiomatic by so many of his colleagues—that all opponents of the Great Society are, ipso facto, emissaries of His Satanic Majesty.

THUS, IN HIS honor roll for the year recently ended, he quite naturally named LBJ, Roy Wilkins and Dean Rusk. But he also included the names of Eisenhower, Nixon and Goldwater—all anathema to the average professional liberal.

His reasons for putting Barry on the list are worth repeating: "For taking his 1964 defeat like a man and for consistently expressing his honest disagreement with nearly the whole domestic course of this country with a fairness which, however wrong-headed, has had the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

Compare that with some of the vicious aspersions, the incredible innuendoes and the downright falsehoods used against Barry during the campaign—and still repeated. And I do not refer to the to-be-expected maledictions of the Communist press and the Minute Men and such who found Barry's Jewish ancestry intolerable. I speak of the phrases fashioned by the so-called respectables who claim to constitute our mainstream. If so, they have pollluted it more than all our detergents and insecticides put together.

THERE WAS Walter Lippmann, who termed Barry "a radical reactionary" whose philosophy was that of "the newly rich on the make" and who"would turn the party of Lincoln into the party of white supremacists."

There was that New Hampshire columnist, a moderate if I ever read one, who called Barry "a miserable racist . . . with the instincts of a hyena and the principles of a small-town Hitler . . . who would crawl under a snake's belly in an open sewer to salvage one misbegotten vote."

There was Jackie Robinson on Goldwater's nomination: "Now I know what it feels like to be a Jew under Hitler." And Pat Brown said, "I smell fascism in the air" after San Francisco.

THERE WERE THE ministers and rabbis who profaned their pulpits by turning them into soap-boxes and bearing false witness by echoing these charges and proclaining it would be a mortal sin to vote for Goldwater. I hope they have kept the other nine Commandents more faithfully.

There was that Yale professor—or was he from Harvard? —who went abroad for the State Department and boasted on his return that he had the college students of India praying for Barry's defeat.

There was that viperous cartoon on the cover of "Ramparts;" there was even a book which linked Barry with the gambling underworld; there was the report of some 1300 psychiatrists who found Barry a dangerous psychotic. These objective findings appeared in a magazine whose editor is now serving a prison term for publishing obscenity. Obscenity of another sort, that is.

AND THERE WAS Steve Allen, who constantly exhorts the right to get rid of its extremists so that we may have a more meaningful dialogue. The last time I turned in on an Allen show was in 1964, when he had on his program a foreign actor who said, "The difference between Hitler and Goldwater is that Goldwater knows what he's doing." (Applause and laughter from the audience—and never a word of demurral from Steve.)

Now from Lippman to Allen, I'm certain these men sleep well of nights. For they are all, all honorable men. And so, beyond doubt, are the Republican Bautuses — Rocky, Romney, Javits and Kuchel—who entered into the conspiracy of character—assassination against Barry.

BUT AS FOR ME—and some 27 million others—I'll take William S. White. Even though we sometimes think him wrong-headed, we find in him "the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

'Personality Puzzle'

Dr. David Fisher, associate director of the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito, will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Cherish Inn, Mill Valley. His topic will be "The Puzzle of Personality."

Anti-Poverty Tutors Need More Money

Directors of an anti-poverty tutoring program in southern Marin sought today to rescue it from elimination because of Great Society budget cuts.

Mrs. John Binckley, chairman of the advisory committee to the Marin Study Center, said tutorial services to nearly 300 children will cease Feb. 1 unless money can be raised to continue.

She said about $14,000 would be needed to run the center until the end of the school year. An appeal for donations has gone out.

The committee was notified last month by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity that the center would not be granted new funds, apparently in connection with Johnson Administration policy to divert anti-poverty money to finance the Vietnam war.

"The loss of funds does not imply any criticism or lack of commendation of our program," Mrs. Binckley said.

TO ASK BOARD

Seeking aid, the committee plans to go before the Tamalpais High School District Board at 8 p.m. Monday to gain re-affirmation of the board's recent pledge of $6,000 to the project. Mrs. Binckley said the committee hoped the board had not changed its mind as a result of the OEO cutback.

An appearance before the county board of supervisors has been scheduled for Tuesday. A committee meeting will be held at 3 p.m., Jan. 22, in St. Andres Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Binckley reported that the group has appealed for contributions from individuals and organizations who helped start the center with financial aid four years ago. One donation has been received in response to letters sent out last week, she said.

Since its inception, the center has grown from 96 students and 50 volunteers to 300 and 250, respectively, according to Mrs. Binckley. Both high school and elementary students come to center lessons in Central School and Richardson Bay School, Sausalito, from Marin City, Sausalito and Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite. Bus service is provided.

ELEVEN MEMBERS

Eleven members of the center staff are salaried, including Mrs. Iniece Bailey of Mill Valley, center coordinator, who receives $600 monthly for part-time work. The advisory committee is volunteer.

Churches, Parent-Teacher Associations and community relations groups have donated their time to the center, Mrs. Binckley said.

"More children and adults of different races have established strong personal relationships with each other," she said. "The result has been a positive step toward improved racial relations, and it is our hope that Marin County will help us arrive at a solution to the needed financing."

Mill Valley's Federal Fund Permit Denied

The federal government has denied the City of Mill Valley's application for sewer construction and repair funds, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer disclosed yesterday.

In a letter dated Dec. 12, the Department of Housing and Urban Renewal advised Balmer that although the city's application for matching funds met legal requirements, requests for funds were 20 times greater than appropriations.

The letter was held up inadvertently at city hall for almost a month, Balmer said, while he was recuperating at home from a hernia operation.

Effect of the denial, will be to require sale of the entire $500,000 in bonds proposed by the city if voters authorize the issue. The city applied for matching funds to permit sale of only $250,000 in bonds, Balmer said, to provide a reserve for future sewer construction.

The bond measure was defeated in November by a narrow margin. Petitions to consolidate a second bond election with the April 18 school board election are being circulated. The petitions, which must be signed by at least 750 voters, must be filed by 5 p.m., Jan. 23 to qualify the measure for the ballot.

Dumke Halts Enrollments

SACRAMENTO (AP — The Reagan administration today clamped a freeze on all state hiring and closed eight of the state's 13 service centers designed to provide advice to the poor in racially troubled areas.

Lyn Nofziger, Gov. Reagan's press secretary, told newsmen all hiring will be stopped until further notice — except for vacant jobs that must be filled to keep state departments operating.

At the same time, the Republican governor — under fire for his economy plan — prepared for a meeting with University of California President Clark Kerr and a committee of UC regents.

He also planned to meet with Glenn S. Dumke, chancellor of the state colleges, during a session of the governor's council.

Asked about Reagan's reaction to state college plans to suspend admission of new students for the fall pending a decision on economy plans, Nofziger said:

"If the state colleges are asked to take a cut, then it will be up to them to best utilize . . . money. They are in the situation to see where they could best cut or hold the line."

Spencer Williams, Health and Welfare Agency administrator, said that most of the social service centers to provide aid information for the poor were being closed "so that better service can be provided to the five centers that will remain in operation."

He said the remaining centers would be made a pilot study rather than a permanent program, saving $4.4 million in next year's budget.

Williams said centers will remain in South and East Los Angeles, San Francisco, San Diego and Richmond. Centers will be closed Feb. 11 in Oakland, Venice, San Bernardino, Long Beach, Fresno, Bakersfield, Stockton and Vallejo.

"I don't think it's the third act yet," Reagan said last night over questions about his financial plans.

In Los Angeles, Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke said California's state colleges won't accept new students for next year "until the system's financial picture is clarified."

Following an emergency meeting with presidents of the state colleges yesterday, Dumke said a cut in the proposed state college budget would force the 18 colleges to "deny admission to about 22,300

Heifetz Cancels Courthouse Bid

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Developer Harry H. Heifetz has withdrawn his offer to purchase the courthouse property in downtown San Rafael because of changes in sales conditions authorized by county supervisors.

Two months ago, Heifetz and his silent partner—later disclosed to be cosmetics manufacturer William Penn Patrick—offered $900,000 for the property, asking that they be allowed to retain the buildings for at least five years.

Retention of buildings was protested by the San Rafael City Council, and supervisors Monday lifted the condition. On Tuesday, again at the city's request, the board canceled the Feb. 14 bid date to give the council time to fix zoning for the block and put together its own offer for purchase, which would not have to go to bid.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, who persuaded Heifetz to make the original offer, dissented on all votes to change conditions.

In a letter to the board yesterday, Heifetz declared:

"We did not mind spending a million dollars to buy the courthouse square.

"Nor did we mind exposing our position and allowing the county to 'use' us and our offer toward realizing its goal.

"But—if there is one thing we did not want to buy with a million dollars—it's a set of ulcers.

"Nor did we want to engage in fun and games with you."

Heifetz withdrew the purchase offer and the more recent offer to trade the block to the city—should he have been the successful bidder—for the city's incorporation yard property on Francisco Boulevard.

"As the younger generation would put it—'Forget it,' and no hard feelings," Heifetz concluded.

Kettenhofen had strong words for fellow board members today, saying they "really have made a very foolish move." He said that a seller of property does not change the rules of sale asked by a buyer when that buyer is the only one making an offer.

County Administrator Alan Bruce said there are others besides Heifetz interested in purchasing the property.

County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell today refigured the net effect of the Heifetz offer after reduction of commission and rent. It comes to $726,775. This price would mean that $153,225 would have to be raised through property taxes to close the Hall of Justice financing gap.

Bruce said that he hopes the city offer, if made, will meet or beat the $726,775 figure.

Mitchell said that without the Heifetz offer in the background, the negotiation picture was considerably changed.

"As of this moment," Mitchell said, "the City of San Rafael is in the driver's seat."

DEADLY COILS

It may look like these soldiers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division are carrying hula hoops, but their load is a vital defensive weapon in the war against Vietnamese guerrillas. The coils are barbed wire, due to be strung as deadly entanglements for anyone trying to sneak into the GIs' base camp in the Mekong Delta. The picture was taken last week at Rach Kien, a village some 200 miles southwest of Saigon. (AP Wirephoto)

Anti-Accrual Legislation Introduced

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration submitted legislation today to eliminnated accrual accounting of the state personal income tax.

But much of the controversial plan to count expected tax dollars before they are collected would remain.

Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, the sponsor, said it is a technical move to wipe off the state's books assets of $100 million that can't be spent.

Otherwise, the coming budget would show assets of $100 million that wouldn't be collected until April of 1968, he said.

The previous Democratic administration had planned to use this bookkeeping asset to help balance the forthcoming budget.

The legislature added the income tax accrual provision to Gov. Edmund G. Brown's accrual accounting program last year. It allows the state to budget tax funds that are anticipated, but not yet collected.

There was discussion at the time whether the anticipated income tax could be used under the accrual system, Monagan

ONE TURNED AWAY

Three Hospitals Full Of Patients

By PAT PERRY

Marin County's three general hospitals are practically full of patients and only emergency and imperative cases can be admitted.

Today there was one empty bed at Ross General Hospital, 148 occupied.

At Novato General Hospital, where yesterday there was one bed empty, today there were three available out of a total of 30.

At Marin General Hosspital, where a patient was turned back yesterday but scheduled for admittance today, there were 184 adult patients. 20 newborn babies. This represents almost a full house for Marin General, which has a bed capacity of 218 adults and 43 newborn— because the adult total of 218 beds includes the intensive care unit, coronary care beds, and maternity and pediatric wards.

"For the last two days we have not accepted elective cases," said Marin General administrator Ray Bollinger. "Elective means the patient could wait—it's not an emergency. No one has been turned away, except one yesterday who will be admitted today."

Center Medical Hospital in Kentfield has 99 beds. Today all 99 were full.

"As fast as we discharge a patient someone else comes in," said administrator Donald Barksdale. "The biggest percentage of our patients are on Medicare, but that's not the cause of the crush. It's seasonal—happens every year."

Dr. John C. Siemens, administrator of Ross General Hospital, agreed. "Medicare has made some differene in that patients are more apt, or able, to seek hospitalization than before, but at this time of year we're always busy," he said.

No one has been turned away from Ross Hospital so far, said Dr. Siemens, and work is being rushed on 13 additional beds, hopefully in use within 30 days.

Novato General Hospital administrator Milton Scott was asked what would happen if four mothers went into labor today with only three beds available? "We're still not alarmed. We'd take care; no one is neglected," he said. "We're still accepting patients."

Tom Baker, manager of United Ambulance Service in Mill Valley and San Rafael, said Monday a driver drove a Bootjack camp patient from hos-

Development Department End Sought

The Marin County Grand Jury today called for abolishing the county department of economic developemt.

The recommendation is contained in a report of the jury's county offices and government committee, headed by Edward Haperin, San Rafael realty broker, which was adopted by the whole grand jury last night.

It also calls for sharply limiting county handouts to promotional agencies.

The resolution recommends that the board of supervisors take the following actions:

"1 The department of economic development be eliminated entirely before it becomes entrenched as a permanent government fixture.

"2. Subsidies to the county chamber of commerce, the visitors bureau, and the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce be limited, in the next budget, to 25 per cent of the total private funds raised by them during the present fiscal year.

"3. If, by the end of June 1967, the visitors bureau and the

Damaged-Ballot Plan Angers County Clerk

Musser Appearance, Action Unauthorized

John F. Musser's plan to throw away all damaged ballots uncounted was repudiated today by his angry boss, County Clerk George H. Gnoss.

Musser, head of the election department in the county clerk's office, announced his plan Tuesday at a meeting of the San Anselmo City Council, as a solution to delay in counting votes caused by damaged ballots which cannot be handled by the county's computer.

The legality of that plan was a matter of concern in the county today. The proposal drew a blistering statement from Gnoss, who said:

1. Musser's appearance before the San Anselmo council was "without authorization of the county clerk."

2. Musser's plan "does not indicate the policy of this office and has no official sanction on my behalf."

Gnoss added that he was "looking into this matter thoroughly" and will decide what is to be done "from here on in" about such unauthorized suggestions. Gnoss said he found the situation "quite awkward" and added, "I knew nothing about it until I picked up the paper last night."

GATELEY'S VIEW

Albert E. Gately, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, said, "If equipment is responsible for the damage ballots, I don't see how they can legally throw them out."

Charles Michals, Marin Republican Central Committee chairman, siad he was "obviously very much concerned," but added, "I haven't had time to consider all of its implications." He said he planned to discuss the matter with his committee, which has "a very keen interest in this whole area of elections."

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino said it was impossible to give a firm legal opinion without knowing the full extent and nature of Musser's plan, but that "discarding damaged ballots under some circumstances is illegal."

ELECTION CODE

The State Election Code permits voiding ballots not marked as provided by law, but bans throwing them away. Voided ballots, the code says, "shall be preserved and returned with the other ballots."

The code also declares that "at the presidential or direct primary, a ballot shall not be rejected for any technical error which does not render it impossible to determine the voter's choice."

When a ballot card is so torn, bent or otherwise defective that it cannot be counted by a machine, the code requires the clerk to duplicate the voting card in the presence of witnesses.

A key point would be whether the ballots to be discarded were tampered with, or not marked as provided for by law, ac-

Jury Indicts Quentin Felon; Heroin Found

Heroin smuggled into San Quentin Prison was found on a prisoner last Dec. 9, a Marin County Grand Jury indictment today revealed.

Indicted yesterday for possession of .60 of a gram of the narcotic was David W. Bremer, 32, serving five years to life for robbery.

Investigators said today the heroin, worth $150 in illegal sale, was found in Bremer's shoe during search of inmates in the lower prison yard.

They said Correctional Officer W. T. Oliver found the narcotic and 10 paper wrappings in a rubber sheath. Bremer shoved the officer and fled, according to the report, but was immediately caught.

Bremer was convicted of robbery Jan. 28, 1955, in Orange County.

A second San Quentin inmate, Drew K. Russell, 26, was indicted yesterday for possession of a 10-inch long, homemade knife last Oct. 21.

Officers said Russell had the weapon when searched upon leaving the prison maintenance shop. He is serving five years to life on a conviction June 25, 1963, in Los Angeles County for burglary.

Both Russell and Bremer are to be arraigned in Marin Superior Court at 9:30 a. m. Monday.

Ex-Mayor Of Peking Is Reported Killed

HONG KONG (AP) — The South China Morning Post said today a Chinese traveler reported seeing a handbill in Canton saying Peng Chen, former mayor of Peking, was shot to death Monday.

There was no confirmation elsewhere. Peng was a member of the Politburo who was purged in the current cultural revolution sweeping China.

U.S. Troops Take Key Cong Complex

Troops of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division spearheading the biggest operation of the war overran a series of newly constructed bunkers that contained a command center, three mess halls and about 30 individual barracks bunkers.

The Viet Cong themselves had fled.

The Iron Triangle, a thick jungle area 30 miles northeast of Saigon, has been dominated by the Communists for more than two decades and is believed to be the main staging area for the guerrillas who have terrorized Saigon and its outlying areas.

The drive had been stalled earlier today by Communist snipers hiding in the trees and opening heavy fire on U.S. armored columns inching through the jungle. But a flight of U.S. Air Force Supersabre jets screamed in at tree top level and knocked out the snipers in some of the many missions flown in support of the operation.

A U.S. military spokesman said the operation which began Sunday—the biggest of the war—so far had killed 189 guerrillas, captured 40 and detained 256 suspects for questioning.

The two armored columns tore up dozens of heavy fortifications and swarmed across five enemy base camps laid bare by B-52 bombers which pounded the jungle Tuesday with thousands of tons of bombs barely a mile ahead of the troops in the closest support operation yet reported.

The operation, Cedar Falls, moved steadily forward after the repeated straifing attacks against the Communist snipers.

As the operation moved forward the troops uncovered vast quantities of Viet Cong supplies—ammunition and rice—in the areas where the Reds had ruled unchallenged since the days of French colonialism.

These other developments were reported:

Five persons were killed in the crash of a single-engined Air America plane in Quang Ngai province 350 miles northwest of Saigon. Air America is a private company reported by some to be a Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) front.

Gen. Earl G. Wheeler, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said in Saigon today that the Viet Cong and North Vietnam no longer have a chance of winning the war.

South Vietnamese Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky narrowly escaped serious injury when a mortar shell misfired a few feet away from him while he was visiting Australian troops at Nui Dat.

A U.S. Marine court martial convicted two other Leathernecks in the deaths of two Vietnamese villagers shot down in a hamlet last September.

U.N. Memorial In Bay Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress was asked today to build a memorial to the United Nations on Alcatraz Island, where prison walls that held such notorious criminals as "Machine Gun" Kelly and Al Capone threaten to crumble into San Francisco Bay.

Legislation to authorize a memorial marking the founding of the United Nations in San Francisco in 1945 was introduced in the house by Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif.

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate by Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., who headed a special commission given the task of deciding what to do with the abandoned maximum security prison.

AGAINST POWELL'S OUSTER

Congress Moves Fast On Pension, Not Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is clearing the track for early consideration of President Johnson's proposals for Social Security benefit increases.

But his request for a 6 per cent Vietnam war income tax surcharge has been switched to a siding, to sit perhaps until April — or, as some members frankly hoped, indefinitely.

The House Ways and Means Committee is expected to announce next week that hearings will begin in early February on the proposed 20 per cent average increase in Social Security benefits.

INCREASE IN DEBT

Committees and the House meanwhile will be acting on an increase in the $330-billion debt ceiling, against which the Treasury has been scraping, and on a special appropriation bill, mostly for Vietnam expenses, totaling probably more than $10 billion.

Johnson's announcement last year that he would propose Social Security benefit increases got a warm bipartisan reception. But the size of the increase he suggested Tuesday night in his State of the Union message produced some head shaking.

Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, senior Republican member of the Ways and Means committee, said such an increase would necessarily mean increasing the pay roll tax on employees and employers that finances Social Security.

"The pay roll tax already increased automatically this year, and another increase, plus possibly an income tax increase, adds up to quite a burden on the people paying for these benefits," Byrnes said.

In connection with the Social Security changes, the Ways and Means Committee also will consider limitations on state "medicaid" programs. These medical help activities, for which federal help was authorized several years ago, have in some cases been projected at levels well above what Congress contemplated.

TIGHT SCHEDULE

An April start on hearings on the tax proposal means that Congress, if it does approve it, will have to keep to a tight schedule to meet the administration request for a July 1 effective date.

On the other hand, the extra time would keep alive the chance that some now unforeseen development might ease the budgetary strain. It also would enable members to study Johnson's precise spending plans, with the possibility of reductions.

Two Banks Move Toward Easing Tight Money Lack

The first chink in the 6 per cent prime interest rate, that banks charge their favored customers for loans came yesterday when a relatively small Minnesota institution reduced its rate from 6 per cent to 5.75 per cent.

Isolated action by the National City Bank of Minneapolis surprised many bankers but it was hailed by the Treasury Department.

"The Treasury is heartened and pleased at this early movement in the direction of lower interest rates that the President advocated in the State of the Union message," the department said in response to an inquiry.

The Minneapolis bank's action, although unique, was not the only sign of an easing Wednesday.

First National City Bank, New York's largest, announced a cut in the interest rate it will pay on some long-term certificates of deposit.

LONDON (AP) — The archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Arthur Michael Ramsey, will tour the United States at the end of September and early October, a spokesman for the Church of England information office said today.

Quiet Diplomacy For Viet Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Johnson administration officials believe that more "quiet" diplomacy" and less international debate might make it easier to get Vietnam peace talks started.

They expressed the opinion that continued public exchanges between Hanoi and Washington on conditions for a settlement tend to harden both positions and make it that much more difficult to arrive at terms for negotiations.

It was also clear today that many officials here felt that U.N. Secretary General Thant, who has publicly criticized several aspects of U.S. policy, might be more effective in his role of go-between if he kept silent about his present views.

The U.S. desire to get peace efforts moving in private channels was said to have been responsible for President Johnson's single brief mention of U.S. willingness for "unconditional" discussions in his State of the Union address Tuesday night.

This was in marked contrast to previous administration efforts to hammer home the lengths Washington contends it has gone to in an effort to get Hanoi to the peace table.

Administration officials made it clear they were not happy about Thant's Tuesday news conference remarks. The secretary-general sharply disputed the official assessment of some of the basic issues in the war.

Mao Orders New Chinese Army Purge

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung yesterday ordered a complete reorganization of the Chinese army, Peking radio reported today. The anouncement apparently signalled the start of a purge of the three million member military establishment.

The Peking radio broadcast said the decision to reorganize the army was taken by Mao with approval of the Communist party central committee. The committee yesterday had called on the army and the people of China to support Mao.

The broadcast said the reorganization was being undertaken to "strengthen the guidelines of the proletarian cultural revolution with the army."

China experts said the purge of the army was apparently intended to keep opponents of Mao from using the military to plunge the country into civil war.

Until now, the army had been the great unknown factor in China's "cultural revolution," launched by Mao last summer with the help of fanatical Red Guard youths to purge the party and government of his enemies.

Peking radio said Mao had accepted the recommendation of the party's central military committee to reorganize the cultural revolution subcommittee within the peoples (Chinese Communist) liberation army.

Women Identify Their Attacker

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A 35-year-old mental patient who claims to be the Boston strangler has been identified by three women as the man who invaded their homes in suburban Boston two years ago and molested them sexually.

Albert DeSalvo, a former house painter and laborer from nearby Malden, is on trial in Middlesex County Superior Court on charges of breaking and entering, armed robbery, assault and sex offenses.

None of the charges is related to the series of stranglings which took the lives of 11 eastern Massachusetts women between June 1962 and January 1964.

One woman said yesterday she repulsed DeSalvo's attempt to attack her and three others testified he had molested them sexually.

Bircher Boss Sees Success Vs. Warren

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Robert Welch says the time is ripe to press for impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Welch, president - founder of the John Birch Society, told a news conference yesterday that the House might approve impeachment by the summer of 1968.

The members of the House now, he added, "are perhaps two to one or maybe three to one against us, but that's not impossible odds."

Welch said that efforts of the John Birch Society to impeach the U. S. chief justice so far have been largely "educational." He suggested that his full staff of 80 paid "coordinators" may be thrown into the anti-Warren campaign.

"They could put real steam into our drive," Welch added.

An impeachment vote against a public official would place him on trial in the Senate.

Welch said U.S. public opinion is more conducive to an all-out attack on Warren, long the target of Welch's organization because of what it terms too-liberal decisions.

RUSSIA STALLING ON NUCLEAR BAN?

LONDON (UPI)—Russia has cooled toward extending the nuclear test ban to underground explosions so it can have time to perfect an anti-missile defense system, top diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said Russia, which until recently had pushed for a complete nuclear test ban, now appears to have dropped the idea—at least for the present—and is giving top priority to the move toward a nuclear non-proliferation pact with the United States and Britain.

SOVIET AIMS

Although there has been no firm official Soviet policy declaration, authoritative diplomatic quarters feel Moscow wants the test ban extension issue at least temporarily shelved because:

Russia wants to keep a free hand for testing devices connected with current efforts to develop and improve an anti-missile defense system the Kremlin is believed installing, so far primarily to protect the big population centers like Moscow and Leningrad.

Moscow apparently intends to develop nuclear devices for peaceful uses and to test them for such tasks as diverting rivers and clearing passages through mountain ranges.

The Russians until recently often reiterated their desire for an extension of the partial nuclear test ban to underground tests. The ban currently prohibits explosions on the ground, in the atmosphere and under water.

Soviet leaders had said they were ready to extend the ban to underground blasts only if the West dropped its demand for international policing.

INSPECTION ISSUE

The United States and Britain have refused to compromise their demand for some degree of international control of an underground test ban to prevent cheating.

The Russians' apparent cooling toward the extension was indicated recently when the Soviets cancelled a British-proposed meeting of scientists in Moscow to discuss detection methods.

SISTER JACQUELINE
Will give up her vows

Nun Pioneers Changeover Of Church College

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Sister Jacqueline Grennan, a nationally known education leader who thrives on challenge and new ideas, has been granted permission to convert a Roman Catholic college for women into a secular institution.

At her request, she also will become "Miss Grennan." She disclosed yesterday that she had asked to be relieved of her vows as a sister of Loretto, and that a dispensation from the vows had been granted by Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Roman Catholic archbishop of St. Louis.

Cardinal Ritter and the Sisters of Loretto have asked her, however, to remain as president of Webster College, in suburban Webster Groves.

FIRST IN U.S.

Experts on Catholic education said the secularization of Webster College marks the first time such an action has been taken in the United States.

The nun, 40, who has not worn the habit of the Sisters of Loretto for several months, told her students and faculty members: "I have come to believe that the notion of cloister — in physical enclosure or in dress — is not valid for some of us who must live our lives as dedicated women in the public forum."

She also announced that negotiations are well underway to have the college's administration transferred from the Sisters of Loretto to a private board of incorporation.

CHANGE IN WORKS

"The request for canonical permission for the transfer of the property of the Webster College Corporation from the religious congregation to the incorporating board was formally made in early November," she said. She added that potential board members and sources of funding are in the process of negotiation.

Sister Jacqueline, a member of the religious order for 18 years, said she has been participating in discussions on the secularization of the college for more than a year. She indicated it was her desire to remain president of the institution that compelled her to seek the dispensation from her vows.

PERSONAL DECISION

"I felt compelled at this time to face the personal decision about my own role in the institution and my continuing personal role in the public sector for the rest of my life," she said. "It is my personal conviction that the very nature of higher education is opposed to juridical control by the church.

"The academic freedom which must characterize a college or university would provide continuing embarrassments for the church if her hierarchy were forced into endorsing or negating the action of the college or university."

School lunches vary in prices across the country, but on an average a typical mid-day meal cost slightly more than 50 cents, of which about 28 cents is paid by students, the remainder being covered by the government in cash and surplus foods.

Premier Ky Unscathed As Mortar Misfires

NUI DAT, South Vietnam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky narrowly escaped injury today when an Australian mortar misfired, spurting flame near him.

Ky's bodyguards pulled the premier from the mortar pit and threw themselves on top of him. He was unscathed and the malfunctioning round caused no injuries.

Ky later joked with newsmen during the visit to Australian and New Zealand units 30 miles east of Saigon.

"I didn't realize what happened," Ky said. "Then I saw everybody on the ground. Then I acted like other people."

The mishap came early in Ky's morning-long visit to Australian and New Zealand units.

Kerr Urges Cluster Type University

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Whatever ails obese, lethargic, dull and over-expanded universities, says University of California President Clark Kerr, can be cured by serious surgery.

The operation? Slice 'em up.

Kerr, in a publication released yesterday by the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, joined other noted educators in this assessment of large universities:

The ills are massive size, impersonalism, undue emphasis on research, diminished teaching quality and loss of the sense of community and purpose.

The cure: "cluster colleges," smaller colleges contained within the university. Kerr explained:

"A modern university cannot be small, but it can seem small to its individual participants." Cluster colleges "will provide a more intimate group that can treat each student and faculty member as a unique individual."

Dr. Rosemary Park, president of Barnard College, added:

"We over-teach, overwork and over-examine today and . . . this is responsible to a degree for our students' disaffection. . . . Let us reduce the teaching year for the student, leaving him to work by himself, as is standard practice in other lands.

"Let us insist that it is a privilege to be a student, not a right, that the university is no welfare state open to all, but only to those who will develop an intellectual conscience."

Mill Valley Man Booked On Beating

George William Stewart, 40, of 22 Circle Avenue, Mill Valley, was booked last evening at county jail by police on a citizen's complaint by his former wife that he had beaten her.

Carris V. Stewart, 39, also of 22 Circle Avenue, told police her former husband hit her in the face and head.

TANK JUST TOO HEAVY FOR BRIDGE

It was just too much for the bridge across the Thi Tin River, west of Ben Cat in Vietnam, when this 60-ton tank retriever attempted to pull a 50-ton M-48 tank across the structure. The big headache occurred this week as Operation Cedar Falls began around the Iron Triangle stronghold of the Viet Cong. (AP Wirephoto)

JURY

Effect of the third recommendation would be to concentrate the county's contribution of promotional funds in the Marin County Chamber of Commerce.

James S. Goodale, grand jury foreman, reported the resolution was adopted without dissent, with two jurors absent.

Halperin's committee report traced growth of the economic development department, noting that it started a year ago with a single staff member at annual salary of approximately $15,600, and has a budget for the current fiscal year of $24,646. The latter amount, said the report, "is almost the same amount of money disbursed to all the promotional organizations or of the 1959-60 fiscal year."

The report noted that the method by which supervisors hired John M. Douglas to head the department "has already been investigated by the previous grand jury," but went on to comment that job specifications for the position called for a man who "in private industry . . . would receive a salary perhaps twice that of the entire budget of this department, as well as an unlimited expense account."

"We do not believe that Marin County taxpayers would approve such a solution," it said. "The findings of this committee are 'that this department has not brought in sufficient revenue to the county to warrant" its cost and "nothing has been done to insure that such results will be shown within a reasonable period of time."

As to the promotional organizations, "whose role might be construed to parallel that of the department of economic development," the report noted that the various chambers of commerce "have this past year received $18,400 while raising very little on their own."

It reproted "an unhealthy condition of jealousy among the heads of these organizations." It noted also that the board of the county chamber "is heavily dominated by the Marin County Development Assn.," which it succeeded.

As a solution, it recommended that all promotional organizations affiliate with the county chamber for "a more constructive and cooperative private effort."

Czechoslovakia Not Happy Over Gypsy Numbers

PRAGUE (AP) — There are 200,000 gypsies in Czechoslovakia, 150,000 of them in Slovakia, the news agency CTK reported recently.

CTK said 1,183 gypsy villages were registered in Slovakia and some of the families have up to 20 children.

CTK complained only 66 per cent of the gypsy children attend school and criminal activities were three times as high where gypsies lived, than in other communities.

Scientist Proposes New Space Scope

By WILLIAM E. HOWARD
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — The chief scientist for the ill-starred and all-but-forgotten Vanguard satellite project has bounced back into the limelight with a bold new space idea.

Dr. John P. Hagen wants to unfurl a huge sheet of plastic—30 feet wide and 1,000 feet long — about 5,000 miles above the earth and use it as a radio telescope to study the universe.

Hagen, now with Pennsylvania State University, calls his brainchild a "knitting needle" satellite. The plastic sheet, impregnated with wire, would fold out from a large aluminum tube. The tube would be shot into a polar orbit and stabilization devices would keep one end constantly pointed at the earth like a needle, inspiring the name.

While far from easy to build and launch successfully, the Hagen satellite could open a window on the stars that is now blacked out to ground-based telescopes. It is possible the antennae would be simpler and operate better than complicated observatories that have been sent up by the space agency only to fail.

The blackout is caused by the ionosphere — a deep band of electrically charged particles that envelops the earth starting at an altitude of 50 miles. The i onosphere acts like a mirror, reflecting away from earth low frequency radio emissions from distant stars and even the sun.

Astronomers want to record and study these low frequency emissions to learn more about the nature and the composition of stars. As matters stand now, they are able to study only high frequency bursts of galactic "noise," and they give only part of the picture.

It is conceivable that some heavenly bodies "broadcast" only at low frequency and remain to be discovered.

Hagen, who was with the Naval Research Laboratory back in 1958 when the first Vanguard finally entered orbit, says the satellite is actually a "compromise" at 1,000 feet in length. He'd like to make it four times longer.

That way it would be easier to tell the direction from which a radio signal is emitted. Low frequency radio waves, like slow moving waves on the sea, tend to stretch out from crest to crest. At a frequency of nine megacycles, for instance, the wave length is 11 feet; at one megacycle it is 1,000 feet.

The shorter the wavelength the greater the accuracy in pinpointing where it emanated from.

If Hagen succeeds in interesting the space agency in sending up his radio antenna, he intends to measure radio waves — both natural and man-made — being sent up from earth. There have been practically no studies on how much radiation is being discharged by our planet, or calculations on how far away it could be observed on someone else's radio telescope.

Hagen and other astronomers, incidentially, have been given a Christmas present of sorts. They are being told they no longer have to worry about several hundred million copper wires launched into orbit in 1963 under the controversial Project West Ford.

Most of the tiny wires have floated back to earth.

Scientists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's Lincoln Laboratory were roundly criticized for the experiment. Astronomers claimed the wires distorted their radio telescopes. MIT was trying to find out if military radio signals could be bounced secretly off the wires after they spread out into a broad blanket in space. They apparently did.

In a windup report on the project. MIT's Irwin I. Shapiro says:

"As was observed long ago, the (alleged) evil that projects do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their bones. So let it be with West Ford."

He said Reagan's administration has proposed a $168.4 million allocation to the state colleges next fiscal year. The college system had asked for $214 million, Dumke said.

He said he will order a freeze on new admission. "I do not believe it would be fair to admit students today," he explained, "and then inform them in June, when we have a clear picture of our budget situation, that we have no room for them..."

Dumke said the admissions will apply mainly to freshmen and sophomores. He indicated admission preference will be given to transfer students who have graduated from public junior colleges.

He also announced a 5 per cent reduction in the hiring of new professors next year.

John Sterling, president of the College Council of the American Federation of Teachers, AFL-CIO, said Dumke's strategy "will sacrifice the future of the students."

cording to Godino. In that case, he said, ballots might be legally set aside.

In announcing his soluiton-by-discard for the problem of delayed vote counting, Musser said about 800 ballots — which later were duplicated by hand-punching for a machine count — were damaged outside the polls by voters in last November's election.

This was a new explanation for the damaged ballots. In November, Musser said about 900 ballots had been improperly punched in the Votomatic tables, largely because of broken styli.

His "unauthorized appearance" before the San Anselmo City Council Tuesday was to answer complaints about location of polling booths in that city.

pital to hospital. "He was refused at Terra Linda Valley Hospital, then at Ross Hospital, then taken to Marin General where he finally found room in the intensive care unit," said Maker, "but it wasn't an emergency case."

Terra Linda Valley Hospital, recently taken over by Kaiser Foundation, represents an anamoly in the overflowing county hospital situation.

Yesterday there were only 59 beds occupied of a 92-bed capacity. The problem is that normally only Kaiser plan members can be hospitalized there. However, area doctors who have staff privileges at Terra Linda Valley Hospital may, and do, get their patients admitted, said Joseph V. Criscione, Kaiser Foundation public relations representative.

Bollinger predicted the bed situation at Marin General would ease and that elective patients may be admitted "on request." None of the hospitals has yet been forced to set up beds in corridors, though all the administrators said they would be willing to do so.

said. "Now it has been determined that it's not usable."

Sales taxes and others would still be counted in advance.

"It really doesn't change the financial situation of the state at all," Monagan said. He said the income tax is not counted in the $473 million budget deficit Gov. Reagan says the state faces for the coming fiscal year, beginning July 1.

He said the $100 million was part of the surplus which the Brown administration officials said would be on hand at the end of the current fiscal year.

Monagan said he sponsored the bill at the request of Reagan's finance director, Gordon Smith, and the controller's office.

Monagan said, personally, he feels it is "a step in the right direction" toward total elimination of the accrual accounting system.

States Show Interest In Water Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many states have shown interest in regional planning to conserve and develop water and related land resources.

Their interest has been indicated to the government's cabinet-level Water Resources Council. The council announced recently the first grants to six states for water resources planning under a law that authorized such aid, amounting to $5 million annually for 10 years.

Nevada has applied for funds; California has not.

Some states are joining in regional planning commissions.

The Colorado Water Board voted to recommend an Arkansas River Valley Commission.

Four states in the Southwest — California, Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico—are considering filing applications for a commission.

A federal interagency group is planning a comprehensive study of water and land resources in the arid Southwest. The study could be made under the sponsorship of a planning commission.

The deadline for filing applications is Jan. 13 for states seeking grants this fiscal year.

Fund allocations will be based on population, land area and per capita income.

The states must cite a need for planning and provide information on economic conditions.

Abnormal Blood Cells Can Kill

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — Abnormal blood cells in the shape of a sickle, which cause a type of anemia that will kill some 30,000 children now living in the United States, can be like that of a diving bell or decompression chamber temporarily made normal by high pressure.

At least one case of "unsickling" of the blood cells that cause sickle cell anemia has been reported in a patient by a professor of medicine at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich. It was a result of theories demonstrated under a child's microscope by a researcher at the National Institute of Health, Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Makio Murayama of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases told a symposium at the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science meeting here about his discovery that abnormal molecules stack up to form fibers that cause blood cells to assume the sickle shape. They can be unsickled, or made normal, under hyperbaric pressure.

Dr. Murayama gives credit to an old junior high school microscope brought up from the basement at home, with which he made the discovery about the stacking-up or interlocking of the abnormal fibers. It paved the way for later work with an electron microscope.

In his preliminary work, the researcher used the simple microscope because the 'scope's "stage" had to be removed in order to mount a sample of blood from a sickle cell anemia patient in the magnetic field for observation. This couldn't be done with the more sophisticated electronic instrument.

In the Detroit case, lacking a hyperbaric chamber, Dr. Richard J. Bing resorted to a submarine docked in the Detroit River a short time ago when he received a frantic call from the mother of a baby with a sickle cell anemia who was crying from severe pain.

"Don't ask me any questions," Dr. Bing told the sub's commanding officer, "just do as I say."

Dr. Bing carried the infant into the submarine and the crying stopped. Although the child was not permanently cured, he was spared the immediate pain and the after-effects of a crisis in which flesh is sloughed off.

Bales Offers To Help Citizens Test Closed Meetings' Legality

By ROBERT STREBEIGH

Declaring himself in favor of conducting the public business in public, Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales yesterday recommended legal and legislative action to put an end to closed meetings of public bodies.

Bales told the Independent-Journal he would welcome a signed complaint by any citizen charging a violation of the Ralph M. Brown Act, and would carry the citizen's fight through the courts to get a judicial interpretation of what constitutes an employee.

Bales said, "We need judicial interpretation, which can only occur on the action of an interested citizen."

The Ralph M. Brown Act allows public bodies to meet in closed session for two reasons:

1. To consider appointment, employment or dismissal of an officer or employee.

2. To hear complaints of charges against an officer or employee.

School and sanitary district boards and other public bodies have been meeting for other purposes in closed session with increasing frequency in Marin County.

At last week's meeting, Mill Valley School District trustees met behind closed doors to discuss selection of an architect for future work, although advised beforehand by an Independent-Journal reporter that this had been earlier declared an illegal purpose by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The county counsel confirmed that opinion the following day, only to reverse himself yesterday on the basis of a recent appellate court decision in San Diego.

Bales noted that Maloney's opinion, or that of any other attorney was merely "persuasive" and not the final word. Either the legislature must define "employee," or the courts must interpret the law, he said.

Bales said that "one of the hardest problems' 'in enforcing the law is the section making an illegal closed session a misdemeanor provided it is held "with knowledge of the fact" that it is a violation. He recommended that the legislature eliminate the "with knowledge" clause and return to the simple principle that "ignorance of the law is no excuse" for breaking it.

The district attorney said that in the case of the advance warning given the Mill Valley school board, there "does seem to be some evidence of knowledge." He expressed surprise that the school board continued with the meeting, rather than postponing it for confirmation of the county counsel's opinion.

While legal action after the event is difficult, Bales said, there are preventive measures that can be taken. He said that any citizen knowing in advance that a closed meeting is to take place can get an injunction and a court order to show cause why the meeting should not be open to the public.

Victims Of Robberies Identify 2 Suspects

Two Marin County milk truck drivers, victims of armed robbery in San Rafael last month, reportedly have identified the men who took their money.

Municipal Court Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday issued warrants of arrest to San Rafael police for two San Francisco men— Paul Evans, 20, and Evester Smith, 26.

Police Inspector Thomas Cheetham said the men are in San Francisco jail now, facing charges of armed robbery there.

In all, he said, the men are suspected of about 30 stickups of bread trucks, milk trucks, buses and street cars in the Bay Area. San Rafael will get them after San Francisco is through, he said.

Smith and Evans were picked out of a lineup in San Francisco by Evo Ernest Zepponi, Lucas Valley Dairy truck driver who was relieved of $50 behind United Market in San Rafael on Dec. 12, and Edwin J. Ezekiel, the Borden's Dairy Delivery driver robbed of $20 on Medway Road on Dec. 16.

At the times of their robberies, both drivers told police the thieves were Negroes armed with a revolver.

Twenty minutes after Zepponi was robbed on Dec. 12, Fred S. Buscher, delivery man for Laura Scudder Potato Chips, was robbed of $122 in the Strawberry Town and Country Village Shopping Center by two men whose description fitted those who robbed Zepponi.

Black Muslim Split Blamed In 3 Killings

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Three persons have been killed in violence apparently stemming from an internal dispute in the Black Muslim sect.

Police said Andrew Hoffman, 33, and his wife, Christine, 28, were shot yesterday by two unidentified pistol-carrying young men as they returned to their home after buying groceries.

The body of Roy Tyson, 27, was found earlier yesterday in an abandoned canal near the Mississippi River in the Illinois section of the metropolitan area. He had been beaten to death with a brick, police said.

The two men who died were expelled Muslims.

On Monday, police said, the home of Clyde X, St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo., Black Muslim leader, was set on fire by flaming gasoline-filled bottles. Police were seeking the Muslim leader for questioning in connection with the slayings.

Police said they found spent .38 caliber and .25 caliber slugs on the pavement around the bodies of the Hoffman couple.

Hoffman was charged with murder and assault with intent to kill last October after an attack on three Muslims. One, John Moore was killed in the shooting. Hoffman's brother, Timothy, and Clyde X were wounded.

Hoffman had been free on bond pending trial on the murder and assault charges.

High-Flying Jet Gets First Test

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP)—A new type of high altitude flying vehicle has made its first test flight, the Air Force says.

Called a Scramjet, the vehicle was launched yesterday by a Scout rocket, an Air Force spokesman said, but carried no fuel. The purpose of the test was to determine whether the Scramjet could separate properly from the rocket which boosted it to the upper fringes of the atmosphere.

Scientists said the vehicle is a forerunner to aircraft that will carry persons at speeds of about 8,800 miles an hour at very high altitudes.

Salary Hike Proposed For Dixie Teachers

The citizens finance committee of the Dixie School District last night proposed a 5 per cent increase in teacher salaries, which would add $61,000 to the payroll next fiscal year.

Trustees took no action on the recommendation, saying they must meet with the teachers' negotiating council before taking any salary action. Dixie teachers received a 7 per cent increase in salaries last June.

The committee proposal would increase starting salary from $5,200 to $5,500 a year. Salary for a teacher with the district for 10 years and with a master's degree would go from $11,300 to $11,875 a year.

Supt. Dennie B. Willis last night recommended that the district return to an earlier plan for setting salaries for principals, making the pay 37.5 per cent above the teacher salary schedule with a $4.500 limit on the maximum difference in annual pay. Trustees deferred discussion of this proposal until next meeting.

Dixie School District trustees also:

1. Hired Judith Spencer Troy at $6.200 a year to replace Martie Moran at Miller Creek School, and Jane Radcliffe to take over a new class at Dixie School.

2. Accepted gift of six record players and four tape recorders from the Dixie School Parents Club.

Dixie School Chief Elected To State Post

Supt. Dennie B. Willis of the Dixie School District has been elected to serve for two years as chairman of section five of the California Assn. of School Administrators.

In this position, he will also serve on the policies commission of the state-wide group. Section five includes the six coastal counties from Marin to Del Norte.

Interest For Boat Harbor In Larkspur

Robert C. Bundy last night told the Larkspur Recreation Commission that private developers have shown interest in developing a small boat harbor in Larkspur.

Bundy declined to identify the developers today. The commission asked him to pursue the possibilities of private development.

The commission asked Bundy to estimate the cost of four tennis courts planned for the Larkspur Park, for possible inclusion in the next city budget, and discussed other development of the park, including a baseball diamond, marina, and golf driving range. The commissioner decided to have a backstop installed for a driving range.

A draft of an ordinance setting administrative procedures for regulating the cutting of trees in public rights-of-way was referred to City Atts. Robert W. Elliott.

Sprinkles Break Long Dry Spell

The first rain for nearly a month fell on Marin County overnight but in most places it amounted to no more than a sprinkle.

More rain is forecast for tonight but the storm clouds will pass over bringing blue skies back to the area tomorrow, says the Weather Bureau.

Overnight rainfall figures ranged from .19 of an inch at Marin County Civic Center to .11 at Terra Linda and Woodacre, .09 at San Rafael and .01 at Sausalito.

Full-Time Planner For Sausalito?

The City of Sausalito should hire a full-time professional planner, the planning commission was told last night by Paul Sedway, San Francisco planning consultant.

His statement echoed the planning commission's suggestion last year to the city council that a planner be hired "within a few years." Cost of a fulltime planner, Chairman Alan D. Bonapart said, would be offset by limiting the need for paying consultants.

"If we can get more bang for our buck," Bonapart said, "we ought to do it. The need is there."

In a two-hour study meeting, Sedway and his partner, Thomas Cook, agreed revision of the city's subdivision ordinance should be deferred until a fulltime planner is hired. Preparation of a sign ordinance, however, should not be delayed, they said. They are to propose a contract for preparing the sign ordinance.

Present sign controls are scattered through several ordinances, Bonapart said.

Commissioners Hendrik J. Keizer and Norman Murdoch were absent.

Youngster Nabbed With Car Radiator

San Rafael police cited a 17-year-old Corte Madera boy to juvenile authorities yesterday after Patrolman Kenneth R. Homen caught him walking away from the D and S Garage, 718 Fourth Street, with a radiator under his arm.

The boy said he just bought it. Men at the garage said he did not.

Architects For Schools Interviewed

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night interviewed representatives of three architectural firms which applied for the district building program.

No action was taken, said trustee Arthur E. Carpenter. Trustees will interview representatives of three or four other firms next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Bolinas School Library.

Last night's meeting was opened to the public on the basis of an opinion by County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney that interviewing architects in a closed meeting would not be legal, said Carpenter. The board was unaware that Maloney had yesterday reversed this opinion on the basis of an appellate court decision in a San Diego case.

Carpenter said he did not know whether next week's meeting would be open or closed.

U.S. Vietnam Losses Down

SAIGON (UPI) — American battle losses in Vietnam in the first week of 1967 dropped to their lowest point in recent weeks, figures released today showed.

Military spokesmen said 67 Americans were killed and 479 were wounded in the week ending Saturday. The previous week's figures were 128 killed and 634 wounded. Two Americans were listed as missing.

The drop was partly attributable to the fact the week ending Jan. 7 included part of the 48-hour New Year's truce.

Play With Rifle Kills Teen-Ager

OAKLAND UPI) — Frank Vasquez, 17, was fatally shot yesterday while he and two companions were "fooling around" with a deer rifle they thought was unloaded, according to police.

Officers said Vasquez and Mike Saulovich, 17, were handling the weapon at the home of a third youth, George Maslovoski, also 17. They said Saulovich pointed the gun at Vasquez in jest but it discharged, wounding him fatally.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco policemen, charging "long standing grievances," say they may have to unionize to open "avenues of communication" with administrators.

TOO MANY BOSSES

Johnson Untangles Deep Sea Research

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — An octopus with each tentacle trying to swim in a different direction isn't confused as the federal government's oceanographic research program—if it can be called a program at all. There are so many agencies doing research on their own that President Lyndon B. Johnson has named a special commission just to untangle the knots.

The ommission on Marine Science, Engineering and Resources is long on organization men and short on scientists, simply because the problems are not oceanographic — oceanography's doing fine—they're managerial.

Chief trouble-shooter is Julius Adams Stratton, chairman of the board of the Ford Foundation and former president of another knotty organization, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Also on the 18-man commission are two lawyers and a former U.S. delegate to the United Nations, Jacob Blaustein, now director of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

Presently the Departments of State, Interior, Commerce, the Treasury, the Navy and Health, Education and Welfare as well as the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation, to name a few, are engaged in oceanographic research, much of it overlapping.

Getting everything straightened out "is going to be very important because last year there were some eight or nine types of structure recommended to untangle the mess," said a source at the Senate Commerce Committee, whose chairman, Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), is a member of te new commission. Sen. Magnuson was also influential in passage of the law establishing the commission and calling for the creation of a uniform national policy.

The commission will have the power to recommend absolutely any kind of plan it wants, from a single oceanographic czar to a model like that of the new Federal Transportation Department, which was formed to combat a similar jumble in that field.

One of the few full-time scientists on the commission is Dr. John A. Knauss, professor of oceanography at the University of Rhode Island.

Dr. Knauss was influential in the establishment of the federal sea-grant colleges program enacted last year, which offers financial support for oceanographic research.

Vice presiden of the commission is Dr. Richard A. Geyer, head of the oceanography department at Texas A&M. Dr. Geyer is also a member of the Panel on Oceanwide Surveys of the National Academy of Sciences.

Rather than worrying about basic research, the commission will probably be "pretty heavily industry-oriented and applications-oriented," said an Academy official.

Whatever its findings, the commission must make a report in 18 months to the National Council on Marine Resources and Engineering Development, which is chaired Vice President Humphrey and includes the secretaries of all the major government agencies presently engaged in oceanographic research. From the commission recommendations, the council will submit a report to President Johnson and the Congress.

Office Is Looted

Someone pried open the side door to his office at 1305 Grant Avenue, Novato, during the lunch hour Tuesday and took $30 in cash, Dr. Lloyd M. Witter, 33, of 5 Country Lane, Novato, reported yesterday to police.

McAteer And Span Board Study Moves

SACRAMENTO AP) — The battle between Sen. J. Eugene McAteer, D-San Francisco, and the Golden Gate Bridge directors has reached a lull pending two possible moves:

A proposal by McAteer to abolish the bridge board or a move by the directors to put a second deck on the bridge.

McAteer's office indicated yesterday that the senator was waiting to see whether the directors would formally propose a second deck.

LEGISLATION

Last year McAteer said he'd introduce a bill in 1967 to abolish the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and transfer jurisdiction to the California Toll Bridge Authority, which operates the four other San Francisco Bay bridges.

"The bridge district has become a bureaucratic luxury that was never intended by the conscientious men who built the Golden Gate Bridge 30 years ago," McAteer said.

In 1935 the bridge directors resolved to ask the legislature to abolish the district when the bridge's bonds were repaid in 1971. "But the majority of today's directors are apparently unwilling to let go," McAteer said last year.

NEW DEBT

"Instead, they are considering new construction of unproven value that would create new debt and perpetuate their little bureaucracy for years to come."

The directors have approved a study of plans to build a second deck on the bridge to handle increased traffic between San Francisco and Marin County.

Cities with their suburbs, airports and shopping centers are gobbling land at a rate of about a million acres a year.

Halley Advocating No Name Calling

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The man who expects to be the next Republican state chairman advocated today a "reasonable code of conduct" against name calling in any GOP primary—"right up to the presidency."

Vice Chairman James Halley, a San Francisco attorney, praised the "common sense practices of the past two years," which included an "11th commandment" banning feuding among GOP candidates.

FAVORITE SON

At the same time, Republican Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch said Reagan should head a "favorite son" presidential delegation in 1968 to avoid the possible bitter fight of an open primary in California.

Finch said, however, he didn't think Reagan would be able to take time out from California's problems to run in other state primaries — something he said will be required to win the nomination.

Finch, in an interview on the Sacramento educational television station, appeared to envision Reagan's role in the presidential battle as a unifying force in California, rather than as a full fledged candidate.

UNITY PLANS

Halley and Finch advanced unity plans as they prepared for a State Central Committee meeting Sunday, called to pick a replacement for State Chairman Dr. Gaylord Parkinson of San Diego. He's the physician who led the party to big legislative gains in 1964 and 1966.

Halley put it this way: "Adherance to common sense practices of the past two years, including a code of conduct, should be used in the future and certainly the Republican State Central Committee should be removed from the primaries and be the catalyst for bringing party together."

The choice of party regulars, Halley anticipated no opposition to his bid for the chairmanship. But some of his supporters expressed fears that William Penn Patrick, San Rafael businessman, might oppose Halley. Patrick was badly beaten when he ran for the party's gubernatorial nomination in 1966; but wants to get back into the spotlight.

There's a battle looming for the vice chairmanship. Patrick is backing Dr. Bernard Tully of West Covina, the 1961 chairman in Orange County of the National Indignation Convention protesting military aid to communist countries.

Halley, Parkinson and other party leaders support Dennis Carpenter, chairman of the GOP Cal-Plan — the scheme by which the party cut down Democratic majorities in the legislature.

Reagan said he will oppose any challenge to Halley.

FOR TULLY

Assemblyman Don Mulford, R - Piedmont, chairman of the lower house GOP caucus, said Joseph Shell, a losing candidate in the 1962 governorship primary, was backing Tully.

"This is a Joe Shell power play and once again Joe Shell will be on the losing side," said Mulford, a Halley backer. He said Patrick was trying to win support by spending money.

Halley, predicting the Patrick-Tully combine won't get more than 200 of the 1,035 possible votes, concentrated more on party unity in his pre-meeting comments.

High School Sets Workshop Event

State Department of Education consultants will be among speakers at a workshop on "continuation education" sponsored by the San Rafael High School District next Wednesday at 10 a.m. in the school administration building in San Rafael.

Taking part in a panel discussion will be secondary education consultant Herbert D. Gwinn, who will speak on "The State Department's View of Continuation Education"; Jack T. Various district programs and policies will be among the subjects at a seminar during the day.

Marinite Is Studying Housing Beneath Sea

The concept of housing man beneath the floor of the sea is being studied by Carl Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward H. Austin of Larkspur.

Austin, a civilian research scientist, is working on the project at the Research Department, Naval Ordnance Test Station, China Lake, Kern County.

The story of the project's and Austin's work was featured in a recent issue of the Rocketeer, the test center newspaper.

An installation would consist of a room or series of rooms excavated within the bedrock beneath the sea floor, according to Austin.

One example, he said, is an iron mine operated off the eastern coast of Canada which has seven and a half square miles of permanent floor space beneath the sea floor. It is connected to land by a tunnel.

"An installation with several square miles of useful floor beneath 1,100 feet of rock could be a major community with full family and recreational living facilities as comfortable as those in any city building," he said.

Aside from possible use as military stations or bases for exploration, such installations could have value for commerce and industry, Austin contended.

Probe Shows New Links In Leukemia

BETHESDA, Md., (SS)—The kind of leukemia that attacks adults—a chronic type that involves bone marrow—is now shown to be related to the acute kind that kills children. Both seem linked to viruses. This brings researchers closer to solving the riddle of the cause and cure of the blood cancer disease.

Blood cells from a patient with CML, or chronic myelogenous leukemia, were grown for the first time in long-term culture by Public Health Service scientists at the National Cancer Institute, here.

Both the abnormal so-called Philadelphia chromosome that is characteristic of CML, and a type of virus particle frequently found in other human leukemia cells were found in the new culture.

Herpes—like virus particles—the same as those causing fever blisters—were found in a significant number of cells that were structurally the same as those found by other investigators in a culture of acute myelogenous leukemia cells. The particles were also found in several cultures of cells from patients with Burkitt's lymphoma, a type of cancer that occurs frequently in African children.

Spanish Class Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Legislation was introduced today to permit school districts with large numbers of Mexican-American students to offer classes in Spanish instead of English.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, introduced the bill which would repeal the present requirement that all school classes must be taught in English. The measure would leave the decision up to individual districts.

Short said children who come from Spanish-speaking homes "have a very bad time in the lower grades" because all of their classes must be taught in English.

Meter Maid Says Man Nearly Ran Her Down

A San Rafael meter maid said she was nearly run down yesterday by a young man, angry because he was about to receive a $2 parking ticket.

Barbara L. Yeager said the driver, William J. Carnaghan, 24, of 209 Mirada Avenue, San Rafael, pulled out of his illegal parking space at 846 Fourth Street at high speed and she had to jump to the side to avoid being hit.

Police Inspector Gerald R. Souza, who questioned Carnaghan this morning, said Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales will be sent a report of the incident and asked to decide if a charge should be filed.

Mrs. Yeager said she saw Carnaghans car parked in a red zone at about 11:30 a.m. She told a passenger in the car to get the driver and have him move.

When Carnaghan returned to the car, "I told him the next time I wouldn't do him the courtesy of asking him to move. He said 'I don't care; write it. I don't pay them anyway;" reported Mrs. Yeager.

She said she was standing in front of his car, taking out her ticket book, when Carnaghan then turned his wheels toward the street, and sped off. "I jumped out of the way," she said.

Constitution Aids Topless Bar

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The suspension of the liquor license of a south Los Angeles topless bar was overturned in an appeal decision announced today.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Appeals Board reversed the Department of Alcoholic Beverages 90-day license suspension against Robert M. LaRue and Kenneth B. Phillips.

The Lennox bar owners contended "the exhibition of bare breasts by a female barmaid or waitress . . . is a protectible form of expression under the First Amendment" to the U.S. Constitution.

Gallaghers Sell Seashore Acreage For $1,135,000

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gallagher of Nicasio have sold 1,567 acres of land within the Point Reyes National Seashore for $1,135,000 the National Park Service announced today.

The Gallagher tract extends from the Pacific across the peninsula to Drake's Estero, and fronts on Ten Mile Beach and on Schooner Bay and Cream Bay.

It brought the total of federally-owned land within the Seashore to 20,500 acres, or 38 per cent of the 54,000 acres inside the park's boundaries.

George B. Hartzog Jr., park service didector, said about 3,500 feet of ocean front is involved in the purchase. Sir Francis Drake Boulevard bisects the property, providing the only road from Inverness to Point Reyes Lighthouse. It will be developed for picnicking surf fishing, beachcombing and hiking, said Hartzog.

Police Probe Five Car Clout Cases

San Rafael police yesterday received reports of five cases of car clouting the previous night.

Kenneth R. Perry and Robert A. Schroth, both of 108 Professional Center Parkway, reported thefts from their autos parked in the carport there.

Schroth said someone cut through the convertible top of his car and took items worth $95. Damage to the top was $135, he said. Perry said someone entered his unlocked car and took $25 worth of shotgun shells.

Lewis Lewon of 23 Forest Lane said someone took a checkbook and keys from the glove compartment of his car, parked in the carport. George P. Roberts of 16 Forest Lane said someone took a flashlight and three credit cards from his glove compartment.

Valerie Wyles of 21 Marion Court said three hubcaps were stolen from her car, parked in the apartment house parking lot.

Israel Says Syria Invites Counteraction

TIBERIAS, Israel (UPI)—Israeli military sources today accused Syria of escalating the scope of their border clashes in an effort to win control over demilitarized frontier zones.

They said Syria brought in tanks to force Israel to reply with tank fire, thereby intensifying the fighting which has erupted along the 48-mile border since year's end.

They said Israeli military officials believed yesterday's incident which brought a two-hour exchange of tank, machinegun and rifle fire between Israeli and Syrian frontier forces disclosed a more serious situation that the "seasonal" encounters described by Secretary General Thant at the United Nations in New York.

Israel, vowing eye-for-an-eye revenge against any Syrian attacks, today deployed its battle-ready troops along the frontier made uneasy by nine days of limited fighting this year.

Assembly Passes First 1967 Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP) — If the state sells a car belonging to a convicted narcotics peddler one half of the money would go to the local government or agency which seized the vehicle under a bill introduced today.

The state general fund currently gets all the money from sales of cars used in narcotics trade. Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, said the city or county "whose law enforcement agency was instrumental in the seizure of the motor vehicle" should get half the money.

HONOLULU (AP)—A winter storm brought freezing rains and snow to Maui and Hawaii islands Wednesday.

Bay Witness Tells Of Cash To Baker

WASHINGTON (AP)— A California savings and loan leader testified today he delivered two envelopes containing $50,100 in cash to Bobby Baker in a Washington hotel room in October 1962.

The witness, Stuart Davis of San Francisco, board chairman of the Great Western Financial Corp., said the money was intended as campaign contributions for senators up for re-election.

An earlier witness, Kenneth E. Childs of Los Angeles, said Baker suggested the contributions and named eight candidates — four of them Republicans—as possible recipients.

At that time Baker was secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Baker, charged with income tax evasion, fraud and conspiracy, sat in the courtroom, listening closely on the fourth day of his trial.

Childs said that Baker named some senators where there was a "strong need" for campaign funds.

As he recalled the names, Childs gave the last names of the following: "Sens. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz; Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., Everett M. Dirk-Sen, R-Ill.; Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah; Frank Carlson, R-Kan; J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., George A. Smathers, D-Fla., and Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.

Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, which in 1961-62 considered legislation affecting the savings and loan industry. The four Republicans and Smathers were members of the Senate Finance Committee.

There was no indication given that the members of Congress knew that their names had been mentioned at the time. Childs said that as far as he knew no one ever received any acknowledgement from those mentioned of any contribution.

The government has said it will show that Baker kept about $80,000 of the $100,000 for his own uses.

Childs said he reported the suggestion for contributions to Howard Ahmanson, president of the board of the Home Savings & Loan Assn. in Los Angeles, the firm of which Childs was president at the time. The next day, he said, he met with Amanson and two officials of the American Saving & Loan Assn.

It will include instruction on uniform appearance, courtroom testimony, voice radio communication, juvenile procedures, search and seizure, human and public relations, riot and crowd control and first aid.

The program was prepared by George Reuss, department training officer.

Population Boom

PARIS (UPI) —The population explosion has hit Paris, too. An official survey at the end of 1966 estimated the present population of 9,300,000 in Paris and its environs will increase by 900,000 by 1970.

Tower Guards Fire Shots At Two Inmates

Tower guards at San Quentin Prison fired three warning shots in the direction of two inmates they saw fighting in the prison exercise yard.

Officers broke up the argument but not before Hipolito Navarro, 31, of Sacramento County and Ignacio Flores, 32, of Kern County had both suffered slashes from a prison-made knife found near the scene.

Navarro, serving six months to 10 years for assault with a deadly weapon, suffered superficial cuts and scratches, and Flores, a life prisoner for selling narcotics, was cut about the head and right arm.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said the knife had a 12-inch blade and been made from a flat piece of steel.

Both men were treated at the prison hospital while officers started an investigation into motive for the fight.

GUIDE DOG PLAN

Training Center Expansion Talks

A master plan for doubling the facilities of Guide Dogs for the Blind will be disucssed at the training school's annual membership meeting Monday at the 11-acre headquarters in San Rafael.

Arhcitect Richard Olmsted of Hooper, Olmsted and Emmons, will present the plan at the meeting which begins at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Pierpont Morgan Hamiltonp board president, presiding.

According to William F. Johns, the organization's executive secretary, the school, which trained 130 man-dog units in 1966, can expect its case load to double in the next decade.

Guide Dogs for the Blind is using five of its 11 acres on Los Ranchitos Road and buildings built in 1948, Johns said. The building program calls for phasing out structures as replacements are built on other locations on the property. No interruption of operation will take place when construction begins in March, Johns said.

These plans, Johns said, mean that the organization will probably sell 16 acres on Bugei Lane in Novato, acquired about two years ago, when it was thought the school would relocate there.

Johns said it had been decided to remain in more centrally located San Rafael, especailly as "San Rafel is the finest training town we have."

The new school will include administration building, kennels, student dormitory, an auditorium and an adjustment center for newly blinded applicants.

Guide Dogs for the Blind, supported by private contributions, provides its services without charge to the blind, including the dog, the month's stay at the training center, and follow-up service.

Judge Firm On Juvenile Names Ban

UKIAH (AP)—Superior Court Judge Robert Winslow today reaffirmed his order directing Mendocino County law enforcement officers to withhold from the public and press the names of juveniles involved in crimes.

His one concession from an order issued last summer was that: "If the police in the performance of a legitimate function and the newspaper, incidentally, obtain the name of a juvenile offender, the court would certainly not deem it a violation of the rule."

He warned, however, that police should take all necessary precautions to withhold any information concerning a juvenile involved in a crime from the view of the press.

Violation of his secrecy rule governing juveniles, he said, would be contempt of court.

The judge's ruling was in response to an appeal from Sheriff Reno Bartolomie to set aside or modify the court's original order.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

It's Foolish For School Boards Not To Trust Public They Serve

A couple of months back, the Tamalpais High School District School Boards Assn. held a meeting on "Better School-Community Communications."

Speakers were Harry G. Fosdick, public relations executive of the California Teachers Assn.; Thomas F. Mullahey of television station KRON-TV, and the writer.

All three speakers stressed that the most important thing for school boards, in building public confidence in and support for the schools, is to tell the public the truth.

ALL THREE stressed that any attempt to let the public know only the "good" things, to present a false front, to try to "manage the news" of the schools can result only in loss of public confidence and ultimate damage to the schools themselves.

As an example, Fosdick used the furore over choice of a successor to Harold Spears as superintendent of schools in San Francisco. Had the San Francisco Board of Education dealt openly with the public and let it know what qualifications were being sought in a superintendent, just how he was to be chosen, etc., there would have been none on the rampant speculation, none of the waiting upon the board by various interests, none of the suspicion and distrust that developed, he contended.

MULLAHEY EMPHASIZED that what happens to the schools and in the schools is of public interest — and the public demands to know about it, whether it is good or bad.

The writer urged the school board members to "tell the truth and keep the door open."

"It seems that far too many school board members don't trust the public. Yet they can't understand why the public doesn't trust them," he said.

Presiding at the session was Dr. William L. Clark, chairman of the Mill Valley School District Board. At its conclusion he politely thanked the three speakers.

LAST WEEK, the Mill Valley School District Board, under the chairmanship of Dr. Clark, went into closed session to:

1. Discuss selection of consultants to screen candidates for the superintendency, which is being vacated at the end of this school year by G. R. McConnell.
2. Discuss appointment of a citizen committee to promote a bond issue to build new schools in the district
3. Discuss selection of an architect to design the schools to be built if the bond issue passes.

All three purposes appeared illegal. That, however, is beside the point

DOES THE MILL VALLEY school board trust its public? Obviously not. It does not even trust the public enough to publicly discuss a committee to promote a school bond issue. It does not trust the public enough to want to tell it who is to select its superintendent — for the screening committee will, without interviewing them, eliminate all but a handful of applicants for the position. It does not trust the public enough to let it know what kind of proposals it is seeking from architects.

There are no degrees of illegality. An act is legal or illegal. But there are degrees of foolishness.

MOST FOOLISH of the three purposes for which the Mill Valley school board met illegally behind cosed doors woud appear to be selection of citizens for a committee to promote a bond issue.

This is a citizen job. It is one where overwhelming public support is necessary, for the bonds must have two-thirds approval of the voters before they can be issued. If even the appointment of a committee to promote the bonds must be done behind closed doors, what is the public to think?

WHAT THE PUBLIC thinks may be influenced, also, by discussion of an architect in a closed meeting. Were the architects given to understand something about the building program that would cause public outcry if it were known? Are there plans which a chosen few may know but which must be kept from the electorate because they do not jibe with the plans which have been announced publicly? If not, why the closed meeting on choosing an architect — and the secret session to decide who will manage the bond campaign?

As to the superintendent, his job is one which touches every taxpayer in Mill Valley — even those who have no children in the schools; for his management of the schools will in large measure determine both their effectiveness and their cost. Certainly the help of experts should be sought in finding the man for this job. Equally certain, the public should be allowed to know what criteria are set up for selecting the experts, and what experts are under consideration.

IN FAIRNESS, it should be mentioned that Dr. William L. Clark did not arrange the program on "Better School-Community Relations" at which he presided, nor did he invite the speakers. The program was arranged, and the speakers invited by Pieter Toal of the San Anselmo School District Board.

The Four Horsemen of the Apocolypse are Fire, Death, Famine and Pestilence.

Lynch Wants Water Plan Assurances

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch says he wants assurance the proposed Central Arizona Project won't jeopardize water supplies to the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

"I have no intention of being a hero in Phoenix, Ariz., nor do I have the intentions of being a thirsty Californian," Lynch told a meeting of the state's advisory Committee on Western States Water Planning and the Colorado River Board of California.

The advisory committee resolved to back efforts to keep California's share of Colorado River for California use.

William Gianelli, the new water resources director, said "our chief objective should be to widen support for a sound western water program, not to narrow it as some proposals seem to indicate."

Mother Must Back Funds

MARTINEZ (UPI)—A young mother of five was under court order today to repay Contra Costa County $10,000 in welfare payments she received while living with a man who had a job.

Superior Court Judge Thomas McBride yesterday also sentenced Joan Hardeman, 25, to 30 days in jail and placed on probation for three years.

As a condition of probation McBride said Mrs. Hardeman must not live with a man the next three years without the benefit of matrimony.

The woman was indicted on charges she collected welfare payments over a three-year period while she failed to report she was living with an employed man.

Kennedy, Hoover Avoid Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neither Sen. Robert F. Kennedy nor FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has accepted an informal invitation to testify before a Senate subcommittee probing eavesdropping.

The New York Democrat and Hoover were embroiled late last year in a dispute over who authorized what bugging by the FBI.

Sen. Edward V. Long, D-Mo., asked them through a news release Dec. 12 to appear before his subcommittee investigating invasions of privacy.

Long said yesterday neither had accepted and that he did not plan to invite them formally.

Father To Give Oath To Seaman

Chester David Carlisle, 17, of 265 Van Winkle Drive, Sleepy Hollow, will be sworn in by his father, Tamalpais High School District Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, when he enlists in the Naval Reserve Tuesday.

Young Carlisle, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, is joining the Naval Reserve Surface Division in San Rafael, where he will serve for one year before going on active duty for two more years.

Novatans Will Hear Talk On Abortion And The Law

Problems of abortion and California's abortion laws will be discussed by Dr. Gregory Smith, San Francisco obstetrician at a public meeting at Hill Junior High School, 720 Diablo Avenue, Novato, Monday at 8 p.m.

Sponsored by the Novato Branch of the American Assn. of University Women, the talk will be followed by a question period, said Mrs. D. M. Wilhelm, chairman of the branch's law and citizen committee.

Dr. Smith is a member of the California Committee on Therapeutic Abortion's speakers bureau. He is associate secretary of the International Fertility Society and past president of the Pacific Coast Fertility Society.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Teen-Ager Asks, Why Do Adults Hate When They Get Together?

DEAR HELEN:

You meet adults one by one, and they're okay people, but when you get them together, in a crowd, they're worse than awful.

Look how they act on New Year's Eve. I never saw juveniles act any more stupid. Look how they flock in to see "topless" waitresses. Like little 11-year-old boys, sneaking a peek in the girls' wash room. Look at the way they make fools of themselves on the dance floor. The kids unually dance pretty cool, but not the old folks.

They tell us sex is terrible until marriage, when it becomes just fine, but do they keep their wedding vows? They say liquor is deadly for teens, but it's "smart" when adults get stinko. They say we shouldn't be pushy and loud, but does the self-effacing adult ever get anywhere in business? They tell us to be humble when we are praised, but look at the politicians who hire press agents to push them.

What really bugged me into writing this, though, was the other night. The kids here want a teen center, so the grown-ups held a meeting to vote it down.. Every time some big shot would get up and say how terrible the teens acted, and they'd ruin everything they touched, you should have heard the cheering. They mentioned Berkeley and Sunset Strip, and a few other way-out places, as if this was the normal. What really scared me was that people—it seemed like the majority—believed it was.

Why do adults hate us? Are the jealous because we're on the way in and they're on the way out? Seems like every time a speaker takes a nasty crack at kids, the audience applauds like crazy. Yet when we talk to just one adult at a time, he likes us and sticks up for us—HOW COME?

DEAR HOW COME:

I've noticed this too—adults who wouldn't think of knocking the teens they know, will join a crowd and start booing all young people when a spellbinder sets them off.

On the other hand, teens who would never think of creating a disturbance singly, will go along with some mighty wild things when caught up in a crowd.

I think there's jealousy and fear on both sides of the fence, but not as much as you would think. Adults don't hate you, though they'll remain uneasy as long as teen rioting continues.

You can prove local youth isn't like that by mature actions—perhaps more mature than some of those you saw at the meeting. Meanwhile, collect all the information you can on excellently run teen centers—Redding and Crescent City are two fine examples — and present them to your elders. I'm betting you'll win, and I'm on your side, all the way.

DEAR HELEN:

I am the father of a near-16-year-old girl and I wholeheartedly agree with "Sissys" Dad, don't approve of nylons, dresses above the knee, long hair, and slacks, and insisted on bobby socks and bed at 9:30 p.m. Perhaps I'm reading between the lines, but it seems to me your answer implied, "If you don't get your way, Sissy, go to Mom and let her argue it out with Dad. Start a fight between your parents to get your way."

This is how it ends at our house. I think perents have enough trouble keeping their kids straight in this modern world without your encouraging an argument between them to pacify a child.—ANOTHER UNMODERNIZED FATHER

DEAR FATHER:

All I said to Sissy was, "Agree with your father until he sees the light, and let your mother carry the lantern."

I could say a great deal more—like, "Fathers who insist 16-year-old daughters wear bobby socks, out-of-style clothes, and get to bed at 9:30 p. m., need wives with very big lanterns!"

Has it occurred to you that you might be wrong?—H.

Suit-Dresses New

Suits haven't gone into discard, but competing strongly against them are suit-dresses, as the fashion industry sells the new costuming. These are two-piece dresses, often with short sleeves, that try to look like suits but have no blouses. Larry Aldrich of New York is one exponent of the suit dress, showing one costume in double knit jersey, orange skirt, navy top with orange collar, and trimmed in brass buttons.

AN AUGUST wedding date has been set by Julie Ann Rubini of San Rafael and Michael Ray Epling of Winters. (Heritage photo)

Steele, who has collected techniques in antiquing from San Francisco furniture refinishers, said that antiquing is the most popular form of refinishing because it does away with the need to remove original stains and finishes, and the entire process can be completed in a few days' time.

He will also show techniques of gold graining, gilding and gold leafing in an inexpensive process that is easy to apply. He said that both the beginner and experienced do-it-yourself person can learn the antiquing techniques.

Consumers To Reap Harvest Of Dropping Food Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Wholesale food prices have been dropping ever since Thanksgiving, and consumers may reap some of the harvest in the supermarkets this month.

Beef and pork are more plentiful than a year ago and egg prices have dropped 1 to 6 cents a dozen this week. And have you taken a look at oranges and grapefruit?

The lower prices aren't universal, however. And the higher prices paid for fresh meat at the wholesale centers this week may be passed on to consumers this weekend.

Lamb prices generally are higher this week, although they usually are lowest from January through April.

Whatever your family wants for dinner you may find it on special at some store in your area. It will pay to watch store specials.

Egg prices are down nearly everywhere.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture forecast the 1966-1967 orange crop at a record 181,300,000 boxes, up 28 per cent from last year.

There also are bountiful crops of grapefruits, tangerines, tangelos, lemons and limes, leading to lower prices.

Carrots and mixed greens are beginning to move out of Texas, and carrots may offer a good buy in many areas.

A dense cloud blanket protected the Rio Grande Valley's rich citrus fruit crop from a snow storm this week. But a snow in Mexico raised fears that the valuable coffee crop might be destroyed.

BIKE RIDE'S END

John Karl Merz, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Merz of 4 Trost Road, San Ratael, was lifted onto stretcher by United Ambulance attendants Terrance Zink and Norman Lindstrom and Patrolman Henry Ingwerson after his bicycle collided with a car at the entrance to a parking lot at 1825 Fourth Street at 3:57 p.m. yesterday. Driver of the car, William M. Buick of 7 East Crescent Drive, San Rafael, said he stopped when he saw John and the boy rode his bike into the car. John said he forgot his bike had hand brakes rather than pedal brakes. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for a bruised head.

Glass Doors, Windows Broken

A siege of smashing windows and glass doors of Marin City residences was reported today by sheriff's officers.

Deputies said the four incidents occurred about 12:30 a.m. yesterday.

Thelma Fusto of 227 Drake Avenue told officers someone threw two rocks through her sliding glass doors. George Williams of 8 Cole Drive also reported two rocks thrown through a glass door.

Mrs. Sqwynet Price of 72 Cole Drive said a front room window was shattered by a wine bottle. Angela Tidey of 27 Cole Drive reported a sliding glass door was shattered.

Snow Destroys Many Mexico City Homes

MEXICO CITY (AP)— Thousands of troops and police today brought food and clothing to victims of this capital's first snow storm in 26 years. The Weather Bureau predicted relief with rising temperatures.

Two persons died from exposure last night, bringing the national toll to 18-8 in the Mexico City and 10 in the provinces—since the storm began its southward march last Monday.

The flimsy homes of about 3,000 poor living on the outskirts of Mexico City were destroyed by snowfall yesterday, the first since March 14, 1940 and only the fifth since 1933.

Four thousand persons were rescued from mountain areas ringing Mexico City Wednesday night by the military and police.

The Mexico Weather Bureau predicted warmer temperatures in the capital's valley accompanied by light showers.

The temperature in Mexico City dropped from 43 degrees to 35 this morning although authorities had feared a freeze. Thousands of capital dwellers had drained their automobile radiators.

Dozens of schools were closed today in anticipation of colder weather and more snow, which failed to materialize.

Still Unconscious

Convictions Revealed In Viet Slayings

DA NANG, Vietnam (UPI)— Two more U.S. Marines have been convicted in the mutilation slaying of two South Vietnamese villagers last fall, it was learned today.

Marine Corps spokesmen identified the Marines as Cpl. Stanley J. Luczko, 20, Gardner, Mass., leader of a reconnaissance squadron allegedly involved in the shootings, and Pfc. Ronald A. Piatkowski, 20, of Trenton, N.J.

Luczko was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor on two charges of murder by a Marine court martial. Piatkowski was found guilty of mutilation and attempted murder and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

A West Virginia Marine was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment in the same case.

The South Vietnamese villagers allegedly were shot to death last Sept. 22. At least one of the bodies was mutilated and an attempt was made to conceal both corpses, Marine sources said.

Piatkowski was sentenced Dec. 16 and Luczko on Jan. 11.

Marine Pfc. Charles W. Keenan, 20, of Nitro, W.Va., had been sentenced to life at hard labor.

His conviction drew the wrath of his father, former Marine Henry Keenan, who vowed he was "going to take steps to free my son."

Young Keenan told UPI he felt he was made a "scapegoat" and that "I don't believe, in my own eyes, that I received a fair trial."

The convictions of all three are up for review before Gen. H. Nickerson Jr., commander of the 1st Marine Division in Vietnam.

Lowering Of Vote Age Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., introduced in the Senate today a proposed constitutional amendment which would lower the minimum voting age in federal elections from 21 to 18 years.

To become effective, the Mansfield proposal would require a two-thirds vote of approval by the Senate and House and ratification by legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Appointment Asked

The board of the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District has requested county supervisors to appoint Louis J. de Ghelder to fill the term of the board of Thomas R. Tawns, who has resigned effective Jan. 25. The term runs until April, 1968.

Hub House Fire Damage $16,500

A fire that started in an attached garage caused damage estimated at $16,500 to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Divita at 295 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, last night.

Divita told San Anselmo firemen that he remembered seeing sparks coming from the electric door opener on his garage yesterday morning.

Mrs. Divita was in the kitchen at 7:16 p.m. when she heard crackling. She found the garage completely in flames. When firemen arrived, the fire had also enveloped the attic and roof.

The fire was confined to the garage, house attic and roof.

Fire Chief Frank Sousa said he believes a short-circuit in the door opener set fire to a garage storage shelf, and that the fire had been burning "for some time" before it was discovered.

He estimated the structural damage at $12,000 to $15,000, and damage to contents of the garage, including a car, at $1,500.

Dock Worker Is Sniper Victim

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A shipyard employe became a sniper victim yesterday.

W. G. Leroy, 61, Compton, told sheriff's deputies that two men in a yellow, 1958 Ford sedan pulled next to him in the Dominguez area, shouted obscenities and ordered him to pull over.

When he stepped on the accelerator, one of the men pointed a "small caliber" revolver and fired once, he said.

Leroy suffered minor cuts on the face when the bullet shattered a window and sprayed fragments of glass.

Braden Attends Final Sessions

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The California Board of Education today began examining specifications for new reading textbooks and the need for better junior college financing as it opened a two-day meeting here.

The meetings were to be the last for Board President Thomas W. Braden and Vice President William A. Norris, whose terms expire Jan. 15.

Braden, an Oceanside publisher, was appointed in 1959, while Norris, a Los Angeles attorney, began serving in 1961.

Other subjects expected to figure prominently in the meetings were the statewide testing program, economic education, and federally aided projects.

New Salary Marks Change In Lawmakers' Expenses

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Members of the California legislature — during 1966, the last year before their salary was boosted from $6,000 to $16,000 a year — drew an average of $11,675 from the state, with one assemblyman topping the field with $17,088. He was Jack T. Casey, Democrat serving sprawling Kern and San Bernardino counties.

State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, was seventh lowest in the Senate, with total expenses of $9,367 for the year. Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, had expenses of $12,375. Both were furnished with state cars.

Of the 19 members who drew more than $14,000 during the year, eight of them were members who either retired or were defeated, including Casey.

The senator drawing the most for the year, Vernon L. Sturgeon, R-Paso Robles, was defeated in the June primary election and joined the Reagan campaign. He drew a total of $15,264 for the year.

Until the beginning of 1967, when the salary was raised to $16,000 by Prop. 1-a and enabling legislation, the lawmakers drew $6,000 in salary, $21 per day for the time spent in Sacramento in session, $25 per day for days spent in interim committee work, and 15 cents per mile for all travel which was not in their state-leased cars.

Under the new set-up, members will be reimbursed for travel at only the rate for common carrier, if one is available. Under action of the state board of control, which sets expenses for state executives, the lawmakers will receive $25 per day living expenses for time spent in session in Sacramento.

All but about a dozen members are furnished a leased car, at a lease price up to $150 per month. Gasoline used in the leased cars is charged on a state credit card.

Members are limited to 40 days of per diem on committee work, or $1,000 a year. However, members which also serve on joint committees are permitted another 20 days of per diem, for a total of 60 or $1500.

Mill Valley Art Member Resigns

Mill Valley Art Board last night accepted the resignation of architect Donn Emmons, named to the board when it was created by Mayor Albert E. White in May. Emmons said he did not have time to serve.

Chairman Donald E. Dudley appointed board member Ann O'Hanlon to find teachers for a proposed art workshop, and Laura Devendorf and Mrs. Mathew Dillingham to study possible sites for a workshop.

The board recommended the library display rotating art shows and suggested an annual commissioners' invitational show in the gallery of the library.

Vice President Assumes Duties

The vice presidency was left vacant when Howard C. Harvey became president after Albert J. Boro resigned.

Gene K. Royal of 69 Golden Hind Passage was elected to Boro's position on the board of directors.

Lindbergh Law Held Invalid By U. S. Judge

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A federal judge has ruled unconstitutional the federal kidnaping law — the so-called Lindbergh Law — on grounds that it impairs an accused's constitutional right to jury trial under the Sixth Amendment.

Chief U.S. Dist. Judge William H. Timbers said the law is unconstitutional "as far as imposition of the death penalty is concerned."

TRUCKING CASE

He filed his decision on a defense motion in a case involving three men accused of hijacking a tractor-trailer truck Sept. 2 in Milford, Conn. The driver of the truck was taken to Alpine, N.J., and left bound to a tree.

Timbers said a person accused under the law risks the death penalty if he elects a trial by jury, but that the threat of the death penalty is removed if he pleads guilty or if he is permitted to choose trial before a judge alone.

Thus, Timbers said, an accused's right to a jury trial, as guaranteed under the Constitution, is impaired.

In Hartford, U.S. Atty. Jon O. Newman said the Department of Justice is considering an appeal to the Supreme Court of Timbers' decision which was filed late Tuesday.

LAW PROVISIONS

The Lindbergh Law says that a convicted kidnaper "shall be punished by death if the kidnaped person has not been liberated unharmed, and if the verdict of the jury so shall recommend, or by imprisonment for any term of years of for life, if the death penalty is not imposed."

Timbers halted proceedings in the hijacking case for 30 days to permit a possible appeal by the Justice Department.

Defense Firm Found Guilty Of Idea Theft

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — A Connecticut company has been found guilty of pirating from another firm data for a secret weapons system for warplanes now in use in Vietnam.

The Connecticut firm was told to continue producing the electronic weapons system for the war effort.

"It is of unquestionable value to combat pilots and crews," said State Supreme Court Justice D. Ormonde Ritchie in handing down the ruling yesterday against Technical Measurement Corp. of North Haven, Conn.

Republic Aviation Co., a division of the Fairchild Hiller Corp., had sued to stop production of the system.

Justice Ritchie said extra damages would be awarded to Republic.

LBJ Settles Labor Feud

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today announced that the undersecretary of labor will be nominated as ambassador to New Zealand.

Undersecretary of Labor John F. Henning, the department's No. 2 man, has long been at odds with Secretary W. Willard Wirtz who had sought his replacement.

Henning, 51, would succeed retired Army Gen. Herbert B. Powell who resigned as ambassador to New Zealand.

Highest point in the U.S. is Mount McKinley, Alaska, 20,320 feet.

Harnessing Geyser Energy Sought Again

Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., said President Johnson's criticism of his 1966 geotherma (earth heat) steam bill was unfounded.

The measure would authorize the leasing of certain federal lands to private industry for the production of electric power and minerals from geothermal wells or mines. National parks, including Yellowstone, would be excluded from such activities.

Johnson said the bill would have given too much advantage to holders of present federal mineral leases.

Bible said the veto message was "plainly wrong about the provisions of the bill."

Bible voiced belief the bill "can become law with little or no change once the facts are presented properly to the President."

The measure is cosponsored by Sen. Thomas Kuchel, R-Calif.

Most of the nation's known geothermal steam resources, outside Yellowstone Park, are in California and Nevada.

Rusk Disagrees With U Thant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk disagrees with United Nations Secretary-General U Thant's claim that Vietnam is not strategically vital to U.S. interests.

Rusk told newsmen yesterday that "four presidents have not taken that (Thant's) view and the United States does not agree with it."

Thant made his statement Tuesday in New York.

Rusk briefed the House Foreign Affairs Committee Wednesday on world matters in a closed session. He is scheduled to talk to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Monday.

Eight Marinites Take Oaths Of Citizenship

Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, director of College of Marin's community chorus, and seven other Marin residents participated last month in a special kind of chorus: pledging allegiance to the United States in naturalization ceremonies in San Francisco.

Citizenship for Wolff marked the end of the statutory five-year period of residence in this country—a wait endured with more patience than the maestro has been known to show off-key choristers in his search for musical perfection.

Since he and his wife, Jane, arrived in Marin from Bermuda in 1961, he has been deeply involved in the musical life of the community. In addition to teaching music at the college and directing its chorus, he is minister of music at Holy Innocents Episcopal Church in Corte Madera.

Wolff is also kept busy by the Baroque Chamber Group, a chorale group accompanied by strings and tympani, which he founded 18 months ago and which has since presented frequent concerts in churches in Marin.

His musical career began in 1924 in his native England when, at the age of 8, he was appointed choral scholar at Hereford Cathedral. By the time he was 14, he was assistant organist at St. Matthew's Church in London.

He has taught music in schools in England, Canada and Bermuda, and has served as choirmaster in numerous churches. Nearly 100 of his sacred and secular choral and organ works have been published in this country.

The Wolffs, who live at 21 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael, have a married daughter, Herve Hinkle, living in Waukegan, Ill.

Other Marin residents who became citizens last month include:

CORTE MADERA—Marcus Bernhard Soliva, 23 Mohawk Drive; Mario Johannes Josef Zemann, 21 Palm Avenue.

KENTFIELD—Mrs. Karin Rentmeister, 5 Lilac Avenue.

MILL VALLEY—Trevor John Smith, 107 Columbia Avenue.

Bogus Policeman Given Probation

Richard M. Melovich, 22, was given 90 days in county jail and placed on three years' probation in Marin Municipal Court Tuesday for impersonating a police officer.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. granted a one-day stay of execution of sentence, however, on indication by Melovich's attorney, Berwyn A. Rice of San Rafael, that he will appeal the 13 court conviction.

Melovich, of 424 Pine St

G.M. Settles Corvair Suits Out Of Court

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. announced yesterday an out-of-court settlement of 47 suits seeking $25 million damages in connection with accidents plaintiffs tied to the design of Corvair automobiles in 1960-63.

The settlement was reached with David M. Harney, a Los Angeles attorney handling the suits for the 92 plaintiffs.

No payment was made in one-third of the cases, G.M. said. A total of about $350,000 will be paid on the other cases.

G.M. said its attorneys and Harney agreed that some of the cases should be dismissed outright in exchange for waiver of costs.

Others, the firm said, would be settled "for purse nuisance value" with "nominal amounts" being paid on the remaining cases "recognizing the expenses involved in lengthy trials and the possible emotional impact on juries of some plaintiffs."

Most of the suits alleged that automobile accidents — and injuries — resulted from defects in the design of the Corvairs.

Harney brought four suits to trial, G.M. said. In two cases juries found in favor of G.M. Another found against G.M., but the judge threw the verdict out, saying it was not supported by the evidence. The fourth jury deliberated five days but failed to reach a verdict.

A fifth case resulted in another ruling favoring G.M., the firm said.

That Redwood Not As Tall As Believed

SCOTIA (AP)—That towering redwood in Dyerville Flat of Humboldt Redwoods State Park isn't quite as tall as it was thought to be.

The "Dyerville Giant," tallest tree in the flat, was measured a few months ago at 369.2 feet.

Dr. Paul Zinke of the University of California school of forestry, said today the same surveyors now figure it is a little short of 358 feet.

Dr. Zinke said the varying measurements reflect the difficulty of determining the height of a tree towering more than 350 feet in a dense forest of other giants, and particularly a round-topped tree with no well-defined tip.

This means, Zinke added, that the Howard Libbey tree, in the Arco Grove of Giants on Redwood Creek, still can be considered the tallest living accurately measured tree—367.8 feet high.

Club For Bashful People Is Formed

LIMA, Peru (UPI) —A club for bashful people has been formed here, known as the Club of the Timid Ones. Its object is to help members overcome their shyness.

An average of four persons a day have been signing up for the club. An equal number make inquiries but apparently are too bashful to join.

Handy Background For New Attorney

SULLIVAN, Mo. (UPI) — Larry Davis, prosecuting attorney for Franklin County, knows quite a bit about the underworld.

Davis formerly was a cave-guide at Meramec Caverns on U.S. 66 at Stanton, Mo.

DIRECTORS DROP SWIM CLUB LEASE

Strawberry Recreation Board Take Action In Special Session To Solve Dilemma

By M. ELIZABETH JOHNSTON

Strawberry Recreation District directors decided unanimously at a special meeting last night to terminate the Strawberry Swim Club's lease of the district swimming pool.

Chairman Clarence Bush said today the action was taken as "the most equitable way to resolve the dilemma for the residents of the district, and the least expensive way, avoiding litigation or delay."

CONFIRMS SUSPICIONS

Swim club attorney Leighton Hatch said the move confirmed the club's suspicions of the district's intention to take over the pool.

Bush said the district board "extensively considered alternatives resulting from the failure of the Strawberry Swim Club to make its rental payment due Jan. 1."

A letter from the swim club to the district stated it would pay the rent on condition the district would go to arbitration, according to chairman Bush, who added that no reason or amount in dispute was given in the letter.

He said the district on Jan. 7 demanded payment of the rent, as no representative of the club attended its regular meeting of Jan. 4.

At the special meeting last night, an amended demand for arbitration was read, but Bush said no representative of the club was present.

The amended demand for arbitration was directed to the American Arbitration Assn. by Hatch, the swim club attorney, who had filed an earlier arbitration demand on Dec. 30.

ARBITRATION TALK

According to Bush, the board talked about arbitration or termination of the lease and made extensive inquiry as to the time lapse, expenses and costs of the various possibilities, before deciding to terminate the club's lease.

Hatch said the club still feels arbitration "is the only sane answer."

"They are using our good faith and insistence on arbitration as a pretext to take over the club," he declared today.

"Viet Cong-like, they have refused to negotiate our difference and thus we asked for arbitration strictly according to the lease.

"After a 'Paul Revere' presentation of forfeiture notice to our president, Don Fraser, the district in 'star chamber session' announced an intent to terminate the lease."

Hatch said he was informed of the district meeting only two hours in advance and was unable to attend.

Bill Proposes Split On Seized Car Sale

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Assembly passed its first bill of the 1967 session today, a technical measure regarding organization of county school district organization committees.

The bill, approved 73 - 0, corrects a one-week gap, left inadvertantly by the 1966 legislature, in the legal existance and composition of the committees.

The Assembly suspended the rule that no bill be acted on for 30 days after its introduction.

Filing Deadline

Tomorrow is the deadline for filing applications for a vacancy on the Reed School District board, according to Supt. H. Joseph Edgington, He said letters can be left at the district office, 1155 Tiburon Boulevard.

Kuchel Aids Atom Plant For Water

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said today he would introduce legislation to authorize an additional $57.2 million federal contribution to construction of the world's largest nuclear desalting plant.

Legislation passed by Congress last year already authorizes the Atomic Energy Commission to put up $15 million to help build the $450 million plant off the coast of Southern California.

The Kuchel bill would permit the Interior Department to contribute $557.2 million to the plant being built under a partnership venture including both private and public utilities.

California Doctor Shortage Discussed

HAYWARD (AP) — California must have 18,300 more doctors by 1970, a conference on health-manpower problems was told today. But California's medical schools are turning out only 340 doctors a year.

Paul Ward, director of the California Committee on Regional Medical Problems, said that is only one of the many problems confronting those interested in health work.

Valley Project Sets Electricity Record

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Central Valley Project produced a record of more than 5.3 billion kilowatt hours of electric power last year, the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation said today.

The 1966 power production topped 1965, also a record year, said Robert J. Pafford Jr., bureau regional director.

Selective Service Overhaul Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., called today for overhaul of a Selective Service System which he said "sends tens of thousands of young men into the Army simply because they cannot afford to go to college."

In a speech for a National Press Club luncheon, Kennedy argued that the current system "lets 75 per cent of those wealthy enough or bright enough to go on to graduate school escape military service completely."

'You Know What' Is Just Wine

MAIDSTONE, England (UPI) —It's all in the mind. A group of Young Conservatives advertised a party featuring "cheese and you know what" at nearby Leeds village hall.

Village elders feared an orgy —until the embarrassed political club explained the "you know what" referred to wine.

Tribunal Faced With Historic Rights Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the end of the term the Supreme Court will decide a novel question of paramount importance to civil rights marchers and administrators of justice.

It is: May judges and policemen be sued for damages under an 1871 civil rights law?

If they are ruled immune from such suits, civil rights demonstrators will be barred from using the Reconstruction statute to sue for false arrest and conviction.

But if they are not immune, the door could swing wide open for such suits — a prospect which appeared to deeply concern at least three of the nine Supreme Court justices who heard arguments on the matter yesterday.

The case at hand involves four Episcopal ministers, one of them a former son-in-law of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, who were arrested in a Jackson, Miss., bus depot in September 1961.

The ministers were part of a racially mixed group of Episcopal clergymen on a civil rights "prayer pilgrimage" from New Orleans to Detroit. Three are white and the fourth Negro.

Their trip up the Mississippi Valley was cut short when they tried to eat in a coffee shop in the depot.

According to their attorney, Carl Rachlin of New York City, they entered the depot peacefully and were arrested to enforce segregation. The sign outside the depot, Rachlin said, read: "Whites only, by order of police."

But according to attorney Elizabeth Watkins Hulen Grayson of Jackson — representing the three arresting police officers and the local police justice, the ministers "broadcast the fact they came to be arrested."

Local Police Justice James L. Spencer found the four — the Rev. Robert L. Pierson, then married to Rockefeller's daughter Ann, Rev. John B. Morris, Rev. James G. Jones Jr. and Rev. James P. Breeden, a Negro, guilty of violating Mississippi's breach-of-peace law and sent them off to jail.

Later, Hinds County Court struck down Father Jones' conviction and officials decided not to press charges against the three others.

The clergymen then turned around and sued the three arresting officers and Spencer for damages under the 1871 civil rights law, seeking $11,000 each.

Nearly $40 Million Sought In Hospital Building Funds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Spencer Williams, administrator of the state Health and Welfare Agency, is studying the allocations of nearly $40 million of state and federal funds for hospital construction and modernization.

The State Hospital Advisory Council recommended the allocations yesterday under provisions of the Hill-Burton Federal Hospital Act.

The largest single outlay was about $8 million to be matched by about $4 million in Los Angeles County money for a new 394-bed hospital in the Watts area of Los Angeles. Two San Francisco hospitals also received large sums: Franklin Hospital $2.18 million for modernization and St. Luke's $2.12 million for its building program.

Williams said the recommendations would be examined, rather than automatically approved as in the past, to make sure that the allocations of state funds were not incompatible with Gov. Reagan's budget plans.

General hospitals received about half of the council's allocations.

(Marin County had no application for funds under this act.)

Chinese Fallout Is Hottest Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Public Health Service says the highest levels of radioactivity recorded after any Red Chinese nuclear test have been found in the wake of a Dec. 27 blast.

But the service said the levels are not considered to pose any health hazard.

The readings were about four times greater than the highest values measured from four earlier Chinese tests, a spokesman said.

Couple Wins Back Right To Teach

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A San Francisco Superior Court judge has avoided ruling on the constitutionality of the state's loyalty oath, but nonetheless ordered that teaching certificates be returned to two former Redding school teachers, both at one time Communist Party members.

Judge Joseph Karesh ruled yesterday that the credentials which William and Rita Mack lost in 1961 should be reinstated.

He said the State Board of Education failed to prove that the Macks knew that the Communist Party advocated the overthrow of the government by force.

The couple said they were members of the party from 1953 to 1957, when they quit because of the Hungarian revolution. In 1958 they took the Levering loyalty oath, swearing they had not in five years been members of an organization urging the overthrow by violence of the goevrnment.

Judge Karesh said, "It is not necessary for me to reach the constitutionality question, but I have grave doubts as to whether the oath is constitutional." He said the U.S. Supreme Court has voided similar oaths in Arizona, Washington and Florida.

Repeal Asked Of Banning Floor Talks

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly Rules Committee had under consideration today a request it repeal a new rule that bans newsmen from talking to legislators on the floor of the lower house.

The Capitol Correspondents Assn. made the request yesterday. Association president Earl C. Behrens, political editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, said repeal of the rule would "remove a barrier between the members of the Assembly and the public."

Newsmen must have an opportunity to ask brief questions of lawmakers if they are to meet their deadlines, Behrens said.

Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, said the rule also prohibits legislative assistants from talking to members on the floor. He said it is needed to improve the decorum of the House.

Muir Beach's Water Costs Are Explored

Connecting Muir Beach to Marin Municipal Water District will add $1.84 to the tax rate of the community services district, residents were told last night at a meeting of district directors.

The tax hike would be to pay for a $200,000 state loan to connect to the water district's Tamalpais Valley line. Present tax rate is $1 per $100 assessed valuation.

Board president Jack F. Harris said the connection probably could be completed in the spring of 1968. First, however, the board must have a feasibility study on the cost and method of connecting. After the report is adopted, an election will be held in the Muir Beach district on whether to annex to the water district.

Estimates of the tax rate required to pay for the loan were based on a 50-year payment period, Harris said. Property owners in areas annexed to the Muir Beach district after the connection would have to buy in to the district, he said, and pay connection fees.

B. G. Grant, principal engineer for the water district, told the 46 persons at the meeting in Muir Beach Tavern that an eight-inch line would be brought from Tamalpais Valley to the district.

Reagan Backers Kidnap Effigy

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's effigy, instead of being hanged by his enemies, was torn limb from limb by his friends yesterday.

A group of Sacramento State College students, bent on protest of possible tuition at state colleges, were fixing to string up the dummy.

Instead, a pro-Reagan student faction swooped down and kidnaped the thing and tore it apart. Reagan's effigy was hanged last week — same issue — on the Fresno State College campus.

NEWSPAPER ROBOT

New Electronic Brain Speeds Up Independent-Journal Typesetting

The Independent - Journal begins the new year with finishing touches on a two-million dollar expansion program that has been more than two years in the making.

The newest automated addition to increase production is a Justape computer which takes raw" coded tape and arranges words and phrases into one-column widths with uniform margins, making each line the same width as the one above it.

If a word must be hyphenated to fit, the computer takes care of that, too. In newspaper parlance this is known as "justifying" the line of type. Ordinarily it is done manually by a Linotype operator and more recently by the tape puncher. The Justape eliminates one more manually performed detail for greater output.

TAPE IN USE

The use of punched tape to set type has been a major part of the I-J's expansion program. Already four major sources are transmitting news on tape: AP and UPI news wires, AP sports wire and UPI stock wire. I-J typesetters now are beginning to punch tape for local news, society and sports. Headlines and captions can also be produced in this manner. And later, classified ad copy will be tape-punched.

After the Justape does its work, the tape is run through Elektron Linotypes, which in turn convert the copy into "straight matter" or type. During the recent holiday season the I-J acquired two more of these Elektron line-casters for a total of six high speed machines to prepare for the high production schedule foreseen for the future.

The I-J's expansion program was conceived several years ago by its late publisher, Roy A. Brown. But it began concretely with the purchase of the adjoining City Hall property in January, 1964, and took visible form on a day during the following December when ground was broken for a new three-story plus basement addition to the existing buildings to house the latest model Hoe 80-page Colormatic press which had been bought to replace the press then in operation.

The new press, with five units capable of printing an 80-page newspaper, and two other special units to print color on 16 pages, is a giant. It stands 27 feet high (three stories) and 73 feet in length. Its huge size and weight of 250 tons required installation concurrently with construction of the building. In April, 1965, concrete footings to support it had been completed and the machinery itself and walls of the building went into place. By the following September, with 10 miles of wiring and numerous electronic control boxes and motors to operate it, the press began to roll.

SPEEDY GIANT

The Hoe Colormatic is said to be the highest-speed production press of its type, turning out 70,000 printed and folded newspapers per hour. Rolls of paper are changed automatically at high speed without stopping the press. To provide for future expansion, both building and foundations were constructed to allow three more units to be added.

With completion of the new pressroom building and with I-J circulation increasing steadily, a second phase of modernization got under way. Replaced mechanical equipment was moved out and sold. By the beginning of 1966, other areas had been redesigned and newer machinery was being placed in operation.

During the past year, improvements and additions included doubling the size of the composing room, tripling the cold type area (paste up department), expansion of the make-up department, new pneumatic tube lines to speed copy to the composing room, completely new and larger photographic dark room, enlarged and modernized Linofilm and engraving department.

Installation of a new camera in the engraving department now provides two of the very latest cameras, along with a PAKO processor that automatically processes and dries the film. New sinks, a new camera room, machine room and etching room were added.

A completely new stereotype department has been equipped with two new page-plate casting machines — one semi-automatic and one a heavy duty — and milling machine. New formers and routers were also added, and the latest 10-ton Ludwig foundry pot was installed, equipped with the latest controls.

New lighting was installed throughout the entire building. Air conditioning was provided in many additional departments.

MORE OFFICES

Remodeling the corner of Fifth Avenue and B Street quarters formerly occupied by the Dorothy Kell Furnture Shop, provided new ground floor facilities for an expanded classified advertising department, as well as new and larger telephone switchboard equipment and new bookkeeping quarters. A large mezzanine area here was used for display advertising space. Other areas expanded were the circulation department on the first floor, second and third floor storage facilities and third floor executive offices and the news library.

"The I-J now has just about the most advanced equipment obtainable and we feel we are ready to meet the growth we expect in the years just ahead," said publisher Wishard A. Brown and co-publisher Jack Craemer.

Flood Control Hearing Set

A public hearing on extension of the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project into Ross has been set for 8 p.m., Jan. 18 at Ross Town Hall, town engineer Philip B. Lygren announced today.

Lygren will recommend that the town council accept the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' plan to extend the concrete ditch into Ross to the confluence of Corte Madera and San Anselmo creeks. If the town does not accept this plan, the corps proposes a wall and collection ditch on the south side of the town.

Lygren said his recommendation includes conditions for council control of design and landscaping.

Four-Payment County Tax Test Urged

The legislative committee of the State Assn. of County Tax Collectors has proposed a test of the four-payment plan for property taxes in Los Angeles County.

Marin County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez, a member of the state committee, said the proposal would make the plan optional in Los Angeles County. Tax collectors in other counties were reluctant to propose the plan because of increase cost in paper work and because there was some fear that the spreading of payments might reduce the impact, just as withhouding tax does.

Tax delinquency dates now are Dec. 10 and April 10 on first and second installments. Under the proposal, all taxes would be due on Sept. 10 with delinquency dates on four equal installments on the 10th of October, January, March and May.

Larkspur Plans Commercial Look

The Larkspur Chamber of Commerce, at suggestion of City Mgr. Kent Bathurst, has appointed a five-member committee to survey problems in the city's commercial area.

On the committee are Maggi Walker, Harlan Barry, Richard Figeroid, Sue Schafer and Robert Busse.

Aby Will Not Run Again For Mayor's Post

San Rafael residents apparently are going to continue voting for a mayor every two years, but City Councilman Charles W. Aby will not be among the candidates.

Aby announced this last night as the San Rafael City Council reviewed a proposed charter revision calling for an election of a mayor every four years.

As councilmen debated the pros and cons of a two-year mayoralty term, Aby said, "I'm not going to do it again." Aby was defeated for the mayoralty by C. Paul Bettini in 1965.

Aby did not say whether he would seek re-election to the council. His term expires in April.

Bettini backed the committee's recommendation that the mayor be elected every four years, but the majority of councilmen were opposed.

"It's time-consuming to run for election, and if you have a program, it hardly gets started in two years," Bettini said

Councilman Louis H. Baar said the council "equally tries to prepare a program as well as the mayor. I think the mayor runs the meeting, and the council along with the mayor runs the city."

"I think the public should have a chance to elect a mayor every two years," said Councilman Harry A. Barbier.

Councilman Fred E Jensen said election of a mayor every two years gives voters a chance to replace the majority of the council every two years, if they are dissatisfied.

Councilmen did not vote on the issue since the meeting wasn't an official council session, but left no doubt that the majority oppose a four-year term

Four Released In Marin Probe Of Marijuana

Four persons booked in county jail for investigation of marijuana possession have been released pending further study of the case by the district attorney's office. No charge has been filed.

Arrested Saturday by California Highway Patrol were David Allen Ward, 21, and Catherine Margaret Ward, 19, both of 99 Srpuce Road, Fairfax; Robert Anton Nelson, 20, whose address was listed as 19 Knoll Road, Alto, and Robert Alexander Donohoe, 26, of Lincoln Hotel, San Rafael

Officers said they stopped the quartet on Highway 101 because their car had a cracked taillight lens, but a plastic bag and a matchbox containing what appeared to be marijuana were thrown from the vehicle.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony said a further report has been requested of the patrol, and the box and bag and contents have been sent to the San Francisco police narcotics laboratory for analysis.

Councilmen Argue Charter Changes

By FRANK FARRARA

San Rafael city councilmen clashed on several issues last night as they started review of proposed revisions to the city's 54-year-old charter.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini noted that the council could take no action because it was not an official meeting, but could try to reach tentative agreements on some proposals.

Councilmen held a three-and-a-half hour joint session with the charter revision committee, which submitted 14 pages of recommendations for charter changes to be submitted to voters in the April 10 municipal election.

Mayor Bettini then set another meeting with the charter revision committee for 7:30 p.m. next Wednesday at City Hall "to complete the job."

Councilmen agreed with a recommendation that the police chief, city clerk and assessor, city treasurer and tax collector be appointed rather than elected.

There was some question about switching the office of city attorney from elective to appointive.

"I think the city attorney should be elected," said Councilman Louis H. Baar.

In an election an attorney without experience in municipal law can gain office, countered Councilman Charles W. Aby. If the council appoints an attorney, it can select one trained in municipal law, he said.

On several occasions, Roy M. Michael, charter committee chairman, urged the councilmen to consider not only how the proposals strike them, but also what people may think. "Maybe you think it doesn't have merit, but the people may like it."

Michael contended that when there was some question about a proposal, the council should put it on the ballot, and give the voters a chance at it.

Apparently headed for rejection are proposals that the mayor serve a four-year instead of a two-year term, that the city have an independent audit by a management consultant firm, that an emergency reserve fund be established for times of disaster, and that there be no limit on advertising and promotion funds.

Councilmen clashed over a proposal that would make all appointive officers and department heads subordinate to the city manager, excluding the city attorney if he were appointed.

"This puts the department of public works under the city manager. What does the city manager know about streets and sewers?" demanded Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

(Public works was removed from city manager control by the city council nearly 10 years ago on motion of Jensen, to create a separate department under Norris M. Rawles, who had failed to pass an examination for a civil engineer's license so could not be retained as city engineer.)

Michael said it was a question of philosophy whether the council wanted to give the city manager authority over certain employees and wanted to delegate certain duties to him.

Councilman Harry A. Barbier, a member of the fire commission, said making the fire chief subordinate to the city manager could create a conflict with the fire commission.

Under the present system "the fire commission tells the chief what to do," he said.

"I don't think we should make the city manager all-powerful," asserted Jensen. He particularly opposed a section saying that "the council shall deal through the city manager on all matters involving administrative and personnel matters."

"I'm in favor of the entire section," countered Mayor Bettini. "We either have to delegate the city manager more authority or not."

Councilmen agreed that the municipal election date should be changed from the second Monday to the third Tuesday in April of each odd-numbered year. The charter committee had recommended the second Tuesday. City Clerk W. C. Cornwell recommended that it be the third Tuesday to coincide with the school election date in the education code. This will save taxpayers money, Cornwell said.

There was less agreement on a proposal that the advertising and promotion fund have no restriction. All agreed that the present $1,000 limitation is too low, but there was debate about permiting the council to spend as much "as the council may deem proper."

"I think there should be a limit," said Jensen.

Baar said he favored a minority report by Michael that proposed a $10,000 limit on the fund and creation of a hotel-motel tax with two-thirds of the proceeds of the tax or $10,000, whichever is greater, earmarked for advertising and promotion.

Bettini said he would not want to see any limitation set by the charter.

The method of filling board of education vacancies also brought disagreement.

The charter revision committee recommended that the council be given 30 days to fill vacancies in its own membership between elections, with a special election required if the 30 days expire without an appointment. The charter now gives the council 20 days to fill vacancies, after which the appointive power passes to the board of education.

The committee made no recommendation for changing the present provision that the council fill vacancies occurring between elections on the board of education.

Bettini said he felt the school board should not appoint to the council, nor the council to the school board, because the two bodies encompass different territories and "neither has enough knowledge about the other body."

Michael said the committee felt "that the council should have some participation in the board of education, rather than have it a separate domain, and independent unit."

In the midst of the talk about the school board, Aby said: "This is the best argument I have for becoming a general law city. We wouldn't have anything to do with the board of education."

Jensen said: "The only time we ever had abuse was when we made an appointment to the school board. I feel that if the council hadn't made an appointment, the teachers would have."

Councilmen agreed to the filing of petitions rather than individual certificates for nominations, initiative, referendum and recall. They also agreed that nomination petitions should be presented not earlier than 55 days and not later than 40 days before the election.

Attorney E. Warren McGuire, counsel to the committee, suggested the council could lump all the technical changes in one ballot measure, and then have separate measures "for the matters of substance."

Councilmen started to discuss the committee's recommendation on changing the makeup of the fire commission, when Bettini decided it was time to adjourn.

Plea Entry Set On Check Forgery

Charles M Byrnes, 29, was to enter plea in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon to two counts of forgery. He was arraigned before Judge Hadden W. Roth yesterday.

Byrnes, with the Navy at Coronado, San Diego County, allegedly forged two $50 checks on July 28 with intent to defraud Bradford S. Clark of 111 San Gabriel Drive, Fairfax.

Baez Will Not Sue Cartoonist

TOKYO (UPI)—Folk singer Joan Baez said today she was "not interested in suing" cartoonist Al Capp over the character "Joanie Phoanie" currently appearing in his "Li'l Abner" comic strip.

The long-haired singer said in Honolulu Monday that she might go to court to get "Joanie" eliminated from the strip unless she gets a retraction from Capp.

"I am interested in helping to end the confusion and social violence that hurts all of us," Miss Baez told Tokyo newsmen today. "Al Capp has contributed to this confusion and violence by introducing 'Joanie Phoanie' into his strip."

Wanted: Plans Revolution

By SCIENCE SERVICE

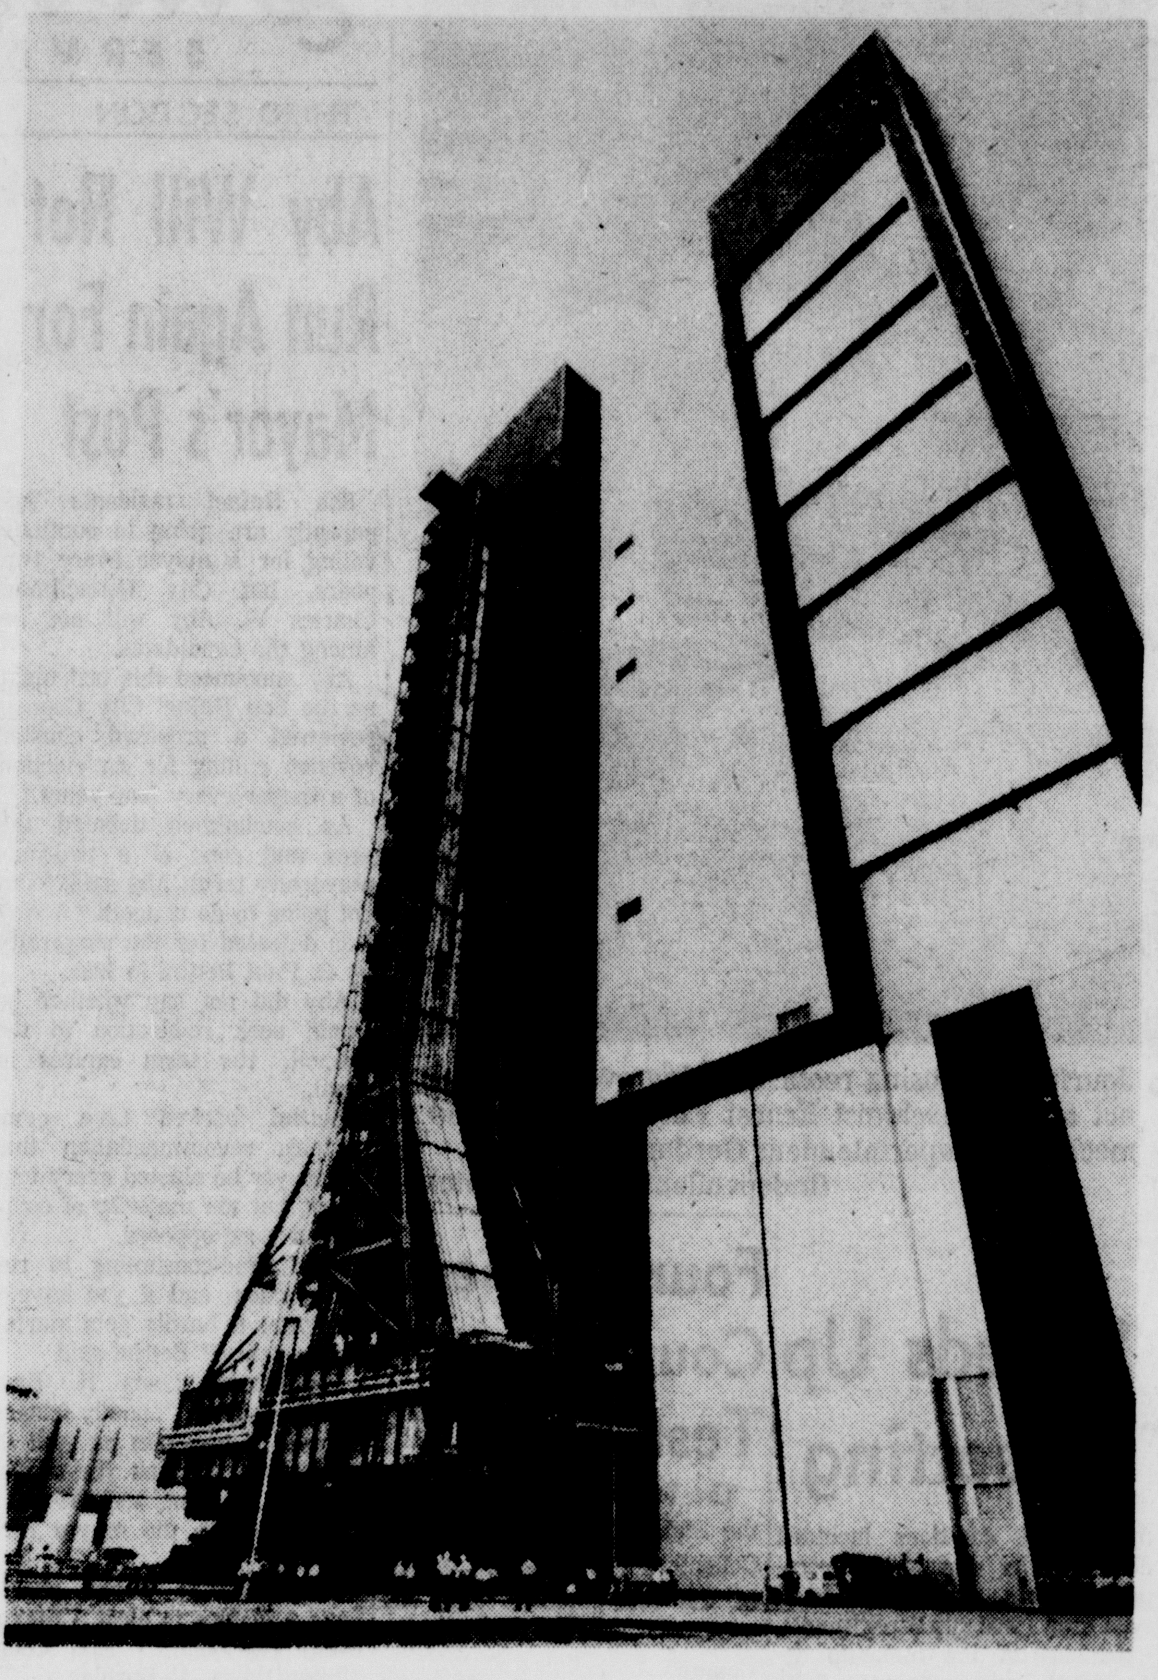
When the sprawling federal government wants another building so that it can sprawl even further, it meticulously makes up its mind about every detail from door sizes to lighting wattages before breathing a word. Contractors then bid for the right to construct a custom-tailored building, and since the government is the client, the tailoring is conservative to say the least.

There is, however, at least one high-ranking upstart who would like nothing better than to change all that, and to change the way building designers think about buildings in the first place.

John Eberhard, director of the Institute of Applied Technology, the "real world" division of the National Bureau of Standards, believes that buildings should be built the way airplanes and spacecraft are today — in whatever way will best do the job, rather than to fit a preconceived notion that limits the manufacturer's ingenuity before he starts.

Eberhard's institute has already made a year-long study to show that military buildings such as barracks, laboratories and hospitals could be described by what they are supposed to do, rather than by physical measurements. He wants the designers to innovate—adapt what they need from the most advanced technology in materials and equipment—and design a "system" to fill the need.

A hospital, for example, would become the best possible integrated system for patient care, meal selection, emergency service routing, access to equipment, rapid diagnostic testing and a lot of other factors. Whether a hospital planned in such a way, rather than as a series of rooms with patients and equipment simply plugged into them, would bear any resemblances to the present concept of a hospital, neither Eberhard nor anyone else knows.



FUNCTIONAL EXAMPLE— NASA's 525-foot assembly building for moon rockets at Cape Kennedy is designed strictly according to its purpose rather than along conventional lines. Federal aide John Eberhard is campaigning to have the same functional innovation applied to hospitals and other buildings. (Science Service photo)

The DOD project, however, has never gone beyond the study stage. Unfortunately, Eberhard said, the pressures of Vietnam and "the reluctance of DOD construction people to experiment" have stopped the plan in its tracks, though it remains "a possibility in the background."

A similar study now being done for the General Services Administration, which plans the government's office buildings, is generating "considerable enthusiasm," Eberhard said.

The federal government is just about the toughest customer Eberhard could have for his idea. Almost everything it buys, down to the smallest paper clip, is procured through the bidding system, with competing merchants trying to offer the tastiest possible package without pricing themselves out of the market.

The problem is that in using a "functional specification" system to encourage manufacturers to come up with their own innovations, the government must be able to say no if it does not get what it wants. Since bids are presently made with a tight profit margin on the basis of known building methods, some businessmen might hesitate to risk a fat contract on the hope that the government would like their ideas.

This way of buying things is "conservative," says Eberhard with some restraint, but even in the government "the model exists" for building to function rather than form. All military aircraft, for example, are selected from a number of companies submitting their ideas of how best to meet certain performance "specs": speed, armament, navigating ability, etc. If jet fighters were built like government office buildings, all the companies would have to offer their prices for building a plane of predetermined design, regardless of what innovations and ideas might improve it.

Of all government agencies, none does more building according to function than the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Many of its centers and research installations are so specialized that they could have been constructed in no other way.

The biggest building in the world, for example, is the vertical assembly building at Cape Kennedy, where the huge Saturn V rocket that will carry men to the moon will be stacked and tested. The building stands 525 feet high, and could scarcely have been made without being tailored to its exact role.

Newest entry in the form-follows-function derby is the U.S. Navy, which for the first time in history is planning a series of ships to be built by the "contract definition" system. This is the perfect embodiment of Eberhard's idea. Instead of accepting cost bids on a set design for its Fast Deployment Logistic ship system, the Navy will ask for designs that can fill the bill for the FDL's capabilities.

The capabilities are many, including a controlled-humidity atmosphere, the ability to store heavy vehicles such as jeeps and tanks for long periods of time and amphibious landing gear. In fact, just figuring out what to ask for in the specifications is such a job that three large corporations, which began the task on July 29, will be lucky to finish the definitions alone by the end of January.

The advantages to the system in shipbuilding are numerous, says the Navy, and include lower cost and increased standardization. Most important, however, will be getting industry's voice and imagination in ship design, which at present is one of the most backward areas of American technology.

The Institute of Applied Technology will complete its GSA study in June. Though office buildings may not become radically different as a result, the over-all implications of the idea could change the entire building industry.

New Satellite's Orbit Looks Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communications Satellite Corp. said today its newest spacecraft, Lani Bird 2, appears to be in a satisfactory transfer orbit.

This means that the craft's looping course once around the earth every 11 hours may place it in the proper position to be propelled into a synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the earth at the equator.

At the proper time late tomorrow or Saturday the small apogee motor aboard the spacecraft will be fired to kick Lani into a velocity matching the rotational speed of the earth.

If this and other maneuvers succeed, Lani Bird will provide a communications link between North America and the Far East.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Oncoming Deafness Turns Out To Be Too Much Wax In Canal

VAN DELLEN

A friend of mine was becoming hard of hearing. He did not seem alarmed but his wife saw on his desk literature on lip reading and hearing aids. Nevertheless he stalled for more than a year before consulting an ear specialist.

On entering the office this man told the physician in a soft spoken voice that he was becoming deaf and wanted to know more about hearing aids. When the medico asked this patient if he always spoke so quietly, he replied that he was not aware of speaking in this manner.

AFTER EXAMINING the ears, the physician said, "Both ear canals are packed solid with wax." The wax was removed and within 10 minutes my friend's hearing was restored.

The soft-spoken tone was the clue to this type of deafness. It indicated that sound was not reaching the nerve of hearing because of obstruction in the canal. The same occurs with blocked eustachian tubes, perforation of an eardrum, or inflammation of the tiny bones in the middle ear. To the victim his own voice sounds so loud he is forced to tone it down.

Eating crunchy foods such as celery, radishes, and toast has a similar effect. In addition, the person hears better in a noisy environment because others have a tendency to raise the voice and speak with more intensity.

TO HEAR properly, sounds must reach the nerve that leads to the brain, where it is interpreted. If the nerve is degenerated (nerve deafness) little can be done because the line of communication is destroyed.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

PARK MEMBER ASSURED OF NO MORE RAIDS

County Parks and Recreation Commissioner Lothar Salin has changed his mind and will accept reappointment to the commission when his term expires Feb. 3.

After supervisors used park funds to make a $10,000 donation to the Gallinas Village Community Service District, Salin said he did not wish reappointment.

Yesterday he said he had talked to some supervisors and was assured there would be no further "raids on park funds."

Others whose terms expire Feb. 3 are Commissioners Herber C. Leney and Aline McClain.

Help Sought To Preserve Park Lands

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission yesterday asked that the county do all possible to preserve two small park properties on the Bolinas Bluff.

Legal status of the properties, indicated on the old Bolinas Mesa Subdivision map as park sites, is in doubt, Parks and Recreation Dir. Pierre W. Joske told the commission.

COURT ACTION

Subdivider Arthur Smadbeck has started paying taxes on the land and might go to court to establish his ownership, Joske said.

Joske said that, at request of Bolinas Beach Public Utilities District directors, he is drawing plans of how the property might be developed. He suggested trails to the beach with benches along the way.

The land is on the cliff side of Ocean Parkway, between Overlook Drive and Juniper Road.

The commission yesterday further discussed the six-year $8.8 million capital improvement proposal for park purchase and development. Joske had added $1,180,000 for a park at Keil's Cove on Tiburon Peninsula opposite Angel Island and a 10 per cent contingency factor since the commission discussion last month.

CAPITAL PROGRAMS

Capital improvement programs for all departments are being compiled by the county planning department to be forwarded to the administrator's office and then to supervisors.

"Is this just an exercise in futility?" Commissioner Lothar Salin asked. He did not see how the commission could expect such a big program to ever be implemented.

"We might come out with something less," Joske admitted.

The Marin County Parks and Recreation Commission also:

1. Agreed to ask that a joint meeting with supervisors be set for some evening rather than for an hour on the morning of Feb. 7 as proposed by the supervisors. Chairman Gibbs H. Lawson said the commission would only be an audience for the brief daytime session.
2. Learned that the issue of responsibility for designation of historical sites in Marin has still not been settled. Joske said he thinks the planning staff should handle the matter, but the planning commission has not been enthusiastic.
3. Agreed to schedule field trips through the year, possibly combining them with regular meetings.
4. Accepted a Governor's Design Award for the Civic Center, entered in competition in the public building category.

Commissioner Aline McClain and Howard Council were absent.

Kamai Files To Run Again

Curtis P. Kamai, president of the Larkspur School District Board yesterday filed a declaration of candidacy for another term on the board with district Supt. Milton S. Cohen.

Kamai has been on the board since 1963. He is also secretary of the Marin Assn. of School Boards.

Cohen said he would file Kamai's declaration at the county schools office tomorrow. Mrs. Cornelia J. Perrone, the only other board member whose term expires in June, is also expected to file for re-election April 18, Cohen said.

Novato Firemen Get Wage Hikes

A $15 monthly increase in wages and eight paid holidays for employees of Novato Fire District were approved by the district board early today after more than four hours of discussion.

Beginning firemen will get a starting salary of $565 per month and top firemen, $660 per month, with the raise. In addition the firemen were given a $100 per year clothing allowance.

Terra Linda Petitioners Want Better Fire Service

A petition signed by 298 residents of the Terra Linda section of San Rafael seeking better fire protection was presented to the San Rafael City Council last night.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the petition would be referred to the San Rafael Fire Commission for a recommendation and then discussed at a council session.

Lt. Col. S. J. Jamerson of 843 Del Ganado Road presented the petition which stated that residents "deplore the inadequate fire protection provided by the City of San Rafael for our domiciles as illustrated by the fire at 915 Del Ganado Road," and "request immediate attention and action."

Councilman Harry A. Barbier, a fire commissioner, invited Jamerson to attend the commission meeting.

Mayor Bettini explained that the petition could not be considered last night because last night's session was not an official council meeting, but an informal joint meeting with the city's charter revision committee.

Kuwait had 600 children in school in 1936 and now has more than 90,000.

Three Lobster Fishermen Being Quizzed

MARATHON, Fla. (AP) — Federal agents held three lobster fishermen for questioning today after a gun battle on the high seas over rich lobster territory off Cuba.

A crewman was killed and a captain was injured in the battle in the Atlantic yesterday.

The three men were whisked away by federal agents after a Coast Guard cutter brought them ashore.

They were identified as Raymond C. Vanyo of Key West, skipper of the Trojan, and two crewmen on th Trojan, Nevin Robert Fitz and George Broome. No charges were placed against them.

The dead crewman was identified by friends as Vernon Austin, of Marathon, the father of six.

Wounded was William A. Branthoover, 33, skipper of the 39-foot Bahama Mama.

Feuds among lobster fishermen are not uncommon in Florida — mainly because the traps are easy prey to passing boats.

Bullock Freed Pending Further Shooting Probe

Charles Allen Bullock, 25, arrested Tuesday night for alleged obstruction of a sheriff's officer in his duties following the shooting of a 15-year-old Marin City youth, yesterday was released from county jail pending further investigation.

Judge Hadden W. Roth of Marin Municipal Court ordered his release on recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony.

Bullock, of San Francisco, was jailed after sheriff's Lt William Johansen said Bullock shoved him several times at the site of a shooting by a Sausalito police officer of Stanley Curry, in Marin City.Curry was shot in the leg after a stolen car chase.

Club's Exempt Status Backed

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh says he doesn't agree with all the Sierra Club's programs, but he supports the conservation group's state tax-exempt status.

Unruh, D - Inglewood, said "there can be little doubt that the thrust of the club's effort is in the public interest."

Unruh urged the Franchise Tax Board not to revoke the club's tax-exempt status, as has been done by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service His comments were in a letter to the board.

Plank Road Return Seen In Wet Areas

WASHINGTON (SS)—The corduroy road may return to America—not the side by side logs of frontier days, but grooved cement to carry away rain water an dgive more traction to today's highspeed automobile tires.

On the other hand, a modern development, the studded tire, has proved useless—at least in New Jersey.

These are two of the findings reported at the 46th annual meeting of the Highway Research Board in the Sheraton-Park Hotel here.

A specialist from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Walter B. Horne, suggested grooving highways crosswise to eliminate the hydroplaning of auto tires when they suddenly hit a puddle and tend to skim over its surface instead of holding the road. Simiiar grooves, only an eighth of an inch wide, have been cut in European airport runways and are under order for National Airport in Washington for the same reason. They not only give the tires more bite, but help drain the surface.

The New Jersey Highway Department reported that studded tires "could produce a less safe and more costly highway system for the major portion of the year for the majority of the traveling public."

In reaching this conclusion. Robert A. Page said his tests showed that most skidding accidents happened on dry pavement, where studded tires may be inferior to regluar tires in skid control; studded tire use "has been shown to cause both a dramatic decrease in pavement skid resistance" and in increased maintenance.

TV REVIEW

Daily Visions Of Creative Programming

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — To the constant televiewer, the suspicion grows that the promises of major theatrical offerings considerably outnumber the actual productions. As public relations becomes a more dominant factor in programming, the viewer is increasingly in a state of suspended expectation rather than frequent satisfaction. One begins to think in such terms as "credibility gap."

Daily the press releases arrive from the networks, and daily visions of sugar plums dance in our heads as the most wondrous sorts of promises of things to come are heaped on our desks to still the thought that television has forgotten the selective viewer.

We do indeed get the occasional major theatrical—a "Death of a Salesman" or a "Brigadoon" or "The Glass Menagerie." But all too often the promises seem to take an eternity to materialize, and then when they do materialize they frequently are more distant in the future than expected, and perhaps there are fewer productions than originally intended, and somehow one is suspended again, waiting.

There comes a point when one suddenly is loathe to give any particular attention anymore to such types of promotion, especially because the productions being promoted are mainly derivative — most of them being adaptations of established hits—since television is basically a coverage medium rather than a creative one.

Chiefs, Packers Map Super Strategy

By ALEX KAHN

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—While the Kansas City Chiefs and the Green Bay Packers mulled over last-minute game strategy today, local fans were making plans of their own on how best to enjoy the Super Bowl game Sunday.

Only about 1,500 enthusiasts purchased tickets yesterday to the first-ever encounter of the American and National Football League champions at the Memorial Coliseum, dampening hopes for a sellout for the long-anticipated contest.

But many other pro grid "nuts" were readying accomodations in motels and hotels outside the Los Angeles area so as to watch the title game on television.

The contest will not be shown on local TV because of an agreement between the CBS and NBC networks and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

So the Southern California freeways are liable to be just as jammed Sunday with those fleeing the blackout as those who will be flocking to the Coliseum area.

To see the game on the tube, fans will have to go at least 75 miles.

Thus a rush is expected to such nearby points as San Diego, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield and Barstow. Some of the towns outside the blackout radius such as the desert spa of Palm Springs are offering special package deals for the "super" weekend.

Current ticket sale trends at the Coliseum showed yesterday tnat only about 63,000 ducats at $12, $10 and $6 will be sold by the eve of the Super Bowl.

Bill John, who is in charge of tickets, said the purchases have run constant at 1,500 a day since last Friday.

"Since we've never had a game such as this in the Coliseum," John explained, "the day-of-the-game sale is a nebulous thing and we have no answer of what to expect."

Meanwhile, sellout or no, the Chiefs and Packers practiced behind closed doors again yesterday for a game that means $15,000 each to the victors plus the prestige of being called world champions for a year.

Word from inside Coach Vince Lombardi's Packer training quarters at Santa Barbara said that Green Bay went through an hour and 35-minute drill which stressed the offense.

Lombardi also took another peek at Kansas City's game films.

"They look good in the pictures, honestly good," said the Packer mentor. "They have speed and finesse. And defensively, they overpowered the other teams."

Down at Long Beach, 25 miles to the south of here, Kansas City, rated a 12-point underdog, also went through a brief closed conditioning practice today.

Tight end Fred Arbanas, the only chief question mark, was back on the practice field Wednesday and Coach Hank Stram figures to start the 240-pounder against the NFL champs.

SANDY KOUFAX WINS 1966 HUTCH AWARD

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Los Angeles Dodger pitching great Sandy Koufax, who announced his retirement from baseball last November, is the winner of the 1966 Hutch Award.

The award is given by major league baseball writers and broadcasters in memory of the late Fred Hutchinson, major league pitcher and manager of the Detroit Tigers, St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds.

The Hutch Award goes to the major leaguer who "best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire to the late Fred Hutchinson."

Koufax led the voting with Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher Vernon Law second followed by second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Dodger shortstop Maury Wills.

Incidentally, just last week Schute negotiated a three-year contract for KNEW with the Oakland Raiders.

PRETTY PUG—Irish Bobby Scanlon, the veteran lightweight boxfighter with the altar boy face, is planning a busy ring schedule this year.

The former Fairfax resident, who for a time fought under the management of Marin restaurateurs Nick Kobseff and Lu Sabella, hopes to land a bout with Los Angeles hotshot Mando Ramos next month in San Francisco's Civic Auditorium. Now residing in San Francisco, Scanlon has a 46-12-2 won-lost-draw record after 12 years in the squared circle.

Quarry Knocks Out Jones

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — It was only supposed to be a warmup fight for Los Angeles heavyweight Jerry Quarry, but he nearly lost a career.

Quarry, 194, was floored twice in the third round last night by Al Jones, 193½, but came back and knocked out the Memphis, Tenn. boxer in the fifth.

There were two other scheduled 10-rounders fought at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Nate Collins, 158, of San Francisco, knocked out Mexico's Aristo Chavarin, 160½, in 1:55 of the first round. Collins had stopped former middleweight champion Joey Giardello in his previous fight.

Rollie Penaroya, 117½, a native of the Philippines now fighting out of Stockton, survived a first-round knockdown and won every other round in outpointing Mexico's Raton Perez, 116.

Quarry, now 21-1-3, was bombing Jones to the body when he dropped his left and caught a right to the chin. Quarry, who lives in the Los Angeles suburb of Paramount, got off the canvas at the count of two and took the mandatory eight.

But Jones, who had previously lost a 10-round decision to Quarry, dropped the blond bomber again with a right. Quarry nearly went through the ropes before slithering to the canvas, arising with no difficulty 25 seconds before the end of the round.

In the fifth, a body barrage dropped Jones two seconds from the end of the round. Referee Tony Bosnich continued counting after the bell under California ring rules and tolled 10. The official time was 3:08 of the fifth.

SCHMIDT TO SHAKE UP LIONS

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Schmidt, the new coach of the Detroit Lions, says he'll try to start the club back to National Football League power with a number of trades and a massive injection of pride.

"I definitely feel we have to make some trades," he said after signing yesterday. "I have a free hand. I can do anything in the line fo trades. Naturally," he added, "I won't go off half cocked. I'll confer with General Manager Russ Thomas and owner Willay Clay Ford before I do anything.

"At one time," Schmidt said, "this team had a lot of pride. I intend to reinstill that pride in this team."

Schmidt said that a team with a lot of pride plays better and pulls together better.

Schmidt, 34, was a linebacker for 13 years for the Lions. He joined them as a seventh draft choice from the University of Pittsburgh in 1953. He was named to the Pro Bowl squad 10 times during his 13 seasons, captained the Lions nine straight years, was voted to the NFL All-Pro team on eight occasions and was named the Lions' most valuable player four times.

He retired after the 1965 season and served last season as an assistant coach, working with the linebackers.

Schmidt replaces Harry Gilmer, fired last week after two losing seasons, the latest a 4-9-1 mark.

Schmidt weighed in at about 220 during his playing days and was always a leader, both as captain and as defensive signal caller.

Gilmer himself described Schmidt on one occasion last year as a very good coach. He said Schmidt had the ability to get across to the players exactly what he wanted of them.

"I don't pretend to be a pied piper," Schmidt said. "I'm certainly going to be fair and honest with the ball players and expect them to be fair and honest back.

"As a ball player for 13 years, I know a player likes to be treated fair and honest. I feel that the ball players are behind me 100 per cent," he added.

Gilmer was publicly criticized by several Lion players and had dissension troubles with the team.

"I do not think I'll have trouble with players criticizing coaches or players. I certainly hope it doesn't come up," Schmidt said.

He said he would have rules and anyone that flouted them would be disciplined.

"I'm going up against guys like Vince Lombardi and Blanton Collier. But I feel it's a great challenge.

"I'll do everything in my power to bring a winning team into Detroit."

Schmidt signed a five-year contract yesterday, reportedly for something in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year.

He said he will take his time about picking assistants and will seek the best possible. He said some nf Gilmer's staff would be considered.

"We are very happy that Joe has been able to work out private business matters and has accepted our offer," Ford said.

Ford said the Lions are in a rebuilding cycle and that five years was a reasonable time to get the job done.

Referee Ejects L.A.'s Hawkins

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, who won an official's decision in the fight at Los Angeles but lost the game, return to action tonight against the New York Knicks at San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

The Warriors, who had not lost to Los Angeles in five previous meetings, thought they got a break when defensive specialist Tom Hawkins was thrown out of the game in the first quarter for hitting San Francisco star Rick Barry.

But Laker rookie Jerry Chambers replaced Hawkins and hit seven of his first nine field goal attempts as Los Angeles rolled 141-126 over the Warriors in the National Basketball Assn. game.

The respective coaches—Fred Schaus of Los Angeles and Bill Sharman of San Francisco — agreed that Hawkins' first - period fight was a turning point.

Said Schaus: "The incident of having Hawkins thrown out helped us. The team seemed to pick up and really pull together. We played as good a defensive game as we have in years as far as picking up loose balls and getting easy shots."

Said Sharman: "Hawkins getting thrown out riled up their team...and their fans. The way the Lakers were shooting it was hard to stop them."

Hawkins said Barry hit him with a left, so the Laker forward went after his Warrior counterpart. "At the last minute I opened my hand and actually just gave him a shove in the shoulder," said Hawkins. "It was the first time I was ever thrown out of a game."

However, referee Norm Drucker said Hawkins hit Barry with a fist, calling for automatic expulsion.

Anyway, once the furor subsided, the Lakers were off and running as Jerry West totaled 44 points, Elgin Baylor added 29, and rookies Jerry Chambers and Archie Clark scored 24 and 17, respectively.

BEST GAME

"Chambers probably played his best game as a pro—at both ends of the court," said Schaus. "He really did a job for us."

Barry led the Warriors with 32 points—19 in the third period, but the second scorer was ex-Laker Jim King with just 16.

The Lakers led 38-28 at the end of the first quarter and 74-56 at the half before coasting home with a large margin throughout the second half.

Los Angeles is now tied with Detroit for third place in the NBA Western Division, 2½ games behind second-place St. Louis and 10 in back of the first-place Warriors.

"This is the kind of performance we have to have if we're going to make a move in the Western Division," Schaus said.

And again Sharman agreed: "The Lakers are a good club, and they look now like they're beginning to make a move."

A $10,000 Pay Hike For Perry

Right-hander Gaylord Perry, a 21-8 performer with the San Francisco Giants in 1966 with his best season, has signed a 1967 contract at an estimated $40,000.

Perry, the first pitcher to win 20 games last season, earned a raise of about $10,000. The Giants boosted his pay last season when he posted his 20th victory Aug. 20.

Only three major league hurlers won more games in 1966 than Gaylord, lanky 28-year-old North Carolinian who winters at Williamston. They were Sandy Koufax with 27, and the Giants' Juan Marichal and the Minnesota Twins' Jim Kaat with 25 each.

Perry's big year was highlighted by his victory over the American Leaguers in the All-star game at St. Louis. He also set a San Francisco club strikeout record by fanning 15 Phillies at Candlestick Park July 22.

Perry's strikeout mark was the best for a Giant pitcher since Christy Mathewson fanned 16 on Oct. 3, 1904.

Perry was on the disabled list with a badly sprained left ankle from May 24 to June 13. He was bothered also by calcium deposits in his right instep. These were removed after the season ended.

Camp, 42, is married and has four children.

ACADEMIC MINIMUM

East Objects To New NCAA Rules

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The new president of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. said today he felt the NCAA and Eastern objectors to the 1.6 minimum academic rule could reach an understanding.

The large collegiate body rebuffed Eastern college efforts yesterday to eliminate the one-year-old rule which requires a student-athlete to maintain at least a 1.6 minimum on a 4.0 grading scale to be eligible for athletic participation. A 1.6 is the equivalent to a D-plus average.

Dr. Marcus L. Plant of the University of Michigan said after his election as president of the 582-member organization that the NCAA is strong internally and with "no deep fissures."

"We are not without our problems," he said. "We never have been and we never will be."

Although the Eastern College Athletic Conference, comprising 146 NCAA members, got late convention support from the Southwest Conference and the Atlantic Coast Conference, it was unsuccessful in securing approval of any of six amendments designed to alter the present 1.6 regulation.

STUDENT-ATHLETES

The objecting schools contend the rule violates institutional autonomy and is not applicable in their case because they do not have student-athletes.

John Wilkin of Colby College, in presenting the ECAC case, said the academic rule "tries to equate factors that are not equatable." At the request of a delegate to have a public statement on how the NCAA Council stood on the 1.6 issue, Everett D. Barnes of Colgate University, retiring NCAA president, said it was for retention of the present rule.

"The general conviction on the part of the majority is to give the 1.6 rule a chance to function another year," Plant said. He added that coming from the Big Ten Conference, which has a higher minimum standard, he favors it.

Plant said that by letting the rule go unchanged for another year the NCAA can "get a full appraisal of how it is working."

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, said he saw no revolt on the part of the ECAC membership.

"Whether institutions conform or don't conform will be up to the individual," he said. "Our only recourse now is to work for a change in the rules next year."

The 1968 convention will be in New York City Jan. 8-10.

Walter J. Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said 520 of the organization's 582 members are in conformity with the 1.6 rule.

He said 11 institutions indicated no intention of complying, including only three members of the eight-school Ivy League—Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania.

Byers identified the other eight institutions as Williams, Thiel, Tufts, Swarthmore, Rochester, Oberlin, Johns Hopkins and Muhlenberg.

NO STIGMA

"There is no stigma on a team for non-compliance with NCAA regulations," Byers said. It means only they cannot compete in an NCAA championship event or post-season bowl game sanctioned by the collegiate body.

Plant, 55, a law school professor, said, "I have no major policy changes on my mind" during his year in office.

In other action at the closing session of the 61st convention, the delegates:

Rejected a proposal to permit freshmen to compete in all varsity sports except football and basketball.

Paul Breachler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, sponsor of the amendment, said a student today is "much better prepared to handle university life" and has "far more athletic background. When an athlete is in competition his grades are better."

Approved exempting benefits under the GI Bill of Rights from grants-in-aid to student-athletes.

Voted down a move to limit scholarships to one or two years, with renewals. Grants-in-aid now may be given for four years.

Tabled a motion to extend the period of pre-season football practice.

NBA Player Rebellion Story Denied

CHICAGO (AP) — Oscar Robertson, president of the Players Assn. of the National Basketball Assn., denied last night that there was any strike threat by players at a meeting prior to Tuesday night's All-Star game in San Francisco.

The Cincinnati Royals' star, contrary to reports elsewhere, said no strike vote was taken.

"We talked about improvement in the pension fund," said Robertson before the game against the Chicago Bulls.

"The pension fund was fine when it was first adopted but we feel it can and should be improved. We're not making any specific demands of the owners now.

"One thing we don't want is any more games," said Robertson. "If the league expands, we want to make sure we don't play more games. Eighty-one is enough.

"Traveling has always been a problem, but there's not much that can be done about that and we have to live with it."

Robertson said there was nothing unusual about holding the players' meeting. "We always have one at the time of the All-Star game.

"Our big aim is to improve the pension fund, we can't all become coaches when we are no longer able to play," said Robertson.

Clay Calls Terrell A One-Armed Bandit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says his title bout with Ernie Terrell in the Astrodome Feb. 6 is the "battle of the champ and the so-called champ."

"Terrell is a one-handed fighter," Clay said. "Everybody knows that. All he's got is a left jab. Since he stole half of my title, I call him "the one-armed bandit.'"

Clay began training for the fight yesterday by going two rounds each at the Astrodome with sparring partners Mel Turnbow and Jimmy Ellis.

Terrell, recognized as heavyweight champion by the World Boxing Assn., arrives in Houston next Monday.

The fight will be Clay's second in the Astrodome. He successfully defended his title by stopping Cleveland Williams last Nov. 14 in the dome structure's first boxing match.

Angelo Dundee, Clay's trainer, called Terrell the champion's most dangerous opponent.

"What we have to do is stop him (Terrell) from grabbing and clutching and the best way to do that is hit him in the belly until his hands come down...and then nail him," Dundee said.

"What we're doing right now is working on strength because this fellow (Terrell) is a strong heavyweight for seven rounds.

"We've got to nullify his jab. We've got to beat him to it, surround him and get around it, get inside and outside of the jab and let shots go from either direction."

Clay listed potential future opponents if he gets by Terrell as Zora Folley, Thad Spencer and "that young fellow (Joe) Frazier."

"This is not the real me up here," Clay told an estimated 450 fans. "Pay no attention to how I look in the gym. I'm just getting into shape. On the night of Feb. 6 all hell's going to break loose."

Masters Tournament To Limit Galleries

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Fewer spectators and higher prices will be the rule for the prestige-laden Masters Golf Tournament in 1967.

The Augusta National Golf Club says the number of admission credentials will be cut sharply and that series badges, good for the four rounds in the 72-hole event on April 6-9, will be limited to patrons — persons on the club's mailing list.

Chairman Clifford Roberts of the Masters Tournament Committee said the price of series badges will be raised from $15 to $20. He said the badges will not cover practice rounds.

No tickets will be available to the general public for the tournament, the club said, unless patrons fail to fill the spectator quota, which was not disclosed.

The possibility that patrons will fail to exhaust the supply is unlikely. Augusta National reported that 90 per cent of the patrons requested series badges last year and closed out the supply a month before the tournament began.

Roberts said if the quota is not filled a certain number of daily admission tickets will be sold to the general public.

Roberts said practice rounds for the Masters will be open to the public at $3 a person daily.

The tournament, considered one of the world's great golfing events, annually draws the top national and international amateurs and professionals on an invitation basis.

Officials said overtaxed accommodations in Augusta during recent tournaments led to the decision to sell fewer admissions.

The tournament began in 1934 under the direction of golfing great Bobby Jones of Atlanta, who remains Augusta National president.

Just Two Yachts Will Challenge

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Australian contenders as challenger for the America's Cup yachting classic almost certainly will remain at two — Gretel and Dame Pattie.

Naval architect Warwick Hood, who designed Dame Pattie, denied a report published earlier this week that he might build another 12-meter yacht as potential challenger to the United States in September.

Dame Pattie defeated Gretel in their first two tune-up trails. Later the two boats will sail in a series of races to determine which one will challenge.

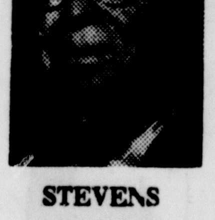
The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Sturgeon Fishing Reports Still Outnumbering Striper Reports



STEVENS

Reports of sturgeon fishing still exceed reports of stripers. The difference may be because, as one reporter defined it, the majority of fishermen are too anxious to lug home an armoured denizen of the bay and delta regions to fish hard for bass.

It isn't a case of no bass around, that's for sure. Carl Bennett of the Rodeo Marina reported Mits Ikada AND Nish Yamamoto taking limits of fresh-run stripers to 20 pounds on Sunday—on bullhead baits. Carl also mentioned Jerry Watson and Jerry Teves limiting with bass to 22 pounds in the Buoy 5 sector.

"SATURDAY WAS fair," said Bennett," and Sunday was still better. Fish, bass and sturgeon, were taken near buoys 8 and 10 as well as near buoys 7 and 5. The boat Sturgeon boated 12 of the big fellows to 55 pounds for 13 rods and netted two medium sized bass; the boat, Pet unloaded six limits of sturgeon and two stripers on Saturday, The Sunfish took eight sturgeon, one of which weighed in at 90 pounds caught by William Hodges, and a 70-pounder landed by Ruddy Dito. Harry Ushijima caught a nice trio of bass."

PERHAPS WE need a good, well attended bass derby to bring the bullhead and sardine baiters out of their warm houses and get 'em busy catching striped bass. And—if that is what is needed here is an announcement: The aggressive agregation of angling addicts calling themselves the Fishing Fools are staging a bass derby for this weekend, Saturday and Sunday. Want to buy a ticket and win some dough? I believe you can purchase a ticket at Bennett's Rodeo Marina. All bass caught in the derby must be weighed in at the Rodeo Marina.

By the way—Johnny Marino, President of the Fishing Fools bass club, asked that I tell my readers that the club is now open for new members.

IF YOU ARE anxious to test your skill as a fisherman, and whould like a chance to hook a steelhead in one of the coastal streams, you must be a good "hoper." And use your strongest silent hope for a good old-fashioned rain. Not a deluge, but a few nice showers to bring the waters to a normal condition.

If you like driving and have the necessary time, the lower Smith and the upper Klamath are yielding some fair to good results and ditto the Sacramento River from around Grimes to Red Bluff.

SCATTER-GUNNERS are reminded that there is a special open season for white geese this weekend and the following weekend. So you still have a chance to collect a nice, plump, white goose, and your limit of white geese may include one Ross's goose.

Boating Classes To Start

A free 13-week course in piloting and small boat handling, by the Marin Power Squadron, will start Thursday night, Jan. 26, at Redwood High School's student center in Larkspur.

The course, given twice a year, drew more than 100 persons last year. Each class runs two hours, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursdays.

The course covers such subjects as compass reading, chart reading, outboard seamanship, rules and government regulations. It will be of interest to sailboat operators as well as power boat pilots, according to Marin Power Squadron Commander Jim Corbett.

Class chairman will be Ed Masonic, assisted by Joe Lydon. The course is open to the public, said Corbett, and added that persons do not have to own boats to participate.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Jan. 12, the 12th day of 1967 with 353 to follow.

The moon is between the new and first quarter stages; the morning stars are Mars and Jupiter, the evening stars are Saturn, Jupiter and Venus.

American revolutionary leader and signer of declaration of independence John Hancock was born on this day in 1737.

On this day in history:

In 1865, Confederate President Jefferson Davis met with an emissary of President Lincoln at Richmond, Va., to discuss Civil War peace negotiations.

In 1932, Mrs. Hattie Caraway, widow of an Arkansas congressman, became the first woman ever elected to the U.S. Senate. She served until 1945.

In 1943, the Office of Price Administration ordered frankfurters to be replaced by "victory sausage" of some meat and soybean meal as part of the war effort.

In 1964, communist rebels overthrew the government of the East African Island of Zanzibar.

A thought for they day—Scottish historian and essayist Thomas Carlyle said: "True humor springs not more from the head then from the heart; it is not contempt, its essence is love."

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Draw Trumps Before Completing Other Chores

In an easy hand you can afford to draw trumps before you do anything else.

In a difficult hand you need a trump or two in dummy and must therefore put off drawing trumps until you have finished with your other chores.

The difference is shown in today's hand.

Opening lead — ♡ J

South played a low heart from dummy at the first trick, and East likewise played low.

South won with the king of hearts and led his low trump to dummy's eight.

SAFE PLAY

This was safe enough, but Southe could not afford to lead a second trump at this time.

Not seeing the danger, South returned a trump from dummy. West won and led a third trump, thus taking the last trump out of the dummy.

When East got in with the ace of clubs he took the ace of hearts and then defeated the contract by leading another heart to West's ten.

CORRECT CHORE

Now the defenders cannot afford to take the ace of clubs and clear the trumps out of dummy since South would discard his losers on dummy's good clubs.

East adopts a different defense, but it doesn't work if South plays the hand properly.

East refuses the first club, takes the second and leads a third club in the hope of promoting a trump trick for his partner.

South ruffs high and leads a second trump.

West takes the ace of trumps and puts his partner in with the ace of hearts for another round of clubs.

Once more South must ruff high.

Now South ruffs his last heart in dummy, returns to his hand with the king of diamonds and at last can afford to draw West's last trump. Dummy gets rid of the losing diamond on this trick, and dummy wins the last two tricks with the ace of diamonds and the last club.

Air Business So Good New Jobs Created

WASHINGTON (AP) — The airlines had so much business last year they had to create 30,000 new jobs, Joseph L. O'Brien, vice president of personnel relations for the Air Transport Assn., said today.

And during 1967, he said, they will need 6,800 more mechanics and 4,300 more pilots.

O'Brien said the airlines have added more new jobs in the past two years than in the preceding seven.

O'Brien said the U.S. airline industry at the end of the year had 236,000 employees, with an annual average salary of $7,910. Payrolls increased during the year from $1,686,280,000 to $1,865,228,000.

O'Brien said the airlines need more stewardesses, reservations workers and sales personnel as well as mechanics and pilots.

Wells Fargo Bank Earnings Are Up

Net earnings of Wells Fargo Bank increased 15.3 per cent over a year ago to $26.9 million for the year ending Dec. 31.

Per share earnings of $3.01 compared to $2.61 a year ago. Total assets were reported at $4.19 billion, up from $4.09 billion. Deposits gained $115 million to $3.67 billion.

Loans outstanding increased $52 million to $2.6 billion. Capital accounts and reserves were $346 million, an increase of $5.5 million over a year ago.

Record Truck Sales In Ford Division

DEARBORN, Mich. — Ford division capped its fifth consecutive record truck sales year in 1966 with the highest December sales mark in the industry, M. S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford division assistant general manager, has reported.

McLaughlin said record December sales of 43,705 trucks were up almost 14 per cent over the previous December high of 38,452 posted in 1965, and boosted the division's total for 1966 to a record 536,472 units.

Market Shuts Higher After Heavy Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today for the eighth straight session. Trading was heavy.

The market advanced from the start, weathered some profit taking, began a new upward drive late in the afternoon and then ran into additional selling in the final minutes.

It was an across-the-board advance like Wednesday's.

Volume for the day was estimated at 12.5 million shares compared with 13.24 million yesterday.

The first-hour volume was another record at 4.27 million shares. Trading slackened from the tumultuous early pace but remained very active.

Fairchild Camera gained about 5, Polaroid and Schering 2 or more. Gains of a point or so were made by General Motors, U. S. Steel, United Aircraft, Zenith, Kennecott, American Smelting, Standard Oil of Indiana, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines and Collins Radio.

Down about 2 each were Ling-Temco-Vought and Superior Oil. Union Oil of California, up a fraction, looked like the volume leader.

California Financial, up a fraction, was the most active of the resurgent savings-and-loan holding companies. Great Western Financial was off a fraction on profit taking. Imperial Corp. of America edged higher in heavy trading. First Charter Financial sank a point.

Prices remained generally higher in the American Stock Exchange. Trading was heavq.

Kaiser Names New Vice President

OAKLAND — William J. Bird, former western vice president of John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., has been elected a vice president of Kaiser Industries Corp., it was announced by E. E. Trefthen Jr., Kaiser executive vice president.

Bird will be assigned to special projects, reporting to Edgar F. Kaiser, president of Kaiser Industries, parent firm of the world-wide Kaiser Affiliated Companies, and Trefethen.

Steam Power Companies Join Geysers Lands

LOS ANGELES — Three producers of geothermal steam used to generate electric power — Earth Energy, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Union Oil Co. of California, Magma Power Co. and Thermal Power Co. — have signed a letter of intent under the terms of which the companies will pool their Northern California lands.

The combined holdings will exceed 14,000 acres, located in the Geysers area, about 85 airline miles north of San Francisco.

Steam from Magma and Thermal wells is currently being supplied to the Pacific Gas and Electric generating plants at the geysers. Earth Energy discovered geothermal production on its properties in June 1966.

At present, Magma and Thermal are producing enough steam from their wells to provide 25,000 kilowatts of electric power. This is sufficient to serve a city of 40,000.

An additional 27,500 kilowatt plant is completed and steam wells capable of generating another 125,000 kilowatts of power have been completed.

There Is No Sure Answer To The Bigness Of Business

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — American Telephone has just reported total revenue for the three months ending with November of nearly $3.1 billion, which is a lot more revenue than a state the size of Texas collects in a year.

Comparisons such as this constantly reopen or keep alive that old, old discussion of how big is too big, a question to which there is perhaps no sure answer.

American business is big. About 60 American corporations have annual income of a billion dollars or more, and when the measuring stick is dropped to $500 million we can count about 150 companies. Is this too big?

There are some obvious examples in American history of laws broken through monopoly power, of companies who used their size to corner a market, or manipulate rates, or dictate wage or marketing conditions.

These, however, were relatively easy to discern because specific antitrust regulations were violated.

How do you make a determination when laws are not clearly broken? For critical purposes, bigness is relative. What is small now would have been large 50 years ago. What is big in one industry is not in another.

General Motors, for example, is the largest manufacturing corporation in the world, with assets of more than $12 billion and income in the area of $2 billion a year.

Without a doubt a company of this size would dominate the textile or shoe industries. But the automotive industry is a business of big companies, perhaps a requirement of volume production. Ford, Chrysler and General Motors are among the top five companies in sales. Standard Oil of New Jersey and General Electric are the others.

Chase Manhattan Bank reviewed recent literature and distilled these are the prevalent —not necessarily proven— charges against big business:

It decides which products to make and then forces them on the public.

It dominates education by forcing schools to teach subjects that meet job requirements.

It governs the labor market, forcing individuals to adapt skills and educations to its needs.

It magnifies unemployment problems by refusing to hike the unskilled and by failing to move into depressed areas.

Even if these accusations are accepted, could the truth of them be established in regard to a specific company? Would it take a long, long investigation with inconclusive answers?

A long, long investigation is now under way of AT&T, which dominates its industry as perhaps no other company in America dominates an area of enterprise.

AT&T is the world's largest corporation, owning and operating 85 per cent of the nation's telephones. It has assets well over $30 billion, employs 800,000 workers—despite automation—and has nearly three million shareholders.

AT&T is unique. It rules its industry but with far less freedom than can a manufacturing enterprise. It is regulated by the Federal Communications Commission and state utilities commissions. And, because of its unique role, must also accept considerable social responsibilities.

The FCC now is studying the entire cost, price and profit structure of AT&T, which feels it needs an 8 per cent return on its capital in order to fulfill it obligations to customers and stockholder.

Prosaic Stock List Is Unsuited For Rise

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Early this year I invested two-thirds of my savings on the advice of a customers' man. I bought Munsingwear, Grand Union, General Steel, Narco and Harnischfeger. If there is a possibility of getting my money out in full?"B. B

A. You bought a list of relatively sound but rather prosaic. Munsingwear's growth has slowed; Grand Union is in the supermarket group which has fallen out of investor favor; General Steel and Harnischfeger are cyclical; and Narco faces increased competition.

I would not hold these stocks. If you can stay with them, I believe they will ultimately come back to your cost price. If they do, I would switch them into stronger growth issues.

Q. "Bases upon a plant and book inspection of McGowen Glass Fibers, I bought several thousand shares. The company has grown considerably but the stock remains unchanged. Why?" R. D.

A. For the simple reason that no stock is worth more than someone will pay you for it. Your company has a small capitalization and is realtively unknown to the investing public. Moody's Industrial Manual, probably the most comprehensive publication in its field, devotes only one line to your company. No matter how good a situation is, it must become known and gain a following before the price is likely to rise.

BABY HIPPO DOING BETTER

Young hippos have surprisingly tender skins, but normally start life in nice, soft mudholes. This youngster in the Jimmy Morgan Zoo, Birmingham, Ala., suffered cuts and bruises from his pool's concrete lining for the first three weeks, but his hide is getting tougher, officials report. Tiburon Firemen Rescue Couple In Hilarita Blaze

A Tiburon man and his wife were saved today in a dramatic rescue by firemen when a fire trapped the couple in their apartment.

The fire began in the Hilarita Housing apartment of two men who jumped to safety from a second-floor window at the height of the 2:30 a.m. blaze.

Rescued by firemen were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hayes, who had to climb down fire ladders from the second story window.

Tiburon Fire Capt. Edward J. Parnell, first to arrive on the scene, said the whole upper story was in flames.

Firemen could see fire breaking through the Hayes apartment door, across the hall from the apartment occupied by John N. Schaffer and Dwight E. Tate, both 28.

Both men jumped from the burning building and were taken to Marin General Hospital by a neighbor, Mrs. Deanna Mancebo.

Schaffer was reported in fair condition with a fractured left heel. Tate refused treatment.

Using their own water tank from the truck, Parnell said, firemen stopped the flames at the Hayes door while the couple were helped down the ladder. The captain said Hayes assisted by being "very sharp and calm" in the situation.

The firefighters had to chop holes in the burning roof to allow some heat to ventilate out so they could enter from the front, said Parnell.

The fire was under control in 15 minutes, he said. Cause of the blaze was under investigation today.

Phillip Drath Plans North Vietnam Trip

Phillip Drath, San Rafael contractor, peace advocate and unsuccessful aspirant for Congress, will be a crewman on a 50-foot boat which will leave Tokyo next month to carry medical supplies to North Vietnam.

The Society of Friends (Quakers) Action Committee announced the plan in Philadelphia today. The boat, the Phoenix, will be piloted by its owner, Earle Reynolds, a visiting professor of anthropology at Hiroshima Women's College, the Associated Press reported.

No Clues Discovered In San Rafael Beating

Sheriff's inspectors today said they have no motive, no weapon, and no identification of the assailant who early yesterday severely injured a San Rafael man.

The victim, Leonard N. Atwood, 50, of 861 Point San Pedro Road, just outside the city limits, was in fair but improved condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Atwood, purchasing agent for U.S. Steel Co. in San Francisco, suffered five deep head lacerations and a right wrist injury in the assault about 12:30 a.m. on the steps of his front porch.

Inspector A. V. Menjou said today he talked briefly with Atwood at the hospital yesterday afternoon, and Atwood declared he knew of no enemy and was unable to see his attacker.

Atwood, who is 6 feet 5 inches tall and weighs about 240 pounds, said he had a late dinner in San Francisco with a male friend, then drove home. He said he saw no car following him, and has received no threats, Menjou reported.

Atwood also declared that his work does not involve him in labor squabbles.

He was struck from behind after leaving his parked car. Lightbulbs on the front porch and garage, usually left burning until Atwood's return, had been removed, apparently by the assailant.

The victim's wristwatch was smashed in the assault, and his right wrist injured when he attempted to ward off the blows. A 21-inch long pipe was found in bushes near the house, but officers said it has not been determined if it was the weapon used.

Mrs. Atwood told officers she heard muffled sounds on the front porch, but did not know of the attack until her injured husband rang the front door bell. Two grandchildren staying with the Atwoods were not awakened by the attack.

SOL ABRAMS
Last-minute appointee

Abrams Gets Vacancy On State Board

Ross attorney Sol A. Abrams, 64, a Republican has succeeded a San Francisco man for $25,000 per year post on the state Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board.

Abrams' appointment was one of the last made by Gov. Edmund G. Brown before he left office. There was no public announcement of the appointment, which is subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Abrams took over the unexpired term of Harry W. Low, who was named to the San Francisco Municipal Court bench. The term runs until Jan. 15, 1970.

RECEIVES WORD

Appeals board Chairmen Willima Kaplan said he received word of Abrams' appointment from Gov. Brown on Dec. 30. Kaplan said he does not know whether Gov. Ronald Reagan can withdraw the last-minute appointment by Brown.

Abrams lives at 6 Sylvan Lane in Ross. He was assistant United States attorney for Northern California from 1929 to 1934.

GOP LEADER

He was former secretary of the San Francisco Republican County Central Committee, former secretary of the Northern California Republican State Committee, and a member of the California Republican Assembly.

Abrams is one of seven members of the appeals board, who sit in San Francisco to hear appeals from decisions dealing exclusively with work-connected injuries. The Workmen's Compensation Appeals Board was called the Industrial Accident Commission until last year.

Terms of two other members of the appeals board expire this month those of Julius Middler and John A. O'Connell, both Democrats.

Sausalito Police Officer Held Justified In Shooting

The Sausalito police officer who Tuesday night shot a fleeing 15-year-old Marin City youth in the leg, was justified in the shooting, Asst. Dist. Atty. Leonard Shaw said today.

Shaw said he and Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales have studied the Sausalito police report of the incident. "Based on what it contained," he said, "We feel that the conduct of the officer, (Patrolman Michael Keilman) was certainly appropriate under the circumstances."

He said no further action in the matter is planned by his office.

The youth, Stanley Curry, of 147 Drake Avenue, was struck in the right leg below the knee after abandoning an allegedly stolen pickup truck near the Marin City underpass at Highway 101.

Patrolman Keilman, who gave chase after the truck was taken from the Ebbtide apartments, 380 Ebbtide Avenue, Sausalito, said he fired three warning shots and ordered Curry to halt before shooting at the youth.

Curry, a freshman at Tamalpais High School, remained in Marin General Hospital in fair condition today. He has been charged in Juvenile Court with auto theft. Juvenile Judge Samuel W. Gardiner this morning held a detention hearing. He ordered that the youth be detained at the hospital, and at juvenile hall following his release from the hospital, pending a hearing on the charge in juvenile court Jan. 30.

Sausalito Police Chief Edward S. Kreins said today he has received fewer than six telephone calls about the shooting. Some were in support of the shooting by the officer, and others questioned the action, he said. No threat of retaliation for the shooting has been made.

A large crowd gathered at the scene, but no violence occurred.

Stephen Ward, I-J carrier of Fairfax, receives the trophy from Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, Superior Court, Marin County. Allan G. Howells, I-J circulation manager, looks justifiably proud.

To young Steve Ward, I-J carrier…

the highest newspaperboy award in the state of California*

Meet Stephen Ward, I-J carrier, shown receiving the state's Outstanding Newspaper Boy Award from Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of the Superior Court of Marin County. Young Steve, 13, of Fairfax, was chosen from all newspaperboys in California for performing the most outstanding act of community service in 1966. While on his paper route he helped save the life of one of his customers through quick thinking and responsible action.

Only one newspaperboy in the state can win this award. Yet all boys who deliver the news to you win personal rewards which seem to go with the job. Serving a real need of the community, they develop a sense of responsibility, both to others and to their work. They learn to manage their time, their money–and above all, themselves.

We're happy for Steve. And we're proud of our afternoon army of 800 carriers. They deliver!

800 I-J newspaperboys get a headstart

Service is no idle slogan but the working watchword for I-J newspaperboys. A complete training program helps equip each boy to manage his route and serve his customers in a courteous and businesslike manner. Special incentives, unusual holiday trips, honor awards and prizes are offered for genuine achievement. With such a background, it's little wonder that so many newspaperboys go on to major achievements in adult life.

Another Contribution From Redwoods League

The Save-the-Redwoods League has once again demonstrated that it puts its money where its mouth is.

Instead of merely giving lip service to conservation and preservation of the redwoods in California, the League quietly digs up the funds and acts.

It recently contributed $700,000 toward a land exchange which adds 815 acres of virgin forest land to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park near Crescent City in Del Norte County.

The State of California negotiated with the Simpson Timber Co. to exchange scattered state-owned timberlands away from the park for the vitally necessary redwood forest to be incorporated into the park. To make up for a difference in appraised value, the Save-the-Redwoods League doled out $700,000 in cash, with the state paying an additional $50,000 from park funds.

The new park lands extend along U.S. 199, the Redwood Highway, including two miles of frontage along the picturesque Smith River.

The League's participation was financed from contributions, from a Ford Foundation matching grant and from an eastern foundation's generous grant, according to Newton B. Drury, secretary of the League.

Some far-out conservationists rant and rave about conservation and succeed only in creating dissension and damaging the public image of the conservation movement.

Meanwhile, the constructive Save-the-Redwoods League, headed by its grand old leader Newton Drury, continues to plug away as it has been doing now for almost half a century (it was founded in 1918) to acquire and preserve redwoods for public use.

Through quiet negotiation and fund raising, the League continues to add to the state park system, opening up new areas for public enjoyment.

The League's latest contribution to Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park involved cooperative bargaining with the loggers and lumber interests for the benefit of the public; instead of a battle to the standstill where nobody gains.

The Save-the-Redwoods League deserves public gratitude and support for the effective manner in which it is serving the cause of conservation.

TEEN-AGED SUICIDES LINKED TO FAMILY PROBLEMS

Suicide is the fifth largest cause of teen-age deaths, according to a study made for the American Public Health Association.

Suicidal youngsters usually go through a period of long-standing problems, then an escalation stage, and finally the suicide attempt.

Among the basic problems are parents who had tried suicide, low family income, extreme conflict in the family and broken homes.

Symptoms of the escalation stage are rebellion, withdrawal into self and physical withdrawal.

It is significant that the underlying problems in teen-age suicides are in one way or another related to the family.

Children who enjoy parental affection from their earliest years ordinarily have the inner resources to cope with conflicts later in life.

This family, which was established by God as the basic unit of society, deepens and radiates its beneficial influence when nourished by enduring and generous love.

"Let Your steadfast love and Your faithfulness ever preserve me!" (Psalm 40:11)

Let me grow in awareness of the needs of other persons, O Jesus, especially my own family.

California Citizens Must Say How Much Education Will Cost

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Apparently, the question of tuition fees for attendance at the University of California, and California's state colleges, will be one of the major issues before the state legislature this year.

The question boils down to a decision on whether or not the people of California can continue to offer higher education to its young people, free of tuition charges, or whether they can maintain the high standards of the university and the state colleges by imposing fees for instruction.

ANY DEVIATION from a practiced policy brings with it a multitude of arguments, and the subject of tuition is no exception.

One argument against tuition voiced by some legislators is that imposition of tuition fees would "be a threat to the state's higher education system." The same legislators also maintain that the high standards of education would be in jeopardy if reduction of 10 per cent in the university and colleges budgets were effected.

The fallacies of such arguments are immediately apparent. High standards in education are not dependent on the number of students attending a university or college. Many of the nation's private, tuition-charging universities are higher in educational standards, or at least equal, to California's public university and state colleges.

LIKEWISE, a 10 per cent reduction in appropriations normally could be absorbed without reduction in standards. This no doubt would require more emphasis on essentials in higher education, and less attention to some of the items students could do without.

The truth is the university doesn't want to curtail expenditures in those fields where it can without damage to its standards. Obviously, it's easier to run a university or a business with plenty of money to spend, but much harder to do when the purse strings are tight.

Also, legislators are raising the cry that tuition would be a greater burden on low income families. Actually, any family, no matter in what income tax bracket, would have to make some sacrifices to assist young people in obtaining college educations.

ON THE OTHER hand, it might be observed that if an education is worth having, it's worth paying for, and making some sacrifices for. Any family, no matter what its income status, which has assisted a young person through four years of college, knows what the word sacrifice means.

Ultimately, the public will have to make a decision as to just how much in education it owes to the young people of the state.

If it considers it owes all youngsters a college education, then it will have to raise more taxes to finance the process of continuing to give such education.

HOWEVER, if it considers that higher education is a desirable adjunct to the art of living, and should be earned to be appreciated, then it can turn to the tuition fee to assist in financing the universities and colleges.

Marin Stadium Idea Brings Loud Cheers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I just finished reading Jim Gilmartin's article in your Saturday (Jan. 7) issue, "What This County Needs is a New Multi-Purpose Stadium," and I must say this is the answer to the ever present question, What Is Wrong with Marin?

There is nothing wrong with Marin. Only a few things could be added for sure. This stadium which includes almost every conceivable sport, queen contest, autorama and such mentioned could also be used for outdoor musicals, band competitions for teenagers, and so many enjoyable entertainment fetes that require the much needed seating capacity.

I sincerely hope Dr. Hollis and people that carry a much londer voice than myself push this wonderful "idea" to the limit. If there is any question in their minds, look what a stadium idea accomplished in Oakland!

Marinwood Blaze Worries Resident

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Erect a lean-to against one's quarters and the building inspector zeros in with the speed of a missile. However, the department could not have been in office when these units were created in this patch of ground called Goofland.

Laws, like rules, are meant to be broken when there are extenuating circumstances.

Two devastating fires in six months should indicate that one blast from Terra Linda will have all hoses manned from any area in three minutes. Apparently human lives are not considered and the choice of shepherd leaves the sheep cold. As mutton in these pastures, our cries are as futile as Chloe from her swamp.

The only ovation I can hand out in this location for our exorbitant taxes is that we do get police protection. I know. I received a parking ticket in front of my home.

The clinching argument is that our nests are a formidable fire trap . . . and unless immediate action takes place, the "For Sale" signs will appear like the pox.

Holiday Kindness Gets Public Thanks

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Now that the holidays are over, I wish to write a "thank you letter" to the Ministerial Assn. of Novato.

I prefer this manner of publicly thanking all those wonderful people who helped provide us with a very generous gift of food, because I have no way of thanking each individual properly.

The boxes of food were quite unexpected; and, since they were badly needed, extremely welcome. They certainly helped to make our holidays brighter, and gave us reason to be extra thankful for the generosity of people extending a helping hand to those less fortunate.

Thank you so much, to all connected with the Ministerial Assn.

If We Can Miniaturize Machines, Why Not Breed Smaller People?

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a pavement Plato:

There is an easy way to solve the crowded feeling that has resulted from the human population explosion. The answer is to breed miniature people.

The first step, as a matter of fact, already has been taken.

Babies in most civilized countries today, as a result of medical advice to mothers, weigh at birth at least a pound less on the average than they did a generation or two ago.

A MOTHER in 1900 somehow felt she had cheated her husband if she delivered a baby that didn't bump the scales beyond the 8-pound mark. Today her doctor praises a mother if she keeps her infant down to seven pounds.

The trouble is what happens thereafter. The smaller babies of today, thanks to vitamins and better nutrition generally, grow up to be taller and heavier than their fathers and their grandfathers. That's why they crowd the world.

THE GROWING problem is how to use available space more efficiently. Scientists are well aware of this fact. Through the miniaturization of parts they have been able to make smaller machines that have more output than larger machines formerly did.

As man tends more and more to ape the machines he creates, that probably will turn out to be the human answer to overcrowding, too. Since the earth itself can hardly be enlarged, what better solution to the population problem can there be than the miniaturization of people?

For some time the secret ideal of most men has been to be six feet tall and weigh somewhere between 180 and 200 pounds. Such a man would have a brain weighing about three pounds.

This ideal must be destroyed. It is out of date.

I WOULD SAY the ideal man of the future should have a five-pound brain, stand three feet tall, and weigh about 75 pounds.

Since women by then will still be insisting on being even more equal than men, I would say the ideal woman of the future should have a four-pound brain —more than ample for her everyday needs —stand 3 feet 6 inches, weigh 100 pounds, and be broad enough so that the ideal man would hide safely behind her skirts in case of sudden attack.

Don't think this is all a dream. If science could miniaturize machines, who can say it won't be able to midgetize man?

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A BRASH YOUNG teen-ager took a sudden shine to a girl in one of his classes, and on Friday at dinner with his folks, announced that he proposed to phone her and ask her to go to the movies with him that evening. "That's rather insulting," advised his mother. "You shouldn't ask a girl out at the last moment. A girl likes to be asked for a date a week ahead of time." "A week?" exclaimed the boy. "Well," relented the mother, "not later than Monday before your weekend date." "Monday?" scoffed the boy. "Monday was IMPOSSIBLE, mom. I didn't even KISS her 'til Wednesday!"

THE LATE financier, Bernard Baruch, once became convinced that his subconscious mind was producing sensational ideas while he was sleeping, and set out to train himself to write them down on a pad he placed at his bedside. He awoke one morning in a pleasant glow, convinced that he had jotted down something interesting while he was in dreamland. He was right. Scrawled across the page were these three inspiring words: "Ride 'em, cowboy!"

FRANK RHOADES was complaining about the size of a room assigned to him in a commercial hotel. "I got arrested for smoking a cigarette in bed," he reported, "but the case was dismissed. The lighted was in the bathroom."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Admiration For LBJ Is Offset By Annoyance With Big Brother

WASHINGTON—As the new Congress convenes this week, there are two developments which are more likely to influence its actions than anything else.

1. President Johnson is today the "most admired man" in public or private life in the United States.

2. Public distaste for big government has more than tripled during the past seven years and is today viewed as the biggest domestic threat to the country.

These facts emerge from opinion surveys by the Gallup Poll and it seems to me they are very pertinent to nearly all the matters which will be before Congress during the coming months.

It is my judgement that anyone in Congress who thinks he can treat LBJ as a "lame duck" President will be making a great miscalculation. Talk about Mr. Johnson's having to retire or intending to retire in 1968, talk about his being sidetracked for renomination or fearing to confront the voters in the next election—that's just so much poppycock.

BUT WHAT will the President and Congress do about this mounting public dissatisfaction with the ever-growing size of the federal government and its massive reach into local matters? There is no doubt in my mind that this issue contributed tremendously to the Republican upsurge.

The Gallup Polls show how significantly public opinion has shifted on this issue. Twice, once near the end of the Eisenhower second term in 1959 and again last month —Gallup asked a cross-section of Americans this question:

"In your opinion, which of the following do you think will be the biggest threat to the country in the future—big business, big labor, or big government?"

Here are the comparative results:

	1959	Today
Big business	15 per cent	14 per cent
Big labor	41 per cent	21 per cent
Big government	14 per cent	49 per cent
Don't know	30 per cent	16 per cent

There's the heart of the shift of opinion: Seven years ago big labor was the public's greatest concern and today big government is the public's greatest concern.

THERE ARE good reasons for this. Federal involvement in dealing with state and local problems has expanded almost compulsively under the Johnson administration. There has seemed to be almost a built-in procreation by which programs beget more federal programs until the bureaucratic maze required the city of Chicago, for example, to deal with 70 different programs on urban renewal.

This tendency has gone so far that the National Committee for an Effective Congress, no enemy of the Administration, concludes: "The honeysuckle vines of the Great Society are apparently choking municipal responsibility and initiative. The federal role and its impact on the individual's life may well become the fundamental issue of the 90th Congress."

Here, then, is the dilemma which the nation now faces:

The states simply haven't the money resources to deal effectively with problems which used to be called local-education, slum ghettos, mass transportation, air and water pollution, etc.

The federal government has the money to hlep with these problems, but the more the national administration helps the more unpopular it becomes.

IT'S NO GOOD just throwing up our hands .These critical problems are not going to go away, will not be solved by blaming the federal government. Why not try what we have so far not tried: More federal money for the states with fewer federal strings?

Red China Warships Shoot At U.S. Fliers

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—U.S. planes are being fired on by Red Chinese warships in Haiphong harbor.

Navy pilots returning from low-level bombing attacks on fuel storage tanks and other targets in the Haiphong area have reported they were fired on by Chinese destroyers operating in the waters of the main North Vietnam port.

MORE THAN a dozen such incidents have occurred.

Although no U.S. planes have been lost as a result of these Red Chinese attacks, several aircraft have been damaged.

Under ironclad White House orders, U.S. pilots have not returned the fire from the Communists' ships.

These restrictions prohibit attacks against vessels other than those flying the North Vietnam flag.

Several Navy pilots, after spotting Chinese flags on the attacking warships, radioed for permission to retaliate with rockets. The officer in the operational control plane curtly ordered the pilots to "avoid further contact with Chincoms. Do not return fire. Orders are based on presidential directive."

NEITHER Washington nor Peking has said anything about these repeated incidents.

Reason for the silence from usually-voluble and truculent Peking is not known. Pentagon insiders attribute the administration's failure to say anything to fear that disclosure would arouse powerful congressional demands for vigorous counter-action.

President Johnson is adamantly adhering to a policy of doing nothing that might lead to Red Chinese involvement in the Vietnam conflict.

INSTEAD intelligence authorities have been directed to ascertain the reason for these attacks.

The Chinese warships, three destroyers and some six ocean-going patrol vessels, have been operating in North Vietnam waters for some time. The destroyers put in frequently in Haiphong harbor.

In recent weeks the Chinese warships have been observed escorting Polish freighters bringing supplies to Haiphong.

Peking's increased naval activity was the main reason for the Navy's recent decision to reinforce its combat strength in Vietnam waters.

Task Force No. 1 — made up of the Navy's three nuclear-powered warships — was shifted in December from the Mediterranean and Atlantic to the Tonkin Gulf.

This task force includes the 35,000-ton aircraft carrier Enterprise, the cruiser Long Beach and frigate Bainbridge.

WHILE THE NAVY has plans all set and ready for sealing off all Vietnam ports, there has been no indication the President has any intention of taking this step.

There are no known Soviet warships in the Gulf of Tonkin, but on the average, eight to ten Soviet ships are in Haiphong harbor or its river entrance awaiting their turn to unload cargo.

U.S. naval vessels have detected the presence of several "unidentified" submarines in these waters. They are believed to be Russian nuclear-powered subs.

This Could Be San Rafael's Answer To Disneyland's Lure

Every other person you meet seems to have his own idea of what should be done with the county courthouse property in downtown San Rafael.

There are those who have visions of high-rise buildings and extensive commercial development, and others who would like to see the old building preserved.

AT THE RISK of antagonizing all hands, we contend that the courthouse can be retained just as it is and still be a going commercial venture.

My proposal, backed by no money at all, is that the courthouse be converted into a civic amusement center.

A person who has yearned to be a judge could sit on the bench for $1 an hour and have his picture taken for another $1.

FRUSTRATED would - be lawyers could get together and conduct mock trials. They would have to pay $5 an hour for this privilege because legal fees are high.

All the young bucks who want to be sheriff's deputies could rent uniforms ($1 an hour) and man the jail, booking desk or identification section, or act as a bailiff.

Those with dreams of glory could be sheriff for a day, at a flat rate of $50 a day; $75 if you want a sheriff's posse.

MOTORISTS who have been peeved for years about shelling out money for parking tickets could be allowed to run wild in the traffic division of the Municipal Court office, tearing up the pink slips. The charge would be 5 cents an hour plus the cost of the slips.

Owners of postage stamp-sized lots could go into the county recorder's office and record vast land holdings under their names.

Anyone with a weird sense of humor could play county clerk for a day and fill out crazy marriage licenses and divorces.

THOSE WHO didn't like the way the last election turned out, could become supervisor of elections and compile their own returns.

There could even be special events like Saturday night jail breaks. Staid citizens, who have a yearning for adventure, could act as prisoners and make their getaway. The charge would be $1 an hour to play prisoner, $2 if you participate in an escape, and $3 if the escape is successful.

Those who are feuding with their neighbors could become D.A. for a day and file charges left and right.

SUCH AN operation would provide an outlet for a lot of frustrations, and give residents a chance to show what they would do if they were in office.

Columnist White Adds Barry Goldwater To His Honor Roll

WILLIAM S. WHITE is a columnist whose personal philosophy embraces the left-of-center views of President Johnson, views which seem delusive and self-defeating to those of us right-of-center. And yet I know of no commentator —on either side of the aisle— whose sense of fair play is more respected by conservatives.

He can argue his case with vigor, but without the poison of character-assassination. He is never guilty of the common liberal assumptions—regarded as axiomatic by so many of his colleagues—that all opponents of the Great Society are, ipso facto, emissaries of His Satanic Majesty.

THUS, IN HIS honor roll for the year recently ended, he quite naturally named LBJ, Roy Wilkins and Dean Rusk. But he also included the names of Eisenhower, Nixon and Goldwater—all anathema to the average professional liberal.

His reasons for putting Barry on the list are worth repeating: "For taking his 1964 defeat like a man and for consistently expressing his honest disagreement with nearly the whole domestic course of this country with a fairness which, however wrong-headed, has had the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

Compare that with some of the vicious aspersions, the incredible innuendoes and the downright falsehoods used against Barry during the campaign—and still repeated. And I do not refer to the to-be-expected maledictions of the Communist press and the Minute Men and such who found Barry's Jewish ancestry intolerable. I speak of the phrases fashioned by the so-called respectables who claim to constitute our mainstream. If so, they have pollluted it more than all our detergents and insecticides put together.

THERE WAS Walter Lippmann, who termed Barry "a radical reactionary" whose philosophy was that of "the newly rich on the make" and who"would turn the party of Lincoln into the party of white supremacists."

There was that New Hampshire columnist, a moderate if I ever read one, who called Barry "a miserable racist . . . with the instincts of a hyena and the principles of a small-town Hitler . . . who would crawl under a snake's belly in an open sewer to salvage one misbegotten vote."

There was Jackie Robinson on Goldwater's nomination: "Now I know what it feels like to be a Jew under Hitler." And Pat Brown said, "I smell fascism in the air" after San Francisco.

THERE WERE THE ministers and rabbis who profaned their pulpits by turning them into soap-boxes and bearing false witness by echoing these charges and proclaining it would be a mortal sin to vote for Goldwater. I hope they have kept the other nine Commandents more faithfully.

There was that Yale professor—or was he from Harvard? —who went abroad for the State Department and boasted on his return that he had the college students of India praying for Barry's defeat.

There was that viperous cartoon on the cover of "Ramparts;" there was even a book which linked Barry with the gambling underworld; there was the report of some 1300 psychiatrists who found Barry a dangerous psychotic. These objective findings appeared in a magazine whose editor is now serving a prison term for publishing obscenity. Obscenity of another sort, that is.

AND THERE WAS Steve Allen, who constantly exhorts the right to get rid of its extremists so that we may have a more meaningful dialogue. The last time I turned in on an Allen show was in 1964, when he had on his program a foreign actor who said, "The difference between Hitler and Goldwater is that Goldwater knows what he's doing." (Applause and laughter from the audience—and never a word of demurral from Steve.)

Now from Lippman to Allen, I'm certain these men sleep well of nights. For they are all, all honorable men. And so, beyond doubt, are the Republican Bautuses — Rocky, Romney, Javits and Kuchel— who entered into the conspiracy of character—assassination against Barry.

BUT AS FOR ME—and some 27 million others—I'll take William S. White. Even though we sometimes think him wrong-headed, we find in him "the rare and shining virtues of absolute candor and intellectual honesty."

'Personality Puzzle'

Dr. David Fisher, associate director of the Behavior Therapy Institute in Sausalito, will speak at the annual dinner meeting of the Marin Assn. for Mental Health Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Cherish Inn, Mill Valley. His topic will be "The Puzzle of Personality."

Anti-Poverty Tutors Need More Money

Directors of an anti-poverty tutoring program in southern Marin sought today to rescue it from elimination because of Great Society budget cuts.

Mrs. John Binckley, chairman of the advisory committee to the Marin Study Center, said tutorial services to nearly 300 children will cease Feb. 1 unless money can be raised to continue.

She said about $14,000 would be needed to run the center until the end of the school year. An appeal for donations has gone out.

The committee was notified last month by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity that the center would not be granted new funds, apparently in connection with Johnson Administration policy to divert anti-poverty money to finance the Vietnam war.

"The loss of funds does not imply any criticism or lack of commendation of our program," Mrs. Binckley said.

TO ASK BOARD

Seeking aid, the committee plans to go before the Tamalpais High School District Board at 8 p.m. Monday to gain re-affirmation of the board's recent pledge of $6,000 to the project. Mrs. Binckley said the committee hoped the board had not changed its mind as a result of the OEO cutback.

An appearance before the county board of supervisors has been scheduled for Tuesday. A committee meeting will be held at 3 p.m., Jan. 22, in St. Andres Presbyterian Church, Marin City.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Binckley reported that the group has appealed for contributions from individuals and organizations who helped start the center with financial aid four years ago. One donation has been received in response to letters sent out last week, she said.

Since its inception, the center has grown from 96 students and 50 volunteers to 300 and 250, respectively, according to Mrs. Binckley. Both high school and elementary students come to center lessons in Central School and Richardson Bay School, Sausalito, from Marin City, Sausalito and Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite. Bus service is provided.

ELEVEN MEMBERS

Eleven members of the center staff are salaried, including Mrs. Iniece Bailey of Mill Valley, center coordinator, who receives $600 monthly for part-time work. The advisory committee is volunteer.

Churches, Parent-Teacher Associations and community relations groups have donated their time to the center, Mrs. Binckley said.

"More children and adults of different races have established strong personal relationships with each other," she said. "The result has been a positive step toward improved racial relations, and it is our hope that Marin County will help us arrive at a solution to the needed financing."

Mill Valley's Federal Fund Permit Denied

The federal government has denied the City of Mill Valley's application for sewer construction and repair funds, City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer disclosed yesterday.

In a letter dated Dec. 12, the Department of Housing and Urban Renewal advised Balmer that although the city's application for matching funds met legal requirements, requests for funds were 20 times greater than appropriations.

The letter was held up inadvertently at city hall for almost a month, Balmer said, while he was recuperating at home from a hernia operation.

Effect of the denial, will be to require sale of the entire $500,000 in bonds proposed by the city if voters authorize the issue. The city applied for matching funds to permit sale of only $250,000 in bonds, Balmer said, to provide a reserve for future sewer construction.

The bond measure was defeated in November by a narrow margin. Petitions to consolidate a second bond election with the April 18 school board election are being circulated. The petitions, which must be signed by at least 750 voters, must be filed by 5 p.m., Jan. 23 to qualify the measure for the ballot.
